FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

Investigation of the Municipal Affairs of Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 3.—The continued agitation of municipal affairs in this city has at last borne fruit. A number of leading business men of Toledo met last night at the chamber of commerce. It was a star chamber sitting and the results of the meeting were secret, but enough leaked out to indicate that radical action had been taken. A number of the original good government committee of the New York was called in as advisory counsel and will direct subsequent events.

Some of the leading attorneys of the city will have charge of the investigation which will be conducted under the leadership of the Lucas committee, and sufficient funds to carry on the investigation in all the city departments is now in hand.

"There will be no delay on that score," said one of the committee. "We will show where $1,000,000 of the taxpayers' money has gone in proper channels, and the result will be surprising to all but the guilty. It will involve municipal transactions and officers to the state capital."

The investigation will be conducted in secret and will begin immediately after election. An effort will also be made to secure a new city charter and abolish the present system of local government.

Six Years and a Half for His Colorado Exploits.

Mrs. Annie Gilpand came from England to this country in February, 1893, and met Wynne through mutual friends. He was then employed by the Chapman Wrecking company. He learned she had money and wanted her to invest in the company he was then with. Subsequently he asked her to "come in on the ground floor" in a new scheme, the Manhattan Wrecking company. Mrs. Gilpand subscribed for fifteen shares of stock at $100 a share and gave Wynne a check for $2,750 to deliver to Drake, Turner & Co. Wynne was to return the balance, but Mrs. Gilpand got only $900. The company was a case of a Nick Bottom and Mrs. Gilpand failed to be Titania. There were others.

There were other indictments against Wynne for similar crimes. Wynne is an Englishman by birth and has lived through Europe as a mining engineer and traveller. Through Europe he represented to the Colorado Gold Mining Wild West enthusiasts.

MOURNING EVERYWHERE.

Russian Cathedrals Draped in the Emblems of Sorrow.

Masses for the Repose of the Soul of the Czar—Liberals Issue a Manifesto—Private Comments.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The Russian cathedral of St. Basil the Great, in this city, is draped in mourning for the death of the czar. The emblems of sorrow will be displayed for a period of six months, with occasional religious ceremonies and masses for the soul of the dead emperor. As soon as official information of the czar's death was received by the consistory, preparations were begun to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of the departed emperor. At 9 o'clock this morning a solemn mass was celebrated with prayers for the repose of the soul of the czar. This was followed by a memorial ceremony and sermon and a requiem was chanted in the manner as in all the churches in Russia.

DRAPED IN MOURNING.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—An Odessa dispatch to the Daily News says that city is draped in mourning. A grand requiem mass was celebrated this morning and was attended within and without the building by a hundred thousand people. The Prince and Princess of Wales will arrive at Odessa tomorrow morning. They have especially requested that no public reception be given them.

The issue of the manifesto by the party of the people's rights has led to numerous arrests, lists of the papers to whom copies were addressed through the post have been handed to the police. Nearly all the university students in Odessa, Kieff, Moscow and St. Petersburg are now under police observation. Large numbers of copies of the manifesto are being circulated secretly. From what can be learned from many different quarters the moderate and reasonable spirit of the manifesto is producing a great impression.

WILLIAM A. BULLER OF FIRST NATIONAL.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says that M. Ribot, the French premier, has a chance for personal diplomacy was the cause of the meeting. It cost American civil war to get rid of her serfs system. It was Russia's good fortune to get rid of serfdom without the spilling of blood. This is one of the causes celebrated for which Russian sympathies always in evidence to Russia.

It will be easy for Russia, if she is let in peace, to outgrow the conditions which excuse despotism of any kind.

JAPAN'S VICTORIES.

Port Arthur Probably in the Hands of the Invaders.

FORMER REPORTS CONFIRMED.

