DENVER TREMBLES.

A Riot of Enormous Size May Break Out at Any Time.

THE MILITIA UNDER ARMS.

Large Crowds of Unemployed Gather to Discuss the Question of Food and Shelter.

DENVER, July 27.—The lynching of the Italian Arata last night has shown the immense crowd of idle workmen at present in Denver what can be accomplished by violence, and there is dread in the minds of many citizens that a riot of enormous size, having for its purpose the looting of the city, may break out any time.

The thousands of unemployed workmen already here are being augmented daily by others from throughout the state, who are gradually working their way to Denver.

The county and city and the numerous charity organizations are doing their best to feed and shelter the great army of penniless people, but are incapable of meeting all the demands.

The banks of the city have called upon the United States troops at Fort Logan, of which there are 700, to be ready to protect their institutions in case of an outbreak. Some of the banks are United States depositories and thus have a right to ask the government for protection. The unemployed members of the state militia and the Chaffee light artillery are now under arms at the armory, awaiting developments.

Mayor Van Horn issued a proclamation, requesting all good citizens not to congregate on the streets, as it may lead to an outbreak.

This evening a large crowd of unemployed men gathered at Eighteenth and Market streets to exchange ideas on the question of food and shelter. The police broke the meeting up, but Larimer street is thronged for blocks with people, many being merely curiosity seekers, waiting for something unusual to occur.

At midnight the streets were deserted and all was quiet. C. F. Brenner, who led the lynching mob last night, has been arrested. Several old soldiers say he is not a Grand Army man.

Bimetallists in New York.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The delegates from this city to the bimetallic convention to be held at Chicago next week today adopted a lengthy set of resolutions, setting forth that official statistics show the market price of silver bullion has controlled the prices for most of the products of American labor, and especially wheat and cotton, since silver was demonetized in 1873; that the decline in the price of silver bullion and the contraction in the volume of legal tender paper money caused a tremendous fall in the price of wheat and cotton; asserting that English influence is behind all the efforts to put down the price of silver bullion, so that she can obtain the products of labor in all countries at the starvation prices paid for labor in England and its dependencies, and stating that it is the first duty of Congress to study the effect the price of silver bullion has over other products of the labor of this country before determining on any fixed policy, changing its present ratio with gold or before ruining all the American producers by withdrawing the slight support silver now has under our laws.

They also declare that Congress should investigate the conduct of the treasury officials in selecting the market price of silver in a foreign country to govern its purchases here, and if found to be unlawful have the proper officials impeached.

Clearing House Certificates.

CHICAGO, July 27.—At a meeting of the clearing house association today a letter was read from a number of merchants, asking the association to consider the propriety of authorizing an issue of clearing house certificates, the same as is being done in New York. After discussion, it was decided to authorize this when necessary, although the opinion was expressed that there is no need for them at the present time.

Silver in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The silver millions in the San Francisco mint have been counted, under the direction of Superintendent Daggett, and the accounts of retiring Superintendent Dimond found to be correct. The silver on hand is as follows: Vault A, $3,750,000; vault B, $21,000,000; vault C, $11,000,000; vault D contains 8424 bars of silver, weighing 11,846,971 ounces.

The small vault in the registering room has $90,000 in dimes and $250,000 in 25 cent pieces.

About $9,000,000 in gold is yet to be counted.

STEVENSON'S TRIP.

The Vice President in Victoria, B. C.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 27.—Vice President Stevenson and party arrived here today from Puget Sound on the steamer City of Kingston. They were met by a large crowd of citizens, who cheered lustily as the steamer tied up at the dock. The steamer flew the stars and stripes, and public and other buildings on shore also displayed bunting. Mayor Beaver, United States Consul Myers and other citizens received the distinguished party and escorted them to carriages in waiting. The band played the Star Spangled Banner, and other American national airs.

After a brief wait, Mayor Beaver, the Vice President and Mrs. Stevenson drove off in the leading carriage, followed by others. After passing through the principal streets, Esquimalt was visited, and the Vice President went aboard the British flagship Royal Arthur.

DR. PEASLEE IN CINCINNATI.

A Salt Lake Physician Goes to Be Cured of Consumption.

CINCINNATI, O., July 27.—Dr. W. S. Peaslee of Salt Lake City, who, it was feared, would die on his way here to place himself under the Amick treatment for consumption at the Cincinnati hospital, reached here almost too weak to speak, but confident of being cured.

A General Strike.

RICH HILL, Mo., July 27.—A general strike of all miners in this district was inaugurated today. The men want the privilege of organizing themselves into unions, an increase of wages and to add their Kansas brethren. From 1800 to 2000 men are out.

