LOCAL BRIEFS

The members of the Scandinavian Republican league held a meeting in the city and county building last night to discuss the advisability of renting a hall in the up-town district.

A number of dark female nomads, representing themselves to be Brazilians, are in the city trying to tell people's fortunes. Some of the ladies are a little curious to hear what the gypsies have to say, but the latter don't seem to be doing much business here.

The creditors of H. C. Taylor, a saloonkeeper of Richfield, Sevier county, yesterday filed in the United States court a petition asking that Taylor be declared a bankrupt. The petitioners are all liquor dealers, to whom it is claimed that Taylor owes money for supplies. The amount involved is about $500.

Charles Hildebrand, an employee of the Dalton & Lark, is at the Keogh-McKenna hospital suffering from a broken leg. He was fortunate in getting through with his leg. He was working at the bottom of a sixty-foot shaft when the skip or car at the top of the shaft fell through and would have killed him had not some of the men working with him succeeded in drawing him out of the way.

According to Captain D. McCook of the Ninth cavalry, who is a visitor at the Kenyon, Fort Douglas is to be the headquarters of the Ninth cavalry and that 250 men, mostly members of Troops E, K, H and L, now on the ocean, will be sent here for the present as dismounted cavalry. Captain McCook says the men are on the transport Sheridan, due to arrive at San Francisco August 10th. Captain Schley, the commanding officer at the post, says that he has heard nothing of such a change.

According to an opinion handed down yesterday by Attorney-General Breed, a recent election of school trustees held in Milford, Millard county, was illegal, owing to irregularities in the selection of election judges. The trouble rested in the fact that none of the trustees were present to act as judges of election, but each trustee appointed a representative to act in his stead. One had resigned, but still appointed a representative. Two ladies were declared elected, and had filed their bonds with the county clerk. They will not, however, be allowed to remain in office, unless re-elected in a legal manner.

OBJECT TO AUERBACH SALE

M. B. Levy, Representing German Heirs, Protests Against Proceedings.

Attorneys Say That Sale Was Perfectly Legal and Process Cannot Be Entertained Now.

M. B. Levy, a nephew of the late Frederick H. Auerbach is in the city, having come from his home in Germany for the purpose of protesting against the sale of the Auerbach property on Main street. Mr. Levy comes with power of attorney from his mother, a sister of the Auerbachs and a legate under the will. He has called upon the executor and their Attorney Judge Thomas Marshall and protested against the sale of the property and store because he was not in the city.

Mr. Levy bases his objections on an order made by Judge Hall on April 30th at the written request of the legatees in the suit for partition be stayed for four months in order to give a representative here before the sale took place. Mr. Levy says that he was notified by the clerk of the court that the order had been made, and it was his plan to reach Salt Lake before the property was sold. While Mr. Levy does not say that the property was not disposed of to the best possible advantage, he feels that the rights of the German legatees have been ignored and the order of the court violated.

Judge Marshall says that he was not aware that Judge Hall had made an order staying proceedings. He had never been notified of such an order, but he says that he did not think there was any merit in Mr. Levy's objection. "The property was sold, after being advertised for the required time. The sale was open and the price paid was $56,550, all that the property was worth. The sale was approved by the court, and the deed signed by the judge, the money was paid and the transaction closed. I have assured Mr. Levy that he might have access to anything pertaining to the transaction."

Judge Hiles, the attorney for Samuel H. Auerbach, says that the sale was perfectly legal and protests could not be entertained now.

While riding on his bicycle in Liberty Park last evening, Miss Emily Lenroot of 161 Oak street, was knocked from her wheel and severely injured. She was approaching the north entrance, when Alfred Siegel, a 14-year-old boy, dashed suddenly across the curb on his horse. Neither party saw the other on account of trees between them until it was too late to avoid a collision. The wheel struck the horse in the flank, and the frightened animal made a lunge knocking the young lady from her wheel and rendering her unconscious.

Young Siegel dismounted and went to the young lady's assistance. Dr. Ellerbeck happened to be passing at the moment and he restored the young lady to consciousness. She was then conveyed to her home where it was learned that her injuries were not serious.

COMPLICATED SALE.

Queer State of Affairs in Relation to Property Sale.

Whether the sale of a piece of property near Murray by Milo Andrus as administrator of the estate of Duncan Speirs Casper to Anton Oskeson will prove to be legal or not is a question which the courts may be called on to decide. The property is an acre and a half tract to the east of Murray. It was sold to Oskeson last December for $300. Milo Andrus signing the deed as administrator, and the transfer was duly recorded with the county recorder.

