The Domestic Troubles of an Oakland (California) Doctor.

THE DEADLY HIGHBINDERS AGAIN.

Conflict Between U. P. Workmen and the Police.—A Chinaman Brutally Murdered.—O ler Items.

Grasshoppers are said to be doing some damage to late crops and insects in the southern outskirts of Brigham City.

Thousands of dead cattle were washed down on the Red Side of the river, says the Tucson (Arizona) Star and the stench is exceedingly offensive in that quarter.

A crowd of minors, numbering over 100, gathered in front of the Bull Mountain hotel, Cripple Creek, Col., on Friday evening, set up an effigy of Grover Cleveland and tied tags to it charges of treason and other crimes. A jury was picked, composed exclusively of men who, previous to last fall, had always voted the straight Democratic ticket.

The supreme court of California has affirmed the judgment of the lower superior court in the suit of Benjamin D. Hotke against the San Francisco stock exchange board. Hotke sued for a writ of mandate to compel the board to restore him to membership after his seat had been sold to satisfy a loss thereon contracted by Hotke as a broker. Judgment was rendered in favor of the exchange and Hotke appealed.

Jessie Astor, the wife of a musician, killed herself Friday night, at Seattle, Wash., on account of jealousy. She believed her husband was keeping company with other women and for several days followed him closely, having a revolver concealed in her bosom. When he came home at night she suddenly ran the gun to her mouth and fired. Death was instantaneous. She had threatened several times to kill herself.

News of more Yaqui depredations in Mexico have been received, says the Tucson (Ariz.) Citizen. Juan Ybarra, employed by the Tucson Grocery company, is in receipt of a letter from Guaymas that two weeks ago the body of his father, Antonio Ybarra, was found cut to pieces. How he was put to death is only conjecture. The deceased was the owner of a five mile ranch five miles from Oro, Sonora. He was on his way to it, having powder and mining supplies when waylaid.

On Friday night Wah Sing, a Chinaman in the laundry business at White Oaks, N. M., was brutally murdered by some unknown party. The Chinaman's head was cut and slashed in a horrible manner, presumably with a hatchet, the weapon having been carried away. Robbery evidently was the motive for the crime, though it is believed the murderer was frightened away before securing any booty. Deceased is said to have been a quiet, inoffensive man.

While the wife of Wm. Tailor of Spring Lake accompanied by a neighbor lady and two children, were driving to Payson, says the Payson Chief, the horse became frightened and ran away. Its hitched through a barbed wire fence and upset the buggy, throwing the occupants to the ground. Mrs. Taylor sustained a fracture of both bones of the leg between the ankle and the knee. The others were more fortunate and escaped with a few slight bruises. The buggy was completely demolished.

Apostle Brigham Young and Counselor W. F. Rigby paid Jackson's Hole a visit lately, and organized a new branch of the church at that place, to be known as South Fork, Sylvester Wilson was set apart to preside. The above officials also organized a Sunday school, with Brother Wilson in charge. At the organization there were twenty-one adults and twenty-three children present. Many new families are coming at this place, which are long will be a prosperous settlement. It is about thirty miles from the Fox creek branch.—Teasdale (Idaho) Press.

The body of Gaw Kitting, the boss of the spinning department of the Linen Oakland, Cal., Jute Mills, is the victim of the deadly work of a highbinder. It appears that the deceased went to San Francisco to visit some friends in Chinatown. He returned on the 11:15 o'clock boat and arrived at the mills a little after 12 o'clock. He did not however enter his little cabin than a knock was heard at the door. Ging went to answer the call, and as he was about to open the door the assassin fired five shots through the panel and his victim fell to the floor dead, two bullets having pierced his body. The motive for the murder is not known at the present time.

The sheriff of Fresno, Cal., received a letter from M. J. Stoing, stepfather of John Stoing, dated Mankato, Minn., asking for a copy of the coroner's jury verdict in the case of John Stoing and saying that he intends to prosecute those who unlawfully shot and killed his son, if there is any law in California against murder. Sheriff Seals replied that the full verdict was too long to copy in the limited space at his disposal, but the substance of it was that John Stoing came to his death from a gunshot wound inflicted by a piece of United States marshals in discharge of their duty, and that there is a law in California against murder.

A Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, dispatch of Aug. 10 says: The excitement attending the Moyie placer fields continues. Edwin Grant, who has been on the ground one day, returned this morning and reports that he was unable to find pay dirt, while William Vangasken, Strong and others, who have come in for supplies, report differently and will at once return to the diggings. It is now thought that the best locations will be made higher up the stream. The Moyie tributaries are being prospected with a view to quartz leads and some of the prospectors are obtaining indications sufficient to induce them to locate claims. A stampede to the locations is now inevitable and whether they prove as valuable as at first reported or not every old placer miner within reach will surely find out for himself.

Cora Cooper, a dance hall girl, attempted at Leadville, Colorado, on Saturday morning. Late Friday night she attempted suicide by taking carbolic acid, but prompt medical aid saved her. Waking up next morning and finding herself still in the land of the living, she dispatched her lover to a drug store to procure more of the drug. Waking his absence she got out of bed, went into an adjoining saloon, and with a razor slashed herself in three places on the left wrist. Help was summoned, but before it arrived she had bled to death. Her relatives are reported to be well-to-do people in Cheyenne. She had been a resident of Leadville since 1882.

A collision between a gang of Union Pacific workmen at Pueblo, Col., who were trying to remove wrecking the bridge stored temporarily over Fountain Friday night, and a squad of police under command of Chief Adye, was narrowly averted Saturday morning, when they went to impede the railroad men in their work. A gang of twenty men went to work removing timbers from the stream to where the city did not object, but the minute they began to move in the direction of making repairs and putting in new timbers, they were stopped by the officers on duty in city, as they would not be allowed to make any repairs. They refused to stop and the patrol wagon was at once called with a squad of police. The men complied then but say that at first refused. After a long argument the foreman finally took the men away and will be ready to wait for further orders. A force of men in the employ of the city were then put to work and at once on the morning plan. No bridge repairs have yet been made, and it is understood the city authorities are anxious the company should take the initiative. They disclaim any responsibility for the fire, but would probably not object seriously to paying for the bridge if they can prevent another being placed there.

Dr. P. W. Paulson, a prominent doctor of Oakland, Cal., is in a tangle again to meet grave charges that have been made against him by his young wife. The doctor has been brought into authority several times during the past few years. He was divorced from Mrs. Ella Shed Fosdick of Shell Seminary, and this caused a great deal of talk. Then he married his present wife, who is a young and pretty woman. They did not get along very happily together, and she has contemplated a suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty recently. The other day a new trouble arose. Mrs. Paulson's father had explained his condition of Fountain and he was practically turned out of his own house. As an excuse for leaving to Los Angeles and from there to Mexico said he had to go to Mexico for the purpose of a new work that her husband was worth plenty, and she succeeded in getting a big allowance for alimony and counsel fees. Hearing that he was getting the worst of it at about Dr. Paulson left for Mexico. The last news of him was at Cowhill Knolls. Arriving at this place he claims that an attempt was made on the part of a San Francisco lawyer to blackmail him out of $500. Paulson became alarmed over the situation and wrote to friends in Oakland, advising the blackmailer that unless he desists he will at once take the matter into the courts. Mrs. Paulson has now made public the suit for separation, her home life and its sudden ending in case serious difficulties in her school business in regard to the sudden death and burial of her infant child.
