DEATH OF REAR ADMIRAL KIRKLAND.

Last Words in Which the Possibility and Will Not Accompany His Son—Another Death at Hospital.

The mining City of Tyrska, which joined the Port Townsend, Wash., to the Dyea and Skagway, Alaska, ports on the Chilkoot pass, is already as well known as Dyea, only a few miles south of the cataracts of the Dyea river, which is the outlet of the Chilkoot pass. It is a few hundred feet from the sea level. The town is now well over the line.

Lieutenant H. S. Smith of the Utah cavalry, which left the Presidio last Friday morning for the Yosemite and Sequoia parks, will not be able to accompany the troop. He was taken to a Presidio hospital on Friday morning by his orderly and a number of other soldiers. It is thought that he will be able to resume his post.

Irving M. Scott has resigned from the board of directors of the Union Iron Works, and Jas. D. Grant has been elected to serve in his stead. Mr. Scott's office of vice-president comes from the Pacific Coast Steamship company, of which Mr. Grant is president. Mr. Scott has given up the office in order that the company may have the services of the gentleman they desired.

The new torpedo boat destroyer Farragut is all on the dry dock at the Union iron works, undergoing repairs, and probably will remain there until July 15, when she will make her trial run. On the 15th the official trial will be made, and work will begin right in the bottom of the balloons on her port side.

The King has received a petition from fifty prominent Kansas members of the Supreme court, silver men and members of the Kansas bar, asking that he take favorable action on Judge Charles Hamilton Twombly's case. Twombly, who sitting as private, reports, was paid, and is now on the bench, drawing the Second Oregon pension.

This was a sad message of three deaths at the Alameda hospital recently: Mrs. Sylvester, of company E, First Tennessee, died of cerebro-spinal meningitis. About a week ago of the regiment, which was to leave for Manila, have been reported at the regimental surgeon's office as physically disqualified for service, and about forty cases of disability in all have been reported to the board.

The question of whether or not the sinking of vessel in Manila after the destruction of the Spanish squadron will be deemed by being discussed in army circles at the Presidio. Gen. Merriam and other officers have been asked to make no change in the present arrangements unless so ordered by the authorities at Washington. Every man who has been ordered to Manila will be there if I am permitted to do so, I care not whether the Spaniards sink a dozen more vessels in the harbor or not." Lieutenant Colonel Hall said: "I am in ignorance of the position, but I know as soon as I receive orders, the troops will be ready guards to preserve order." Similar talk for others from Washington writing the matter one way or the other.

A letter from retired Frank Graham, stationed at the Mare Island navy yard, near Vallejo, was received by the mail yesterday afternoon, and died. Another man died in the marine hospital last evening. He had been employed at the Vallejo yards and was another who died at Mare Island. David Wallace, a boilermaker, with an accident that will in all probability end his life the night of the 11th, was in a very critical condition. He received a blow on the head from a piece of iron, and he had purchased a home at Napa, where he had intended to make his home when placed on the retired list. He served 47 years in the navy, and at rear admiral, total sea service, 32 years and 2 months, shore or other duty, 14 years and 8 months. At the time of his death he was commander of the Mare Island navy yard. He was well known on the Pacific coast and was popular among both naval officers and civilians.

IN THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Already the hotels have commenced to filling from chafe weeks in mountain and on seashore, actors who have been seeking pleasure and recreation at these places. After a long spell of hot weather, amusements at beach resorts and other cool retreats, the amusement public is returning to the cities in the East, and theatrical managers, eager to celebrate in their way the autumn guard. Last season did not end to the complete satisfaction of managers, because of the war, but in all expectations, from the present outlook, the coming season should be one of the best in years. Bountiful harvests are assured all over the country, the people will, in consequence, have money to spend, and the most likely place it will reach when the weather are long and the weather wintry, will be the theaters. The season in Salt Lake promises to be generally brilliant, and the season's prospects bid fair to be improved upon before its actual opening. City Council in The New Orleans, and perhaps another year, should prove to be a match for the balance of the season. By way to the coming attraction at the Salt Lake Theater, Alexis Rodriguez talk. The opening bill has not been decided upon yet for the Grand, but Manager Murphy, with his experience of last year, will be able to make the opening of the season will be a "summer."

The traveling attractions billed at the theaters leading theaters of San Francisco, and of which we are not a few, are here detailed, and is it safe to say that two-thirds of them will find their way into the cities of the Pacific Coast. Bailey will revive Henry Miller, Modjeska, Julia Marlowe, William Gillette, the Broadway Theater Opera company, Lillian Russell, Fanny Davenport, Daly's company, Sousa, Jeff De Angelis' Opera company, Nat Goodwin, John Drew, E. H. Southern, De Wolf Hopper, and Melville Will Happen. At the Columbia will be seen a Milk White Flag, Under the Red Robe, Professor Kelley Sowing the Wind, Mathews and Bellair, Weber's Minstrels, Clayton Manhattan, A Parlor Match, Puddenhead Wilson, At Gay Coney Island, Island Bird, Bobby Archer, Two Little Vagrants, May Irwin, Hoyt Power-Tyler, Way Down East, Black Patti's Troubadours, On the Wabash, Blue Jeans, Primrose and Dockstader's Minstrels, Gilmore's Band, Andrew Mack, the Rogers Brothers, Hanlon's Superba, Clay Clement, Robert Mantell, Chauncey Olcott, El Capitan, and the Frawley company. A great deal of special attractions have been booked for the California, the new popular price house.