The Conquering Hosts Nearing Moukden, the Capital of Kaichoria.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Japanese legation has received the following cable from the Japanese government:

"The first army under Marshal Yamagata has taken possession of Feng Wang Tsenge. The Chinese fled to Wang Mang Ting. The rest of the army under Marshal Oyama are now attacking Kiu Chow and both Ta Lien Wan and Port Arthur will soon be taken. As the press dispatches frequently produce illegal advices, it is deemed advisable that Port Arthur now is really taken and that the whole dispatch was written before the event occurred. King Chow and Ta Lien Wan are outworks to Port Arthur, and their investment is prerequisite to taking the main works. Feng Fang Tsenge is a stronghold on the line of march to Moukden. Its occupancy shows how close the Japanese are advancing to the Manchurian capital.

DOUBTS THE REPORT.

British Warships Probably Not Sent to Costa Rica.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Senor Galvez, in charge of the Costa Rican legation, denies the accuracy of the Victoria dispatch saying that four British warships were about to start for Costa Rica to "teach that country a lesson." Mr. Galvez at once called his government to learn as to the alleged sending of the British ironclads. Galvez says there is perfect tranquility in his country and it enjoys the distinction of never having been asked to pay an indemnity for an uprising. He points out that it is very improbable that four British warships would be sent on such a mission when one could serve every purpose. At the British embassy it was stated that Robert A. Taylor was the British vice-consul at Puentarenas, Costa Rica. He reports directly to London, so the embassy had no knowledge of the matter.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Enough Money Secured to Go On with the Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—It has been announced by people closely connected with the Nicaragua canal that the Nicaragua Canal Construction company has secured enough money to go on with the work of building the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans through Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

A bill has been introduced in the state senate at Montpelier, Vermont, to incorporate the Nicaragua Canal company for the purpose of building a canal through Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Mr. Wood, who is the president of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, has succeeded ex-Senator Warner Miller, lives at Plattsburgh, N. Y., and the reason for the company going to Montpelier for its charter seems this to be accounted for. According to the press, so far as can be learned, the new company will succeed the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, which has been in process of reorganization. At the office of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company it was declared that nothing as yet can be said about the affairs of the company. Mr. Wood, who has his office in the Coal exchange building, said he would probably be able to make an announcement about the company next week.

At the office of the Nicaragua Canal company, which has the concessions from the government for the territory, where the canal will go, it is said the prospects are favorable to building the canal in short time.

To Be Erected in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

The money collected would have been returned to the subscribers, but as the subscription books were lost. Recently three members of the original committee decided to proceed with the erection of a monument, personally canvassing the subscription to a suitable sum. Hubert Bancroft has Thomas, is the sculptor who modeled Grant from life, having made a cast of the ex-President a few weeks prior to his death. This cast is now in the Grant tomb in Riverside Park, New York. To Bancroft has been entrusted the task of preparing a design for the monument and on his return to New York to copy the bust in Riverside Park. The monument will be a granite and bronze and will be erected in Golden Gate park.

THE DOYAN WILL RESIST.

France Preparing for Hostilities on Madagascar.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The French government has received a dispatch from M. Lemaire Devillers, special envoy sent to Madagascar with the ultimatum of France to the Hova government, announcing that he left Analamitsivo November 28, without receiving a reply of the Hova government to the French demands. Immediately after the French government receives a direct dispatch from M. Lemaire Devillers, giving the final result of his mission, preparatory proposals will be submitted to the Chambers. Little doubt exists now that the Hovas intend to resist the demands of France.

LECTURE ON COOKERY.

It Will Be Delivered by Mrs. Ewing in the Assembly Hall on Wednesday Next.

