GOV. WELLS NAMES FOUR ATTORNEYS.

Offices Distributed Equally Between Democrats and Republicans.

WILL TAKE HOLD AT ONCE.

Kings of Provo, Morrisonons of Beaver, Chidester of Panguitch and Woods of Castle Dale.

In accordance with the provisions of the District Attorneys act, passed by the last Legislature and which went into effect today, Gov. Wells this afternoon issued proclamations naming district attorneys for the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh judicial districts, as follows:

Fourth district, Samuel A. King of Provo.

Fifth district, Thomas Morrisonons of Beaver.

Sixth district, John F. Chidester of Panguitch.

Seventh district, F. E. Woods of Castle Dale.

The appointees will assume the duties of their offices as soon as their bonds given for in the sum of $1,000 each.

Their successors will be elected in November, 1900, to take office the first Monday in January, 1901.

Both King and Morrisonons are Democrats, and Messrs. Chidester and Woods are Republicans.

Estate of Lizzie Davis in Dispute.

Elizabeth Davis, widow of the late Llewellyn D. Davis, has filed a petition in the probate court asking that she be appointed administratrix of her deceased husband's estate. The property consists of $40,000 in government bonds.

Deserter is Alleged.

Thomas H. Shannon, a Bingham mining man, has commenced action for divorce from his wife in the Sixth district on the ground of desertion. According to the complaint the parties intermarried over six years ago, and the husband alleges that his wife deserted him more than a year ago and is now somewhere in Colorado.

Two Divorces Granted.

Rose Gerecht was granted a decree of divorce from Emmanuel F. Gerecht, a pawnbroker, by Judge Hiles today, on charge of cruelty and failure to provide. Lena Price also obtained a legal separation from D. G. Price on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide.

POLICEMEN'S SALARY SUIT.

Case to be Heard on To Morrow Before the Supreme Court: May 16th.

The Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the appeal of T. J. Scott vs. George Swan, city auditor, appointed, and judge modified the same by having Clark Palmer modify the report so as to make the order of dismissal read: "The appeal herein is dismissed without prejudice." This terminal Attorney D. R. Hempstead, of counsel for the respondent herein, moved that the case be kept on the docket Thursday, May 11th. The motion was allowed.

Scott is one of the seven deposed policemen, and was reinstated by the district court for an alternative writ of mandamus to compel the Auditor to issue to him and complainants a warrant for $130, alleged to be due them on account of salary. Judge Cherry granted the writ when the city appealed. Yesterday's dismissal been allowed to stand, the case would have go their money. The order practically meant an affirmation of the lower court's decision.

TRIP TO THE SOUTH.

By President Lorenzo Snow and Party to Mapped Out.

President Lorenzo Snow contemplates a visit to southern Utah commencing next Monday that will extend over a period of two weeks or more.

The party, that will consist of President Lorenzo Snow, President Jos. F. Smith, Apostles Francis M. Lyman, Rudger Clawson, together with Elder Seymour B. Young and Bishop W. B. Preston will leave Salt Lake City on Monday, the 15th, and journey by train to McCune station, below Milford, where the party will be met by the Presidency of the Washington Stake and several prominent citizens of St. George. From this point they will drive to St. George, where they will remain by Tuesday, evening, all being well.

After a brief stay in that city the entire party will visit the Dixie College in the following settlements are they return to Salt Lake City.

Mathoni, Cedar, Parowan, Beaver, Meadow, Kanosh, Fillmore, Holden and Scipio.

Two good turkeyards will be allotted from this city for the use of the travelers while the remainder of the sojourn will be provided by the local dealers en route who are overjoyed at the prospect of the visit of the venerable President.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Rio Grande Excursion to Provo and to Tintic, on May 13 and 14.

General Superintendent Calvin, of the Short Line, has gone out on the road.

Lieut. Col. Hamel, late of the Seventh infantry, in the Philippines, is in charge of the hospital at San Francisco, for the volunteers, left today for San Francisco.

Mrs. Will Dreweatky left for the coast today.

Will Andrews, mining broker, left for Denver last night.

Excursion to Provo.

The D. R. G. W. will run a special excursion to Provo on Saturday, May 13. The train will leave this city at 7:40 a. m. and will leave Provo returning at 10 p. m. Fare for the round trip, $1.25.

Tintic Mining Excursion.

