TRIPPLE KILLING IN WYOMING

Salt Lakers and Oregon Mines—A Major Fined for Bicycle Riding—Imprisoned Indians.

The Quick Bend (Wash.) Journal says: About 2,000 barrels of crushed ore will be gathered on the gulch in the Pacific country—this fall, which will net about $24,000.

An association for the destruction of coyotes has been organized in Crook county, Oregon. The county court offers to pay a bounty of $1 for each coyote killed in the county.

It is estimated that the Mexicans engaged in placer mining in the placers at Pinos Altos, N. M., have averaged among them over $5,000 per month since the rainy season began.

The Max crop of Columbia county, Washington, is about all harvested. So far there have been 1,915 sacks received, which will average 120 pounds to the sack. This amount was raised on less than 300 acres.

In shooting with the new rifle recently adopted by the United States army, for soldiers at the San Diego, Cal., barracks find that in order to hit the bullseye of the target they have to aim to the left and a foot or so below the center.

An ordinance has been introduced in the Reno (Nev.) city council taxing all women wearing bloomers $10 a quarter. It also provides a tax on every male person who practices the art of pedaling to ride a bicycle on certain streets.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Avalanche: The stage running between Hiles and Rifle upset Wednesday night about 11 o'clock four miles this side of the latter place with a party of eighteen Colorado. All received more or less injury. One of the passengers had his arm broken and was internally injured. His recovery is doubtful.

A Winona, A. T., man took his shotgun as a cane to assist his horse up a steep hill hunting. He took the gun by the muzzle and hit the horse with the butt of it, and the blow of the gun discharged the weapon. The charge of shot tore away the man's side and exposed his heart and lungs to view. He lived about a day.

The police of late have been very zealous in enforcing the city ordinance against riding bicycles on the sidewalks within certain districts in Ukiah, Cal. Friday George Armstrong, traveling representative of a San Francisco bicycle agency, was arrested and fined $10, and Saturday evening C. G. Stephens, mayor of the city, was arrested on a similar charge and fined a like amount.

A haunted house at Fruitvale, Cal., which has been pointed many times, is now occupied and has been for several months past. The occupants say they have never seen anything unusual about the place nor heard any noises that could not be accounted for. The notion spread about the place kept tenants from the house so long that the owner was compelled to pat down the rent to a figure that would pay the taxes. The family now in the house get the benefit of this reduction.

Rock Springs, Wyo., Miner: The great Rattlesnake, to take place in Salt Lake City, at the beginning of October, has received every encouragement leading to success. The entries for the contests number 142, a fact that will make the competition for first honors have a exciting. Wyoming will be represented by Mrs. John F. Mail, who has entered in the supreme subjugation. Rock Springs will take special delight in honoring this lady should she secure first place and we all earnestly hope she will return the prize winner. Mrs. Mail is a talented singer and will hold her own in any company.

Laramie, Wyoming, Boomerang: One of Rasmussen's sheep herders a few days ago found the skull and several large horse bones which are supposed to be the remains of H. D. Babcock who disappeared from La Marsh's ranch nearly three years ago. Babcock's name was cut upon a spoking sap tree near where the skull was found. One Sunday morning early in October, 1892, Babcock left La Marsh's ranch accompanied by a dog. He passed a neighboring ranch, where he said he was looking for stock. A couple of days later the dog returned, but nothing has been heard of the missing man since. Babcock was a printer.

The nineteen Moqui Indians who have been confined on Alcatraz island, Cal., for nearly a year past were transferred today (Monday) to the Navajo Indian agency, Fort Defiance, A. T., by order of the secretary of war. They were started under a guard of four soldiers by rail to Gallup, N. M., where wagons will be in waiting to convey them to the agency. There they will be turned over to the acting Indian agent. The offense with which these Indians were charged was refusing to send their children to school. They have been confined on the island for nearly a year, their term of imprisonment being varied by occasional trips to San Francisco, where they were shown around the public schools.