Mrs. Emma P. Ewing, the well known teacher of cookery, is in the city and will deliver a free lecture on Our Kitchen Interests, in the Assembly Hall, next Wednesday, at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Ewing is thoroughly and practically conversant with her subject and has the happy faculty of interesting and instructing her hearers. She was professor of household science for eight years at the Iowa State Agricultural college; held the same position two years at Purdue university, Lafayette, Indiana, and has for seven years been superintendent of the cooking school at the Chautauqua assembly at Chautauqua, New York. During the World's Fair Mrs. Ewing gave lessons in bread making daily for two months in the Woman's building, and was also making such bread in the Iowa State building for two weeks, for which the Iowa State commission awarded her a handsome gold medal. The average cooking school teacher teaches her clientele to instruct women how to make fancy dishes that few people care to eat and she accordingly devotes her energies to the accomplishment of this object. But Mrs. Ewing entertains different opinions on the matter. She takes a practical view of the subject, and her aim is to instruct her pupils how to make bread, soups, salads and coffee, how to roast, broil, fry and stew meats—in a word how to prepare in the best and simplest manner such staple articles of food as are in general every day use. Ladies who have attended Mrs. Ewing's lectures say they are invaluable to housekeepers, as she teaches them not only how to prepare food in the daintiest and most healthsome manner, but also to eliminate most of the drudgery from cooking and make it an easy and interesting task instead of a toilsome occupation.

The lecture to be given on Wednesday is an interesting and instructive topic as it is women and is introductory to a course of eight demonstration lessons to be given under the auspices of the Woman's club of this city. Mrs. Ewing is just from Denver where her lessons were given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Woman's club conducted.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Instantly Killed by a Falling Rock Near the Warm Springs.

CARL F. BERGSTROM THE VICTIM.

His Head Reduced to an Unrecognizable Mass—The Deceased to be Held as Reality.

There was a most unfortunate and lamentable fatality at Laughlin's lime quarry, north of and above the Warm Springs between nine and ten o'clock this morning. The victim was Carl F. Bergstrom, a resident of Superior addition to North Salt Lake.

It appears that Bergstrom and a fellow workman named Keiser were engaged in overturning a big rock when suddenly a boulder, weighing half a ton or more, was loosened about 30 feet above them. It fell with tremendous force striking Bergstrom squarely on the upper part of the body killing him instantly and crushing his entire to the bottom of the mountain.

Bergstrom's ribs, face and shoulders were crushed in an unrecognizable and horrible state. Coroner Taylor was notified and had the body removed to Stewart's undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The deceased was a native of Sweden and came to Utah about ten years ago. During his residence here he proved himself to be an honest, earnest and industrious man and was universally respected by all who knew him. He was about 25 years old and leaves a wife and three small children to mourn his untimely death.

PLEASANT AND UNIQUE.

Anniversary Celebration by the Utah Woman's Press Club.

Three years ago, on October 31st, the Utah Woman's Press club was organized, and as anniversary day falls on Hallowe'en, there have been some unique entertainments in the past. But that of Wednesday evening is thought to have surpassed all former efforts.

Each member present endeavored, either by costume or symbol, to represent some author or literary character she has chosen. In answer to her name, she arose, and her other members or visitors made a guess as to the character represented, the guess being confirmed or otherwise by the sentiment given or the selection read.

History, literature and fable were represented. In some cases the costumes were decidedly original and striking, and in some instances beautiful.

Some of the characters represented were Portia by President E. R. Shipp, her sentiment being those noble lines from Shakespeare: "The quality of mercy is not strained," etc. Hypatia, by Roman costume, by retiring secretary, Gladys Woolmanson. Fable was represented by a sweet young girl as Red Riding Hood. Other characters represented Dickens, Female Force, Bohemian Girl, Evangeline, Lucile, Elsie H. Snow, Mrs. Hemans, Women in White, Rose in Bloom, Lucretia Mott in her pretty and simple Quaker garb, etc.

Among the features of the evening were the thrilling poem by Mrs. Browning, Mother and Poet, so dramatically rendered by Mrs. C. Lewis Rogers. Aria from the Bohemian Girl performed by Miss Ona Shipp, dressed in appropriate costume. The Bride of Killing Worth (Lonsdale) by Miss Lilie Sloan, who was quite brilliant in her cream gown, adorned with birds and feathers of different hues.

After the character delineations a summary of the year's work, by Mrs. L. D. Alder showed that progress had been made, and improvement was sought.

