DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Tues - - September 27, 1898

Week Before the Boise Fair.

Next week the Idaho Intermountain Fair will be held in Boise. The preparations for the event are nearing completion, and the news from Boise is that every arrangement is being made with the greatest care for the entertainment and comfort of all who attend.

The management has made elaborate improvements on the grounds and the floor space for exhibits has been greatly increased. The exhibits will far more elaborate than last year and will represent many more sections of the state. The premium lists have been printed ahead so that all exhibits can be installed well in advance of the opening, and when the fair is at hand everything will be found in perfect condition.

As an indication of the extent of the exhibits it is stated that Washington county will have more than a carload of its products on exhibition. Other counties will do fully as well, and the display, as a whole, will be a revelation to those who do not know what the state is capable of.

In view of the fact that, through the liberality of the short Line, exhibits can be carried to Boise and back free of charge, there is no reason why every section should not be well represented.

It is announced that a great many people who have been attracted by the display of Idaho products at Omaha have determined to visit the Fair at Boise in order to acquaint themselves further with the resources and products of the state. There are a class of people who are looking for new locations and many will add Idaho to those who come to Idaho on remote through the instrumentality of the Fair.

The great running horse Tomos, who recently made all western records for 1½ miles, will be on the track at Boise during the Fair.

A large number of famous horses will participate in the races during the Boise Fair. Those include the best horses of Utah and Montana. The entries are numerous and many are coming that have not yet formally entered for any of the events.

The exhibit of the work of our public schools that will be seen at the fair at Boise will be of the highest interest to all who appreciate the advantages of the school system. It will show that Idaho is not behind any of the older states in the thoroughness of the work done in the schools.

Fifty miles of the Alberta company's canal to be built, for which half will be paid in cash and balance in earch last prairie land, at $1 an acre, with free water for two years to first settlers on their lands.

Lands are to be settled in homes or settlement form, in order to afford settlers the benefit of ward organization, including day and Sabbath schools.

All labor will be contract work, at ten cents a cubic yard for earth work. Gravel, loam and solid rock to be paid for in proportion.

President C. O. Card, writing to the First Presidency under date of September 1st, says: "Now that work has begun on the canal, that parties in Utah desiring to do work this fall would do well to bring their teams and wagons by railroad. Doing this they could be at work on the canal in less than a week after starting. Speaking about whitening loams, he says that hay, if needed, will not cement it, a ton, and besides, it can be put there as cheap a much from the door of his letter, that no hay will be needed on the canal, as for mine is in the moderate velocity grass is from six to twelve inches high. When work cannot be done on the canal, men can be building houses for themselves. He advises men to come with their teams, leaving their families until the spring, by which time houses may be provided for them. Parties desiring to join the new settlers in making homes, who may not care to do work on the canal, can obtain land through President Card.

GRADUATION OF NURSES.

Three Young Ladies Complete Their Training at St. Mark's Hospital.

Three young ladies, the Misses Daisy Hurren, Mattie Rockwood and Laura Willis, graduated from St. Mark's hospital and received their diplomas from Bishop Leonard last evening, who said he was proud of his connection with such a worthy institution as St. Mark's hospital. He admired the people of Salt Lake were unaware of the splendid work being done there for suffering humanity. The graduates were made the recipients of many beautiful floral gifts. The hall was very prettily decorated, and on the speaker's desk were Bishop Leonard, Rev. C. T. Brown, Rev. Rice Hodge, H. C. Hinckley, J. D. Walker, Colonel M. Rosenbaum, C. C. Waters and Doctors Benson, Hoxer, Worthington and Hoag. The principal address of the evening was delivered by the Reverend Mr. Brown and was as follows:

"Before entering to you our commencement exercises discussion which you have carried, and the course of training to which we have come, the art of the modern profession of trained nurses, I cannot refrain from congratulating you upon the good fortune of your lots, which placed you in direct descent in the most ancient and honorable order in the world. The order of nurses dates back so far that the first nurse in the world was the first woman. Not a cracked nurse to be sure, but a sane, reasonable nurse, for God, divine right, whose credentials were written by the hand of God in the Garden of Eden, was the nurse first.

"Mother Eve was doubtless the first nurse. She worked at a great disadvantage, to be sure, for there was no nurse, and the assistance of attending women, and the assistance of attending women, which she had to draw were limited, she lived before the time when people pitiers adopted the art of medicine to enlarge their power over the superstitious fears of their patients, but she did the best she had, and doubtless many times had invented so many diseases to stimulate their practice. But with even all these drawbacks it is safe to doubt she had many calls upon her mother art and her mother wit, accidents to meet, pains to soothe and tears to dry. Tears have always been about the same percentage of bitter salt, and ever against them God hath wove set the sweet balm of woman's inherent gentleness and heavenly mercy.

"Florence Nightingale once said, 'Every woman is a nurse—how valuable, then, would be the product of their united experience if every woman would think how to nurse.'

"Every training school for nurses is an attempt to realize these words in actual fact; to collect and to have woman's natural talent for nursing may be given the benefit of the discoveries and experiences of the past, and be formed into discipline brought to their finest development.

"As citizens of Salt Lake we must all be glad for such a place as that in which you have been studying and working for the last three years, and more grateful to the man or men who founded it, to those who gave their money, and to those who gave what is of ever greater value, the impetus of a noble passion for humanity, who gave their skill to heal the wounds, to fight the fevers and to relieve the sufferings, and to establish a training school where the willing hands of current women might be trained to be more skilful and more intelligent servers. As St. Peter's is Wren's monument, and the admiring gaze of those who look upon it and marvel at its wealth of beauty, so, we must be satisfied in which you have been trained and from which you are to go forth, and the skill and faithful service to the best rewards for the devotion of those who will be its foundations."

Rev. Brown said that some people regarded it prejudice for lady nurses to go among sick men, but, if such is this prejudice is being wiped away. The Good Samaritan has gone on with such work to a glorious success. He warned the graduates that they would meet people who looked sensible, but they are likely to disappoint you, for one is quite different when sick, and they would need to have a high sense of duty to keep their nerves steady on such cases.

"After the sick soldiers were landed at San Juan they were greater bores," concluded Rev. Brown, "when they remonstrated by go to Siboney to be nurses in yellow fever cases. Yours is a honor service which the world recognizes. Part of your work will be the sick bed, in which all good people will hold you forever and ever."

Boyle Made Temporary Chairman.

The Democratic state committee held a meeting last evening and selected Jas. E. Boyle as temporary chairman, and ordered the issuance of the call for another meeting to be held on Thursday evening next, at which time a permanent chairman, secretary and treasurer will be chosen.

Hon. E. H. Roberts and Judge Baskin were present at the meeting, and after considerable deliberation with reference to the coming campaign, it was decided to open fire at Provo on Monday evening next, at which occasion, Messrs. Roberts and Baskin will be the speakers.

Book of Mormon Class.

The Book of Mormon class, under the auspices of the business department of the L. D. S. College, commenced its lessons last evening. Prof. Mills, the teacher, lecturing on what the book is, where it received its name, what it contains, etc. The class will be pursued until about February 10, which a study of the Bible will be taken up under the direction of Elder David McKenzie. The class meets every Monday evening at 7:30 in the Tabernacle. Twenty-seven were enrolled the opening night and a very fair attendance.

Relief Society Conference.

The general conference of the Relief Society will be held in the Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City, Wednesday, October 5, 1898, meeting commencing at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. It is earnestly desirable that each Stake organization of the society should be represented by the president or an authorized representative. All members of the society and of the Church are most cordially invited. The meetings of the conference are open to all interested in charitable or philanthropic work.
