FRAGMENTS.

Most of the saloons observed the Sunday closing new ordinance, though some of the proprietors took chances in doing business and accommodating large and thirsty throngs.

LAWYER DONAHY, the young man who has been skipping at the Bonneville bond, and who while there attempted to take his own life, seems to have met unpleasant disappointment. It is said that there is still liability as close to his whereabouts.

JAMES SULLIVAN, proprietor of the Chetlen saloon, and Joseph Miller, his bartender, were arrested yesterday for selling liquor on Sunday. Miller was released on depositing $25 and Sullivan had a hard struggle to raise $100 to get his liberty.

THE Workingmen's Association held its regular monthly meeting in the Gem City lodge room last night, and business was read and adopted. A board of supervisors consisting of one member from each precinct was provided for, and those appointed were: First precinct—J. P. Allen, second—D. C. Wolverton, third—J. J. Williams, fourth—W. H. Smith, fifth—J. H. Kirk. Other routine business was transacted and a meeting morning dawned open at 2 p. m. next Saturday, in the Tabernacle.

FRANK GILLEGO is developing into a fair budget photographer and is kept constantly making small sums at things unusual and unique. He was seen a few days ago selling his views at different points in the company and at various engine in the camp of the industrial army, and as a result he obtained a number of striking pictures of views. Yesterday he photographed the members of the police department when it visited the funeral of Sergeant Wilson in a body, and made a very good job of it.

W. J. Parry and Charles Taliffer, two soldiers from Fort Douglas, were looking in the golden sunset at two Fourths of July celebrations last night, the names of the rival flowers being Mabel Williams and Minnie Lee. Two rival soldiers, F. Hardy and F. Yarnsdale, meanwhile relied at the home and the fair lassies. Four beaux were smoked over each other's head, and Hardy's scalp was badly cut. The last two named are in jail, and the other left the scenes for their appearance on a charge of disturbing the peace.

A SAD SCANDAL.

City Marshal Erickson of Ephraim and Mrs. Hansen Charged with Adultery.

Special to the NEWS.

EPHRAIM, April 15, 1894.—At an early hour this morning the report spread like wild fire that Marshal Erickson, our city marshal, and Mrs. J. P. Hansen Jr., wife of one of our most beloved and respected citizens, had been locked up during the night, charged with the crime of adultery. Mr. Erickson held the keys to the town's jail, and it was there they were said to be. Your correspondent called at the city hall and found the report to be only too true. Nothing for years has happened here that has caused such general sorrow, for both are of the best families of town, and both had families of young children at home. They have not yet had a hearing, but the city hall is surrounded with people as the mail leaves, awaiting the result of the examination.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

The Speakers Yesterday Were Elders David H. Cannon and John Morgan.

Divine service were continued in the Tabernacle on Sunday April 15th, commencing at 2 p.m., Elder Angus M. Cannon, president of the Salt Lake stake, presiding.

The choir sang:

Praise to the God's chosen seers,
Guard us and compass us.

Prayer was offered by Elder Wm. C. Dunbar.

The choir sang the anthem:

Jesus, I my cross have taken.

ELDER DAVID H. CANNON

Met addressed the congregation. He felt satisfied, he said, that the Gospel which the Latter-day Saints have received is of God, and believed that by means of its principles we will attain unto eternal life. He here testified that he knew Jesus is to the Redeemer, and that through His death the Saints will enjoy the blessings promised unto them. The servants of God do not ask mankind to depend on the testimony of the Saints alone, but those who will in sincerity accept the instructions of the Elders, repent of their sins, be baptized in the water for the remission of sins, receive the Holy Ghost shall know for themselves that this is the Gospel of the Son of God.