The formal part of the program being ended, refreshments and social chat followed. Both were most enjoyable and all had spent a pleasant and profitable evening; the one regret being the absence, through sickness, of honorary president, Mrs. E. R. Wells, whose presence contributes so much to the pleasure and success of the meetings.

A Broken Arm.

Today, Samuel, a 12-year-old son of Bishop Sexton of the Fifth ward, was riding a Shetland pony, when the animal threw him off, breaking his left arm at the elbow joint. The fracture is a rather bad one. A surgeon promptly attended the boy.

IN THE NATATORIUM.

In the action against David James tried and as yet undecided in Judge Merritt's court yesterday, the plaintiff is the old Natatorium Association of this city, and not the present Sanitarium Association with which the Messrs. Hutton are connected. The title as set forth in the original complaint was the name of the sale-descriptions in the newspapers.

NOTHING BUT POLITICS.

The Question That is Being Discussed Almost to the Exclusion of Every Other.

The political pot is fairly simmering. At no time since the opening of the present campaign has the question of politics been so earnestly and warmly discussed as in this city today. The temperature is and street the headquarters of the respective parties was so decidedly tropical that some but the chiefs and most uncompromising partisans cared to linger within their confines.

To a who had business to transact with committees the whole day had to do and withdraw. Novices stood at a distance while the great throngs sounded the approaching wants of the ballots from soul. On the street corners and public places were animated and large crowds of men arguing the merits of their party and friends and doing all to their power to show how little chance their opponents had on the public shall have. If they were successful, the whole country would go to the dominion how were. Turn in whatever direction one would, nothing scarcely but politics could be heard.

In a conversation with the leaders all expressed themselves as being confident that their party always the best—while to Democrats on Tuesday next. There appeared to be absolutely no reciprocatement of this feeling. While talking from neither side will apparently risk the reputation by declaring that there will be a little to the favor. The fact is that each seems to recognize in the other a most formidable opponent.

HIDING IN SAN RAPHAEL.

Report That the Murderers of Sheriff Burns Have Been Located.

A Prove Attorney Negotiating With the Officers to Give Them Up—What Deputy Sarrell says.

Special to the News.

PROVO, Nov. 3.—Deputy Marshal Sarrell has returned from a two weeks' hunt in the San Rafael country, for Kidford and Mickel, the murderers of Sheriff Burns. He is satisfied that they are still in that country, and has information which makes him certain that the rumors in regard to the escape of the criminals to Wyoming or Mexico are entirely unfounded.

While he did not succeed in locating their hiding place he learned that they have been in communication with a Prove attorney, through the brother of Kidford. Deputy Marshal Fowler had received confirmation from the sheriff of Sanpete county previous to the return of Mr. Sarrell that he (Sarrell) had uncovered the hiding place of the fugitives, and wanted Mr. Fowler to come or send officers to his aid. This advice, however, proves to be wrong.

Marshal Fowler has also received a communication from a sheep man in the section of country where the murderers are hiding. This man claims to know where they are and says he can take the officers to their camp at any time.

No doubt after consulting Marshal Sarrell and comparing notes in regard to the reliability of the sheepman's information some decision will be arrived at as to what action to take in the capture of the outlaws.

There is no doubt about Kidford and Mickel having communication with an attorney in Provo, as he has told Marshal Fowler that soon to the case. He has advised the officers to give themselves up, and claims that they have given assurance. Believing that his advice will be followed he has requested the marshal to take no action in regard to their capture, till his negotiations with his clients are closed or declared off. These facts render extremely probable Marshal Fowler's conclusions, which he has made all along since his return from the unsuccessful trip after the murderers, that the officers would yet capture the murderers.

THEY'RE ALWAYS WELCOME.

Chief Justice Merritt's Little Joke Took Immensely With the Bar.