Prof. George H. Davidson gave a historical lecture on Saturday night, in Golden Gate hall, San Francisco, before the teachers of the city public schools. In the course of his address the arrival of the ship Brooklyn from New York with Mormon immigrants under the leadership of Samuel Brannan was sketched. Brannan had been the publisher of the Prophet, a Mormon paper in New York, said the lecturer. He brought his press, paper, type and compositors with him, and in October published an extra containing General Taylor's reports of the battles in Texas. In January 9, 1847, Brannan issued the first number of the Yerba Buena California Star. The change of name of the settlement from Yerba Buena to San Francisco took place shortly afterward. The census of 1847 showed that the population of the settlement, including the troops at the Presidio, and the Indians at Mission Dolores, was 459. In his report the governor predicted that San Francisco would become the great emporium of the North Pacific coast, yet the local commerce was then simply served by two small sloops.

Long Creek, Oregon, Eagle: Parties who have recently returned from remote state that they found that there is considerable activity among the miners of that locality. Quite a number of claims are changing hands, the most important of which is being that of the Humphrey quartz claim to a Salt Lake mining syndicate. This claim is recorded as a very peculiar one, inasmuch as there is no certainty a large body of ore, and yet the exact location of the walls and their direction can not be definitely ascertained. But the Salt Lake concern will develop it and make the necessary expenditure. A. Mr. Grant represents the Salt Lake parties, and is on the ground buying very liberally of quartz and placer properties. He is now filling up a steam shovel to use $7,000, and will use it in working over some of the placer ground. Anyone going into Canyon with the intention of purchasing will be offered any number of claims at prices ranging from $100 to $1,000 and even more, with all grades of real value attached to the claims.

Oakes county, Wyoming Journal: H. D. Robinson, an old man living on the Grass creek, four miles from Sheridan, was shot and killed in cold blood by J. Walsh, a man who had been specialing on the Robinson ranch. After killing Robinson Walsh mounted his horse and rode to the Weiss ranch, a mile distant, where he shot and killed a young man named Herbert Lynville. He then rode off toward the mountains to the west. Sheriff Morrow and Deputy Hawes started in pursuit of the murderer, and succeeded in heading him off before he reached the mountains. Walsh was shot and killed by William Timmins's ranch on Beaver creek. Sheriff Morrow and his posse rent the brush thoroughly along Big Goose creek, where Walsh had taken refuge, and finally scared him from cover. He ran through a corn field with two or three men in pursuit, he was asked to surrender when the men caught up to him, but instead of complying leveled his gun at his pursuers. He was immediately shot and fell with three bullet holes through his body. The murderer was 35 years of age.

FALL GOODS COMING NOW.

Woolen Goods a Trifle Higher Than Last Fall, Cotton Fabrics and Sewing Silks have Also Advanced in Price.

We have selected stock this fall with the idea that we are to have an improved trade in goods. And that are eye-openers will want to be suits that they have been buying for the past three years. Therefore we purchased from the most reliable manufacturers, and have selected the very latest patterns. Without regard to trade, extra care was given to last year's designs. We have also made some no wide changes in our clothing department. Notable among these is engaging the services of one of the most popular and best known tailors in the city, so our customers are trying an experiment by passing orders with us.

With regard to prices we still adhere to our motto of giving our customers the greatest value possible for their money, being satisfied with very small profits.

We have also looked after the interests of our base Bertonian our course, who do not feel that they can afford to invest $3.50 or more in a suit, but still desire one in well fitting, well made, tasteful appearing clothes, and for this trade have purchased a very carefully selected line of American made goods. These goods are equal in workmanship of pattern and general appearance to those of foreign manufacture, and are of capital wearing qualities and are top special by many unscrupulous dealers as imported, and offered for sale by them at such at prices much lower than the imported goods can be sold for, but a much higher price than we are offering the same goods for. From this source we are ready to fill orders at from $12.50 to $22.50 and give the customers the benefit of having them cut and made by the best skilled workmen in the city, a privilege we trust will be appreciated.
