THERE are messages at the Western Union telegraph office for Mrs. Caroline Turvey, Rev. Joseph McClain, Leonard Wild.

COUNTY CLERK C. E. ALLEN was missing from his post today. He had gone to Ogden to attend the "Liberal" convention.

THERE was a big rush of taxpayers to the office of County Collector Hardy this morning, paying over the amounts of taxes annually due from them.

THERE will be a special meeting of the Press Club at its quarters in the Central block, on Sunday afternoon next, at 3 o'clock.

THE Cass Hite murder case will probably go to the jury, at Provo, some time tomorrow. It may, however, reach them at a late hour today.

AT the meeting of the directors of the Utah National Bank last night the regular quarterly 2 per cent. dividend was declared, with an addition of $500 to the surplus fund.

THE Tenth quorum of Seventies will not hold their regular meeting on Thursday, October 13, on account of the house undergoing repairs. Charles Bassett, President.

HON. F. J. CANNON, safely back from his southern tour, and in the city to speak at the Republican rally in Federal Hall tonight, paid the NEWS sanctum a fraternal visit this afternoon.

BARNEY HARVEY'S great stallion I. J. S. died yesterday, after an illness of one week. The cause of death is not known. The animal was a noble one and was valued at $10,000.

THE noted lady lecturer, Laura De-Force Gordon, will speak on Democracy at a meeting to be held in Wasatch hall, tomorrow evening (formerly Federal court room). The meeting is announced to commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

THE funeral services over the remains of Engineer C. J. Cook who was accidentally killed by falling down a shaft in a mine at Eureka, as detailed in last evening's NEWS, will be held in this city tomorrow at 2 o'clock p.m.

A FULL attendance of Tabernacle choir members is requested at rehearsal tomorrow night, as business as well as work of importance to every member must be done. Evan Stephens, Conductor.

CHARLES J. READING, son of Mr. Reading the florist, of this city, left last evening for Chicago, where he will enter one of the largest flower and seed establishments in that place. He expects to be away about a year.

EDWIN M. BOYLE, the young dramatic author, son of Judge Boyle of this city, was married in New York on the 5th inst. to Miss Selina Fetter, the leading lady in Mr. Boyle's popular play of "Friends." Bon voyage.

DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK BROWNE this morning issued the following marriage licenses: Hans C. Anderson, 32, of Aspen, Colorado, and Annie M. Swensander, 21, of the same place; William Blake, 26, of Salt Lake, and Mary Ann Burton, 21, of Bountiful.

MORITZ MERENY, in Justice Kroeger's court, last evening, instituted a singular suit. He complains against Edward Mohoey that the defendant is withholding from him a letter from one Katie Laky, written in the Hungarian language. Plaintiff is anxious to obtain possession of the missive, the value of which he places in his claim at $50.

W. A. HODGES, assayer, completed work today on 115 tons of Horn silver ore, 108 tons of Yosemite No. 2, and two lots of fifteen and thirty-five tons respectively of other ore which the managers will not permit to be named. There were no experimental samples made, indicating that these are either no recent discoveries now or the discoverers are in no hurry about putting their finds to a test.

AT the County Court yesterday afternoon, a franchise was granted J. R. Walden to lay water mains from a point beginning at Thirteenth East and Tenth South, south to the penitentiary road, thence to West Jordan and thence to place of beginning. The probate judge was ordered to execute a quit claim deed from Salt Lake county to Harvey Hardy. Court has adjourned until Monday, October 17.

IN POLITICAL CIRCLES.

What Local Parties and Partisans are Doing.

Hon. J. L. Rawlins speaks in Coalville tonight.

***

More fusion talk is rife, and in a short time the "deal," if there be one, must be made public.

***

The Democratic Territorial committee are now snugly located on the second floor of the McCornick bank building.

***

The Republican rally in the old Federal court room this evening promises to be largely attended. Hon. Frank J. Cannon and others will speak and an enthusiastic time is expected.

***

The Scandinavian Democrats hold forth in great style at the Social Hall on Friday night. A good programme is being prepared and one or more speeches by members of the party will be made.

***

Republican appointments for tonight: Farmington, John Henry Smith and James Devine; Hunter, Daniel Harrington; Brighton, C. O. Whittemore; Herriman, D. H. Wenger.

