Held's band gave an excellent concert last evening, in the Grand theater, before an audience that filled every seat, and which gave the performers a pleasant reception. The band was rearranged as to its scating, and the stage settings were also changed to a woodland scene. The new arrange-ment is very good and might with profit be retained. The new bassoon was used for the first time, and proved a material help in the instrumentation The increase in the number of cornets too, was of assistance, and the band was well balanced. The most popular numbers on the program were "The Serenade," by Victor Herbert, and the "Anvil Chorus," and they were well given. Mr. Held's cornet solos were also artistically performed and wel-received; and the cornet duo by Messrs. Leslie and Johnson was excellent. The Euterpe quartet sang and was given an encore. They were handsomely gowned and made a very pretty ap-pearance on the stage. The work of Mr. Stevens on the baritone horn deserves special commendation. Stevens is an artist, and his playing is faultless. He is easily one of the best baritone players in the country. Mr. Held announced that the concert of the 24th of April would be given in con-junction with an eastern troupe of note.

PRATT IS WARDEN.

Succeeds Dow and Goes Back to Where He Was Fifteen Years Ago.

Ex-Chief of Police Arthur Pratt was unanimously chosen late Saturday afternoon, as warden of the state prison, to succeed the late warden George N. Dow who had charge for so many years. There were other applicants for the position, including Prison Physiclan A. C. Young, T. C. Wright, the acting warden, Capt. Andrew Burt of the Manila police, ex-Watermaster Charles Wilcken, Orange Seeley and Charles Andrews. Warden Pratt was chosen as his particular fitness for the position was generally realized. He has had active experience for 25 years in handling prisoners and participating in the administration of justice, and while other candidates made a strong pull for the plum, as stated, Mr. Pratt

UTAH SOLDIER DEAD.

Captain Brett, Formerly of Fort Douglas, Dies in the Service.

Word reaches Salt Lake of the death of Capt. James E. Brett, U. S. A., retired, formerly a captain of the Twenty-fourth U. S. infantry, stationed at Fort Douglas. At the time of his death, the captain was on duty as military instructor at the U.S. military institute at Oklahoma City, where he removed with his family on his retirement in

The deceased was a native of North Carolina and enlisted in the army as private in K company, Twelfth infan-try, and in 1870 was appoint-ed hospital steward. He was commissioned second lieutenant in the Twenty fourth infantry in 1880, made first lieutenant in 1887, and captain in 1898. The following year Capt. Brett was re tired. He was severely wounded at San Juan hill while leading his command in an infantry charge, and served later with honor in the Philippines. However, the Cuban wounds and Asiatic climate incapacitated the captain for further active service, and he was retired. The interment was at the Presidio. The deceased leaves many friends to regret his death.

SERVICES AT THE TABERNACLE.

Elder Charles W. Penrose Bears A Convincing Testimony of The Truth.

PERSONALITY OF THE FATHER.

Man Cannot Find Out God But He Can And Will Manifest Himself to His Children.

The services at the "abernacle yester day aftrenoon were presided over by President Angus M. Cannon, and the speaker was Elder Charles W. Penrose, who reviewed at length the faith of the Latter-day Saints.

The choir sang the hymn:

"Sweetly may the blessed Spirit, On each faithful bosom shine." Prayer was offered by Elder Hamil-

The choir further sang:

Great God, indulge my humble claim, Thou art my hope, my joy, my rest.

Elder Charles W. Penrose was the He began by explaining the purpose of the Latter-day Saints in meeting together, saying that they did so to worship God "in spirit and in truth." The Saints believed that forms and ceremonies were necessary in the Church of Christ, but they were simply en outward sign of that which was supposed to be within. Christ said, "Son of man, give me thine heart." This was the key to the position occupied by all true worshippers.

The two great commandments were referred to. On these the Savior said hung "all the law and the prophets."

The law of Moses was given as a schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, but the higher law, the Gospel, was first given through Moses, and when Christ came He restored it.

Elder Penrose then took up the motive of the Latter-day Saints in their worship before the Lord. They came together, said he, to worship God in the appointed way and to hear from the lips of His servants those things re-vealed to them by His Holy Spirit. realed to them by His Holy Spirit. They depended upon the inspiration of the Spirit to guide them, for God had promised that He would so bless them provided they had faith in Him.