It is safe to say that at least two-thirds of those will find their way to Salt Lake.

The Battle of Manila on an enlarged scale has been going on all week at Buffalo and business records have reached their way to the popular resort in consequence. It is a spectacle like a fire in the Fifty wards of the Lake, indoor as it lasts and then watch the display of fireworks. Here a comfortable seat on the pavilion. The results as during this season will prove a record breaker, and the management must certainly have come to the conclusion that the time is ripe for the discussed railroad force a more adequate service. The Battle of Manila will be continued throughout the coming week.

The attraction offered in the presentation of the Lady of Lyons at the Lyceum Theater last night was a most pleasant one, particularly many compliments. Miss Peaks is a worthy to be the and Claude Melnotte, Mr. Ward, has a fine form and voice, and a good presence, and is a good actor. Mr. Pierce gave Beauseant a good reading. Miss Dora Mae Parker Mother is a pleasing personal appearance, understanding and a good voice. The production was not without of the will delight the lion, and certainly gives a meritorious entertainment. The performance chosen Wednesday evening is set.

Manager Geo. D. Pyper, of the Salt Lake Theater, is working to the end of the midsummer task of "making dates" for his house. He has no small difficulty in the matter, though he must grind out a few more dates." To the writer he said yesterday that there had been arranged for the appearance here in December of The Imperial Opera company, by Jefferson De Angelis, who will be glad to know that it is reorganized and ready for the present. Holdings are plenty of a good many people, so he says, this year. Let the good work go on, though.

Certainly it speaks well to read the fact that the Salt Lake Opera Co. is preparing for early production The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, an opera full of lively melodies and one that will give the company considerable of an opportunity. Having the name in the city's pretty opera. This is Africa, as it happens, and we gives to the company with all of the old favorites in leading roles and members of the chorus in their old places.

Note:

Jean and Edouard de Reszke and Miss Adams sang by request before Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle recently.

While singing at Keith's theater, Boston, recently, Pete Jerome, who boasts the women with Ward and Vokes, suddenly lost her voice and has since been unable to speak aloud. Nobody gave reasons to ask to be the cause.

Of Edmond Rostand's drama, Cyrano de Bergerac, which Richard Mansfield will object for next season, the usually conservative London Saturday Review says: "Match the whole range of Corneille, Racine, Molière, Victor Hugo, or any other French dramatist, and you will find nothing so fine as this Cyrano. Nay, if it pleases not, you will find nothing worthy to be put on the same level."

From England comes the news that N. C. Goodwin has purchased from Elliott an estate of forty-four acres. It is situated in Kent, half an hour from London. The house is a solid mansion of Elizabethan architecture, was built some thirty years ago by an English nobleman. It is set on the top of a series of terraces and is approached by a winding road that leads through a park of ancient trees, for the estate is part of the old Crown Woods. The entrance lodge, hidden in the foliage of great trees, is an picturesque as a cuckoo's nest and Richard Mansfield's home can make an photo. The house contains a dozen rooms and a ballroom, which Goodwin, his second late wife, Maude Adams, and the latter's brother, intended for a bachelorhood, make a world of a country garden. The estate was purchased for a consideration, the figure of which approximates to the purchase had been pending for several months before the marriage.

An Explanation.

The reason for the great popularity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that it has the medicine peculiarly suited to all America's Greatest Medicine, and the American people have an abiding confidence in its merits. They see and feel its effects, and are as certain and emphatic, confident that it will do them good.

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere simple eczematous eruption has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, but I thought it would soon take away my life. I was in a terrible condition, and the physicians, one to spare me the pain, gave me the morphine until it was undoubtedly a confirmed morphine fiend. I was in a desperate condition, and seeing your advertisement, I decided to try S. S. S., which was so strongly recommended. I am now a sound man, and I believe S. S. S. made a permanent cure. I continued the use of S. S. S. for some months after the last little sore was dropped off, to make sure that the cure was complete."

M. F. WILKINS,
Atlanta, Ga.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

"Obstinate"

of Bellona Sta., N. Y., started the above title "because the world was really in the obstinate." Her case was of long years standing, and seemingly was confined to her bed. Her sufferings were great, and the relief she obtained from the use of a single bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine was so great that she wrote us a letter telling the story.

"When I was released from prison my health was broken down. My nervous system could not recover from the strain. For ten years life was a burden. Good physicians did me no good. I used Dr. Miles' Nervine and Tonic and today I am entirely well."

DR. MILES' Restorative Nervine