***

In the issue of the NEWS four weeks from today, we expect to be able to announce whether Cleveland or Harrison will preside over the destinies of the country for the next four years; and we will certainly, on that occasion, let the folks know whether Rawlins or Cannon goes to Congress from Utah.

***

The Salt Lake County Democratic convention will meet tomorrow and nominate candidates for assessor, collector, recorder, sheriff, treasurer, clerk, attorney and selectmen; it will also choose a county committee to serve for the ensuing year. There is no lack of timber out of which to construct all these nominations; in fact, what to do with some of it is a more vexatious question.

***

On account of inclement weather, the Ogden Republicans abandoned their parade last evening, but the gathering in the Opera House was an immense affair, the building being jammed in every part. Speeches were made by Major Breeden, General Kimball, Candidate Cannon and Ben E. Rich, in the order named. These, interspersed with music, made up a decidedly lively bill of fare. The convention in the afternoon nominated a full county ticket.

***

"What is there in this talk about fusion?" asked a NEWS representative at Republican headquarters today. All hands were as innocent of information as the head of a cane is of hair. "I have heard," said the enlisted, "that there is a prospect of an alliance between the Republicans and Liberals, and if so it might as well come out first as last." "Well, as to that," said one of the leading lights, "we have no information ourselves. We can say, however, that we don't care anything about the county ticket here." Whether this concession means much, little or nothing, the reader can decide for himself.

***

The recent expedition of Hon. Frank J. Cannon through the southern portion of the Territory, in the light of the miles traveled and the work actually done, figures up pretty well among similar achievements of the day. He traveled 500 miles by rail, 600 miles by team, and held thirty-one meetings in thirteen days. He was accompanied part of the time by George Sutherland, Esq., of Provo, a prominent candidate before the convention, and Wm. McCarty, Esq., assistant U. S. attorney for the Second district. Mr. Cannon never missed an appointment and always had a large audience to talk to. The political records of the country at large could scarcely show anything ahead of this.

LIBERALS AT OGDEN.

Powers Absent But His Heart Is With Them.

H. W. LAWRENCE OR F. J. KIESEL

Probably at this Hour the Nominee for Delegate.—Allen Says He Don't Want It.

Special to the NEWS.]

OGDEN, Oct. 12.—The Liberal Territorial convention was held in the Opera House in this city today, convening at 12 noon. C. E. Allen called the meeting to order and named A. H. Emery of Park City for temporary chairman.

A telegram from O. W. Powers at Lincoln was read announcing his regrets at not being able to be present, and advising the Liberals to stand for Utah, and as the old-time friends of the Territory work for the cause until Utah was worthy of statehood.

Committees on credentials, permanent organization and platform were appointed, C. C. Goodwin and C. E. Allen being appointed on the committee on resolutions from Salt Lake.

An adjournment was then taken till 3 p.m.

On reconvening the report of the committee on credentials was read and is still in progress at the present time—3:40.

A probable forecast of the nomination for delegate to Congress at this time shows the choice to be between Henry W. Lawrence of Salt Lake and Fred J. Kiesel, of Ogden. C. E. Allen says he is not in it, and Powers appears out of the race altogether.

FOR DETECTIVE WORK.

An Unpaid Bill for Hunting Up Rottenness in a City Department.

Detective Joseph O. Brien is carefully and quietly hugging an unpaid city voucher for $227 to his breast for work performed by himself and associates in unearthing alleged crookedness in Sanitary Inspector Showell's department and recently published in these columns. The paper is signed by City Health Officer Beatty and Auditor Raybould, and, it is said, expected that the matter would come up before the Council last night. He wants the money and wants it badly too. He declares that he has rendered the city good service and somebody must pay the bill as he does not belong to that class of individuals that labor for glory alone. When the matter does come up before the council there will certainly be some fun.

That Conference.

At the time of going to press this afternoon the conference between the business and railroad men at the Knutsford, on the reconstruction of the present freight transportation schedule, had not concluded its labors. Two dark lantern sessions were held today and it is reported that excellent progress is being made. It is believed that the conference will adjourn tonight.

LATEST FROM THE IRVINE TRIAL.

The Jury Not Yet Selected—A Fresh Panel Ordered.

Special to the NEWS.