Another excursion to the Tintic mining district has been arranged by the R. G. W. for Sunday, May 14th, in the camps of Eureka, Mammoth, Silver City and Diamond, which comprise the district. In the opinion of many experienced men, the Tintic district is not in the first class camp of its development, and that the future will crowd it to the front rank as a producer of gold, silver, lead and copper. The train will leave Salt Lake City Sunday next at 8:05 a. m.; Murray, 8:17 a. m.; Bingham Junction, 8:27 a. m.; Lehi, 8:35 a. m.; American Fork, 8:50 a. m.; Provo, 9:20 a. m.; Springville, 9:40 a. m.; Spanish Fork, 9:55 a. m.; Payson, 10:00 a. m., and Goshen at 10:15 a. m.

The train will carry plenty of comfortable first-class coaches and smoking cars.

On the return trip it will leave Silver City at 4:30 p. m.; Mammoth, at 4:45 p. m., and Eureka at 5:00 p. m. The round trip $1 from Salt Lake City. Marsy and Bingham Junction and 8 from Utah county points.

ORGANIZATION OF LABORERS.

Meetings of Labor Union are Continued Today in This City.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

President McDonald Speaks of the Miners to be Derived from Co-operation.

Executive meeting of the Western Labor union were held today in the Odd Fellows hall at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The story of their sessions was directed to action on the President's message, the reading and referring of resolutions and mapping out of work for the various committees.

At the meetings of the Western Federation of Miners, and of the Western Labor Union, held, as stated yesterday, in the Odd Fellow's hall of this city, committees were appointed, credentials of delegates examined, and some addresses made. The leader of the Labor Union forces, President McDonald, spoke in part as follows:

MCDONALD ON LABOR.

After a year has elapsed, we meet in convention today, with a membership that fully vindicates the action of the conference held in this city a year ago, which definitely and absolutely demonstrated the necessity of the organizing of this union, the action of the Salt Lake conference has been generally endorsed and accepted by every active man in the labor movement in the West, as being a prudential and beneficial move to the working people of the Rockies. It is the mission of uniting the laboring and industrial classes of the West in closer touch with each other. Experience is a sticker and better system of communication between the labor organizations of the West, this has the tendency to create, unless we are much mistaken, a feeling of relation in the future, and create a deeper and keener sympathy among the toilers of the Rocky Mountains, and establish a more perfect and thorough organization of the laboring and industrial people of the West's interests.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES.

The marvelous and almost universal success of co-operative societies in Great Britain and other countries points out the probable way. It should at least lead us to consider the question of the method of organization as a means for the consolidation of labor. It is neither necessary at this time nor advisable, to enter into a detailed account of those associations and their successes and failures, but it is sufficient to say that in Great Britain, in a decade of years, they have not entered in Great Britain. These societies have grown to so gigantic proportions, the growth of the British population, with wholesale and retail stores in nearly every town and village, a bank of deposit, with $10,000,000 of deposits, and doing a business of $200,000,000 a year, with large manufacturing establishments, a fleet of ships on every sea. The co-operative commonwealth of industry, indeed. One example will suffice: At one point they have a boot and shoe factory, a clothing factory, a corset factory, a bolsters' association, a store and a farm; in addition to making a success of the business, pay full union wages, with 5 per cent bonus.

GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION.

Of late years in the United States we have read and seen much in the Federal courts about government by injunction, as very much, indeed, that we do not feel that it is necessary to dwell on the subject at great length here.

First, let us inquire what is an injunction in law? Webster's Dictionary defines injunction as "a writ or process issued by a court of equity, and, in some cases, under statutes, by a court of law, whereby a party is required to do or to refrain from doing certain acts according to the exigency of the writ." Bouvier's Law Dictionary, Vol. 1, page 81, injunction, remedies, chancery practice, says: "An injunction is a prohibitory writ, specially issued for a bill in which the plaintiff's title is set forth, restraining a person from committing or doing an act rather than criminal wrong, which appear to be against equity and conscience." Of late years the judges of the Federal courts have gone back far on the subject of injunction. To be brief, under our system of laws, this writ is usually issued to restrain a party from an act or omission, where there sufficient to show the judge that the petitioners have no adequate or speedy remedy at law.

Of late years this writ has been most shamefully abused by the Federal courts. Railroads, mine and mill-owners, are not the only set against their employes on the slightest provocation, it has grown to be a little above which crime is beaten for conversion. We believe that all workingmen will agree with us in this. What is the remedy? How can we apply the corrective? I will tell you. It is our form of government, of those from whom all power is derived to us, and do not come up from the people. They labor to show contempt for the constitution by to show contempt with the statutes of the United States. Hence, it is a gross abuse of this power when a Federal judge, a Federal judge, pollute the law of injunction, and always side with the employer against the employed, and pervert an affirmation of the law. The peaceful remedy is to amend the Constitution and make all Federal judges elective by the people.

