MINING STOCKS IN FAIR SHAPE.

Better Volume of Business in the Pit This Morning.

SOME DECLINES RECORDED.

Four Aces Suffers Another Hear Movement—Inquiry Concerning the Utah of Utah.

On the exchange this morning the volume of business was much improved and stocks maintained their equilibrium quite well, although several slight declines were recorded. The sales reached a total of 29,200 shares, which sold for the sum of $14,600.25, the bulk of which came from the listed side of the board.

For an opening Dexter came up with sales first at $2.12, and from here down to $2.05. Duty was in good demand at advancing figures, the stock going up to $1.25, while Dalton & Lark took part at 9¼ cents and Daisy hashed out 200 shares, the lot going at 49¼. Four Aces was not so active, nor yet so strong, there being sales down to 25, while Mercur sold at $6.20 and 6.25¼, and Lower Mammoth responded with sales at 92 to $1, a total of 2,400 shares finding takers at these figures. Northern Light was a trifle improved, stock selling up to 70 cents, and Star Consolidated continued in good health, there being trading in this security between $1.22 and $1.25, with a closing bid of $1.23½.

Boston De La Mar was active at 2 cents, this stock taking the initiative for those noticed, after which Camp Forgit did business at 1 cents and Dalton subscribed 11,000 shares at 2½. Ecaudor was a seller at 12, while Golden Eagle handed out 1,000 at 4, and Joe Bowers a similar lot at 16½. Monarch was taken at one cent and Triumph at 10½, the business bringing the call to a halt.

The closing figures were as follows:

The Utah of Utah.

Edward J. Wilcox, president of the Mineral Mining and Milling company, writes from Idaho Springs, Colo., asking for information concerning the Utah Consolidated Mining company of Utah, organized under the laws of New York, and having as its president J. L. Thompson, and as its secretary, H. C. Snyder. The gentleman says he has a big block of the stock and, of course, he desires to know its value, or the standing of the company issuing it. The letter was read before the exchange members this morning and referred to the governing board. None of the brokers seem to know anything about the company.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, March 8.—The stock market began into activity at the start with the bullish feeling quite prominent. The coalers rose strongly. Consolidated Gas jumped 7 points. The general stock market showed a disposition to follow the movement of the anthracite coalers. Consequently when there was an easing off in the industrial stocks, after the opening rise, the several list sagged and then recovered when the rise in the leaders was resumed. The marked uncertainty prevailing as to the extent of the Sugar refinery people's operations in that stock particularly interesting. The shares in the early dealings were well supported and moved up 1%.

After the first hour the bears made a vicious drive and pushed the price down to 91.87, with a recovery to 91.38½ at noon.

International paper was also offered freely, yielding five points with a feeble rally. The standard shares were quiet, but rules generally firmer, with sharp declines in Burlington, Pennsylvania and Rock Island.

The bond market showed a rising tendency with considerable activity in Erie generals.

PHANTOM MONEY.

Well Described by a Popular Financial Writer.

Matthew Marshall in New York Sun.

The abundance of what is called money is, as has been said, an accepted fact in the present financial situation and a powerful agency in sustaining prices and promoting speculation not only on the stock exchange, but in all other lines of business. Surprising as it may seem to those who have not reflected upon the subject, fully three-fourths of this money and even more is the pure creation of the banking and depends for its existence solely upon the bank credit which those who use it. It is as fragile as a soap bubble, which is made by a breath and can be dissipated as quickly. The New York banks for example, reported last Saturday that they held subject to the claims of their depositors, $707,000,000, of this amount only $207,000,000 was in coin, all the rest being in promises by the government to pay coin, and by individual debtors to pay money by their checks through the clearing house. Taking the banks of the country as a whole, they profess to hold not less than $1,000,000,000 belonging to depositors, and it we add to the amount the deposits in trust companies and savings banks, the aggregate will be not far from the latest report of the comptroller of the currency, close to $2,000,000,000. The combined holdings of gold by all these institutions, according to the same report, are $241,000,000 in gold and $30,000,000 in silver, the currency value of silver being about $15,000,000. Half the gold represents foreign money, France, $250,000,000; Germany, $250,000,000; Holland, $25,000,000; Austria, $100,000,000; Italy, $25,000,000, and Spain, $20,000,000. Recent inquiries have shown that in this country 95 per cent of all payments are made by bank checks, and of the remainder 3 per cent probably not more than one-fifth is made in coin. Indeed, in the part of the country, gold coin is rarely seen in circulation, silver dollars are infrequent, and the bulk of paper money employed by the mass of the people is small change.

The use of credits to perform the functions of coin grows out of the notorious fact of modern commerce and prevails in all civilized nations in proportion to the degree of their civilization. As commerce and trade with coin supplanted the primitive barter of one commodity against another, which was the beginning of trade, so as men have advanced in intelligence and honesty, and their transactions have increased in importance, the promises to pay coin have supplanted the coin itself. In London, for example, which, as yet, may be regarded as the financial center of the world, the amount of bank credits used as money exceeds $1,000,000,000, while the coin in the bank of England upon which the whole of them depends is rarely as much as $250,000,000, and is often less. A similar state of things prevails among the nations of the continent of Europe, though the expansion is smaller.

BUY CLAIMS IN PARK VALLEY.

Luce and Jennings Get an Interest in Four of Them

ADJOINING THE CENTURY.

Conditions at the Daily and Daily-West Copper from the Tonge-Miscellaneous Items.