LINCOLN, Oct. 12.—At 3:15 this afternoon, after the examination of the ninety-third juryman, both the general and special panel were exhausted. The court ordered another panel of fifty citizens and adjourned till 10:30 tomorrow morning. The state has but one, the defense three peremptories left.

Catching the Octopus.

"It is no trick to catch them. They are pulled out with hook and line from the deep waters of the sound, just like fish, and are found on the rocky bottoms of the fishing banks," said a Seattle fisherman. "Look at this," continued Nick, raising the slimy mass of legs and pointing to a perfect counterpart of a parrot's black beak. "That's his mouth, just like a parrot's, only much larger and more powerful. When once those jaws fasten on the bait they never let go until landed on the deck of the boat. No, they seldom give us much trouble. That is part of a Greek fisherman's early education. Experience has taught the men how to handle them safely. The only care necessary is to prevent their fastening their suckers on the sides and bottom of the boat. If by accident of carelessness they succeed in doing so, the octopus is safe, for the suction of those cup-like disks is so great that nothing but the knife can dislodge them, and as they can't be reached they get away. The men know by the weight on the line and its action when an octopus is hooked. Then, by means of poles, the line is kept away from the boat, and, watching a favorable opportunity, with the assistance of boathooks, the fellow is suddenly yanked on board and left to thrash its life away on deck. Of course, the men have learned to keep carefully out of reach of its tentacles.

"On a clear day and in clear weather one can see an octopus at great depths. Their bodies usually lie hidden under sheltering rocks, leaving only one or more of these long feelers visible, moving cautiously back and forth. By baiting a hook with a white rag and dropping it close by it is fun to watch their movements. They pretend not to see the bait, believing it is living prey. They will advance their feelers inch by inch, and gradually their body, and retreating again, as if to draw on their intended victim. Playing the bait back and forth excites their cupidity, and when satisfied of the result the beast makes a spring for the bait that for lightning-like speed beats anything on record. Of course it fastens its razor-like double-back action beak into the rag and holds on like grim death, allowing itself to be pulled out of the water rather than let go.

A MILITARY PARADE.

The Climax of the Columbian Anniversary Fetes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The climax of the series of fetes in honor of the Columbian anniversary was reached today in the grandest military pageant seen in this country since the close of the War of Rebellion. People were present from every state in the Union and every country on the globe.

The morning was ushered in by the booming of cannon from all the forts in the harbor and American and foreign war ships.

The parade started from the battery shortly after 10 o'clock and marched up Broadway and Fifth avenue to Fifty-ninth street, where the Columbus monument was unveiled. The first division was made up of United States regulars, a battalion of cadets from the United States military school at West Point and the batteries from all the neighboring forts; the division numbering 3500.

The second division consisted of United States naval brigade of 1200 blue jackets and marines; the third, of 17,000 state militia of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania; the fourth, of 13,000 G. A. R. veterans and 2,500 sons of veterans; the fifth, of 1500 letter carriers; the sixth of 1500 New York and visiting firemen; the seventh, of 4300 exempt volunteer and veteran firemen and Seventy-third New York volunteers; the eighth, of 2000 Italian and French societies; the ninth, of 4000 German-American societies.

The exercises at the monument consisted of addresses of presentation to the city and responses, and blessings by Archbishop Corrigan.

At half-past 2 the organizations deployed inside the streets awaiting their turn to fall in the line, stretched from Vesey street to Fourth. At this rate the parade will not end till after dark.

Celebrations in Spain.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—The festivities in honor of the Columbian anniversary commenced at daybreak this morning. The city was gaily decorated, including many American flags. Early masses attended by throngs of people were said in all churches in honor of Columbus. Later a monster procession formed of professors and students of Spanish universities and marched through the principal streets in mediæval costumes.

THE RIGHTS OF INDIANS.

The Government Ordered the Payment of the Lawyers' Fees.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs Bell replies to the charge of Captain Lee contained in General Miles' report that the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians were charged exhorbitant fees by the attorneys who negotiated the treaty for them with the government for the reservation in Indian Territory. He shows that the government had to care for the rights of the Indians and ordered the payment of $67,500 fees to the attorneys because their services had been vastly valuable to the Indians.

Killed in a Street Car.

KANSAS CITY—Oct. 12.—A Santa Fe freight train ran into a cable car here this morning, killing Wm. Barber, the gripman, and C. Bevis, Ed McKinney and Jefferson Scott, passengers.

