ARIZONA INDIANS FAST DYING.

Wants a Million and a Half for Street Improvements—Saved From Drowning—Married His Fourth.

The estimate of the expenses of the San Francisco schools for the coming year is $1,580,212.

William E. Bridge of San Francisco has been a widower three times, and on Monday was married the fourth time to Miss Gertrude Sullivan. He is 66 and she is 25.

As a result of the excessive heat, Miss Nellie O'Neill was stricken down last season entering the ferry-house at the foot of Market street, San Francisco, about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A large number of condemned mattresses uniforms in the Sacramento companies of the national guard have been covered electrical among the poor, instead of being burned as heretofore.

Digger squirrels are destroying a good many young turkeys in the neighborhood of Calapooia, Oregon. Last week Al Goodman followed a squirrel to its hole, where he found twenty of his young turkeys stowed away.

Thomas Ashworth, street superintendent at San Francisco, has made an estimate for the expenses of his department for the coming year, fixing it at a million and a half dollars. In consequence, the taxpayers are out with protests.

The two Republics reports that when the new company takes hold of the street railway system of the City of Mexico, it will place upon the cars running in the center of the city conductors who understand both Spanish and English.

G. B. Palmer, a farmer living near Atwater, Cal., walked into his stable on Sunday night and slapped a horse on the back. The horse kicked him one in it landing squarely on his chest and the other on the ear. Palmer died Wednesday.

A man employed on the Swenzer ranch near San Rafael, Cal., was found dead in the field Wednesday evening. He had finished milking his cows and had gone out to feed some hays. He was found half an hour afterward dead.

Father Ghand, who recently visited Laguna del Tule, in the Colorado valley, Arizona, says the Indians are fast dying off. It is his opinion that in only a few years the once powerful and finest formed tribe of Indians on the globe will be no more.

An application has been made to the Los Angeles, Cal., board of supervisors for a permit to operate a ferry between a sea raft and the shore at Santa Monica—an ocean ferry—probably the only one of that character in the country.

Charles M. Day and E. C. Becker saved a seven-year-old boy from drowning, at Alameda, Cal., Wednesday afternoon. The lad was John Swanzer. He was crossing the bridge over the tidal canal and fell in. Constable Day and Becker rushed to his aid and caught him as he was sinking for the last time.

A young man named Craighead was thrown from his horse Monday night at the Union Consolidated mine, eight miles east of Jackson, Cal., and sustained injuries which resulted in death. He reached the mine that day from San Francisco on a visit to his parents, who have charge of the boarding house. He mounted a horse to go to church at Pine Grove, and had gone only a few yards when the horse stumbled and threw him on his head.

Monday afternoon John W. Lambert shot and killed Alva Helfinder, his business partner, at Farmington, Utah. The trouble arose from dispute over business affairs, the partners not getting along harmoniously. Monday they became engaged in a quarrel and Lambert drew a pistol and shot. Helfinder died instantly. The murderer was immediately arrested. The feeling is bitter against Lambert, as he is known to be of a quarrelsome, domineering disposition. Helfinder has been in business in Farmington for several years. He was quiet and much respected in that neighborhood. He was married but eight months ago.

George F. Payson and Webster Parkinson, two students of Berkeley, Cal., have given up all thought of books and are preparing themselves for the millennium. They have so far succumbed to their religious fervor that neither will attend school any longer and devote their time to speculating upon the end of the world. Payson was formerly a student in the University of Cali ornia. Parkinson was a leading athlete of the Berkeley High School, and upon his strange conduct in regard to religious matters commenced he has denied emulants to his parents, stating that the Lord so directed him. The trouble started in revival meetings held about six weeks ago in the Trinity M. E. church, of which the Rev. Dr. Hemley is the pastor. A club of young men, including Payson and Parkinson, formed for Bible study. The parents of the young men became greatly alarmed when they refused to attend school and appeared to their respective clergymen. The Payson family belongs to the Rev. Dr. Hemley's church and called upon him to do all in his power to effect a change in young Payson, but his efforts were unavailing. Payson steadily refused to give up his peculiar belief, stoutly maintaining that the near approach of the end of the world rendered all study of his part useless. Payson says that the "second coming" is so imminent that it is not worth while to study, but that people should get ready for the millennium. He believes in Lieutenant Totten's figures as to the "coming," and says that his ideas on the matter came to him direct from the Lord. According to Payson, the millennium is due in March, 1898. Parkinson's sire claims to have close communication with the Lord. For some time he has been working in the seventh wood yard in obedience to a message from heaven. Parkinson thinks that Eden is being gathered a film fold on the world, and may rule it a short time before the final crash.

The subject treated upon during conference were a review of the great latter-day work and the happy condition of the Saints as contrasted with that of the world; Church discipline; revelation, without which the Church of Christ could not exist and other kindred subjects. The meetings were well attended and the power of God rested upon the speakers. The singing as usual was an important factor in our enjoyment, adding much interest to the services.

CONSUMPTION'S CARNIVAL.

In all the history of Utah there has never been such an excition to place before the people at one time such a program of wheel and home cures as will be set forth in Park on the 30th. The meeting is termed the advance guard of the midsummer carnival.

The wheel race start at 10:30 a. m., horse and wheel at 2:30 p.m.

A stimulant is often needed to nourish and strengthen the roots and to keep the hair a natural color. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best tonic for the hair.

Food, when it sours on the stomach, becomes innutritive and troublesome. It poisons the blood, sets both mind and nerves ruffle. Ayer's Pills: What is needed is restore perfect digestion to a dose or two of Ayer's Pills. They never fail to relieve.

It is a great mistake to suppose that a simple tonic gives strength; it only stimulates the stomach to renewed action. To impart real strength, the blood must be purified and enriched, and this can only be done by such a standard alterative as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Whooping Cough.

There is no occasion for this disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given. It liquefies the cough, increases and eases its expectoration. It also lessens the severity and frequency of paroxysms of coughing, and insures a speedy recovery. It is not the least danger in giving the remedy to children or babies, as it contains no injurious substance. For sale by druggists.

Anyone who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stamm, 229 Hope Heights, Los Angeles, over his exceedingly severe attack of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stamm is foreman of Hanlon's confectionery establishment. Some months ago on moving the heated rock salt in his cellar he strained his left wrist, he was caught with the rheumatism, and it was that wrist and hand that ached he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed in bed by a good friend and thoroughly bathed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment, and by morning was relieved of all the acute pains. He now takes great pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and strongly bears a share of it in the house. For sale by druggists.

While in Stockton, Cal., some time ago, Thos. F. Langan, of Los Banos, that state, was taken very suddenly with cramps and diarrhoea. He chanced to meet Mr. C. M. Carter, who was similarly afflicted. He says: "I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and we went to the Hidden Drug Store and procured a bottle of it. It gave Mr. Carter prompt relief and I can vouch for its having cured me." For sale by druggists.