Asking for Divorce.

LONDON, July 27.—John Rogers, husband of the well known American actress, Minnie Palmer, has begun an action for divorce.

IN HAWAII.

Another Revolution Predicted—Arms for the Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The morning Call prints a statement that within the past month arms have been shipped to Hawaii, and the belief is that an attempt is being made to place the natives in a position to effect a successful counter revolution against the provisional government. As long ago as March Winchester rifles and cartridges are said to have been shipped to the south seas by a whaling fleet, and the best of them found their way to Hawaii.

A RIOT IN THE COMMONS.

The Irish Home Rule Bill Amended and Passed in Committee.

LONDON, July 27.—There was a regular riot in the house of commons tonight, the scenes enacted there being unprecedented in parliamentary history. Ten o'clock this evening was the hour set for the closure of debate in committee on the home rule bill. The early part of the evening was tame enough, being occupied by the obscure members.

At 9:45 Joseph Chamberlain arose to deliver a final broadside of opposition. He was still smarting under the lash administered by Gladstone Tuesday evening and spoke with much bitterness, giving his opinion of the closure, as applied by the government. After some interruption he proceeded:

"The prime minister calls 'black,' and his adherents say it is good; he calls 'white,' and they say it is better. It is always the voice of God. Never since the time of Herod has there been such—"

Chamberlain got no further, for there came from the nationalists such a roar of indignation as has not been heard in the commons since the time of Parnell. Chamberlain tried to talk but his voice was inaudible.

T. P. O'Connor sprang to his feet and, leaning toward Chamberlain, shouted, "Judas!" so loudly that it was heard throughout the house. The rest of the Irishmen took up the cry, and for half a minute shouted "Judas" in chorus.

When the clock struck 10 Chairman Mellor tried to put the closure, but his voice could not be heard. Several conservatives shouted that he must call O'Connor to order. Mellor protested that he had not heard the epithets in question.

Then everybody started for the front bench, the unionists shouting "Gag!" Others struggled in the aisles or between the benches with radical, liberal or Irish antagonists.

John Logan, liberal, ran down to the first opposition bench and began upbraiding Edward Carson, a tory. Wyndham and Fisher jumped to Carson's assistance, seized Logan by the neck and threw him to the floor head first, and bundled him under the bench.

Somebody smashed Tim Healy's high hat over his eyes, and as soon as Tim got it off he jumped into the aisle in fighting posture, just as Hanbury was trying to get past. Hanbury was knocked over a bench by the force of the collision.

A free fight then broke out at the gangway, led by William Redmond, Parnellite, who pushed over Colonel Sanderson, the champion of the Ulstermen. Sanderson was rescued, and headed an attack on the Parnellites. Blows were struck right and left. The whole space between the front benches was filled with a struggling, cursing mass of members, striking, clawing and upsetting each other. The sergeant-at-arms were powerless.

THE RIOT QUELLED.

Finally, Gladstone begged Edward Majoribanks, a sturdy liberal, to help stop the affair. Majoribanks dug his way through the belligerents, and by dint of repeated appeals in the name of the premier, succeeded in stemming the conflict.

Colonel Sanderson emerged first from the crowd of fighters, holding a bunch of keys to his black eye. Others followed in a more or less damaged condition.

Gladstone, sitting upright, had surveyed the whole scene with inflamed face and an expression of sorrow, indignation and astonishment, which will never be effaced from the minds of those who viewed him. Chairman Mellor sent for Speaker Peel, and when that gentleman arrived several conservatives pointed to Gladstone and exclaimed: "There sits the author of it all."

PEEL TAKES THE CHAIR.

Absolute quiet was restored as Speaker Peel, stern and dignified, took the chair. He appealed to the party leaders to inform him what had occurred.

Gladstone said he regretted that neither his eyes nor his ears enabled him to give a very accurate account of the affair. He then gravely described the events as related to him by his lieutenants, and expressed the opinion that a division should be taken before the "Judas" incident was considered.

Balfour told his side of the story, as related to him by his men, he having been absent when the row occurred. Speaker Peel decided that the expression alleged to have been used was the original cause of the disorder. He felt certain it was used in the heat and irritation of the moment, and if the gentleman were to say he regretted it, it would be his (the speaker's) duty to take no further notice of the affair.

O'Connor then apologized to the speaker.

This was received with cheers, but as soon as they subsided Colonel Sanderson rose and recounted excitedly how Eugene Crean, anti-Parnellite, hit him in the eye.

