A NEW USE FOR SALT.

A Quasi-Economical City Councilman Would Sprinkle It on the Snow.

Regarding the snow and mud that was dumped into the North Temple creek [illegible] by order of the street department officials, as announced in the News of Saturday evening, a Liberal city councilman says: "I don't know whether Street Supervisor [illegible] is responsible for the business [illegible], but I do know that Watermaster Harvey did not do the right thing when he succeeded in getting the Council to have the refuse removed. It was hauled there at the city's expense and should have been allowed to remain until it was carried away by the warm weather. I mean warmer weather than we have got now. In case it didn't come soon, we could easily have solved the problem. My plan—so far as the disposal of the snow was concerned—would have been to sprinkle it liberally with salt. As a result it would soon have disappeared. The cost would have been very light in this way in comparison with what the city will have to pay for its removal by team."

OGDEN HAPPENINGS.

The Railroad Shops Assured.—The Gold Find.—In Criminal Circles.

[Ogden Standard.]

Yesterday Judge Thomas Marshall, of Salt Lake City, general attorney for the Southern Pacific railroad, and Superintendent S. W. Knapp, of this division of the same road, acting under telegraphic instructions from the president and board of directors of the company, met with President Patton, of the chamber of commerce, and a large number of the leading men of Ogden, and entered into a written contract for the removal to Ogden of the Carlin, Nevada, and Terrace, Utah, shops. The removal will begin as soon as the weather breaks in the spring, and under the contract the company must have the shops completed and in full running order within thirteen months. The representatives of the railroad guarantee, however, that the machinery will be in operation in less than half that time. The brick to be used in the construction of the buildings have been ordered and the necessary building supplies are being contracted for. The shops will be located in the north end of the present railroad yards, the surveys having already been made. Indications also point to the speedy erection here of Rio Grande Western shops and roundhouse, and it is understood the Union Pacific has under consideration a proposition to remove its shops to Ogden.

The heavy fall of snow and severe weather has caused an absolute cessation of work on the placer gold claims in Cottonwood canyon, a few miles north Peterson, Morgan city, and unless there is a change in the temperature soon the mines will be closed until spring. L. W. Tackett yesterday exhibited several large nuggets taken from the tunnel, which is now thirty feet, and says that when they ceased operations every rock seemed to serve as a cover for the gold. The claim was discovered purely by accident. Tackett has been in the habit of making annual hunting excursions in Weber canyon and side canyons, and about a month ago equipped himself for that purpose. In going up Cottonwood canyon he passed a splendid prospect, being worked by parties from Morgan city, and which very little has been said. He decided to keep a sharp lookout and a few miles further up the stream stumbled over what gives excellent promise of being one of the greatest gold fields in the country. The claims are on a gravelly bar, which is nearly 150 feet in width and runs up against the mountain. The usual characteristics of an extensive gold field are not wanting.

Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Amy Goodyear of Polk county, Minnesota, arrived on the delayed Southern Pacific passenger train from the west, having in charge C. L. Comings who is wanted in Crookston, in the same county and state, for the alleged embezzlement of $20,000. He placed his prisoner in the city jail under the charge of Jailer Baxter, leaving his extradition papers from the governor of Minnesota on the officers of San Bernardino, California, where Comings was arrested, as protection for the officer in case of trouble. Comings was a commission merchant, doing business in Crookston, and it is charged used the amount of money stated, which was confided to his care by his patrons. He did an extensive business and his operations extended all over the northwest. When the arrested Comings fled to California taking the southern route. While in California he represented himself as a capitalist in search of investments. He was arrested on a telegraphic warrant and description.

Horatio T. Wood died at the City hospital yesterday afternoon at 5:30. He had been an inmate there for about six weeks and had been as nicely treated by the city officials as possible. He came here from Montana, and then went to Salt Lake, where he visited his brother, A. M. Wood, and then returned to Ogden. He was a mining expert and assayer, and in his profession had been eminent several times. This brought on illness while in Ogden and Mayor Turner kindly sent him to the hospital, where everything that could be done for his comfort and recovery was done. The efforts, however, were in vain and he died.

