BOTH SIDES CLAIM IT!

(Continued from Page One.)

were early on hand to keep away voting democratic. In a general way pictures led to the convention among McKinley's close friends that 250 electoral votes were assured beyond peradventure, and 40 more reasonably probable for McKinley, 18 doubtful. These to gether certain enough to elect the Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Wisconsin.

Joseph P. Smith, political secretary of McKinley, said: "The electoral vote of McKinley and Hobart will be somewhere between 280 and 300, leaving Bryan and Sewall 95 to 95, to say the least. McKinley and Hobart will have nearly, if not quite, 1,500,000 majority of the popular vote."

A private dispatch from Wilmington, Del., says the Democratic congressional committee concedes the state to McKinley. This raises the certain electoral votes to 124.

At 2 p. m. H. C. Payne wired Major McKinley from Republican headquarters as follows: Advices this morning justify us in claiming the following states:

All the New England and middle states, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Delaware and Oregon—241 electoral votes, and there is little question we have carried California, North Dakota and South Dakota with 29 electoral votes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 4.—More complete returns reduce the Republican majority claimed last night and this morning. Returns from the rural districts today increase the Democratic vote so that McKinley's plurality now estimated at 50,000 to 60,000. The Democratic state committee give to Bryan but claim they will make gains over their vote of the last three years. It is conceded Bryan four or five out of the congressmen. Republicans concede three congressmen to them.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 4.—Shortly before noon Chairman Cook of the state Democratic committee gave out the following:

"With a probable Republican plurality of 14,000 in St. Louis, returns from rural districts, including Kansas City, show that Bryan will have a large majority in the state. This means a majority on the state ticket of about 40,000. All the state outside the city are safe Democratic, electing all state and congressmen from districts outside of cities."

One thousand and seventy-nine precincts in Missouri, including St. Louis, give Bryan 151,933; McKinley 142,048; Stephens (Dem.) for governor 151,161; Lewis (Rep.) 141,185.

Congressmen—Nineteen—Eighth district—R. P. Bland, Dem., elected.

Missouri returns are very incomplete, but it is known with certainty that St. Louis has given McKinley from 12,000 to 15,000 plurality, the former being counties by the Democrats and the latter claimed by the Republicans. There seems to be no doubt that two of the three congressmen in St. Louis will be Republicans—Bartholdt and Tarsney.

Senator Vest said this afternoon that the Democrats in the legislature in Missouri would have a majority in both houses and the Populists and Republicans 64.

Secretary Biffin of the Republican central committee says he thinks the Democrats will have a majority but claims the Populists will hold the balance of power.

KANSAS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 4.—Chairman Breidenthal of the Populist committee claims that Bryan and Lewis have carried the state by about 15,000. Hengle the fusion has elected six of the eight congressmen.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 4.—At 2 o'clock the best information indicates that the Bryan and Lewis fusion carried Kansas by at least 7,000. The fusionists seem to have five congressmen; the Republicans five (Broderick, Fast, Hall, Mahan, Curtis, Funston, and Harris, Second, in doubt. The legislature on joint ballot appears to be overwhelmingly fusion.

MONTANA.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 4.—Reports from different counties received so far would indicate that out of a total vote of nearly 45,000, Bryan's majority will be about 15,000. So far as reported, not a single county in the state has given the McKinley electors a majority. In a majority of the words of this city, the Bryan electors received 75 per cent of the vote cast.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4.—Incomplete returns from the 83 counties in Michigan indicate that McKinley's majority in Michigan will be 50,000. The same returns this morning give Pingree for governor, an estimated plurality of 58,000. That Pingree should have run decidedly ahead of his ticket generally throughout the state is regarded as something of a surprise in view of the continued interest allied against him. In Detroit, Pingree got more votes than he did in his candidacy for mayor. In 1894 precincts of this city Pingree received 27,837, to 19,194 for High; McKinley 28,638, Bryan 26,417.

The Republican state ticket ran considerably behind Pingree vote and several thousand behind the McKinley vote. The Republican members of Congress are elected in each of the twelve districts of the state except the Third and Eighth, and in the Eighth the issue is still doubtful between Congressman Linton and Fordham Becker.

Wayne county elected her entire Republican delegation to the legislature—ten representatives and four senators. The legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican, but by what majority it is not yet determined.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Revised returns at 3 a.m. give McKinley a plurality of 66,650 in New Jersey.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—8:45 p. m. The returns from Indiana up to this hour indicate not Republican gain of about 11 to a precinct, which would give the state to McKinley by 35,000.

The ratio of Republican gain in this state has stayed in the neighborhood of ten to a precinct since the returns began coming. While not a tenth of the state has been heard from, returns are sufficiently scattered to indicate a pretty heavy McKinley plurality.

Late returns this afternoon indicate heavy Democratic gains in southern Indiana strongholds. This will reduce the estimates of a big Republican plurality early in the day but from present indications will not affect the general result which is that McKinley has carried the state. The Republicans probably will lose congressmen.

Returns have been received by the News up to 9:30 p. m. from about 800 precincts out of every 2,000 outside of Marion county. While the latter reports do not show quite as large a relative gain over the vote of '92 as the precincts first reported, they show considerable gains. The judgment of those best informed in regard to the vote cast throughout the state is that Indiana will give a Republican plurality of about 20,000.

The majority for McKinley in Marion county (Indianapolis) will not be further from 8,000. The returns show that the legislature will be Republican on joint ballot, but the returns are not complete enough to make this absolutely sure. The Republicans have elected eight or nine out of the thirteen congressmen.

OREGON.