Tim Harrington shouted that he saw Sanderson hit several members before Crean struck him. The uproar began again and another riot was threatened, but the speaker succeeded in subduing it.

Then Mellor resumed the chair. The remaining clauses of the home rule bill were carried, when the committee arose and Chairman Mellor reported to Speaker Peel the home rule bill as amended in committee. There was a grand outburst of cheering and hats were waved for Gladstone. The report stage was fixed for August 7th.

Notice of Blockade.

BANGKOK, July 27.—The French fleet gave notice of a blockade today, all outgoing vessels being warned to clear by Saturday or they will be tied up. The blockade will extend along the entire north coast of the gulf. There is little doubt among the foreigners that it is the French intention to make Siam a French colony, and, unless England intervenes there is little hope that the French will desist from extreme measures, although it is well known in Siam that the government at Siam is exceedingly anxious to avoid war.

The Difficulty Settled.

LONDON, July 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette says this evening it learns from high authority that the Franco-Siamese difficulty has been settled. France has agreed to accept Siam's proposals and abandon her claims to territory between the 15th and 23rd parallels.

In the lords this evening Rosebery announced that he could not make a full statement regarding the Siamese matter until a report was received from Lord Dufferin in Paris. From the outset Great Britain had confined itself to providing for the safety of British lives and interests in Bangkok. It had from the beginning avoided giving advice to Siam, beyond occasions when she asked for it, but had urged her to make terms as quickly as possible with her powerful neighbor. Nevertheless, the British government was not indifferent to the events now passing in Siam. Her great commercial interests there would be well looked after.

In the commons Sir Edward Grey made a similar statement.

The Capture of Managua.

PANAMA, July 27.—Telegrams today confirm the report of the capture of Managua, Nicaragua, by the revolutionists. There was hard fighting and great loss of life on both sides. It is reported that 300 Honduranian troops, under command of Bonilla, who lately led an unsuccessful revolutionary movement in his own country, fought with the troops from Leon. General Zavala with the government troops has gone to Granada. The United States steamer Alliance arrived today from Callao bound for Corinto, Nicaragua.

In Davis and Weber Counties.

PLAIN CITY, Weber county, Utah,
July 26th, 1893.

On a short journey from Salt Lake to this place I have selected a few items of interest, which I submit to your numerous readers.

I set out on my journey, taking breakfast in the well named land called Bountiful, twelve miles north of Salt Lake City. My eyes and mind feasted on the lovely sights of the happy country life, and its products, so much in advance of that of many of the settlements south of the city. Truly this is a land abounding in plenty—a great garden which has for many years supplied the wants of the people in Salt Lake City. In some of the fields corn is already higher than man and horse working in it, while other earlier kinds are furnishing roasting ears for the market. The fields looked much in advance of any I have seen during this unusually late season. Acres of melons and tomatoes look very thrifty and attractive. The crops generally are much superior and earlier here than any I have seen on my journey south, and still on north of Bountiful.

I took a stroll over a rich garden where two flowing wells water over thirty acres of deep rich land. The water from the wells is so arranged with troughs and ditches that at any time, night or day, the water may be turned where most needed. There is no waiting for turns. One of these wells is 200 feet deep, the other 185 feet; they are to their owner invaluable.

Only the night before the 24th, in Hooper, a quarrel took place regarding water. One of the parties was a correspondent of a certain nameless sheet in Salt Lake. And because this correspondent could not convince the man who was using the water that he should give it, he commenced hammering the man over the head with a shovel, inflicting three or four ugly wounds which had to be stitched up. This is one of the old tricks of the aforesaid correspondent, as not long ago he served another man similarly, and there was still another case, I am informed, where, after a scuffle with a widow and her sons, he drew his pistol. The little boys held the arm of the water bandit while the mother used the shovel over his arm to make him drop the pistol.

After enjoying two illustrated lectures in Hooper we passed on over the flat country where crops look so much lighter than in the land of Bountiful that it appeared to be another kind of a country altogether. One farmer said that the dry farming was very light this year. Where he expected to have 1,000 bushels of wheat he would not have over 300 bushels. One man who had out with a header over 20 acres Saturday, and for years past has been a harvester, says his crop is much lighter this year than usual. The land at Hooper and West Weber and on to Plain City lies low and flat, so much so that it is impossible for the people to have good cellars to their houses. There is also much mineral in the soil. For all this there appears to be a happy and industrious people making their homes here. Thousands of happy homes exist where only a few years ago there were sagebrush and desert mineral lands.
