MRS. WORK TELLS A PITIABLE TALE

Pathetic Scene in Court This Morning When Diamond Thief is Arraigned.

There was a pathetic scene in Judge Diehl's court this morning when Mrs. Dorega Work was arraigned on the charge of grand larceny, the allegation being that she stole from C. E. W. Bowers a diamond stud valued at $55.

When the complaint was read to Mrs. Work she at once started to make a statement to the court. Judge Diehl kindly said that all he wanted at this time was her plea as to whether she was guilty or not guilty.

"Yes; I am guilty," faltered the unfortunate woman. "When we came here," she continued, "both my husband and we were ill. We owed a number of bills. We had a little sum of money when we arrived, but it was soon gone and we were in a desperate straits."

"I am guilty of taking the diamond but I was tempted to do so. I never did such a thing before in my life."

Mr. Work, husband of the woman, was present, and stated that he wished to waive preliminary examination. The case was ordered sent to the district court and the bonds fixed in the sum of $500.

After the case was disposed of, Mrs. Work broke down and wept hysterically. It is the belief of some of the officials that the woman is mentally unbalanced as a result of illness and the terrible nervous strain which she has undergone.

GRAND LARCENY CHARGED.

W. E. Ferguson, the man arrested last evening by Deputy Sheriff Steele on the charge of stealing the coal from the Rio Grande Western Railway company, was arraigned this morning on the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he stole from the company coal to the value of $23.50.

Ferguson pleaded not guilty and the case was set for Thursday, the 13th, for preliminary hearing. In default of $250 bail he was committed to the custody of the sheriff.

STOLE WATCH: THREE MONTHS. George Long and James Nugent, who broke into the residence of W. H. White some time ago and stole a watch therefrom, were arraigned this morning on the charge of petit larceny. It was agreed between defendants and counsel for the state that each of the accused receive a sentence of three months in the county jail. The sentence was imposed and the men are now in jail.

COULD NOT LIE.

"I can-na tell a lie," declared John Peterson, who says he is a Turk and who looks the part, when arraigned on the charge of burglary in the third degree. It is alleged that he broke into a section house of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway company and stole some articles. When asked to plead he made the statement quoted above. Then he said he was not guilty, and the case was set for Friday, the 13th, for hearing. He was unable to furnish $250 bonds and is now in the county jail awaiting hearing.

EMIL WINOVICH IS DISCHARGED

One of Five Greeks Arrested in Connection With Murder Freed.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM.

Others Being Held May Be Released Unless Some New Developments Show Indications of Guilt.

Judge Armstrong today granted the petition of Emil Winovich for a writ of habeas corpus and discharged the petitioner from custody. Winovich is one of the five Greeks who were arrested in connection with the murder of A. Kovalis at Bingham Junction on June 15, 1907, during the recent strike troubles.

He and four others were given a preliminary hearing and were bound over to the district court on the charge of murder in the first degree.

Atty. P. Christensen filed a petition for interest in the business to defendant Winovich and alleged that there was no evidence against his client to connect him in any manner with the murder. The evidence refused to allow him to be discharged. It is probable that habeas corpus proceedings will be commenced in behalf of the other four men also.

KAPLAN FILES COMPLAINT.

Asks That Receiver Be Appointed to Take Charge of Cleaning Company.

In a complaint filed in the district court today by Ben Kaplan against Frank Masure and A. S. Higham, a receiver is asked for the Kaplan House Cleaning company, which has a place of business at 134 east Second South street.

Kaplan alleges that he sold at a later date the business to defendants and took their notes for $100 each. They then mortgaged the property of the company to Mrs. A. S. Higham for $500 and have refused to allow him to have anything to do with the business or to enter the place, which he alleges is now closed up.

He claims that his partners are liable to contract other indebtedness for which he would be liable, and he asks that a receiver be appointed at once to take charge of the place.

JUDGMENT FOR $761.50.

Judgment has been rendered by Judge Lewis in favor of plaintiff in the case of Mrs. L. B. Moore against the Redman Van & Storage company for the sum of $761.50. The action was brought to recover $1,000 as the value of certain household goods which plaintiff stored with defendant in 1905, and which the defendant failed to return to her when demanded.

The case against Mrs. Lulu C. Morrow, a boarding house keeper in Garfield, charging her with criminal conduct with one of her boarders, William F. Grover, has been dismissed by Justice of the Peace Cornish upon motion of Asst. County Atty. Halch. LADIES' DAY

Outpouring of Women to the Different Stores.