The gas well machinery for the Ohio & Utah Natural Gas company arrived yesterday and work will be commenced on the first well tomorrow morning. The well will be located in Wilson's lane, about three miles west from the city hall, and with the improved machinery obtained from Findlay, Ohio, by the company the pipe can be sunk to almost any depth. The company has leased several large tracts of land lying west of the city, and by hard work secured the right to parallel the track of the Rio Grande Western for five miles with gas mains.

William Southwood of Pleasant View was yesterday bound over to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 by the justice of the peace for that precinct on alleged assault with intent to murder. Not having the necessary sureties he was committed to the care of Sheriff Belnap. Southwood is said to have threatened to kill a companion while out hunting, thinking the latter had stolen some powder from his tent.

Last Friday night Officers Davenport and Tyree found a tramp in the Union Pacific sand house who had both feet frozen, having walked from Kaysville in the blinding storm which raged on Thanksgiving day. The unfortunate man was placed in the city hospital, and the county will bear the expense.

Fireman Harks, of the Union Pacific, who was so seriously injured near Market Lake on the Utah & Northern by the breaking of the side rod of his engine, was very low last night, and the attending physician has little hopes of his recovery.

W. H. Vanderbilt and George Gould, who are making a tour of the world, and who arrived in San Francisco Thursday morning on the steamer China, will reach Ogden this evening in a special Wagner car over the Central Pacific.

L. P. Southworth, the well known sheep man of Denver, who is ranging his herds near Corinne, yesterday received a car of young imported bucks, 120 head in all.

The Union Pacific yesterday transferred to the Central Pacific a car of dressed beef consigned from Kansas City to the United States headquarters at San Francisco.

ORDINANCE REVISION.

The Law in Relation to Sidewalk Districts Amended.—Miscellaneous Matters.

There was a special meeting of the City Council on Saturday evening held for the purpose of continuing the third reading of municipal ordinances. Beardsley occupied the chair. The following members responded to roll call: Evans, Folland, Hardy, Hess, Horn, Rich, Simondi and Wantland. President Loofbourow came in later.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

On motion of Hardy section 35 of the chapter on the licensing of business was amended so that ticket brokers shall be compelled to pay an annual license of $150 instead of $50, which had been the rule heretofore.

SIDEWALK DISTRICTS.

Section 12, chapter 45, on sidewalks, was amended to read as follows:

District No. 19. Both sides of State street, from South Temple to South Capitol avenue.

No. 20. Both sides of all public streets, avenues and alleys in plat A, Salt Lake City survey, not heretofore included in any sidewalk district, except State street from South Temple street north.

No. 21. Both sides of all public streets, avenues and alleys in plat C, Salt Lake City survey.

No. 22. Both sides of all public streets, avenues and alleys in plat B, Salt Lake City survey, not heretofore included in any sidewalk district.

No. 23. Both sides of all public streets, alleys and avenues in plat F, Salt Lake City survey, not heretofore included in any sidewalk district.

No. 24. Both sides of all public streets, avenues and alleys in plat D, Salt Lake City survey.

No. 25. Both sides of First street, from the east line of State street to the east boundary of plat I. Also both sides of Second street and Third street, from east line of Canyon road to east boundary of plat I. Also both sides of Canyon road, from State street to north boundary of plat I.

No. 27. Both sides of all public streets, alleys and avenues in plat E, except State street.

No. 28. Both sides of all public streets, avenues and alleys in plat J.

The subjoined communication from City Health Commissioner Beatty was read and laid on the table until the next regular meeting of the Council:

To the President and Members of the City Council:

I respectfully recommend the passage of the ordinance regulating the construction of privy vaults, herewith submitted. It is a measure of extreme importance, as the privy nuisance has too long been permitted to do its deadly work in this city. It is to be desired that there should be a general adoption of the dry earth closet, which is both inexpensive and hygienic, and altogether the best substitute possible where sewerage is not available. This consists of the ordinary outbuilding, substituting a movable box for the pit or vault and throwing a cupful of dry dust or earth after each use. This deodorizes and disinfects completely, and the contents may be used without offense for a fertilizer. The dry earth closet is very widely used, and in no other city that I know of is vault building left unrestricted as in this city.

FOOD INSPECTOR'S DUTIES.

The duties of the newly appointed food inspector were fixed as follows: He is to obey all orders of the health commissioner and board of health, and to carry out in detail the ordinance prohibiting the keeping or sale of unwholesome food and drink, and regulating the sale of milk and other food products.

