A Dance Hall Employe Attempts Suicide.—Suspicious Death of a Colorado Doctor, etc.

Lovelel, Nevada, claims to have nitre deposits in its vicinity—the only ones yet discovered in the United States.

A salmon was recently taken from the Colorado river that measured four feet four inches in length and weighed over forty pounds.

Many thousands of cattle are being moved from Arizona into California and the northern states and territories on account of the scarcity of feed.

Deputy Sheriff De Lue is said to be on the trail of M. E. Lounon, who a few days ago is alleged to have left Great Falls, Mont., an embezzler to the extent of several thousand dollars.

Allie Lee, employed in Johnson's dance hall, at Leadville, Colorado, on the morning of the 20th inst. drank chloroform with the intention of committing suicide but is reported still alive.

The Society of Colorado Pioneers has determined to enforce the resolution of its board of directors relating to the payment of dues, and all members in arrears for two years or more will be dropped from the rolls Dec. 1.

The recent sale of the Hermosa group of mines to Senator McIlaverny of Colorado for $200,000 has caused Hanshaw, A. T., to assume a bustling appearance, and will probably make it a very lively camp.

S. Sebastian, nephew of John Sebastian, general passenger and ticket agent of the Rock Island, died in St. Francis hospital, Colorado Springs, Col., on Tuesday, from injuries received from falling off a moving freight train near Flagler, Colo.

Dr. Draper, an old resident of Trinidad, Colorado, has died rather suddenly under circumstances which have excited a great deal of suspicion on the part of his friends. The doctor was known to have had a considerable sum of money and to be the possessor of valuable property, but since his death neither money nor papers can be found. The matter is being investigated.

The international boundary surveyors now engaged in surveying the line between the United States and Mexico are camping at San Bernardino ranch near Tombstone. The Mexican representatives have a detail of fifty troops to protect them against possible depredations by the Kid and his band, while Lieutenant Bean and his command are looking out for the Americans.

There are now more than 1,500 men at work on the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix Railroad, and contractors are bringing more as they can find them. The work will be crowded vigorously all winter. Some heavy rock work north of Phoenix furnished a serious obstacle, but that is nearly completed, and the foremost gang is within fifteen miles of Prescott and running this way rapidly.—Republican.

A few days ago, says the Mount Pleasant Pyramid, while Thomas Brandon, a young man of this city, was endeavoring to pull a self-acting revolver from his overcoat pocket the weapon was discharged, the ball striking the fleshy inside portion of the left leg and ranging downward lodging in the back of the leg near the knee, producing a painful but not serious flesh wound. The ball has not been extracted.

Lewiston (Idaho) Teller: Dick Beale has been awarded the contract for doing some artistic carving in magnesia stone to be used in the Idaho World's Fair building. In a block of the stone ten by six feet he expects to carve the coat of arms of the state of Idaho; and from other blocks he will carve the name of the state. It is a fine job and Mr. Beale will do himself credit and reflect great honor on this locality by the work.

Geo. Abernathy and his 5-year-old son were coming to town from Saluda, and coming down the hill near Tom Pence's residence the front wheels struck a chuck hole with a sudden jolt which threw the boy off the wagon to the ground. The front wheel passed over him, breaking his leg very badly above the knee, and he would have been killed had not Mr. Abernathy succeeded in stopping the wagon almost immediately. When he sprang off the boy was almost completely buried in the dust and the hind wheel was resting partially on the little fellow's neck, and had the wagon moved six inches further, life would have been crushed out. As it is, it is a very bad accident.—Idaho Democrat.

Reviewing the cattle shipping season in Montana, now closing, a Montana paper says: "The season opened auspiciously with plenty of grass and water and it looked as though the Montana ranges would send forth better cattle to market than ever before, when along came a destructive dry spell which set everything back. In the mountainous regions where there was plenty of water and grass the latter remained too green and caused the cattle to be soft. A great many cattle, young steers principally, were shipped this season which it would have paid their owners to hold back, but money was wanted. Many shippers made very light shipments this season and they will undoubtedly be richly rewarded for their wise restriction of their output when their fat and fully finished cattle are put upon the markets in the season of 1893."

One of the boldest attempts at robbery ever made in Coeur d'Alene occurred at Wardner, Idaho, in Webber Brothers' gambling house. Business had subsided, and John Webber and Ed Bohn were sitting near the stove when a man of short stature entered at the back door. He had a scowl over his face and a pistol in his hand, and shoving the latter into Webber's face ordered him to get out, which order was promptly obeyed. He then took the money drawer, containing $100 or more, and started for the back door. In the meantime Bohn had taken a stand near the door, and as the robber approached he stopped him and a desperate struggle followed, resulting in the thief being stretched upon the ground by a powerful blow from his fist, where Bohn held him until the arrival of the officers, when he was safely lodged in jail.

A proposition will come up before the next meeting of the town board of Colfax, says the Denver Street Railroad Budget, to levy a tax of $25 on each car belonging to the City Cable company that runs through the town. The Cable company has never added anything to the Colfax revenue, and is running through the town without a license. The people feel that this should be changed. Every one-horse peddler wagon in town and every dingy junk store has to pay a license for the right to do business, and the people do not see why a corporation like the City Cable company should be exempted. A strong sentiment is among the people to make the company pay $25 for each car and there is no doubt that it will crystalize in such action being taken at the next meeting of the town trustees.

A dastardly attempt was made on Tuesday night to destroy the property of John Lanzel, who conducts a bakery at Nineteenth and Mission streets, San Francisco, says the Chronicle. Lanzel's barn was fired, four horses were burned to death and four bakers who slept in rooms over the stable narrowly escaping death from suffocation. The fire was discovered in time to prevent the loss of human life, however, and the flames were subdued after the four horses had been killed and a damage of $1000 had been done to the building. There was every evidence that the fire was incendiary, and suspicion pointed toward Henry Gasler, or Mailer, a baker who had been discharged by Lanzel but a few days before on account of drunkenness. Spite and revenge were believed to be the motives for the crime. He has been arrested, but stoutly protests his innocence.

Judge Shaw, says the Los Angeles Express, is just now indulging in the luxuries of testimony in one of the numerous suits which the late eminent Dr. Bragg, the Cherokee Indian physician, left behind him in his wild track to San Quentin penitentiary. It seems that Dr. Bragg had some time ago attended professionally upon Mrs. Maria De Los Angeles Serrano, who was suffering from a painful siege of la grippe. The doctor, she avers, agreed to treat her for nothing, only charging her for the medicine furnished. He gave her some stuff, for which she paid him $10. He told her it was made out of geese gizzards and that it took the gizzards of a good many geese to make a dose, therefore it came high. She did not improve very much under this regime, but she got well, however, and was about to leave the city for San Bernardino when the doctor pounced upon her for a $200 bill for treating her. The doctor was ferocious and she became overawed and signed a note according to the testimony, for $200, which she said today was made payable in ninety days, but which shows upon its face to be made payable a year after date. Then she went away, and the doctor in due time turned over this note to C. C. Stephens, his attorney, for legal services, and it is he who now begins this suit against Mrs. Serrano to collect it. The case is not yet closed.