The "Round-Up" With its Interesting Features Will Attract Them the Balance of the Week.

Monday was ladies' day. Tuesday will be and by the same token each succeeding day till the close of business Saturday. A gala period, in which women may shop to their heart's content. The thrilling occasion will be to them what the Fourth is to the juveniles. They will revel in the masses of new merchandise and "was $1.00; now 68 cents."

Women are alert shoppers. Even David Harum did not know so much about horse trading as they do about bargain hunting. Shopping is an art, the proficiency of which only women masters. Intuition whispered that summer sales were coming. The thrill of the joy that they stir keys femininity to keenest tension, and for weeks expenses have been curtailed. Hence the annual Round-up, countless and diversified articles bucking because they resent being branded with prices below value has become dear to the hearts of women who are aroused to desire of possession because they recall roopings of other summers. And so the Round-up drew them Monday, drew them as a magnet.

The day opened bright and pretty, the Red-O'Brien's have prices early astir with customers. The silk and dress goods counters were soon crowded. The linen section was a beehive; the fair customers they recall roopings of other summers. Never were prices more compelling in that aisle. Women are as conversant with domestic values as are the salespeople. Steadily during the last few years the prices soared up reason of manufacturers' advances. Reluctantly have shoppers accepted the conditions. To buy yesterday a lady bought in the old days before prices were raised, aroused them as bargains seldom do. Hundreds of dollars were saved yesterday in these goods alone. Millinery at the big store has been extensive of styles, daintiness and quality—and the prices of beautiful summer conceptions opened purses with a click. Charming designs went for a song. Vellings in its queue and special prices selling was lively. Dainty neckpieces were eagerly bought. Summer ribbons drew eagerly. The glove counters enjoyed splendidly. Over in the old days corner there was like interest. "Is said that men do not read advertisements. Certain it is that somehow they found out that underwear, half hose, shirts, neckties and other accessories were being sold at slump prices. Maybe their wives, and prospective brides who are alert to values, gave the tip. Women are interested in their needs and lined the counters. Embroideries, laces and trimmings are always in demand, while inducements out of the ordinary fill the counters with eager buyers. Soaps, perfumes, stationery and like requisites were marked down. Enough candy was sold to sweeten the universe. Burnt wood outfits were purchased for later use. Art goods of all descriptions commanded their share of interest. Women's and children's hosiery and underwear called forth the coin. Children's trappings are down in price, too. Further down, in the same aisle, are undermuskins, petticoats—but speaking of the latter, today will see the crowds, for several trunks of sam-pie petticoats, traveling men's samples, came too late for a place in the opening day's sale.

They will go at half-price—and lucky will be the fortunate buyers. Oxford are the feature, low cut as they are for the week. Back in the suit department are remarkable under-values. Dresses, suits, skirts, jackets—newest ideas for summer being sold at prices which amply repay women for waiting for the sale. Handsome waists—and a waist is always acceptable—offer exceeding inducements. Mothers did not forget the boys, who always need new suits. Carpets, rugs—oriental rugs, too—are to be had at a decided saving. Metal beds, curtains and like trappings are equally attractive in price. Hammocks, sprinkling hose, and little utilities for the house are offered at a saving.

But this article is long and refreshment at the fountain is an enjoyable relief.

Lucky Collision.—An automobile and a bicycle collided on Second South street, opposite the Wilson hotel, today, knocking the wheelman into the street. The latter's wrist was badly skinned, but he was otherwise unhurt and was escorted to the nearest drug store where his wound was attended to at the expense of the autoist. It seems to have been a case of not understanding which way to turn, to avoid each other and escape collision with two street cars.

Sargent, a member of the Yale corporation and one of the largest hardware manufacturers in the world. The Knox boys passed their preliminary examination last month for admission to Yale in September, 1908.

Fifth Ward Sociable.—An affair greatly enjoyed by all present was the sociable given last night in the Fifth ward amusement hall to all residing in the ward over the age of 60 years. The hall was tastefully decorated with ferns, flowers and potted plants, and as the honored guests filed into it their hearts were gladdened by the sight of a number of long tables laden with good things, which all partook of with equal enjoyment and appreciation. During the evening many of the old folks responded with songs, recitations and short addresses, in which they heartily thanked the Bishopric and members of the Relief society for the good time they had prepared for them.