The Sabbath day, said the speaker, had been set apart by the Lord as a day of rest-a day upon which His children could meet together and pay homage to could meet together and pay homage to His high and holy name. For this reason the Saints came together on this day. They met not simply for fashion's sake, as did many in the world, but to worship God and praise Him and receive instruction. They should do this not only in spirit but in truth. It was the truth in spirit but in truth. It was the truth that would exalt and save mankind.

Error was of no value.

Elder Penrose said the great lack among the children of men today was to know God, so that they could worship Him understandingly. Without revela-tion, however, men had to depend on their own reasoning faculties. The fintheir own reasoning faculties. The finite was unable to grasp the infinite. Man by searching could not find out God, but it remained for God to manifest Himself to His children. He did so through chasen man in former limited. so through chosen men in former times, and in Hebrews, chapter 1, there is a summing up of the situation in the statement that "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, whom He hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also He made the worlds; who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty

The divine record says God made mar in His own image. Some say he did so morally but not physically. This to the speaker was moral nonsense, as there was no such thing as a "moral image." God revealed Himself to Moses and talked with him face to face as a man speaketh with his friend. Moses plead-ed with the Lord to show him His glory. but Go said he could not see His face and live. This makes it perfectly clear that the Lord had veiled His glory, for He afterwards told Moses he should be permitted to see His "back parts." This bore out the scriptural statement that "God is a consuming fire," His glory being far too great to be seen in its fulness by mortal man. The twenty-fourth and thirty-third chapters of Exodus were cited in this connection. The speaker referred to the modern conception of Deity, as an immateriality without extension or limits. This idea he said, had been berrowed from Greek philosophy and was not oirginal with "Christian" theology. Allusion was made to the prin fple of revelation and the point emphasized that the Bible depended upon as the whole word of God contained but a few of dis revelations to mankind. The Christian creeds declare that there has been communication from the heavens since the Apostles were put to death. They claim they are living in an age of "Gospel blaze" and don't need any revelation. This explains the darkness with which they are surrounded, their conflicting notions and their lack of knowledge concerning the personality of Deity. The Apostle Paul bore record of the Christ, being in "the express image of the ther." In the beginning God said, "Let us make man in our own image, and he was so made. The New Tes-tament says Jesus was with the Father in the beginning, so it is clear that this is who He was talking to on that occasion. Paul declared that man ought not to cover his head, when he prayeth for as much as he is the image and glory of God, but the woman is the glory of the man." God, continued the speaker, is the Father of the spirits of all men. Jesus is the firstborn, "the beginning of the creation of God." It is essential in order to worship God in truth that we know something of His Elder Penrose reverted to the introduction of the Mosaic law which was substituted for the Gospel, or higher law previously revealed. In this connection he referred to the fact that some people cannot understand why God should give a law at one time and then withdraw it. This, said he, is God's way and it is a rational way people are not able to live the higher law, it is necessary that they be given a lower law that they can receive and live by. In the days of Moses the law was "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," Christ came He re-introduced the higher law of non-retaliation, to put nankind upon a higher plane.

The world, said the speaker, has been without divine revelation for centuries. Even the ministers have not sought t, but on the contrary have preached that the heavens were as brass and that God had ceased to speak to His children. This condition opened up the way for a new revelation which was given to Joseph Smith, who, in the humility of his heart, sought the Lord fervently for wisdom. Elder Penrose Z. fervently for wisdom. Edger 23 explained and testified to the restoration, and said that if the Bible, the Book of Mormon and other sacred works were destroyed the source of truth would remain, and God by revelation could again make known his mind and will to His children. But God chooses His own instruments, and His Spirit is the same now as ever. The speaker cited the great discoveries of modern times as manifestations of truth, showing that all men were not Edisons or Newtons or Fultons or gift-

Edisons or Newtons or Fultons or gifted with adaptability to receive special revelations, religious or scientific.

The speaker showed up the spirit of intolerance against truths that were new to the populace, and which was exhibited in the crucifixion of Christ, the torturing of prophets and apostles and which was abroad in the land today, and those who believed in the mission of Joseph Smith were treated with contempt and scorn. He continued on this subject for some time; and then took up the subject of the need of the Holy Ghost, the Spirit of Truth at the present time and showed that it could be received by all who conformed to the conditions for its reception namely faith, repentance, baptism for the re mission of sins and the ordinance of the laying on of hands by men having the laying on of hands by men having Divine authority. Concluding Elder Penrose bore a firm and convincing testimony of the truth and declared that as God lived His purposes would be acomplished and His truth be vindicated and become finally trius phant. The choir sang the anthem, "O Glorious Light," and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop William B. Preston.