Springer Replies to a Charge.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 12.—Hon. W. M. Springer was recently charged in an open letter by Secretary North of the National association of manufacturers with misuse of wool statistics in his discussion of the tariff. Springer has written a letter in reply, to be published in the State Register, showing that North's reference to the prices of scoured wool in the United States and Europe rests only on an assertion. As there are no quotations on scoured wool in this country, North's statement has no responsibility as to the controversy.

Reported Attempt to Assassinate the Czar.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Intransigeant Basle says an attempt has been made to assassinate the Czar by blowing up his train with dynamite; that five people were killed and fourteen injured by the explosion.

LATER.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The reported attempt to assassinate the Czar is not credited here, at Berlin or Vienna.

A Victim of Incendiaries.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Oct. 12.—The residence of John Fox, a non-union man, was set on fire last night by incendiaries. The family barely escaped with their lives.

The Triennial Congregational Council.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—The Triennial Congressional council met here today.

The secretary's report will show a gratifying increase in the membership. The home missionary society reports show a favorable progress in its work. The report on Christian unity hails the appearance of a spirit looking to that end in all Christendom, and recommends that minor points of difference be laid aside in order to facilitate the object. The committee on Sabbath observance, makes a strong plea for the keeping of that day in accordance with the spirit in which it was served by our forefathers, condemns Sunday traveling, theatre-going, Sunday papers, and says the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday would result in an appalling demoralization.

The body was called to order by President Northrop. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Geo. H. Wells, of Plymouth church, responded to by Dr. Northrop. For moderator, Rev. Dr. A. H. Quint, Boston, was chosen almost unanimously.

Snow in Colorado.

DENVER, Oct. 12.—It began snowing at 11 last night and is still falling this morning. Reports indicate that light snow is falling throughout the State.

A Flouring Mill Destroyed by Fire.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 12.—George Chester's flouring mill was burned this morning. Loss $150,000.

The Remains of the Poet Interred.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—With all honors which the church could bestow, in the presence of many eminent men of letters, statesmen and nobles, the remains of Tennyson were interred in the Poets' corner at Westminster Abbey today. The Jerusalem corner contained a mass of rare floral offerings, including a laurel wreath from the Queen.

The remains were laid beside those of Browning.

The Queen also sent a medallic wreath of leaves appropriately inscribed. The procession formed at noon in the Jerusalem chamber; the coffin was borne on the shoulders of stalwart men. Among the pall-bearers were Henry White, U. S. legation secretary, and Lord Salisbury. The mourners followed the coffin; then the household servants, representatives of the Queen, Prince of Wales and other royal persons.

On reaching the chancel, the coffin was set down at the foot of the altar, and Canon Duckworth opened with the service for the dead; then the choir chanted the 39th psalm. After the lesson for the day was read, the choir sang Tennyson's last poem "Silent Voices." The body was then borne to the Poet's Corner, and, after further services, was committed to the grave beside Browning. Benediction was pronounced by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Italians Unveil a Columbus Statue.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12.—The Italian societies of this city today unveiled a marble monument to Columbus in Druid Hill Park, and presented it to the city. The ceremonies were preceded by a parade through the principal streets. The ceremonies were closed by Cardinal Gibbons with a brief address.

A Big Suit in Chicago in Dispute.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Argument began in the Supreme Court today in the famous Lake Front case, involving the title to land along the Lake shore in the business heart of Chicago worth millions of dollars. It is an open question whether the property belongs to the United States, the state of Illinois, the city of Chicago or the Illinois Central railroad.

Death of the Editor of the "Messenger."

STILLWATER, Minn., Oct. 12.—V. C. Seward, the editor of the Messenger, who was shot yesterday by Gro. Peters, a discharged employe, died this morning.

Glasgow Ripper Captured.

GLASGOW, Oct. 12.—The police have discovered that the woman whose mutilated remains were found in West Lodge on Monday night was of a low character. A sailor named McNeilly says he was in company with a man named McEwan on Monday night and met the woman who went with the two men to West Lodge and spent the night with him. McNeilly says he left the place early next morning to look for work, and knows no more about the matter.

The detectives this evening pursued McEwan's trail toward Paisley and found him half way there with a gash in his throat, having evidently tried to commit suicide. The wound, however, was not fatal. He was brought back to Glasgow.
