CUBA'S CIVIL WAR.

The Rebellion Only in Its Inciplency As Yet.

SNIDLEY'S BILL THE CAUSE OF IT.

Series of the Revolutionists.—The Spanish Troops Reinforced.—Discouraging Talk a Race War.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A special cable to the Herald from Atlanta, Ga., says:

A prisoner at Mayarara, Cuba, stone crushing as a business man is going later on the Cuban rebellion.

For some years past the planters, Atlantic Island, have been not to a very low ebb. Owing to the cheap cane in the Mexican rebellion was a great loss in the sugar industry of Cuba. The planters not only lacking money but capacity, but invested in the relief of sugar machinery.

The idea a coach came the assessment policy of the United States to supply the very market upon which Cuba had been her begin. Spain made policy through years of vindictiveness against having at least the interests of Cuba. She had been so in her protection. Last November the planters of Cuba held a meeting in Havana, at which they elected a process appeal to the home government. Capt. Gen. Calleja promised to lay the matter before the government in a personal statement. It is doubtful if he did so, but be that as it may, the situation the planters decided it is absolutely was no exception that further meetings for any purpose whatever would be displeasing to the government.

The instant of when the right of petition, the planters have been clinging at their homes, giving special attention to the rebels. I have seen them with a considerable part of the land and every house here are raising small groups, studying the history, no doubt, in the Decree to Cuba, and, with the planters are now consulting, meeting per quite enough to issue manifestoes. As soon as the Cuban rebellion broke out, the planters sided with the mercenaries of Cuba. The harmony between the planters and the discontented Indians is so close, so to the fact that their lands have superior means of transport.

Spain's pride is well formed attempt to subjugate the island yet. The purpose of the rebels is to keep in and hence to attract as little attention to possible, and avoid conflicting with Spain.

The idea of having the whole island a war without any point of concert in the Spaniards to attack, it is known, will enable the Spaniards easily suppressing the period of the turbulent and expect could be also a war. There is not a day in the long battle garrison on the island would not be a with good cause she is ready that disorder may which not escape."

HOSTILITY A RACE WAR.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A special dispatch to the Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says: Colonel Lopez, who was sent to Cuba by the Antimonist party to aid the revolution, has arrived at Hayti. He reports that the insurgents are not a race war that a general revolution, more engines be made in the cause of insurgents has taken.

The insurgents were very poorly armed and their stores of ammunition were scanty.

Details of the insurgents, Alander town, with one wounded men, attacked the village of Campechuela and created a great panic among the inhabitants.

Spanish troops escaped and took ships to an American bark in the harbor.

A band of insurgents demanded the surrender of Lieutenant Farrago, who he refused there with forty men of the regiment at Havana. Farrago was called upon to surrender the rebels in order to their arms. He refused but he regiment declared they would be taken from his command.

A party of insurgents under the leadership of the brothers Hanes and Luis Lopez Urrutia after capturing the town of Jiguani, defeated by Gen. Jarnach and Colonels Pozo and Ruiz at Bayamo. The insurgents killed a Spanish commander, but were taken after an all day fight. The insurgents were pursued into the mountains. There was also an encounter between a party of insurgents who were defeated, many of them being wounded. Reinforcements have arrived at Puerto Rico, which, it is reported, are to be sent to Cuba.

SPANISH TRAITOR.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A special cable from Havana, says: News has been received from Sancti Spiritus that Garcia made a sortie last Monday with a force of 100 cavalry and infantry and met a party of 35 Alfonsos, the regular cavalry, in the Sancti Spiritus. The governor of Sancti Spiritus reports that on March 15 Garcia had left Sancti Spiritus with 200 men. The insurgent cavalry made a sortie last Monday and killed five men in a fight there. Among the dead were the son of Senor Manuel and Pacheco and Antonio Lopez, in the insurgent ranks. Arms and ammunition of the rebels were found.

A TRAITOR TO THE CAUSE.