Luce and Jennings, the well known stock brokers of this city, have just closed a deal giving them a two-sixths interest in four claims adjoining the Century mine in Park Valley, Box Elder county, Utah, the sellers being Ted Wilson, O. F. Crosby and Benjamin Berryman of this city, and W. H. Boden and John Aspers of Park Valley. The claims have been developed to some extent and show it to be rolling good ore on the surface, and as they are located in a district which has a still running quite successfully, the property is looked upon as quite valuable, and will be developed with vigor once the new owners become properly acquainted with the situation.

Daily Increasing Its Force.

The increasing demand for stock in the Daily mine of Park City, points to a new condition of affairs at that property. The "News" has it from a reliable source, that the force in the mine is actually being increased and work is going on on a systematic and progressive scale, so much so, in fact, as to warrant the assertion that a resumption of dividends is not far off. The Daily has paid the sum of $2,750,000 in overhead, the last being distributed two years ago, when those holding stock received 25 cents a share. A resumption of dividends would be very acceptable to those interested in the property.

Work at the Daily-West.

Hon. John J. Daly informs the "News" that the force at the Daily-West mine is being increased as rapidly as possible. He says it was impossible to do more than a few days ago, owing to there being no room for them, but states that the foreman has in the meantime made room for them, and that the mine is sufficiently equipped to the running out of its shipments, from which dividends are to come in June. Mr. Daly thinks answers chronic creditors who have complained of the company's failure to live up to its promises.

Mining Men Marries.

Lew Beasom, the well known young mining man, has just returned from Denver, where he took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Lenora Wagner, a former schoolmate of Artie, L. Mc. and Mrs. Beasom are now at home to their many friends at 258 State St. For six months past the groom has been in the employ of Senator W. A. Clark at the United Verde mines in Arizona, being secretary of the Copper Mountain of Dearborn lodge, he will be himself to that district in a few days, to look into conditions as they now present themselves.

Copper from the Mines.

South of Ironwood in the Tintic district, in the Mineral Hill mine, from which a lot of fine samples were received today, some running as much as 35 per cent copper. This property is in the early stages of development, but the vision of an immense copper mine may have supplanted the rich metal. In London, for example, which, as yet, may be regarded as the financial center of the world, the amount of bank credits used as money exceeds $1,000,000,000, while the coin in the bank of England upon which the whole of them depends is rarely as much as $250,000,000, and is often less. A similar state of things prevails among the nations of the continent of Europe, though the expansion is smaller.

MINING DEED FILED.

Andrew Madsen Gets Part of the Kinsdike—Location Notices.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, March 7.—A mining deed for 3-14 of the Kinsdike mining claim, situated in North Provo mining district, from Warren Holdaway and Louisa Holdaway to Andrew Madsen, has been filed for record.

The following notices of location have been filed in Nine Mile district, in Santaquin district by H. H. Higginson, and the High Roller, in Santaquin district by H. H. Higginson et al, The Oxford No. 1 and 2, in Santaquin district, by John Luber, The Maverick No. 1, 2 and 3 situated between Long's and Kelly's canyons, near Goshen by John W. Snell et al, The Maverick No. 4, same place, by J. H. Snell.

At the meeting on Monday the stockholders of the Mammoth Hill Mining company will be called upon to vote on a proposition for a stockholders' meeting, to be held at an early date, for the purpose of amending the articles of incorporation. The property of the company comprises the Eureka and Tonto claims, situated in Tintic, and work is fully develop the property, which has already given evidence of belonging very valuable, is prosecuted in the near future.

SMELTER COMBINE.

Control of All Important Properties in United States is Practically Insured.

New York, March 8.—The Tribune says:

The combination of smelters, a movement for effecting which was reported two or three weeks ago as near at hand, will probably soon be incorporated at Trenton, under the name of the Consolidated Smelting and Refining company, with a capital of $61,000,000, of which one-half will be preferred and the other half common. It is understood that $25,000,000 of each class will be issued as soon as the company is organized, and the balance will be retained control of all their important smelting properties in the United States, except those in Montana, which are controlled by Senator Clark, of Montana, Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, and Senator Clark, of Utah, and in Mexico. An agreement has been entered into, however, with the Guggenheim, covering the entire business of Mexico and Colorado, the management of the Guggenheims, and it is expected that these plants will be included in the Consolidated Smelting and Refining company. Subscriptions to the underwriting have taken place in Boston, Hartford, Lewiston Erie, and U. S. Rogers.

In the case of Joseph Gerrmanter vs. A. T. Moss, the board of review of the new assessors, after getting legal advice to the effect that neither of the parties to the case should pay the costs of law entailed by J. J. Daly, Bamberger for the owner that neither proved its assessment was too high, and Moss that the assessment was made under original contract, respectfully find for the defendant, Mr. Moss.

Today R. J. Kroupe filed for record a deed of trust on the property of the Centennial company, situated near Park City, Summit county. Kroupe bought the property at sheriff's sale six months ago on a judgment against the company in favor of Brigham Young, for $1,200 for the lot. The suit was brought for services performed for the company as superintendent.

The Sulzmer Mining company, capitalized at $25,000, in shares of 10 cents each, has filed its articles of incorporation. The incorporators are John G. Baxter, J. H. Wilshire, Thomas Lee, John Leyden and George Roth, and the property consists of two claims, the Sulzmer and the Ontario, in the Tintic district. The officers of the company are: J. G. Baxter, president; J. H. Wilshire, vice president; Thomas Lee, secretary; John Leyden, assistant secretary.

Lou Atkins: Encouraging reports continue from Hinsdale, Colorado, the past week H. Lisbon of Torrey made a strike which is holding out well, Dan Ingalls, Ed Ingalls and Joseph Hooper, McCarty is on the grounds in the interest of claim owners and expects to be there as soon as roads, Residents in the east end of the county are considerably interested in the Mineral Mountain, and the prospects there are certainly flattering.