An unusually large number of attorneys flocked into Chief Justice Merritt's division of the Third district court soon after the doors were opened this morning, and anxiously awaited their turn to introduce informal motions. But several of those thought up took much longer than had been expected, and towards half-past eleven o'clock the judge shut off all further comers, to make way for the hearing in the Park-Ryan injunction matter, this having been specially set down for today. Considerable disappointment was expressed by several of the legal lights who were thus left "in the cold," but Judge Merritt, who often has a relish for little jokes by play off while on the bench, sought to console them by remarking with a good-natured smile: "Come around again gentlemen, always glad to see any of you."

The whole bar was greatly tickled, and even those who had failed to catch the judge's eye before, went away satisfied.

As the date for sentence Monday next has been named.

PEDAGOGIC AFFAIRS.

Meeting of the Salt Lake County Teachers at the University.

SESSION OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

Important Decisions by Territorial School Commissioner Lewis—Other Matters.

The regular meeting of the Salt Lake County Teachers' association was held today at the University building.

Mr. E. M. Parkes of Bingham, presented the subject of Physology. The speaker dwelt on the skeleton and gave very interesting explanation of it, using for illustration some of the various parts of the human skeleton, such as the skull, arm, commencement, wrist bone, and so forth, and the uses they serve in the human organism. The mission of the body were then explained in their relation to the other parts of the system, the arrangement and curvature of bones of the muscles, the development of these organs by use and exercise, in short, their agency in the body in which we live."

Mr. Parkes was followed by Miss Ella Chase, of Murray, who gave a model exercise in teaching primary reading. The lady gave her method of teaching this branch by having a class of little tots before the meeting, in order to more fully illustrate her method. The exercise proved a most profitable one, Miss Chase showing excellent adaptability for the work of teaching children.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

The committee appointed at a recent meeting of the county superintendents of the Territory for the purpose of formulating a high school course of study for the different schools or Utah, met today at the University and performed its work. The committee consisted of Commissioner Lewis, President Talmage, Superintendent Allen, of Salt Lake, Oldham, of Cache, and Hall, of Weber.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS.

Territorial Commissioner of Schools T. B. Lewis has rendered the following decisions which are of interest to trustees of schools throughout Utah:

First—A family living in one district may send its children to an adjacent district, even though such district may not border upon each other, provided, of course, there is a proper understanding between the trustees of the two districts as to the pro-rata to be drawn by pupils in the district where they reside.

Second—A man resides in a certain district, but goes with his family to another place during the summer, in which place his children are enumerated in the census. The commissioner holds that the district where he had hitherto resided cannot force the trustees of the other district to pay over the money to which such children may be entitled, but that the money may be turned over to said district, if an agreement to that effect can be made.

Third—That a district may raise the one-tenth of one per cent provided by law for payment of teachers' salaries and at the same time raise the two per cent tax to be applied to the erection of buildings, purchasing school sites, etc.

EDUCATION AS BUSINESS.

The class in pedagogy in the University has seven-fifths students enrolled, and it has been found necessary to divide the class into two sections. The working industrial department has an excellent equipment.

The enrollment at Brigham Young Academy at Provo now reaches five hundred and eight. This is certainly a magnificent showing.

Miss Katherine B. Parsons contributes this week an excellent article in the University Courant upon the kindergarten.

The attendance at Miss Rebecca's School of Physical Culture now reaches upwards of one hundred. The accommodations are taken more than ever before.

The University Athletic association is now in good training order, and is looking around for worthy competitors.

Territorial Commissioner of Schools Lewis is making an excellent record in the office to which he was recently appointed.

The board of education in this city find it necessary to increase the tuition at several of the large buildings. The increasing attendance of pupils is something remarkable.

Re-arrested.

J. R. Hickman was re-arrested last evening on the charge of stealing three sheep from Matilda Johnson. Hickman was arrested several days ago on complaint of Mrs. Johnson, who subsequently stated to Commissioner McNally that she wrote to the information at the instance of W. J. Rogers, and asked leave to withdraw it. Her request was granted and Hickman was discharged, but yesterday Rogers swore to a similar complaint against Hickman before Commissioner McNally. Assistant County Attorney Morrison appeared for the prosecution, and asked that the defendant be released upon his own recognizance, which was granted.
