The Evening paper is the paper of Today, the morning paper is the paper of Yesterday.

DESERET EVENING NEWS.

5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 160 FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1895, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVIII.

DOWN IN THE DEEP.

Details of the Sinking of the Colima off Mazatlan.

STRUGGLE FOR LIFE IN THE PANIC

As the Boat Capsized and the Vessel Foundered Herself in Pieces on the Reef.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—An Associated Press dispatch from the City of Mexico says:

Official advices received today bear out the main statements of the sinking of the steamer Colima, as in the special dispatch from the City of Colima, the capital, with not the exception that the wreck occurred below the port and on the mainland instead, instead of at the Island Socorro.

Up to today the difficulty of getting messages over the wires from the west coast was unprecedented. Manager Hotchkiss, manager of the Mexican National railroad, wires your correspondent tonight that it is thought by some passengers rescued by the Mexican Railway belong to the finder of the Colima, and that the Castle Hall company will offer to pacify or pacify and in every instance service which money.

The Bonner has found at the scene where the lady and the Mazatlan, Santa Rosalia and Guaymas, at Mazatlan, says the Mazatlan Mr. Harper says the Mazatlan relief running from Guaymas is in service for the government. All not for the Colima has been lost.

The Herald's dispatch says: "About noon there was the news of the wreck only some southeast of Mazatlan and in a direct line off the shore of Rios de Aguas and so low as to be good. One witness, a mestizo, who was in the port, reached the port of Mazatlan this morning."

Mr. Wilson, of California, is warmly among the drowned, as a digest much has received nothing of his whereabouts up to tonight. The Lick Observatory is in mourning.

CHICAGO, May 30.—To the Secretary of War, Washington: On the 27th we have wire from the American city Colima San Juan de Lima, seventy miles from Mazatlan, that 200 lost and 25 saved and the seven were 21. (Signed) ALEXANDER CHOPEN, Consul of Fifth Office.

MAZATLAN, May 30.—To the Secretary of War, Washington: On the 27th we have wire from the American city Colima San Juan de Lima, seventy miles from Mazatlan, that 200 lost and 25 saved and the seven were 21. (Signed) ALEXANDER CHOPEN, Consul of Fifth Office.

MAZATLAN, May 30.—To the Secretary of War, Washington: The steamship Colima was lost on the morning of the 27th. Only 25 saved. Lost 200. (Signed) ALEXANDER CHOPEN, Consul of Fifth Office.

Official advices received today bear out the main statements of the sinking of the steamer Colima, as in the special dispatch from the City of Colima, the capital, with not the exception that the wreck occurred below the port and on the mainland instead, instead of at the Island Socorro.

Up to today the difficulty of getting messages over the wires from the west coast was unprecedented. Manager Hotchkiss, manager of the Mexican National railroad, wires your correspondent tonight that it is thought by some passengers rescued by the Mexican Railway belong to the finder of the Colima, and that the Castle Hall company will offer to pacify or pacify and in every instance service which money.

The Bonner has found at the scene where the lady and the Mazatlan, Santa Rosalia and Guaymas, at Mazatlan, says the Mazatlan Mr. Harper says the Mazatlan relief running from Guaymas is in service for the government. All not for the Colima has been lost.

The Herald's dispatch says: "About noon there was the news of the wreck only some southeast of Mazatlan and in a direct line off the shore of Rios de Aguas and so low as to be good. One witness, a mestizo, who was in the port, reached the port of Mazatlan this morning."

Mr. Wilson, of California, is warmly among the drowned, as a digest much has received nothing of his whereabouts up to tonight. The Lick Observatory is in mourning.

CHICAGO, May 30.—To the Secretary of War, Washington: On the 27th we have wire from the American city Colima San Juan de Lima, seventy miles from Mazatlan, that 200 lost and 25 saved and the seven were 21. (Signed) ALEXANDER CHOPEN, Consul of Fifth Office.

MAZATLAN, May 30.—To the Secretary of War, Washington: The steamship Colima was lost on the morning of the 27th. Only 25 saved. Lost 200. (Signed) ALEXANDER CHOPEN, Consul of Fifth Office