LICENSE RATES LOWERED.

Section 33 in chapter 22 was then taken up, and the license for real estate dealers was cut down from $50 to $25.

SEVERAL CHAPTERS PASSED.

Chapter 18 on electric light and gas, chapters 19 on irrigation, 20 on jailer, 21 on Liberty Park, 22 on licenses, 23 on local assessments, 24 on city marshal, 25 on mayor, 26 on misdemeanors, 27 on nuisances, and 28 on police, were read without further amendments, after which the Council adjourned until tonight.

PROVO LETTER.

The Existing Fires.—Railway Accident.—General News Notes.

Special Correspondence of the News.

PROVO, Nov. 26.—George Herbert, a Rio Grande Western brakeman, yesterday met with an accident at Castilla. While lifting a coupling pin the glove of his right hand got caught, and the thumb and first three fingers came between the cars. The thumb was crushed and the fingers severely bruised. He was brought to Provo, where Dr. Shores amputated the thumb and dressed the fingers. One or two of them may have to be amputated.

Thanksgiving day in Provo was ushered in by a fire about two miles south of the city, and was closed by another a mile north of the city. The first fire consumed about 75 tons of hay, the property of James Thompson. The stacks were near the Rio Grande Western track, and it is presumed were set on fire by sparks from a Rio Grande Western engine.

The house of David Bonnett, tenant on Samuel Cluff's farm, was destroyed by fire at about 11 o'clock at night. Mrs. Bonnett was about a half a mile distant at a party being held in the Pleasant View ward. Mr. Bonnett and a little daughter, three years of age, had retired. They were awakened by something falling to the floor, and when Mr. Bonnett opened the door leading to the frame kitchen he found it full of fire and smoke. He carried the child and bedding out of the building and got out several articles of furniture. While attempting to remove a stove some of the timbers fell on him, knocking him senseless; but he was immediately aroused by the flames as they scorched his back. He managed to throw the timbers off and rushed to the door. It had been closed by the draught, but he wrenched it open, tearing the casing off in doing so. He was scarred and bruised somewhat, but not seriously hurt. The loss on the house is approximately at $600, and of the furniture $200; no insurance.

L. S. Hills, of Payson, general traveling agent of the DESERET NEWS and Juvenile Instructor, was in the city today scouting around among the people of our city.

County Clerk Halliday has issued licenses to marry to the following couples: Elmer Gale of Huntington and Delina Gardner of Salem; Raymond Matson of Springville and Leah T. Powel of Salem; Andrew Johnson and Agnes L. Bagley of Spanish Fork; Warren S Perre and Emma Bowen of Provo; Harmon Johnson and Alice Whitmore of Springville.

The B. Y. A. musicale, conducted by Miss Ottilie Maeser, was last night repeated under the auspices of the Polysophical Society.

The public schools of Santaquin have been closed in consequence of diphtheria.

The Y. M. M. I. A. of the First ward last night organized a civil government class, with W. H. King as instructor.

The coal combine has not yet made itself manifest, but coal comes all the same, and there is some dust too. We have not yet heard of any underweights.

COUNTY TEACHERS.

Professor Augsburg on Map Drawing.—Miss Dean Talks Interestingly on "Primary Reading."

The Salt Lake county teachers met in the Deaf Mute building on Saturday, November 26, Superintendent D. H. Allen presiding. After roll call the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Prof. D. R. Augsburg treated the subject of map drawing; said there were three things to be considered in drawing maps, the lowlands, highlands and mountains. The map should be sketched rapidly upon the board, teaching the child to look at it as a unit, not giving so much time to the smaller details, as they more properly belonged to the study of sections. Distance could be taught by comparing from a center. He considered the drawing of the geographical features of a country of more real value to the child than map drawing. Memory maps were good only when they were the outcome of experience. He thought that geography could be best taught by taking the class out of the schoolroom to observe nature in its real form. The whole world should be studied by comparison with our own landscape.

Miss Emily Dean presented the subject of primary reading. To teach reading successfully, it was necessary to get the child interested. This could be done by arousing their curiosity. Proceed from the known to the unknown. Get the object if possible and have the children talk of it, writing what they have said. Have the idea associated with the symbols forming the word. The word can be fixed in the mind by frequent writing. The lady teaches the sounds by imitation. Correct errors common to children by daily drill upon vocal exercises. The thought should precede the expression in reading. Teachers should be systematic in their instruction.

