NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Helena Millionaire and a School Teacher Secretly Married.

BIG ORE STRIKE IN COLORADO.

Rich Found Dead on Black Rock Desert, Nevada—Other Miscellaneous Items.

The name of the station on the narrow gauge up to Ouray (this spelling is the Westward Junction, Lemhi has been changed to Wagner).

Hugo F. Daly, the Helena millionaire, and Miss Lenore E. Taylor, one of the most popular of Helena's school teachers, were married secretly in Butte, Mont., on the Coast of our Lady of Black Hills.

The Cheyenne (Wyo.) Sun says: A new spelling on the railroad is to be adopted in Laramie county. It is recommended by those who are responsible for those boards by the railroad and will change, that in the future all are to be spelled, a saving of something over $1 per signal. Why not spell it?

On Monday afternoon at the point of the Denver and the Union Pacific bridge, Jack Smith, who was employed by the week at bridge work, was attempting to jump on top of a freight train, off and the wheels passed over his left foot, nearly severing it from the leg. Amputation was necessary.

There is at last an honest and competent engineer of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Railroad Dock to have Walker and Dock which was washed away in the flood in the Rock of last spring, now the Walker (Idaho) Mine. At that time fully one-third of the dock was totally destroyed, to be by some cause started out completely for hundreds of miles.

An unsuccessful attempt was made the other day to save the burning coal mine at Hanna, Wyo. State Mineralogist Thomas and a party of men were down from Rock Springs and the mine were personally reserved, and the men with the necessary appliances went into the mine. Four of the men were overcome and had to be carried out, while all suffered from the damp and fumes.

H. F. Gray, superintendent of the Ione, Nevada, Indian company's mine, at Granite Point, Nevada county, left the Nome Gulch last on the 16th of February, he found a dead man in the Black Rock Desert as a result, seven miles south of the company's main works at Cole Springs, in Humboldt county. He describes the dead man of about 50 or 60 years, weight five feet eight inches.

Fire broke out on Saturday afternoon in the main school building on the Puyallup Indian reservation, Tacoma, Wash., and caused a damage of $600 which is partly extinguished by the unemployed Indian pupils by throwing on a basket brigade. They had the Tacoma engine and hose company, under Chief Wilson, and with the infantry by being work on the hand with a bucket.

The Alamosa (Mont.) Standard says that Henry Bennett attempted suicide by hanging on Saturday night, but he was found and his life was saved. Bennett has been engaged for some time by a woman in Wyoming and she finally tired of him and discovered that he was married. He made a confession, but failed to get out, finding himself left in a place where he would have to work for a living, he concluded to quit the world.

Judgment for damages in the case of Charles Perry, condemned to hang on Nob Hill for the murder of Patrick McNamara at Lava, Bennett county, Dakota, has been filed with Governor McConnell, and the governor has announced he will grant a reprieve pending action by the board of pardons, which will not meet until several days after the date for the hanging. Under the constitution the governor is empowered to reprieve in such cases, but the power to commute is vested with the board.

One of the biggest strikes on Yankee Hill, Colorado, was made recently in the famous Stonewall mine. A short time ago an ore was struck 250 feet from the main shaft, and when the mine was tapped a rich body of ore was encountered, two feet wide and running $200 per ton in gold. The ore shows to have run in the 200 foot drift, every indication point to the fact that it will come north further down the hill. And one year ago the ground was thought and the 200 foot strike from the location. The Pocket has produced a very rich body of ore. The Nile is twelve inches wide, and the lateral of the stope is two feet, and pays for this. The bottom of the stope, Eve Barnes, will run $100.

Test of Smelting.

An effort is being made to present a fair comparison of the comparative merits of the Pennsylvania anthracite furnace in contrast of furnace in which it is fired by natural gas, in a small amount of work and yet an amount of ore, the comparative merits of the two metal furnaces, gives brownies, Bessemer, average, etc., being discussed. The evidence indicates that gas furnace, modified by natural gas, and furnaces, is found to show all round.

Gray's Greenwood conditioner working with modified furnaces may be usually practical. The element of the use of coke and average, especially, gas, coke, and furnace, and being a stable manner. Reports upon the of conditions, and these materials should be used only when they are more than the ores actually applicable, and the use of smelting supplies should be supplemental furnaces.

Although it is believed that in some cases the conditions may warrant the operation of such arrangements of blast furnaces and the employment of natural gas, it is not safe to generalize. It is not safe to assume that such is generally advisable. In deciding the question, the local conditions must be taken into consideration.

Mrs. Dunn's wife was found and [illegible] Dunn's wife. He frequently spoke of his wife and family. Dunn's wife gave up his a bottle of whisky.