The meetings, which have been then for strictly for members, were continued today.

SLED BRAKE PATENT.

(SPECIAL TO THE "NEWS.")

Washington, May 8.—The Interior Department today granted a patent on a sled brake to John W. James of Salt Lake City.

Wm. Linsey, Salt Lake City, is registered at Wilkards.

OFFICIAL CALL.

There will be a meeting in the Batons hall of the Latter-day Saints' College, Temple building, at 2 p. m. Wednesday, May 10th. All committees who have been appointed to assist in arrangements and all representatives of Woman's organizations, of whatever name, and all other women interested in the peace movement are cordially invited to attend.

WILL THE LEADERS BE ARRESTED?

Prest. Boyce of Western Federation of Miners Wanted.

BUTTE MINERS PROTEST.

Meetings of Labor Organizations Continue in This City—Business Transacted Today.

Rumor has it that President Boyce and other officers of the Western Federation of Miners, are to be arrested upon requisitions from Idaho for alleged participation in the troubles at Wardner.

Such an arrest would not surprise Mr. Boyce. He says the Idaho authorities seem determined to break up the Federation and might thus try to put an end to the proceedings of the present convention.

Mr. Boyce says he will quietly submit if arrested and will go to Idaho at once if he is requested to do so. He says he has violated no law and is ready to meet any accusation.

When seen today Mr. Boyce said he had not been arrested nor had he heard any more about the matter. The communication referred to in the Butte News in other states for the offense of giving aid and counsel to the strikers at Wardner was received by the Butte Miners' Union to address the following letter to the governor of Idaho:

BUTTE MINERS' UNION

Butte, Montana, May 8, 1899.

Hon. R. B. Smith,
Governor of the State of Montana,
Helena, Montana.

Dear Sir:

It is our also informed that at this power Union, have been informed, both through the press reports, and from private sources, that the governor of Idaho, and the military authorities, have asked you to act with them, as the tool of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan company by mounting down and arresting, without proof of guilt, or the charge of crime, any citizen who crosses our western border at the present time.

We are also informed that at this very time there is a company of United States soldiers stationed at Thompson Falls for the purpose of making indiscriminate arrests. We sincerely trust that we are mistaken in this matter; but if we are not we feel that it is our duty to inform you of the facts, in view of the stand taken by the governors of the states of Colorado, Idaho, Arkansas and Utah, as expressed by the governor of Washington when asked for an opinion regarding the present troubles a few days ago. Also the stand taken by your honored predecessor, the Hon. Jos. K. Toole, who unsolicited, replied to the same politely but very emphatically, that he knew of no assistance or assistance, and I warn you that no citizen will be brutally deprived of his liberty without due process of law in the State of Montana while I am governor."

We also ask, in behalf of the platform of principles on which you stood as a candidate, and in behalf of the friends who so loyally supported you in the campaign, to refuse the permission asked, and if it has been granted to an organization so dangerous, to withdraw it. We do not wish to be misunderstood in this matter; we are not asking aid to protect any criminals; we are willing that every legal process shall be at the disposal of our sister state to apprehend and punish criminals. But we do most emphatically protest against the machinery of the law and the office you have chosen to see that all the people shall have an even chance before our tribunals of justice, standing ready to do for holding of a branches corporation without regard to the rights of the struggling masses in the present controversy. Trusting that our petition will meet with your approval and receive favorable action at your hands we remain.

Yours respectfully,

For MICHAEL LEARY, President.

Per W. J. HEPBURN, Secretary.

BUSINESS AT MEETINGS.

The meetings of the labor organizations today were taken up in reviewing the bye-laws and in other similar business. Resolutions of respect for the late Myers Jones of Denver, were passed by the Federation of Miners.

At yesterday afternoon's meetings, secretary of the Federation of President Boyce with the beautiful rank ivory gavel sent by John O'Callahan & Son of Philadelphia, Pa., the firm which has for several years supplied the Federation with its beautiful badges and souvenirs.

President Boyce accepted the gift gracefully, and with the express wish that the gavel would be used to bind the ties between the Philadelphia firm and the Federation, and under the kind wishes and sympathy of President Boyce, O'Callahan's, the Federation would in time to grow and be powerful in the interest of its members and labor in general.

WEBER MURDER CASE.

Slayer of Ogden's Police Captain Put on Trial Today.

Special per Deseret Telegraph.

