LISTING CORN.

Its Advantages as Set Forth by a Nebraska Correspondent of American Agriculturist.

Some few years ago listing corn was put in force. Now three-fourths of the grain produced in Nebraska and Kansas is planted by listing. Six horses is a team to raise a row in this way, but there are other points. In the spring the furrow is turned and covered more thin at any other season of the year. There are the very small things to attend to which should not be put off, but the main planting must be done so that it will not be neglected. This is that the latter comes in just right. Yesterday listing a section of land, he done 82.00. Plant when ready, properly, in the mold, sense, and never put it off to the end but, as to insure the crop, and then expect it to make as good corn as the earlier planting. I do not advise very early listing in cold and unfavorable land. The soil is too cold. About May 10 is early enough in the state.

Now notice the furrow is turned properly. This is well to say that most will germinate and grow better in the beginning if it is planted in a trellis work. The "Sunlight" is a trellis work. The "Sunlight" is a trellis work. The "Sunlight" is
