[illegible], Mar. March 11.—Since the [illegible] China and Japan began [illegible] Dispatches relating to the [illegible] of American mis[illegible] have been received. A letter [illegible] American church of this city from Dr. James A. Roberts, of Lehigh, [illegible] the first authentic news that [illegible] the mob. The letter is dated Pao Ting Chu, China, and says:

[illegible] Saturday, January 27, some [illegible] to Pao Ting Fu on their [illegible] the northern or western [illegible] the seat of war. They [illegible] the street chapel of the Presbyterian mission. Mr. Lowrie was present [illegible] and the benches, tried to [illegible] to make an attack on the [illegible] and [illegible] in the street, [illegible] quietly [illegible] [illegible] a little chapel [illegible] the street [illegible] the chapel, [illegible] outside the door until [illegible] got in. These [illegible] jostling the next [illegible] evidently [illegible] houses when [illegible] should come, by, as the [illegible] a few thousand soldiers on [illegible] pay, if pay is a [illegible]

[illegible] from the east [illegible] through them [illegible] and broke the doors. A Chinese lively accompanied [illegible] the mob. They broke [illegible] windows, breaking the sash in great [illegible] Tuesday morning two sores in [illegible] the latter house and gave [illegible] the south and Dr. Nevius [illegible] the chapel and left. [illegible] I saw that I could [illegible] such a mob and my only [illegible] in appealing to the military [illegible] We reached the explorer, and brought the mob on to the mission compound. The soldiers did not seem [illegible] to help us, but might have done so if we had not been there. [illegible] good evidence of the care to keep the peace if soldiers act, but [illegible] we had a mob of soldiers in the yard. The second Mr. Nevius [illegible] and had for servant, but not [illegible]. They dined through the [illegible] mob, while Mr. Noble [illegible] and had to look [illegible] Chinese [illegible] Mr. Lowrie was present [illegible] and [illegible] helped us, and [illegible] our own poor houses [illegible] of their three wives [illegible] Chinese [illegible] [illegible] to be a century, writing [illegible] a gentleman from the [illegible] the west away [illegible] of [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. Noble [illegible] followed by the [illegible] but the gate was closed. [illegible] the east door, she might [illegible] the west door, where Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Ewing and I [illegible] to see with them to watch [illegible] up to keep them within bounds. That the soldiers they [illegible] [illegible] they would guard the [illegible] cut. The [illegible] [illegible] the soldiers did [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Noble [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Noble [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Noble
