JAMES FAIRCLOUGH,

His Anxious Wife Hears of His Death Aboard a Ship.

In May last Mr. James Fairclough left Salt Lake City for England, whither he was bound to look after his interests in an estate which he believed had been left him by an uncle. The immediate cause of his leaving, however, was a dream which he had three nights successively, in which he said he heard a voice saying "We must go to England." The dream so impressed Mr. Fairclough that after a consultation with Attorney Strong he left to investigate the matter in the old country. Arriving there he found that his uncle had in reality died and left him $4,000, but as other claimants had made a fight for it the estate went into chancery. While her husband was in England Mrs. Fairclough received a letter from him in July last, and in which he stated that he had expended his last dollar in the effort to establish his claim to the estate, and that he would next proceed to get enough money together to reach his home once again a-m, having secured work on a farm at 50 cents per day. That was the last ever heard by Mrs. Fairclough of her husband in this life.

A letter from Henry Holt, 323 Race street, Philadelphia, bearing date of October 12th, was received by Chief of Police Frall yesterday and sent immediately to Mrs. Fairclough. Holt: "I am holding baggage belonging to James Fairclough, who died on board the ship Bergsland the latter part of August."

This was the first intimation received by Mrs. Fairclough of her husband's fate.

It appears from this that Mr. Fairclough was on his way home. He was evidently expected by her, as fortified, she will be left destitute. Attorney Strong has the matter in charge.

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

Interesting Anniversary of the Eleventh Ward Y. L. M. I. A.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Eleventh ward Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association was held in their meeting house last evening, with Sister Louisa Felt presiding. After the usual opening exercises the roll call was responded to with sentiments from each member. Then followed an essay on happiness by Sister Betsy Little Sears; correspondence between Sisters Drusilla Howard and Belle Armstrong, and a song by Sister Carrie Dye.

The president reported the condition and labors of the association, and was followed by Sister Mary Fraser, the first president of the society, who it was then was as the Young Ladies' Retrenchment association, twenty-four years ago, which position she held for sixteen years.

Dr. Ellis R. Shipp, Sisters Maggie Shipp (who was the first secretary of the "Retrenchment association") Jane Fraser, Nellie C. Taylor, Lillie Fraser, Bishop R. Morris and Sister Hampson and Hall addressed the meeting in the order named. Their remarks were of the most interesting and instructive character and much valuable counsel was given in regard to sustaining reputation, storing the mind with useful information and praying for the things needed day by day instead of having a set form of prayer. Many reminiscences were brought to mind of the early days of the association and enjoyed by those present who participated in them. Benediction was pronounced by Elder Joseph M. Fall.

Accident to a Salt Laker.

A special dispatch to the Tribune brings the information that George C. Kidder, of 809 Park avenue, this city, who is superintendent of the Comet Gold Mining company, of Soldier, Idaho, was severely injured at Soldier, Idaho, yesterday by being struck in the abdomen with terrible force by a board which had come in contact with a large circular saw which was in full operation. The wound he received was a large and ugly one though the chances are he will recover from its effects.

Departing Missionary.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

It is remarkable how such a business can be established. A little over a year ago, a little, consumptive looking young man came to Salt Lake City, having left the coast to south of Pueblo. Recovering his health, with the climate of Utah he rapidly regained his health and concluded to enter into the shoe business. The young man we refer to is Geo. Starr of 24 Main street; how his business has succeeded is not only remarkable but perfectly surprising. His business grew to such an extent that he was compelled to seek larger quarters of late and in addition to the storeroom he occupied, the latter of which he did, giving the contract to Taylor, Romney & Armstrong Co.

His store house is now one of the largest for the shoe business in Salt Lake, and his stock is unquestionably one of the largest. Mr. Starr claims his success is due to the fact that "we try and handle only good, solid, stylish last wear, buy only from responsible houses, make every just claim good, and our expenses are about $15.00 to $20.00 a day less than many shoe houses in the city. Now, if I buy as cheap as any one else, why can't I save you or any one else money by buying shoes of me? Is not this a fair and reasonable argument, and can this be the only reason of my success? I mean to handle the best line of shoes that money can buy and I want to give 100 cents on the dollar worth of wear to my customers, I mean to keep posted on styles and nothing in the shoe line so it escapes my notice. To convince you or anyone else that what I have said is facts is to only give me a trial. We will give you our time, take great pains to try and please you and we will be fully repaid for our trouble if you will only give us an opportunity to convince you even should you not buy." The writer was thoroughly convinced and promised to buy his next out from him.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Decker room. The first event of the day was the last mile road race, in which McCumber finished third, winning third prize and third time prize. Then came the trick bicycle race, Joe Dash taking second in the series, Fowler first, Rice second, and Thatcher third in the series, class A, all "Ramblers" you will note. In the half mile class A, May took second, Carter third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a yellow suit was the lead and fell. Comstock and Weller being immediately behind him, the latter was a spill for these parties and the rest left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler spill, May taking first, Joe Dock second and McCumber third. Fourteen prizes for one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
And the sun may hide behind a cloud,
But Rambler's sun never shines on the eye,