Brigham City, Utah, May 8.—The murder case of James Morgan, who killed Captain Will Brown at the Hot Springs was the first case to come before District Judge C. H. Hart this morning. George R. Chase and J. D. Call are Morgan's attorneys, while H. H. Allen represents the people in prosecuting. The court room was packed to its utmost capacity, all eager to get a glimpse of the prisoner. When brought into the court room Morgan was very calm, though not talkative. He was dressed very neatly and made a favorable impression by his appearance. The morning session was devoted exclusively to empaneling a jury, and it is very evident that it will take the remainder of the day before the jury will be complete. Witnesses will begin their testimony tomorrow. Considerable sympathy is felt for the youthful defendant, a great many people hoping he could escape the death penalty, imprisonment instead of death. If the report that Morgan is an escaped convict can be proven it is apprehensive will soon leave him.

IS FOUGHT BY MEDICINE MEN.

Theodore Heintz on Trial for Practicing Without License.

HE IS NOT A PHYSICIAN.

His Methods are Electrical and His Target Rheumatism—An Interesting Case.

A case that is exciting a great deal of interest in local medical circles is that of Theodore H. Heintz which came up before Justice McMaster this afternoon, and which was postponed for one week. The defendant was arrested early last February on complaint of Dr. A. Folland of the health department, who alleges that Heintz has been practicing for the general ailments of divers persons for fees, and otherwise representing himself to be a physician when he had no license. The defendant's attorneys, Powers, Straup and Lippman, expect to prove that the accused has not violated the law regulating the practice of medicine and that the necessary for his arrest was taken for some months past Mr. Heintz has been located in the Templeton building. There it is said he has been treating people afflicted with rheumatism by some electrical process. He does not claim to be a physician, and argues most emphatically that he has prescribed no medicine, but has merely confined himself to the treatment of rheumatism, as mentioned.

Some of the most eminent medical men in Salt Lake are of the opinion that the proceedings now instituted against Heintz are the results of envy and spite on the part of certain doctors.

The case will be vigorously fought in case it is pushed to a conclusion.

THE CONDUIT CASE AGAIN.

City Sued by Jos. H. Smith et al on Parley's Conduit Contract.

Jury is Empanelled and Action Begins in Circuit Court—Judge Hallet on the Bench.

In the United States circuit court today Hon. Moses Hallett of Denver, on the bench, the case of Joseph H. Smith et al, plaintiffs, vs Salt Lake City, defendant, was taken up. This is the Parley's canyon conduit case, involving $80,000, claimed as due to the plaintiffs on contracts in building the conduit.

The jury list was exhausted when only eleven jurors had been accepted, and Marshal Miner was directed by the court to bring in three more jurors from off the street. The remaining juror, Mr. Evans, was thus secured.

THE JURY.

Following are the names of the jurors:

Thomas F. Rosecke, William H. Strauer, Joseph Andros, William H. Hood, H. C. Hill, Rasmus Crutcelfyson, Thomas Dunn, John Y. Smith, William Prescott, Hyrum F. Thomas, Edwin F. Parry and R. E. Evans.

The case is being conducted for the plaintiffs by Hon. J. W. Judd, who has returned from Nashville temporarily for the purpose, and for the city by Hons. F. S. Richards and C. W. Hall.

Judge Judd is assisted by Mr. Oscar Hunter of Denver.

BIG SENSATION NOW PROMISED.

Charley Hoy Coming to Claim His Legal Wife.

"KIDNAPPED" BY LADIES.

Ah Goo is in This City in the Care of Certain Solicitous Women.

Charley Hoy, the legal husband of the missing Ah Goo will arrive home from San Francisco either tonight or tomorrow morning. When he arrives he promises to spring a sensation on the Salt Lake public to the extent that he proposes to make things warm for certain meddlesome parties who have interfered with his domestic relations.

The true story regarding the romantic Pfaun affair reveals like one of Lecoq, J. Carter's great sheets.

Hoy legally married the almond-eyed Ah Goo in Denver some time ago and subsequently brought her to Salt Lake City, where they rented an adobe basement on Plum alley and filled and round like a pair of turtle doves. Some two months ago the village in the person of Wing Don, who, as already stated, is a cousin of Hoy, Charley, is absent now in Chicago, and the calendar month, thinks it would be very nice to set his wife a protector during his absence. Who should he get? Why, Wong, of course. No sooner said than done, and the disconsolated Wong was installed as lord chief protector of the bride. To see Ah Goo was to love her as Wing introduced the winged cupid on the scene.

