NEWS OF THE WEST.

An Idaho Man Goes From His Wedding to the Penitentiary.

A BOUNTY FOR RABBIT SCALPS.

Attempted Suicide of a Montana Resident—Gamblers Discovered, Etc.

On Monday evening, at Silver Cliff, Colo., Eddy Byrne, was brought home dead, dragged to death by a horse. The boy's clothing was completely torn from his body which was covered with the dirt and stone as the boy was dragged over the terrible hill.

The bounty recently offered by the county commissioners for rabbit scalps, says the Idaho Daily Statesman, has had the effect of starting numbers of people to the rabbit hunting business, scarcely a day passes that a sackful or so of ears and scalps are not deposited in the office of Clerk King.

Wong Ah Chuck walked into a gambling house on China alley, Pueblo, at the conclusion of a late game and while the confederates covered the box with revolvers, grabbed $600 and went off with it. The confederates locked out and disappeared. The gamblers have armed themselves and are looking for the robbers.

According to the Rocky Mountain Husbandman Wm. Tweedale, of Birch creek, discovered a placer gold mine on it a week or so ago. Birch creek last week which is tributary will pay from five to ten dollars per day to the man. The diggings are situated in a dry gulch tributary to Birch creek and the prospects are splendid.

C. F. Hamilton, detained at the Pueblo (Colo.) county jail for examination into his sanity, stripped off all his clothes on Monday, put them in his hammock, set fire to them and was severely burned about the wounds. He has shown symptoms of insanity on occasion and said the Lord promised to save him through fire.

John Conrad of Montana attempted to take his life at the Hornbeck hotel, Los Angles, Cal., on Monday morning. He went to his room, and before his wife and child were aware of anything wrong he swallowed a large quantity of prussic acid. Dr. Davidson was called, and with great difficulty his life was saved. No reason is given for the act.

The Fresno, Cal., county supervisors have adopted a new type of ordinance intended to aid in the enforcement of the Sunday closing of saloons. Last November an ordinance of the kind was passed, but it contained legal defects, and for the past two months it has been openly violated. Prosecutions have been commenced against a number of liquor men who have been selling without a license.

Among the receipts at the U. S. branch mint in this city, yesterday, says the Denver News of Tuesday, was a burlaskin bag filled with gold grains, the result of last week's clean-up at the Fortune placers near Alma, which are yielding better this season than ever before. The bag's contents will test up $10,000. Assayer Pershing says Park county is exceeding its last year's deposits, from placers and mills, by a large per cent. The $10,000 bag of grains was consigned to the branch mint through the Bank of Alma and the Colorado National.

The waterspout or cloudburst at Hot Springs, Wyo., was accompanied by a hailstorm of terrible violence, says the Thermopolis News. Hail was drifted six feet deep in places. The hotting walks were washed out and totally destroyed. The large arched stone bridge recently completed near the court house was carried out. All foot bridges on both railroads are gone. The Buffalo Gap Lumber company lost 25,000 feet of seasoned lumber. Tracks were all under water, telegraph poles washed out, and more than twenty bridges are gone. The damage is estimated at $15,000.

President Johnston, of the Wyoming Development company, brought some heads of oats down with him from Woodland Saturday evening which are eight to ten, remarks the Cheyenne Sun. The heads are fully eighteen inches long, and the oats are hanging thick the whole distance. While the heads were yet in the milk it could be seen at a glance that the oats are very fine, and a field of them would yield fully sixty bushels to the acre. The samples shown by Mr. Johnston would make the eyes of an Illinois farmer water, and no mistake.

Thirty thousand trout from the hatchery were shipped to Cutoun on Monday, says the Laramie (Wyo.) Boomerang, for distribution in the streams near that place. The delivery of fish to the different counties has been greatly delayed this season. The work was behind when the strike began and this has made an additional delay. There are still at the hatchery half a million fish and they are not more than half the size that they would have been had they been placed in the streams earlier, where they get all the natural food necessary for their growth. As they grow in their confined surroundings at the hatchery it is difficult to maintain a rapid growth of the fish.

Sheriff Gregory, of Idaho county, arrived in Boise City on Sunday with Harry Schleier, sentenced to eight years' imprisonment in the penitentiary for killing a man named Wilson at Warrens over a year ago. Schleier's case, says the Idaho Daily Statesman, was fought through all the courts to the Supreme court which decided against him. Wilson was a gambler, it is said, and an abandoned rough. There was no trouble over a woman, the men became nearly enemies and Wilson would have killed Schleier, it is said, had not the latter "got him" first. The manner of killing Wilson (mistaken again at Schleier at the trial). He shot him from a window while he (Wilson) was passing along. A touch of romance enters into the case of Schleier. He went from his wedding to prison. A few days ago he was married at Warrens to a bright young lady some seventeen years of age. The wedding caused a commotion in the little town of Warrens, for when the girl's devotion to her lover was known, the people only admired her the more. Schleier left a few days after the wedding for his prison home, while the bride went to her parents in the country to await the time when the prison doors shall swing outward to her husband and they shall be happily united.
