THE DISTRICT COURT.

Hearing on an Injunction Matter and the Result Thereof.

SETTING OF CIVIL JURY CASES.

Divorce Suits on the Topic.—Morris-Jacobs Bites Before the Two Judges Today.

Chief Justice Merritt, again absorbing his usual custom on Saturday, held court in his division until noon today and then adjourned for the day, to take a short breathing spell before facing the civil jury list on Monday next. A new setting of cases for the coming week was made by his honor this morning and will be found below. Greater part of the forenoon was consumed with legal arguments in the Pendarvis injunction matter. Judge Hartley, in his department, dealt with small items and Judge Morris the bench at about 11:30, having finished his day's work in open court.

NOT REFERRED TO TODAY.

Slater, J. P., was expected to hale us again with one or more of his attorneys to Judge Merritt's court this morning, to try and get the case finally settled in Hartley's affair or attain other relief, presumably owing to the absence of John M. Zane from the city "on other business" at present, nothing was said about the matter today.

ANOTHER OLD SUIT.

On a demurrer to complaint, and also on an order to show cause why a temporary restraining order previously issued should not be made perpetual, the matter of Mary Ann Jacobs vs Mary Ann J. Pendarvis vs Wm. Morgan, sheriff of Salt Lake county, and J. P. DeWoody, defendants, came up for prior arrangement. The arguments were had, however, on the demurrer, and the court then ruled on both heads.

Originally complaint was filed by the plaintiff, praying for a temporary restraining order enjoining the sheriff from selling the property of the defendant, to satisfy a judgment in favor of Geo. W. Morey, as plaintiff, against Herbert Pendarvis, in the sum of $600.50 and interest, costs, attorney's fee, and accruing costs, and claiming the property as the homestead of the defendant, Mrs. Pendarvis, being the plaintiff herein. On the same day Herbert Pendarvis executed an assignment to the plaintiff of the lease and all the buildings and fixtures upon the premises. On January 31st of the present year Mr. De Woody served a written notice upon the sheriff that he (Mr. Woody) was a judgment creditor of Herbert Pendarvis and claiming the right to seize the property from the execution sale, under $53 and embracing a certificate of homestead. An affidavit followed and was served in this court, Mr. Woody against Mr. Morgan, and the latter officer summoned another sheriff's writ of mandate, requiring the sheriff to accept the $53 previously tendered and return the $600 to Mr. Woody as subsequent. Out of all these proceedings the present matter arose.

Whitmore and Walz, on the part of the plaintiff, and F. H. Cheney and J. M. Dyer, on behalf of the defendants, occupied the first hour and a quarter in argument the plea and rule, and upon the issue being submitted to the court, his Honor sustained the demurrer to complaint, vacated the temporary injunction and granted was allowed five days in which to amend complaint. Defendant was given ten days to plead to complaint amended.

The above counsel set with that the complaint did not show that our Street is within the parties to the chief sought.

OTHER CASES DISPOSED OF.

In the matter of H. Hoyt vs Chilcoat Bill of costs, a demurrer and motion of defendants both sustained. Time allowed to plead.

Chas. Anderson vs Chas. Mulliner et al. Demurrer sustained and default entered against defendant Chas. P. Mulliner.

Jesse A. Pepper vs Fred. W. Rose, Demurrer overruled; ten days allowed defendants to prepare statement in motion for a new trial.

John H. Bowman vs Salt Lake City et al. On motion of Judge Hogle, for the defendants, ten days were allowed, from May 1st, to answer.

Sarah Jane Hodgins vs Salt Lake City. Same ruling, ten days to answer.

Clemente P. Haley vs Wm. Bailey; Stevens, Brown and Burns renewed their application on behalf of the plaintiff for temporary alimony pending the hearing of the divorce action. Hilton and J. Hollands appearing on the other side; but the matter was again continued—for a week.

JUDGE HARTLEY'S SIDE.

In the matter of the Silver State Clothing company vs J. E. Cosgriff et al, on motion of Jos. Hoskowski was granted and judgment granted against him for $28.28, with $40 attorney's fee.

May Smithson vs Guy et al. By consent a new trial was granted in the suit.

John H. Lloyd vs Salt Lake City Railway company. Demurrer to amended complaint overruled and answer allowed. Ten days to answer.

THE BOUNTIFUL SCHOOLS.

Pupils There Engaged in Commencement Exercises Yesterday.

The closing exercises of the East Bountiful schools, Davis county, took place yesterday, April 27th, at half past 10 o'clock. A large concourse assembled in the afternoon and listened attentively to the following program, in which pupils in the different grades participated:

[illegible]

Following the exercises of the program were addresses by the school trustees, J. D. Maley, John Gustafson and David Stoker Jr., each of whom made appropriate allusions to the loss of Principal W. A. Corey and his corps of teachers, commending their work and faithfulness.

Preparations had been completed for a lawn picnic at noon, but as the weather was inclement, picnic, pastime, sociable and visiting were obliged to forego their pleasure.

In the afternoon the audience repaired to the Brick Hall, where a commendable display of school products was on exhibition. The attendance was the first in the division, and the exhibit was certainly praiseworthy. The work in the departments of the teachers, was arranged in departments as follows:

Principal Corey, seventh and eighth grades, bookkeeping, physiology, of the cyclopedia, atlas, etc., examination papers in geometry, arithmetic and geography.

Fifth and sixth grades, Miss Jessie R. McEwan, teacher. Specimens of drawing in brown, silk, paper, in language, number, spelling, music and arithmetic.

First, second and third grades, Miss Clara Tullis teacher. Language, music, drawings of familiar objects, and needle work.

First and second grades, Miss Mabel Walker, teacher. Letter writing, language, drawing and specimens of work.

T. J. Rowell, was one of numerous school, presents numerous similar to those produced with such rare grace. Two sets of nine minutes, three boys and six girls, was produced, and will take part in the county preliminary contest, next month.

The school rooms of the district shows the teachers and children capable, and honored and worthy of praise, have been enrolled during the year. The patrons of the school are evidence themselves in being well pleased with the progress made during the year.

The Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Jeremiah J. Hansen, wife of Henry T. McKeen, were held in the Tabernacle wind meeting room yesterday afternoon. There was a very large attendance. The floral decorations in the hall were beautiful and appropriate. The pallbearers were Elders H. J. Grant, A. H. Cannon, A. M. Cannon, O. P. Wolstenholme and George Romney. The choice hymns were offered by Sidney Romney, and a large array followed the remains to the cemetery, in spite of inclement weather. The usual service feature referred to the noble example of a worthy matron, and the sympathy of the community was expressed for the bereaved.

Prompt Work.

Twenty-one men in Salt Lake City brought to the Sugarville bank the House Fire Insurance company's check for $1,000, payable to the order of Mr. H. W. Miller, of Stockton. The check represented the amount of Mr. Miller's insurance in the company, on his dwelling house, furniture, and wearing apparel were completely destroyed. The insurance company has settled with commendable promptness, and we learn that the loss would have been paid before, Mr. Whitney, the adjuster, visiting Springville for the purpose, two days after the Provo fire, but Mr. Miller was anxious to find the bankers who gave him the opinion of the court decision to be rendered next week. Prompt settlements like this are characteristic of the home company, and form one reason why the people prefer to do business with it.—Springville Independent.