All, I should say, of Ah Goo living in adobe farmall are by deputy for San Francisco. Wing stands in the back ground, ready to the regulation opium pasteur bottles, and smokes a cheerute to slow music as the curtain descends.

Second act. Time, 30 days. The hero has suspected something and returns on the 2:40 train from the Golden Gate. Enter the adobe and starts back. "What is this?" he cries, and color the right upper on Wong. Wong, who is a quick study, makes a hasty exit down stage, taking as he does the words "I am undone." Meanwhile he is the Ah Goo, who flies in sections through the door. Hoy is indignant, and his wife has a hard quantity on her hands to pacify, but finally falls on a pretty reclamation scene.

Act III sees I gives a glance of the crafty Wing plotting with certain good ladies of this city to abduct the afore-said Mr. Hoy's wife. Wing, who is a star represents to be the victim of abduction and lovable detention by a wicked, hatful Mormon. The ladies are mortified and the scene is embarrassed with the Christian spirit shown by the faithful Wing Don and enter the scene, leading the lady away from Pfaun after by the villain and basket over to the good white ladies for safe keeping from the villain Pfaun.

Act IV and outs.

Act IV has not been staged yet, but the curtain will be rung down on the possibly the villain will die to slow music.

The above is the edition of the romance of Pfaun after. Wing Don, as say those who know, talked certain indiscretions after he was taken to jail and the process is now going on. As soon as Charley Hoy produces proof that the abductions of his wife, and the missing little will be forthcoming, because the ladies in question promised to produce Ah Goo as soon as they asked for her.

AH GOO STILL MISSING.

One Thing Certain, Not at the Padlock Home.

Ah Goo, the winsome almond-eyed erstwhile better half of Charley Hoy, Esq., is still missing, and the plot thickens. It was given out this morning that Wing Don, who plays Damon to Hoy's Pythias, had with due regard to the safety of the damsel, removed the girl to the Cornelia Padlock home on G street, during the absence of her spouse on a section hand roundup.

Mrs. Cornelia Padlock when seen this afternoon emphatically denied the story to a "News" reporter. The lady stated that she had never had a Chinese girl, or female of the kind, and consequently the missing Mongolian maiden was not on the premises. Down in the Plum alley of the Celestial colony there is blank. No one seems anything regarding the "Chinese girl." Nevertheless there are a few inveterate gamblers, who were indulging in a surreptitious game of cards that were interrupted by the advent of the reporter. A few chubby and unclassified varieties of opium were in evidence in the joint that enter boulevard, together with a boiled owl, edition of the pipe-hitting fraternity. Ah Goo is not in the Celestial Tartaric, commingled with opium English, regarding the latest excitement in the Celestial colony. Ah Goo doubtless has had and a tired look in his pipe, simultaneously and speculated on Ah Ki.

Hoy is expected to arrive home tomorrow morning, when he will no doubt and clear up the confusing stories regarding his been found and the ex-Sunday school scholar, the demoned Wing.

A SMOOTH STRANGER.

He Gets a Draft Cashed and Then Leaves the Town.

Manager Samuel F. Foster of the Inter-Mountain Electric Supply company is mourning the loss of a man. Mr. Foster seems to be much mind the loss of the money but it is a fact that he is bearing up like confidence in mankind at large. It happened this way: Last week a Mr. S. R. Parsons, who has in past years been connected with the electrical business came to town. Mr. Parsons knew him well and is said to be thought he did. He had bought thousands of dollars of goods from him in the past when he lived in Denver and San Francisco. But, he later reversed overtures Parsons and he lost his business and finally left one fading and another until when he struck town two days ago he was working on a San Francisco weekly paper at least so said Parsons, and persuaded him to what to more his produced documentary evidence to back up his assertion.

Finally, last a week ago Saturday he was going to Denver to the course of business, he was temporarily short of funds—Cash! Mr. Foster, he said, kind as to cash a small draft. Finally discussed by the small amount Mr. Foster said, "Why, yes." The morning the draft, like the sad in the bagged, came back; only it was signed N. G. And now Mr. Foster quotes the hero of Two Thousand a Year and says, "everybody anybody."

It is said that Parsons has left two similar memorices behind him.

Washington Bill Impending.

R. T. Farnsworth returned from the south this morning after examining the Horn Silver and Washington mines at Frisco. The former is going along as of yore, while the latter is gradually improving, the ore body, says Mr. Farnsworth, getting bigger and broader as depth is attained in the mine. The property is in excellent shape and those interested are highly elated.

MINING NOTES.

A private letter from Dubie says the Northern Light has commenced shipping, although no rich information is given out at the company's office.