ELDER JOHN MORGAN

said that the Latter-day Saints have received more principles as are necessary for the redemption of the human family. These principles are not mere mere theories, but have been revealed to the children of men through the inspiration of God. It was promised that in the meridian of time there should come to earth a savior to redeem mankind from the effects of the fall, that through His death and resurrection a way should be opened up for their salvation. One of the last injunctions of Jesus to His apostles was that they should go forth into the world and preach the Gospel which He had revealed unto them. The Gospel was accordingly preached and many rendered obedience to the teachings of the apostles. According to the ancient prophecies a new dispensation was to be entered in prior to the second advent of Christ. This has really occurred and the Gospel is again being preached to the children of men. In response thereto the Saints are being gathered from the nations of the earth. Doubtless the people of the world consider that the servants of God make very great claims. They do make very great claims. Nevertheless the principles they advocate are true. Christ promised that the Gospel which He taught would be preached in all the world for a witness before the end would come. He also stated that false prophets and false Christs would arise and they would deceive many. Such pretenders have actually arisen, claiming to be the Son of God, and the present age seems to be more prolific in this respect than any other. There would also be tribulations among the children of men, and consternation would take hold of the hearts of many. These things are being witnessed today, and are but a few of the evidences that ancient prophecies are being fulfilled. The speaker testified many of the witnesses that have been borne in the ancient and other revelations of the Spirit of God upon the earth in this age, stumbling evidence can be found that the principles are being fulfilled great is the final consummation of all things. But the time for which we are now more particularly to consider the subject of the resurrection of the dead, the importance of accounting to God for the use of the talents committed to us, the great significance of the events which are taking place in the world, and the duty of all to be in readiness to be found worthy of obtaining an interest in the kingdom of God, which is certainly to come on the earth to-day, the great work of gathering commenced in this dispensation, the signs of the times, and the duty of the Saints to live up to the teachings of God, and be a righteous people, that the Lord may pour out the blessings of God upon them, and make known the truth in our land, and to prepare it to receive the world. The Gospel is being preached in the earth, commencing in the ancient country of the Jews, and the time is fast approaching when the Latter-day Saints are being used as the instruments in God's hands in bringing to pass His purposes on the earth.

ELDER G. W. THOMAS

announced that in future the sacrament will be administered to those who are worthy in the regular ward meetings.

The choir sang the anthem:

Lord, to guide.

The benediction was pronounced by Patriarch John Smith.

SERGEANT WILSON'S FUNERAL.

It Was Largely Attended by Sympathetic Friends Yesterday.

The most numerously attended funeral that has taken place in this city recently, was that of Sergeant A. M. Wilson, which was held in the general chapel of Joseph William Taylor, beginning at 2 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) afternoon.

Half an hour prior to the commencement of the services the Doubleday band, Doubleday Rifles, police and other organizations formed on First South street east and marched slowly and with bowed heads to Richards' chapel, along which place otherwise the Knights of Pythias in large numbers were drawn up and waiting. They stepped into line in pairs and the march to the place of the funeral was resumed.

The big black casket that contained all that was mortal of the dead sergeant was half hidden beneath a profusion of costly and beautiful flowers. Most noticeable among the floral offerings were a broken column of magnificent proportions and symbolism, an open book from the police colleagues, a star, diamond, pillow, representing a watch and shield and various other designs.

In addition to the relatives of the deceased, there were present during the services, sitting near the coffin, Officer Everitt, whose fired bullets and notorious eyes indicated the terrible mental strain under which he had labored since the lamentable accident, Mayor Baskin, the police commissioners, members of the police force and other city officials.

A quartette rendering of Moses Dunbar, James, Gray and Hill sang I Need Thee Every Hour, in a manner that touched every heart and moistened many eyes with its sympathetic melody. Colonel Talbot, of the Utah National Guard conducted the services and was the first speaker. He had known the deceased for many years and spoke most commendably of his career as a soldier in Company K of the Eighth Iowa Infantry. As a soldier there was no spot or blemish on his record. In the service of his country he was ever cool and courageous and in time of battle never shrunk from being where death and danger stalked the battlefield, should duty call him to such a place. The record of his life was a valuable legacy to family and friends.

In concluding his remarks, Colonel Talbot placed a cut rose on the face of the dead man, typical, he said, of the trouble, turmoil and strife of life and a pass while his emotions of pathos, peace and repose, sprinkled with the dews of heaven, and said, "Comrade, I now bid you farewell forever."

John P. Meakin, prefaced by a few well chosen remarks, recapped the memory of the deceased and read from the rules of the Pythian order a selection appropriate to the occasion. The quartette then rendered Softly Sleeps and the services at the chapel were over. The body was carried by the pall bearers, all members of the police force, to the house as the last prayer a funeral sings. The cortege started for Mount Olivet shortly after three o'clock, in the following order:

Doubleday band.
Chief Pratt and Captain Donovan.
Two patrolmen of police.
Doubleday Rifles.
Uniform Rank K. of P.
Knights of Pythias.
G. A. R. veterans.
Mayor and committees.
Police and fire commissioners.
Hearse with pall bearers.
Family in carriages.
Other carriages.

At the grave the Pythian ritual was read and the quartette sang, We Shall Meet Beyond the River, and the Soldier's Farewell.

Rare Beard of it.

John P. Bloomfield has lodged a $5,000 damage suit against Jas. W. Eardley in the Third district court. It is based on the outrageous which took place between the two men on the third floor of the Dooly building last February, when, as the plaintiff now alleges, Eardley threw him to the floor, "choked" and trained him, and knelt upon his chest in such a way as to injure the internal organs. It is also charged that the defendant cut Bloomfield's face.

Mineral Rubber.

