"BUFFALO BILL" IMPROVING.

The Famous Scout and Idol of Young America Is Slowly but Steadily Regaining His Strength.

William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," soldier, statesman, sheriff, showman, sportsman, and actor, has been pronounced out of danger, and will in a few days shake off the shackles of the dread fever which has bound him and gain his "Wild West" again. Colonel Cody is a famous scout and one of the most picturesque figures in American history. The story of his life is stranger than fiction, and his first adventure was at the age of 12 years, when he killed his first Indian.

COLONEL WILLIAM F. CODY.

A Few Facts in the Interesting Life History of the Champion Buffalo Killer.

"Buffalo Bill" is a tall, perfectly proportioned man, the embodiment of all that is dashing, daring, and bold. To these qualities is added an extraordinary amount of good looks. He wears his hair to the long, flowing style usually adopted by heroes of the Western plains, has keen eyes, and sits his horse as if born in the saddle.

But Col. Cody has not always been engaged in buffalo killing and Indian fighting; he has held various political positions and has seen service as a soldier. He was once justice of the peace in Nebraska and once represented Nebraska in the legislature. He served the duties of sheriff in Kansas. "Buffalo Bill" fought with Gen. Crook and Gen. Merritt and was a warm personal friend of the latter. He was in the spring of '76 under Gen. Crook's command. Had the famous scout killed Yellow Hand, the so-called famous Sioux Indian, at Hunted Creek.

During the operation "Buffalo Bill" organized his renowned "Wild West" show, which has received the patronage and commendation of some of the greatest and most celebrated personages, among them being his Highness the Prince of Wales. In an interview Col. Cody recently said: "I will take the best show to Paris in 1900 that ever crossed the water, and then I will retire, for good. I have coached it long enough.

Superior Judge Cook of California has arranged for Judge Wallace and Stewart to sit with him when the latter has some proceedings in the Haines case come up on Monday. It is understood that if the writs issued by these two will not cut a will in the supreme court and if that should fail, will resort to the Federal courts.

Commander A. Kautz of the United States navy, lit recently in command of the naval training station at Newport, who was appointed by President Long to command the Pacific station in place of Admiral Miller, retired, has arrived at San Francisco and will soon assume the duties of his new command.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar company, San Francisco, called for the purpose of acting on a proposition to increase the stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000, it was decided not to make the proposed increase. President Spreckels presented his report of the condition of the corporation, which was approved by the stockholders.

The Tennessee regiment was imported by Major Pirtle, assisted by Col. Smith and the surgeon of the regiment. He found that over 100 men might be discharged for sufficient reasons. The failure to "develop an Uncle in service" is to be the chief reason for discharge, and by the operation of the order the regiment will be rid of many objectionable characters.

It is stated on good authority that the Northern Pacific Steamship company is arranging to put under the American flag six steamers which it is operating between China and Japan from this city. The steamers include the transport Arizona, which was sold to the government last July, the Tacoma, Olympia, Columbia and Argyle. It is believed that the Arizona will be transferred back to the Northern Pacific Co. at Hongkong when the government no longer needs her.

Gen. Merriam has issued an order assigning Capt. Wheeler, First Washington, Maj. Hall, Colonel Wood, Lieut. Ellery, Major Mylott, Sergeant Kinney, Major Hayden, First Tennessee, and Major Carr, First Washington, board to secure data on the capacity, qualifications and conduct and efficiency of Captains J. F. Greenwald, H. H. Wilson, of the Second regiment. It appears that the efficiency of these officers has been questioned and under the provisions of Oregon, with the approval of the adjutant general, a board has been appointed by the division commander.

Thomas J. Sewell, a prominent citizen and miner, who has just returned from Alaska where he has spent four months searching for the lost Humboldt years, says that the district should have a representative in Congress and should have the protection of adequate land laws. He also thinks that the penitentiary bugaboo, originally created to protect the Indians, has now become a great deterrent to the prosperity of organ with a great population of white men and thousands of miles of unexplored country, should be replaced by high license production as revenue sufficient to pay many of the expenses of the territory.

The schooner Vina has rescued from almost certain death Harry Thompson, Frank Johnson and John Chilcoscott, who were attempting to sail from St. Michaels to San Francisco in a boat only 28 feet long. They had come from Lake Bennett down the Yukon and safely crossed Behring sea to Unalaska and were on their way south when a severe gale sprang up and their frail craft would doubtless have foundered had it not been soon sighted by the Vina on September 2nd.

Superior Judge Bennett of California Thursday rendered an important decision in the matter of the application of the board of railway commissioners for a mandamus to compel the Market street railway company (Sutcliffe, Parrish & Co.) to provide 10 more cars. The defendants argued that it is a question of cost or fares, and Judge Bennett holds that the court, sitting as a board of equalization, refer to other railways in the free meaning of the word, and although the defendants's counsel served to fix the railway earnings fairly, he has not the power to fix passenger rates, and that any other interpretation would be contrary to the spirit of numerous decisions. Judge Bennett holds that the legislature authorizing fixed the power to fix the rates of fares on the railways, and he expands to the supreme court.

The Rocky Mountain News of Denver prints over the signature of Colonel Jack Hale a denial of certain published damaging charges of fraud in the Herald expedition at Honolulu and alleged selling of Red Cross supplies and money to Spain. The articles were published in July, and Col. Hale says they are so absolutely false as to require public contradiction at this late date. He declares they "Twist a statement for foundation for the reason that supplies donated by the Red Cross society of others were sold. It may have occurred that one member of the Red Cross society was sold. It may have occurred that one member of the Red Cross society, and that it was necessary, over cost to others. All donated articles were distributed with the greatest care and fairness. The Herald expedition was the first to arrive at the scene of the Spanish expedition at Honolulu, to a, moreover, smaller. Their behavior was remarkably modest—so much so as to attract the thoughtful and unbiased praise of the people of Honolulu, who said that ship the first expedition behaved with the decorum and even better.
