HE IS WANTED IN DENVER.

George Robinson Said to Be a Bigamist and a Many Times Forger.

George Robinson, a young man who has been employed in this city for some time past, was taken in custody by the police last evening at the instance of the Denver chief of police. He is said to be a many times forger.

Incidentally he is charged with deserting his lawful wife at San Francisco and taking unto himself another in Colorado City. It is claimed that he was "chased out" of New York, Chicago, St. Paul, Denver, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek. He is a native of Ireland and, according to report, was educated for the protestant ministry.

Unless differences are speedily "squared" he will be taken to Denver on a requisition from the governor of Colorado.

KILLED AT CAMP FLOYD.

Robert Kermeen Crushed to Death in the Marion Mine.

A miner named Robert Kermeen was crushed to death at the Marion mine in the Camp Floyd district yesterday. About 10 o'clock he was pinned beneath a falling mass of debris and terribly mangled. His lower limbs and body were horribly mutilated, while he also received serious internal injuries which alone would have been fatal. In the hope of saving his life friends placed him in a conveyance to be driven to Fairfield station with a view to bringing him to this city for treatment, but he expired on the way. He was a single man and forty-five years of age.

Fell and Broke His Ankle.

F. M. Fitzgerald, a Rio Grande Western engineer, had the misfortune to fall on the sidewalk in front of a Second South street restaurant last evening and break his right ankle. He was taken to the White House, where Dr. Pinkerton reduced the fracture. A few months ago Mr. Fitzgerald broke his right wrist by falling on the depot platform Thistle station, in Spanish Fork canyon. He is beginning to be of the opinion that his luck has not been in the most pleasant places.

Prohibition Again—A Correction.

Editor Deseret News:

The very unmeasurable article by H. S. Johnson in Thursday's paper is based upon an entire mistake as to what is advocated by the friends of prohibition in Utah. He closes the article with these words: "The attempt to foreclose legislation by an article in the Constitution * * * might, and probably would, result in the defeat of statehood."

Exactly the opposite is true. The article of the Constitution, the insertion of which is to a vote of the people is now being advocated, has as its very first clause these words: "To be submitted to a separate vote of the people, or provided by the schedule and ordinance."

The men who are leading in the movement do not believe, they believe the contrary. And also the action of the leading democratic two congressional propositions upon which are could honestly differ. As they arrange the matter, if the legislature could submit every law in the Territory against the article and for its legality, this fact would not affect the test of the Constitution a particle. The vote on each will be as separate and independent as would be the different constitutional or ordinary laws.

This test effectually clears away the main difficulty of Mr. Johnson's communication, but another point or two should be noticed.

He quotes says in substance that since prohibition has not been under the session of actual instructions of the delegates to the Convention, they "are under no obligation" to regard the present or future wishes of their constituents in adopting the proper article for the Constitution. The Herald lately makes a similar sentiment editorially, much to the astonishment and disgust of thinking people. Let us examine the text.

First—Why do we have delegates at all? Why did not Congress appoint a committee in Washington, or New York, to frame our Constitution for us outright? To ask the question is to answer it. Such a Constitution would not be one-half as fair. So far, however, as actually perfect it might be. No "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," as Lincoln said, could possibly be either established or continued on that basis. It would be like our present Territorial government in the very things which make every territory wish to become a state—because it is their right and heritage as much as can be their right because we are also in the welfare of young men and the safeguards which should be provided for them. A report of the work accomplished by the association in this city in helping young men who go to preaches, also the plans for future efforts along the same line. change and peculiar experiences in my missionary tours, I can say that in the same length of time I never have had so much joy and satisfaction, though if I were to try and describe every event I have met with I would speak of days dark and gloomy, of days happy and peaceful, of times when it would seem like martyrdom would not be painful a sacrifice, of times when all the powers of heaven were bending the energies of our Redeemer. Yes, it is a life of varied conditions, and after all its pleasures far outweigh its woes.

The conference is in a prospering condition, as I presume most all have understood ere this, with sixteen young Elders carrying the message from house to house and from city to city, continually opening up new fields and getting an establishment among the prominent and influential, having houses opened to us where a few years past Elders would not have thought of applying for. Prejudice is fast giving way and many of the old weapons and ridiculous stories now resorted to as a means of destroying Mormonism's effects are falling on every hand when resorted to. The people are fast becoming tired of the raving songs of sectarianism. It is becoming fashionably and fast as the people are becoming wiser. They are beginning to see that their views have been adopted for money, and they now see the folly in prejudice and are desirous of obtaining something more powerful and sustaining. They are beginning to realize that they are living in the time the Savior, Paul and others spoke of, when say in speaking of the latter days, that the tide towards God will be sought by the people of men, having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof.

