Thieves in Montana have become reckless in their stealing. Last week a hatted wife from near Great Falls was carefully taken down and carried away.

H. H. Wheeler, of Redlands, Cal., claims to own one of the smallest horses in the world. It is fully and perfectly developed, and it weighs only eighty pounds.

Unless some unknown disaster comes, the fruit crop of the state of Washington will, it is said, be immense. The acreage is very large and the yield promises to be heavy.

Hanks Peterson, the servant girl who was so badly burned at Dr. Simpson's house in San Jose, Cal., last Monday, died at the Sanitarium on Tuesday.

The Sacramento county fruit growers have decided to establish a central bureau, which will supply information in regard to quotations, rates and all other matters that vitally concern fruit-growers and fruit-shippers.

The use of the state militia in the Western Colorado sheep trouble will not be necessary says the Denver News. The sheriff of Mesa county can get a posse by the mere asking. Volunteers will only be limited by the number of people in the county.

The Land company at Arizona, says an exchange, offered a lot in the center of the town to the first child born in the village. Recently twins were born to a couple who had shortly before arrived. Two lots were claimed and the courts must decide the question.

Night Watchmaster Newton, of Sacramento, near the river, picked up a new black hat, containing the following note: "Friends: Pray that the Lord will have mercy on my soul. Wine and women have done it. Do not tell my mother. J. Mc. C. Alex, St. Louis, Mo."

The outlook for Humboldt county for the coming summer is exceedingly bright, says the Winnemucca Silver Globe. There will be abundance of water in the river, which insures good crops and plenty of grass on the lowland, while the ranges promise to be as good as they have been any year recently.

A man well known to the legal profession, and who in early days enjoyed a very wide acquaintance among all classes, died suddenly at San Francisco, says the Chronicle. It is G. Frank Smith, native of Jamaica, and the son of an English army officer. He came to America while a youth.

One of the notable cases in which he was counsel was that of Mrs. Brannan, against Sam Brannan for divorce. The suit was a sensational affair in the early sixties, and out of it grew Brannan's suit, at a later date, against the Central Pacific.

Belle Halsee, the handsome daughter of a Jewish merchant in Cayey valley, Cal., and Robert Lincoln, a good-looking gentile clerk who works in a store at Espatto, Yolo county, had been keeping company for some time, says the San Francisco Chronicle, but owing to religious differences there was grave parental objection to their marriage. Last Sunday evening they disappeared from home and their whereabouts was unknown until Tuesday, when a telephone message was received from Woodland, announcing that they had been married in San Francisco and would return home to attend the funeral of the failed suit.

The past few days of warm weather has caused the boise river to rise rapidly, says the Statesman. As but a comparatively small portion of deep snow in the mountains has disappeared, it is altogether likely boise will experience more trouble this season from high water than it has for years. At the railroad bridge the current has changed so as to greatly endanger the northern end of the bridge. The main body of water now sweeps close along the south bank, gradually cutting it away, and striking the pilings near the north end of the bridge with fearful force. A deep channel is being cut there, the dirt being carried away from around many of the piles, leaving them ready to topple over.

Frederick Roser will not be tried for the murder of his aged father, whom he stabbed to death on February 10th last. A jury impaneled in Judge Wallace's court at San Francisco to pass upon the young man's sanity at the present time found Roser to be insane, whereupon the judge made an order committing him to the state insane asylum at Ukiah. If all probability the young man will end his days in an asylum. Neighbors of the Roser family were divided in their opinion. Several had thought for a long time that the prisoner was insane, while others had never noticed any evidence of mental derangement. Four medical experts were unanimous in declaring the prisoner insane.

Dr. Greenwell, the state veterinary surgeon, says the Denver News, has received two letters from Inspector M. M. Colby of Delta, Colo., stating that the Utah sheepmen were waiting to hear of the fate of Jensen, the man who took the 3,000 sheep into Colorado before the proclamation was issued. They have decided not to push the fight at present. Mr. Colby, by direction of Dr. Greenwell, examined most of the sheep on the other side of the state line, and 10,000 now being sheared at Salt Nash, this side of the line, with the exception of one bunch. All were healthy, he reported, and some were in very bad condition. One of the principal owners is coming to Denver to see Governor Waite in reference to the proclamation. He disputes the governor's right to quarantine the Utah sheep. This month he did not report to be in a particularly bad condition.

Suit has been commenced in the Toledo court against the bondsmen of M. Oberdorfer, deceased, who was postmaster at Silver City during a portion of President Harrison's term. It is alleged that Oberdorfer was $770.11 short in his accounts with the government and the action is brought to recover that amount. At the time of the death of Oberdorfer it was rumored he had suicided. No autopsy was held and it was generally supposed the rumor was without foundation. An inventory of the books shortly after his death revealed a shortage, and when this fact leaked out the suicide rumor was revived. For some reason the matter has been allowed to lie with the authorities, doubtless hoping to secure a settlement with the bondsmen out of court. This could not be had for the reason, it is understood, that the bondsmen doubted there was any shortage. The U. S. District Attorney was instructed by the department several days ago to begin suit.

The Putnam Nail is the only exclusively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed nail.

Look in your smith's shoeing box, if the nails have smooth edges for the whole length they are the PUTNAM, for they are Hammer-Pointed and are not sheared.

The above letter, from a photo reproducing Mr. Marvin's well known and world renowned Pacemaker, while experimenting in shoeing of Sunol, will be sent to the trade on a card with, Sunol, Dan Patch, 1:55, Nancy Hanks, Jay Gould, etc., on receipt of 2 cent stamp for postage, etc. Sunol will stand for public inspection at Stock Yards, Chicago, during World's Fair.