The American Asphalt company has about completed plans for manufacturing various articles out of the Utah asphalts, or mineral rubber, in competition with volcanic productions of the East, says the Denver Mining Prospectus. Wasatch street parts about been leased, and by July, when the snow goes off the western range, the company will be ready to supply asphalt in any quantity. in life of the nation. The company will employ about twenty hands at the beginning of the operations, and will increase the number as business develops. Historically, or derived in New York for gas, is in competition with consumers at a cent a pound. The American Asphalt company contemplates building a large plant on the Uintah Indian A. East manufacture is begun and be built this spring, and then the company will begin shipping to the eastern from Kyles station on the Uintah Railway. The organizers of the company are Messrs. Grover and the business is managed by William A. Fatty.

MARRIED IN A PULLMAN.

The "Romantic" Wedding of an Ogden Salt Lake Couple.

Geo. A. Spencer, a prominent young lawyer of Salt Lake, Utah, passed through Pueblo, says the Chief of that place in a recent issue, yesterday on a honeymoon tour, the objective point being Denver. Mr. Spencer was married last Saturday night in a Pullman car attached to a freight & Rio Grande train while awaiting at the depot in Salt Lake.

The bride was Miss Grace Brown, the daughter of an Ogden merchant, who did not sanction the marriage. Miss Grace was in love, however, and so was Mr. Spencer, so the young lady left the train last Saturday at Ogden for Salt Lake, while Mr. Spencer, in company with a friend, awaited her arrival. The party hurried to the sleeper and the friend, who is a minister, performed the ceremony which united for life two happy souls.

The young lady's father went in quest of his daughter and arrived in Salt Lake just in time to be too late. It is said that he wanted Mr. Spencer "disciplined" in terms more forcible than elegant.

Robbed and Unconscious.

Pat Murphy, section foreman, at Price, Utah, says the Telegraph, left home one week ago today to make a visit with friends in town. Sunday evening his wife received a telegram from Salt Lake stating that Mr. Murphy was dying. It appears that he was found at the foot of the Rio Grande road stairway unconscious and with his pockets turned inside out. The presumption is that he had been assaulted and robbed. When last heard from he was still unconscious.

The Robinson Child Taken.

The child that was born on Wednesday night to the young girl Jane Robinson, and at whose birth its mother died, has been taken to Wellsville, Cache county, where it will be adopted and reared by the father of the girl. Although known as Jane Robinson, her real name was Jane Stewart, the being her father's name. He lives at Wellsville, and has been separated from his wife and daughter for a number of years. No steps have as yet been taken looking to the return of H. T. Stewart, as Mrs. Robinson has not sufficiently recovered from the premature event to be able to testify or give a any consideration.

SCATTERED GLASS IN THE RING.

How a Prize Sparring Exhibition was Suddenly Interrupted.

There was good deal of excitement and a corresponding degree of indignation among the sports assembled at the Bells of Shandon Athletic hall on Saturday night. After 10:30 as Cattell and Hayes were stepping into the prize ring to give a four round exhibition there was a fearful shattering and shower of glass from the rear window. Investigation revealed the fact that some drunken vandal had thrown a ginger ale bottle through the window scattering fragments of glass all over the prize ring.

Like a flash Mike Fitzgerald disappeared from the back yard arriving there just in time to catch an intoxicated individual named John Carson alias "Scott the Ripper," who now he had decided admission to the exhibition and with admitted having thrown the bottle. Mike planted his right pedal on the back of the blatherskite's anatomy three or four times and then magnanimously refrained from turning him over to the police.

The ring had to be carefully swept and inspected before any of the athletes would enter it again, being afraid that their feet would be lacerated during the progress of the "show."

PLEASANT GROVE ITEMS.

Assault Over Irrigating Water—Personal, Social, Agricultural, Etc.

PLEASANT GROVE, April 15, 1894.—Attorney Holman made an assault upon Watermaster David F. West yesterday with a shovel, striking him upon the head, and cutting an ugly gash. Mr. Allen, of Provo, was interposed to, and upon his arrival cooled up the world and the parties progressing invitedly. West was in the act of turning the stream from Holman's land when the assault was taken. West claims that Holman struck the first attack, while Holman says West pulled a gun on him. Prosecuting Attorney Dale has made complaint for Holman's arrest. The case will doubtless come up tomorrow, the charge being "with intent to kill."

GOOD ADVICE
Fire Insurance in Hard Times.

Taking periods of depression as a whole, it is not safe to carry fire insurance. The reason is that the premiums are so low, compared to losses, that the business cannot be kept up. But this year, the rates are nearly, because, higher than for many years, and the business is in good shape. Moreover, the companies are nearly, because, stronger than for many years. Finally, the decrease of insurance through the Salt Lake Agency, is so great that the business of the agency is in danger of being cut down to a mere shadow. Under these circumstances, we feel that we can safely recommend the Salt Lake Agency of the following reliable companies:
