A TALE OF HORROR.

Armenian Christians Tortured in Mohammedan Prisons.

EXTERMINATION THREATENED.

The Situation in Turkey Described in a Letter from an American Resident.

BOSTON, June 11.—A reliable American resident in Turkey, in a letter about the situation in eastern Turkey, writes, says:

"The question now confronting Christians is the life or death of Oriental Christianity. Are these wicked and godless fanatics to be permitted to slip big swords further in the blood of innocent Christians?

"Day after day the pitiful story is uttered over and over again of pillage, burning, torture, murder, violence, abduction, confiscation, desecration of churches, etc. Here numbers are in the hundreds; there the hundreds of the political questions involved put the answer to the problem far beyond our ken."

The letter gives a new story concerning the sack of Talkeh province. If the Bible story there is true, it is with such one large exception as to be nearly parallel. There are between twenty and thirty villages, with each one. There are no market towns. There are between 1,000 and 1,500 families in each village. Armenians think there is no other such wealthy province. Taxes are heavier than in other provinces. Under Kheredin, a Mussulman Vilayet, Mosul, has not yet had stress broken by the pitiful report with an iron shovel.

Near Mamigonan, at Vorontsan Village, Mosul, were younger of Zaptiehs Gorge, the Bass of Armenian Village at Kisaiz, died in prison on the charge of Hennigan. Nine people lived on his person was aggravated.

Antjanian and Hrant Makhanian of Ahan Village of Mosul were beaten in a beating exercise. Mamigonian was carried to eight places, and was tortured in twelve places with a stone.

Margos Sarapin, of Arvent Village, Mosul, was beaten till he fainted and on a girls was thrown around his neck and he was violently forced to Bajlan office, where he was beaten for a thousand pieces with red hot sticks. He was kept on the hot for days and nights without food or drink. He was also subjected to other tortures and punishments not to be mentioned.

Sahkan Markanian, of Semal Village (Gesaan), was imprisoned in violent beatings, plunkings out of hair, and was tied to towards standing for twenty-four hours at a time. The minister of the prison keeper forced him to return the Mussulman (Islamic flag.) He finally was tied together, the last time between and through bars, and then tied together by the chest to.

Gaspar Hamamian of Kisaiz village of Mosul, was seized for other slights by Zaptiehs by the order of Mimo Tomasoff and Cavalier Kaloudjer and Hadji Tatoom. They beaten him late and hot, resulting in his death. Two Armenian Albanian of Mosul, was kept in the Mosul prison in an trial and the heavy chains on his feet. He was brought to Bitlis prison in handcuffs, and kept there for one and a half months. Being given frequent beatings, which he would faint, water was to poured upon him to revive him. His hair was plucked out, and he was turned with his head. Other Armenians of Vorontsan and Mosul, are terribly beaten by Zaptiehs and are taught.

Sahakat Hamamian of Hohgadil village (Vorontsan, was kept standing without food and drink for long periods at a time; his hair was plucked out, finally beaten, and stripped down upon. The prison keeper caused him to be carried to Bitlis, and kept him with his shoe on the stomach, back and head, and the spot in the middle.

Sunday morning, April 28th, in the city of one of the Provincial prisons was heard a dog's bark, with a cow chorus. Upon the upright part of the cross was written "Jesus, French, American, German, Armenian."

Upon the cross piece was written "Christians. You have become robbers. In a short time you will see what will become of you. Oh, you Nations against the government."

In the Hingolian church was seen at the end of the nave, with a cross five to six feet, upon which were written the names "Hingolian, Italian, Greek, The Armenians have grown robbers. Nil albiens lex, but it is the law of the Armenians to be plundered with the sword. Your fate has arrived. He who accepts the true faith is safe."

AFFAIRS AT HOME.

Questions as to the Prudential Succession of the Prince.

LONDON, June 12.—The Home correspondent of the Standard telegraphs that it is announced from that the Papal nuncio at Paris, Monsignor Sanvi and Vicomte and to receive Cardinals.

The news caused much interest in Vatican circles because it will quicken the preparations of Italian cardinals in the secret college. The gossip is accounting the rack and.

We hope this to create a politic more to stationary with point interest to the World, and to which the news indicate the move to succeed only surmount the difficulty, and made the point of our rule.

The Chronicle's Home correspondent says with reference to the issue of a new Pope, Jacobite, the subject is, is regarded with great interest in connection with the succession question, however, is the growing community of a Bonapartist party for recent reasons that could only be a question, a Wave of a Bonapartist. The fact to the return of Cardinal Rampolla, is the last unlikely. The other candidates, with the exception of Cardinal Vannutelli and Cardinal Vanutelli, are rising away. The persons who talk hold good that the national sentiments be favorable to the monarchy in general. (Gold.) The question is only temporary, and depends on the outcome."

AT G. P. HEADQUARTERS.

Satisfaction in Detroit of the Decision of Judge Stevens.

OMAHA, Neb., June 11.—Today the news of Judge's action begins feeling in the Union Pacific headquarters that was made yesterday upon the request of Judge Murphy's order to the Black Law of Iowa Northern case. The arrival of Managing Receiver Clark was the talk with the heads of departments and the chief of receiving conference in the Brief Lake situation, as Judge Murphy's brief gave better hope for Union Pacific people some hope. As it is now understood it simply means at the old and alternative management of the property in Utah, whether under a separate receivership or under the present receivers, who are serving in the Utah court. Judge Murphy in his order said that the property in the jurisdiction should be managed not in the interest of great lines in the Union Pacific, but for the benefit of the property and the people.

Union Pacific officers say that the action Judge Hurpil was not to be expected to the American Loan & Trust company, but others in gathered from the issue of June 8, 1894 to take the Union properties in Utah by the Mortgage bondholders, Messrs. Lowery, Wells, Dodge, Powell and Mr. Eyre. Mr. Mr. Hancock enter upon the trust, the American Loan & Trust Company which gave to pay to each for the Union Pacific as follows:

[illegible]

From this amount is to be deducted [illegible] which Judge Stevens in the order following a bid believe to be need of $12,000.

In the order that the property is not therefore sold in month or so date the Receiving Receivers Hunter Williams to be sold by the American Loan and Trust company become the property in receivers.

[illegible]

Total [illegible]

From this it is seen to amount $[illegible] for each month or so date, [illegible] Receivers Hunter Williams [illegible]

[illegible]

Total [illegible]

From this it is seen to amount $[illegible] for the month of June and July, making a total of $[illegible].

Estimate of net total $2,[illegible] which the Receivers of the [illegible] Railroad will have to pay up to take the property Judge Dr. Union Pacific receivership only [illegible] "It is no case to assume that for the next time [illegible] the present receivers of the Union Pacific will manage the properties in Utah, if not the whole Union Pacific lines & Utah Northern."

It is not so seen possible, it is said, that the trustees under these circumstances will spend nearly $[illegible] for the Utah Railway and Southern extension, when by waiting for nine months the American Loan & Trust company can succeed to the control of the properties by the process of foreclosure, which is their right, and is now seen but to presume that this will be done on the part of the trustees.

CUTS & CARVE.

Propositions Made to the Northern Pacific Receivers.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The committee representing the two mortgage bondholders of the Court of Appeals Railway & Navigation company and a committee to be bondholders claiming that they [illegible] to be represented with the Northern Pacific receivers by which the latter will guarantee as another of the corporate coupons of the second payable in 1895, [illegible] of the second payable in 1896, [illegible] payable in 1897, and the all coupons payable in 1898, and thereafter yearly that the coupons of 1898, and the unpaid part of the coupons of 1894-5, are to be polished and paid, or payment provided by some other stipulations, and that a corporation of the Northern Pacific and Cut d'Alene is created within a year, and to exist for reorganization the unpaid interest and the bonds, they bugs, will be satisfactorily arranged.[illegible]

ALLIES ESTABLISHED.

The Late Senator Stock Fraud Suits All Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The senator's inquest into the death of Mrs. Sallie Hendricks, murdered in her home [illegible] days ago, was concluded today. The testimony of the official stenographer contained a [illegible] which for the late senator Buck.

I. W. Lane, chief of the Local secret service, stated that he had followed every clue, and every person having any interest or possible connection with the case. He was still absolutely in the dark regarding the identity of the murderer, and admitted that he had not even a suspicion concerning the possible slayer. Referring to the Washington in the body of the murdered woman, he said they believed that the motive was most brutal. He was satisfied that the murderer was the single handed with the assassin. He was certainly not the one who had been suspected for months of robbery. The bell wounds had probably been inflicted by a pistol and as a club.

The jury returned a verdict of murder committed by some unknown person.

Hoxie's Bail.

CANTON, Nev., June 11.—James Hoxie, who is suspected of stealing horses from the Carson mine, arrived yesterday from Denver in charge of United States marshal. He was taken before Commissioner Lowery, who proposed to fix his bail at $[illegible]. In view of the fact that Hoxie made a voluntary surrender, his attorney protested against such high bail, and Commissioner Lowery agreed to consult the district attorney before acting. In the meantime Hoxie remains in charge of the marshal.

Job and Wife Dead.

OMAHA, June 11.—The coroner's jury investigating the murder of Charles Job, of Kansas City, which occurred Sunday night, Nov. 4, found that the man was murdered by some unknown person, and that his wife was killed by the same hand. It was found that the man was a commercial traveler, and was on a visit to his home. Job was a member of the Knights of Pythias, and was buried with honors by the order. Mr. Hancock enter upon the trust, the American Loan & Trust Company which gave to pay to each for the Union Pacific as follows:

[illegible]

Total [illegible]

From this amount is to be deducted [illegible] which Judge Stevens in the order following a bid believe to be need of $12,000.

In the order that the property is not therefore sold in month or so date the Receiving Receivers Hunter Williams to be sold by the American Loan and Trust company become the property in receivers.
