From the Mission Field.

Elder E. C. Stratford of Ogden was a caller on the "News" Friday, having about ten weeks ago returned from a mission to Great Britain. Elder Stratford left for his field of labor on the 12th of September, 1896, and was ordained to the Lesser priesthood. He was released to return home on account of the sickness of his aged father.

Elder Andrew A. Peterson of the Seventh ward of this city returned home on the 12th inst. from a mission to Sweden, his field being in the Roma conference, which he reports in good condition with bright prospects.

Farewell Testimonial.

Next Wednesday evening in the Seventeenth ward assembly rooms a beneft testimonial concert will be given in honor of Elder Howard Garrett, who leaves on May 25th for a mission to the Eastern states. No charge for admission; the public is welcome.

A Beautiful Flower.

This morning Prof. Joseph J. Daynes brought to this office a magnificent specimen of the tree peonia. The diameter of the flower was about ten inches, and the yellow stamens and rich pink petals made a beautiful combination. The flower was grown in the professor's garden in the Twenteith ward.

A Letter from Ensign Pearson to His Family at Dover.

UTAH'S REPRESENTATIVE AT MANILA.

Tells in an Interesting Manner of the Departure of the Little Squadron from Hongkong to the Philippines.

A week ago today the "News" published the portion and gave an interesting sketch of the career of Henry Pearson, Utah's naval representative in the battle at Manila. Reference was made to a letter received by his father, dated on April 5th, from Shanghai, in which he briefly stated that he had been ordered to the Philippines. Now another letter has reached his parents, giving further particulars. It shows that he was in charge of the Zafiro, one of the Spanish ships purchased by Admiral Dewey and on which the English sailors were retained at wages that were increased one hundred per cent.

War had not been declared when Ensign Pearson wrote his last letter. This important declaration was made on April 25th, while the letter bears date of April 10th. But it is evident from Ensign Pearson's conservative tone that he was not in the least trouble anticipated in that time. He writes in a decidedly matter-of-fact way of the situation in the Philippines, and of the change of ownership for certain of the chief city of the Philippines and the sinking of a Spanish fleet by an American squadron. The letter is most homeseeking, though quite full, also, of speaking about the Spanish sailors still were retained on board the Zafiro, and of the hopes of securing information regarding the United States flag. The letter, which is interesting throughout, is as follows:

Dear Family—My last letter was written from Shanghai just before leaving for Hongkong by rail. There we arrived on April 7th, and on the 8th we left the Monocacy by rail steamer and arrived on April 10th. As soon as we arrived all went at once to the Olympia. The next day the men were divided among the various ships that needed them. On arrival at Hongkong we learned that the admiral had bought a merchant steamer called the Nanshan with 7,000 tons of coal on board and another called the Zafiro, which was a very fast steamer, to be placed. One officer from the Monocacy was retained on the Olympia, one sent to the Nanshan to take charge of her and I was sent on board the Zafiro to take charge of her. These two vessels were English vessels before we bought them, and when we got them, we kept the same crews that were on them before, paying them double wages.

As soon as I got the Zafiro we began to take on coal and provisions for the fleet. We have about finished this and we have on board about 650 tons of coal and 6 tons of provisions. The Zafiro was, until we bought her, a passenger steamer between Hongkong and Manila, and is well fitted up with good passenger accommodations, having about a dozen good state rooms, etc., and it is the intention to use these as a sort of hospital for wounded officers, if matters come to that the worst.

The best consists of seven good warships and these two steamers, each of which will be armed with one or two small rapid fire guns, rifles, pistols, etc. All vessels of the fleet are loaded down with ammunition, coal and provisions, and the supply on the two steamers is to be taken by the fleet when they run short.

The daily telegrams indicate that matters are very serious and that trouble is very liable to come. If it does come, the fleet our boys now at once to the Philippine Islands, which belong to Spain and will probably try to take Manila, the capital city. The English forces there seem to be in a bad state as far as we can learn and there seems to be no doubt as to the outcome if we go to take the place.

The ships are stripping themselves of all needless gear and putting it on the Nanshan so it will be out of the way in case of action. The ships are all now painted white, but tomorrow they are going to paint them all a light green color, so they will not be so easily seen at a distance.

Every officer and man is ready to fight, also, who go about the harbor in a small steamboat and look at every one of our ships to see if they seem to have some or any left port. They go there are watching to send word to Manila when we leave Hongkong.

If war has been declared when you get this, we will probably be down near Manila, going for the Spaniards. If the matter has been peacefully settled, I will probably be on the Olympia, which is coming home as soon as this matter has been settled.

Regards to all.

Yours, etc.,

H. A. PEARSON.

WENT TO OGDEN WITH HER SWEETHEART

How the Leading Lady of a Wind Beneath Company Brought Grief to the Audience.

That the fair sex will even admire the dark and inky industry of soldier mechanics is certain. There is a peculiar individuality something about military life, dash of color and the possibility of fame that captures the female heart. There was an exceptional case of this kind last night in the form of a well known home which a crowd of people, the number of 175, had gathered to witness the performance of Townsend's interesting comedy, Captain Racket, at the Grand company. The house was nicely decorated, and an above-par crowd really was on the face of these people's in anticipation of the enjoyable.

The amusement behind the scenes was critical. A number of people had gathered to wait upon the lady of an hour, the leading lady, Miss Ethel Hardy, the young lady with whom Captain Racket is supposed to be in love. The crowd search was immediately instituted and Thomas Ashworth, with an eye for publicity, was placed in the missing person. W. H. Lowery was called on the stage, singing at the rehearsal with the young man and lady who is supposed to be the young lady's sweetheart and who by her private arrangement and to his bliss is to elope for a season.

The curtain was then assembled and turned into the stage of Ogden where the audience in the front of the curtain and the announcement that the next night the company would be there to take her part she having a relative of her mother's family in Ogden. The crowd then left the house and came back at the door, showed the master of ceremonies, and the audience filed out with a very disappointed look and the Star Show went away to Salt Lake after a hearsed application for a place behind Mr.