Superintendent Allen gave instructions regarding term reports, the keeping of registers, etc. After miscellaneous business the meeting adjourned for two weeks, to meet at 11:30 a.m.

TILLIE W. BLISS, Sec.

"Wonderland" Reorganized.

The Wonderland Amusement company filed articles of incorporation this morning with County Clerk Allen. The business of the organization is to "promote, conduct and maintain places of amusement, form collections of curiosities, exhibit animals and give theatrical performances, concerts and exhibitions in Salt Lake County; and for this purpose the corporation may own, lease, control, buy, sell, mortgage, or hypothecate real or personal property."

The capital stock is $10,000, divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100 each.

Article five provides that the paraphernalia, curios, lease, furniture, goodwill and belongings now controlled by the firm of La Barthe and Sackett, at Wonderland shall be turned over to the new company, in full payment of its entire capital stock.

The incorporators are Jules La Barthe 47 shares, A. G. Clark, W. B. Day, and George A. Hawkes (all of Salt Lake City) one share each; and J. L. Sackett, Denver, Col., 50 shares. These form the board of directors.

Death of Bishop Daines.

HYDE PARK, Nov. 26, 1892.

The death of our beloved Bishop Robert Daines has cast a gloom over the quiet homes of the Latter-day Saints of this place. Brother R. Daines was born at St. Cross, Suffolk, England, Aug. 3rd, 1829; died Nov. 10th, 1892, after an illness of eleven weeks, during which time he suffered severely from inflammation of the bladder. He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints the 17th day of December, 1851, by Wm. Smith; married Mary Ann Barber, October, 11th, 1856, by whom he had four children, three of whom he buried in England. He emigrated with his wife to America November 1855; landed in New York January 1, 1856; lived there about one year and there buried his last child. He then moved to New Jersey, where he buried his wife on January 1, 1858. In the spring of 1859 he came on to the frontiers and after a short stay married Jemima Simmons on May 1, 1859; started across the plains July 2, 1859, from a Church team in Captain Little's company, arrived at Salt Lake City September 8, 1859; moved to Cache valley in the spring of 1860, and settled by a small spring where Hyde Park now stands. He then labored to make his first home. In the fall of 1861 he was called by Bishop William Hyde to labor as an acting Teacher among the people and became the president of that body of men. In 1864 he was ordained a Seventy. After the death of Bishop William Hyde, he was chosen and set apart Bishop of Hyde Park ward under the hands of Brigham Young, Jr., on May 20th, 1874. He was ordained a High Priest May 20th, 1877, and again set apart a Bishop by Apostle C. C. Rich. At the April conference, 1885, he was called to go to England on a mission and returned on the 8th of May, 1886, on account of ill health. In the spring of 1887 he went with others to Canada and stayed on Lee's Creek about two years, returned on February 24th, 1889, and resumed his position as Bishop. This position he filled with much credit and was respected by the people, among whom he made many warm friends, who, together with a numerous family, mourn his departure.

He was the father of twenty-two children, six of whom preceded him to the spirit world. He died as he had lived, full of faith hope and charity, awaiting a glorious resurrection.

J. A. D.

Returned Home.

Elder John H. Thorpe of Logan called at the NEWS office this morning, having returned, yesterday, November 27th, from a mission. He has been absent since May 27th, 1890, and labored the first fifteen months of this period in New Zealand. He then went to Australia where he traveled extensively, visiting the principal cities of that continent. Elder Thorpe says he has enjoyed good health during his absence. He met with much success and encouragement among the Maoris, but in Australia, the prejudices of the population against the Saints are great. Notwithstanding many hardships, he has met with in these far away countries, he says he has enjoyed his mission very much.

OBITUARY.

JORGENSEN.—At Emery, November [illegible], 1892, of typhoid fever, Lars C. Jorgensen, leaving a wife and ten small children to mourn his departure.

Elder Jorgensen was born on the island of Fyen, Denmark, July 1866, [illegible], baptized into the Church February 11, 1871, and emigrated to Utah in 1873. Brother Jorgensen was ordained an Elder at [illegible], Sevier county, by P. C. Peterson in the year 1875. He was married June 27, 1878, at the Endowment House, with [illegible], in Knox O.
