THE MAN WHO WILL CALL CONGRESS TO ORDER

Today the eyes of the nation are focused on David B. Henderson, whom the Republicans have selected to be the next speaker of the House of Representatives. He was born in Old Dorr, Scotland, March 14, 1840. His parents came to the United States when he was six years of age, settling finally in Iowa in 1856. He attended the public schools of that state, and subsequently took a course in the Upper Iowa University. When the civil war broke out he gave up the study of law and abandoned a number of his classmates and went to the front as a private. He was with his regiment in numerous engagements and was wounded slightly several times. He is acknowledged to have lost one of his legs. After the wounds were healed he received an appointment as colonel of the Forty-sixth Iowa Volunteer infantry, and served as colonel of the regiment until the close of the war. He was admitted to the bar in 1866, and from that time until 1891 he served as solicitor of internal revenue for the third district of Iowa. For two years he was assistant United States district attorney for the northern division of the district of Iowa. In 1893 he was elected to the House of Representatives, in which capacity he has since served continuously.