OREGON, Nov. 4.—A Telegram special from Portland, Ore., says McKinley has carried Oregon by a majority of 5,000 majority. Bryan is indeed a very heavy vote through all the state. It is thought Bryan will come to Portland with a very good majority. McKinley has certainly carried the state by a good plurality.

NORTH DAKOTA.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 4.—The Republicans have carried the state by from 1,200 to 1,500. Populists gain three counties and the 123 give McKinley 5,000, Bryan 1,877.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 4.—A Bismarck, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: McKinley has carried this state by at least 5,000 and the entire Republican state ticket is also elected by a very heavy vote through all the state. It is thought Bryan will come to Portland with a very good majority. McKinley has certainly carried the state by a good plurality.

NORTH DAKOTA.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 4.—The Republicans have carried the state by from 1,200 to 1,500. Populists gain three counties and the 123 give McKinley 5,000, Bryan 1,877.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 4.—A Bismarck, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: McKinley has carried this state by at least 5,000 and the entire Republican state ticket is also elected by a very heavy vote through all the state. It is thought Bryan will come to Portland with a very good majority. McKinley has certainly carried the state by a good plurality.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 4.—More complete returns reduce the Republican majority claimed last night and this morning. Returns from the rural districts today increase the Democratic vote so that McKinley's plurality now estimated at 50,000 to 60,000. The Democratic state committee give to Bryan but claim they will make gains over their vote of the last three years. It is conceded Bryan four or five out of the congressmen. Republicans concede three congressmen to them.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 4.—Shortly before noon Chairman Cook of the state Democratic committee gave out the following:

"With a probable Republican plurality of 14,000 in St. Louis, but the returns from rural, including Kansas City, show that Bryan will have a large majority in the state. This means a majority on the state ticket of about 40,000. All the state outside the city are safe Democratic, electing all state and congressmen from districts outside of cities."

One thousand and seventy-nine precincts in Missouri, including St. Louis, give Bryan 151,933; McKinley 142,048; Stephens (Dem.) for governor 151,161; Lewis (Rep.) 141,185.

Congressmen—Nineteen—Eighth district—R. P. Bland, Dem., elected.

Missouri returns are very incomplete, but it is known with certainty that St. Louis has given McKinley from 12,000 to 15,000 plurality, the former being counties by the Democrats and the latter claimed by the Republicans. There seems to be no doubt that two of the three congressmen in St. Louis will be Republicans—Bartholdt and Tarsney.

Senator Vest said this afternoon that the Democrats in the legislature in Missouri would have a majority in both houses and the Populists and Republicans 64.

Secretary Biffin of the Republican central committee says he thinks the Democrats will have a majority but claims the Populists will hold the balance of power.

KANSAS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 4.—Chairman Breidenthal of the Populist committee claims that Bryan and Lewis have carried the state by about 15,000. Hengle the fusion has elected six of the eight congressmen.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 4.—At 2 o'clock the best information indicates that the Bryan and Lewis fusion carried Kansas by at least 7,000. The fusionists seem to have five congressmen; the Republicans five (Broderick, Fast, Hall, Mahan, Curtis, Funston, and Harris, Second, in doubt. The legislature on joint ballot appears to be overwhelmingly fusion.

MONTANA.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 4.—Reports from different counties received so far would indicate that out of a total vote of nearly 45,000, Bryan's majority will be about 15,000. So far as reported, not a single county in the state has given the McKinley electors a majority. In a majority of the words of this city, the Bryan electors received 75 per cent of the vote cast.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4.—Incomplete returns from the 83 counties in Michigan indicate that McKinley's majority in Michigan will be 50,000. The same returns this morning give Pingree for governor, an estimated plurality of 58,000. That Pingree should have run decidedly ahead of his ticket generally throughout the state is regarded as something of a surprise in view of the continued interest allied against him. In Detroit, Pingree got more votes than he did in his candidacy for mayor. In 1894 precincts of this city Pingree received 27,837, to 19,194 for High; McKinley 28,638, Bryan 26,417.

The Republican state ticket ran considerably behind Pingree vote and several thousand behind the McKinley vote. The Republican members of Congress are elected in each of the twelve districts of the state except the Third and Eighth, and in the Eighth the issue is still doubtful between Congressman Linton and Fordham Becker.

Wayne county elected her entire Republican delegation to the legislature—ten representatives and four senators. The legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican, but by what majority it is not yet determined.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Revised returns at 3 a.m. give McKinley a plurality of 66,650 in New Jersey.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—8:45 p. m. The returns from Indiana up to this hour indicate not Republican gain of about 11 to a precinct, which would give the state to McKinley by 35,000.

The ratio of Republican gain in this state has stayed in the neighborhood of ten to a precinct since the returns began coming. While not a tenth of the state has been heard from, returns are sufficiently scattered to indicate a pretty heavy McKinley plurality.

Late returns this afternoon indicate heavy Democratic gains in southern Indiana strongholds. This will reduce the estimates of a big Republican plurality early in the day but from present indications will not affect the general result which is that McKinley has carried the state. The Republicans probably will lose congressmen.

Returns have been received by the News up to 9:30 p. m. from about 800 precincts out of every 2,000 outside of Marion county. While the latter reports do not show quite as large a relative gain over the vote of '92 as the precincts first reported, they show considerable gains. The judgment of those best informed in regard to the vote cast throughout the state is that Indiana will give a Republican plurality of about 20,000.

The majority for McKinley in Marion county (Indianapolis) will not be further from 8,000. The returns show that the legislature will be Republican on joint ballot, but the returns are not complete enough to make this absolutely sure. The Republicans have elected eight or nine out of the thirteen congressmen.

OREGON.

OREGON, Nov. 4.—A Telegram special from Portland, Ore., says McKinley has carried Oregon by a majority of 5,000 majority. Bryan is indeed