Perhaps an experience of opposition, which we had at a Methodist meeting, would not be out of place, as Elders of other Sects meet with similar experiences. Not long since we had taken a trip in a new neighborhood in order to convert that portion of our alloted field of labor. We were getting along nicely and I was expounding on some of our principles, when the preacher took the floor and raised something of the massacre in Lewis county, in which Elders Gibbs and Berry were killed, making a scandalous picture of it—so much a contrast from its really as day is from night. When he had done he hesitated a moment, then said: "I know this to be a fact for I was an eye witness on the occasion." He then stepped again.

Your correspondent then arose, after seeing and hearing as much, and asked permission just to state our object in their midst, also our desire of stating the truth in regard to the block of nonsense reeling upon some of the citizens of Lewis county? The answer from the pastor was, "If the congregation desire to hear your statement, you are at liberty." The steward was at the point of putting it to a vote of the people, but the pastor, seeing the chance he had to defeat the effect of a reply and knowing he had made an untrue statement, arose to our feet, called upon the congregation to arise and receive the benediction, thus leaving the steward talking.

We remained after meeting a few moments, desirous of speaking to the pastor in regard to what had been said; but he gave us no opportunity. Therefore we left, leaving the people to draw their own conclusions as to the false statements. After we had gone the steward told the pastor he had made a great mistake and he had blunder; he he said: "You have not only treated those young men with disrespect as strangers, but you have shown no no respect in rising up and discussing the meeting while I was yet talking." At this one of the leading members took it upon the result was almost a fight; the result have been, had not the members separated them and drawn them away and got them started for their homes.

As all will be rewarded according to their works we can decide one to the Both, there must necessarily be the ruling on high who notes all such conduct and holds it for men to meet, among they repent and serve Him. We regard it as a victory for Mormonism; for the course thus pursued made many friends for us, as to the center, the way you be used to all Mormonism, also the wrong way. I am of the impression that much good will be done in this portion, for the Gospel seed being sown will yet bear fruit in duly set, and that the truth stored will be his everlasting.

With a constant prayer for the advancement of truth and righteousness upon the earth. I am your brother in the Gospel, JOS. S. FERRELL.

Free Coinage of Silver.

With it help business, and are all the miners and mine owners in the different mining camps of the West willing to join a plan that will restore silver to its proper place? Will they join such a plan, and in doing so, compel our eastern friends to realize that the West is not alone in requiring the free coinage of silver, but that they themselves, from a financial standpoint, will be benefited in accomplishing that much desired result?

You all realize that the West has contained in those upon millions of dollars in silver, and in doing this it has required millions of dollars' worth of machinery and merchandise to at all times, all of which, or the greater part of which, has been purchased in the East, and paid for with our silver dollars. When this silver reached the eastern market it was not placed in circulation, as it should have been, but stored away in vaults, and in such quantities that our eastern friends became alarmed lest we should become so much that it would become valueless. Now, all the powers of heaven were betwixt from their standpoint it is quite natural that they should become alarmed. Suppose a manufacturer began supplying his goods to a certain market, by the carload, and storing them in warehouse; is it not reasonable to suppose that the conservative merchant would fight shy of this manufacturer's goods, making that he was overstocking the market, and that it would be but a short time before there would be a crash in the prices of the goods? Now do you think so? What is wanted is for every mining company in the West to stop—not next year but right now—sending their silver east and petitioning congress to do what it could their orders to the Utah Mining company at Salt Lake City, Utah, who have a burning desire to extinguish some fire silver. (By the way Uncle's tar soap is a dandy for burns.) We are manufacturing all kinds of soaps, and so to quality and prices they will compare with the best in the market.

Now simply give us a trial order. We guarantee our goods and prices. We want the western silver, and we will help to keep it west until our eastern friends will pay for it—in the banner form now for Uncle's soap. Now don't smile and forget to send your orders, as we intend to publish the names of all who do so. Remember, they are in favor of free coinage of silver, by sending their orders to us. Now why not let your name head this list?

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he wrote to Mr. W. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that the valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

In the Fall of 1893, a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter Co., Cal., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup, he invariably gives Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market.