TAMPA, FLA., March 22.—Incoming passengers from Havana report that insurgents with the Cuban force have moved recently from Sancti Spiritus and have been removed. They have not been seen for a long time, and should they be found they would be shot as traitors. It is believed in Cuban circles in Havana so that no evidence of the treachery can be covered by the rebels. It is reported the heartbreaking news has reached Sancti Spiritus that General Garcia was expected to lead the rebel force, was arrested before the arrival there, has been sent to Spain. Gen. Garcia, from the Spanish government for the eight years past to keep it whole of this against the government by the Cubans.

General Gomezon is reported near Sancti Spiritus with 4,000 men divided into five companies. For the next two months it is stated there will be no great progress, as the Cubans do not intend to assume the aggressive. Early in June, the opening of the rainy season, the Spanish troops are accustomed will be exposed to the elements, and yellow fever is relied upon to kill more than the Cubans might with rifles.

FIRE IN A MATCH FACTORY.

A Girl With Clothes Catching Jumps Through a Window.

CHICAGO, March 22.—In the Square Match company's works today Annie Hansen was passing a box of matches which ignited, setting fire to her clothes. Nothing stopping through the factory, she ignited burning matches which set the building on fire. Dashing through a door she ran out on the pavement, burned a dozen better, strikers girls. Annie Hansen was perhaps fatally burned. Three girls were injured by jumping. The fire is small.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

Chicago to be the Center and Silver the Main Issue of It.

The Plans of the New Party Disclosed—Democrats and Republicans Working Together.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Herald says:

Chicago is to be the national political center next year and silver will be the dominant issue in the Presidential campaign.

This statement was made by a man who is recognized as a leader in one of the silver propaganda and it was seconded by a leading democratic national committeeman who is by the only logical conclusion which could be drawn from a series of recent events.

A plan of campaign has been laid out which will bring the leaders of the silver propaganda to Chicago in June, and already the trust is being made that silver will split the Democratic and Republican parties and form a third party. It is considered very far from the great divide which separates the yellow Atlantic coast from the white Mississippi valley and Pacific coast.

This plan contemplates an military demand on both national conventions, for it is said that the silver men of both parties have reached an agreement in the matter, that a plank for the coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of other nations, will be insisted on by the pointsmen of the respective parties.

According to the Herald, in case either or both conventions refuse to be dictated to by the aggressive Silverites, the silver delegates will withdraw and a new democratic or Republican party will be formed, with headquarters in Chicago.

The canon for the leader of the political campaign of Congressman C. T. Bailey, of Pennsylvania, a democrat, the second choice falls upon H. H. Breed, of Missouri, a Democrat, Senator Jones, of Nevada, Democrat, Senator Teller, of Colorado, Populist, and Senator Jones, of Nevada, Republican.

It is to be hoped for greatly by the silver men that organized labor and the Populists party will combine with them to form the silver party, and they have received a willingness to adopt governmental control of transportation expressed that this modification of plans has to make a substantial issue the free silver.

An organized movement for the purpose of sending silver delegates to the Democratic national convention is well under way in the mid-western states, and is paralleled by a similar movement on the part of the silver Republicans. The progress of this propaganda work has arrived at the tangible degree and the various state committees of both parties are beginning to realize it clearly.

"On the day, sacred to the memory of Emperor William I, I feel compelled because the necessity of making some provision, as he would have wished, for the men who obeying the summons of the commander and who fought for the fatherland, asked for my hands for the fatherland. I would therefore regard it with greatest satisfaction if the officers, surgeons, officials and men of the army and navy who in campaigns received in 1870 and 1871 or in consequence of injuries sustained during the time and service forfeited the claim to a second year's active service in the calculations of their pensions could henceforth have the difference over counted now in my hands. I would also give satisfaction if the non-commissioned officers and men who took temporary part in the campaigns of 1870 and 1871 or died in the wars waged by the German states before 1870, and who are nearly, could be granted assistance in the future. I do not lose sight of the fact that circumstances exist that the claims of only a small number of men are considered. But it is my earnest wish that the gratitude of the fatherland should at last be manifested toward those in a position of indigence."

The decree then charges Prince Hohenlohe to submit a proposal and carry out the details.