In the will of the late Duncan Speirs Casper the widow, Elizabeth Casper, was named as executor. Duncan and Peter Casper filed a protest against the appointment of Mrs. Casper, whom they claimed to be incompetent, and asked the court to appoint Milo of Holiday as administrator. The protest was never heard and no administrator or executor has ever been appointed.

Yesterday Oskeson was informed by the county clerk that no administrator having been appointed for the estate no one had the right to dispose of any part of it. Oskeson went to Attorney W. F. Wanless, who informed him that no administrator had been appointed, but the county clerk had had the record of the appointment. When Oskeson returned to the clerk's office he was shown conclusively that no appointment had ever been made. The case is decidedly a mixed up affair.

A FACETIOUS HEADING.

New York Tribune's Query in Connection With Discovery of Salt Sea.

Under the caption "Any Mormons Near It?" the New York Tribune prints the following story:

Sven Hedra, the explorer, has discovered a second Dead Sea in the highlands of Tibet—a vast lake so impregnated with salt that indigenous life is out of the question. It was impossible for him to get his boat close to the shore, so that he and his companions had to wade out two boats' lengths before she would float; and this was sufficient to coat their legs and clothes thickly with salt. The entire bed of the lake appeared to consist of salt, and the density of the lifeless water was, of course, very high.

OGASHARA CONVICTED.

Salt Lake Jail Will Be Punished for Importing Women.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2.—Trakachi Ogashara, a Japanese, was today found guilty in the United States District court of importing two of his countrywomen into this country for immoral purposes. Ogashara had lured the women from their homes in Japan, brought them to Victoria and thence to Seattle, and from here had taken them to Salt Lake City, where he had sold them to a local man. Collector of Customs Heustis had learned of the affair and had notified Immigration Inspector Fisher, who followed Ogashara to Salt Lake. There the man was arrested and bound over for trial at this place.

The Deep Creek Farm and Livestock company has commenced suit against J. M. Jensen to recover $19,700 damages. The plaintiff company claims that it lost 1,300 head of sheep and 200 rams from Jensen, which were represented to be sound, but which were affected with scab and other diseases. These diseases spread among the sheep owned by plaintiff, causing the death of many.

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

Desecration of the Sabbath Day is Strongly Condemned.

There was a fair attendance at the regular general Priesthood meeting of the Stake, which convened in the Assembly Hall last night, August 2nd, at 7 o'clock. President Jos. E. Taylor presided. After singing the hymn, "Redeemed of Israel," prayer was offered by Bishop Louis M. Cannon and the meeting continued by singing, "Come all ye sons of Zion," etc.

President Jos. E. Taylor made the opening remarks and dwelt to some extent upon the subject of keeping the Sabbath day holy. He intimated the position taken by the Deseret News against keeping saloons open on Sundays. Also said there was a spirit among the people to seek amusements and pleasure upon that day. The Sabbath day is God's holy day, and should not be desecrated. Every influence should be brought to bear upon keeping the youth from being tempted into these wicked resorts, saloons and other places where they are led astray. Our minds and thoughts should be for God and His kingdom and for the rights and duties of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Elder John Nicholson was the next speaker, and fully intimated what he had said by President Jos. E. Taylor. He said that he had placed his hope in this part of his vineyard now here to represent ourselves but to represent him, and he will hold us accountable for our course in relation to maintaining and holding up the kingdom of God in this place. There is an influence operating, more or less powerful and which seems to be increasing today in the direction of leading our way from the paths of virtue. There is nothing that is more powerful in man or woman than the sense within himself or herself of perfect purity. Those who are led away into paths that are hostile to this become devoid of their strength, of their manhood and their womanhood. One can easily see the difference between men who have fallen in this regard and those who have maintained themselves in purity. The difference is so marked that those who depart from virtue can readily be discovered. On the one side there is power with God, there is valor for Him and for the cause of the kingdom of God, but whenever the downfall occurs, the individual dwindles before the eyes of all those who surround him and he is no more like a man. It is because the spirit of God departs and he is left to remain in unclean tabernacles. Things have occurred in this community of late, of which every responsible, honorable and pure-minded individual has been ashamed.

In closing he further said: "Let us go forward with a determination to do our part towards increasing the amount of good in the midst of the people, and exercising the power we have in decreasing the evil."

After singing, "Lord dismiss us with Thy blessing," etc., benediction was offered by Bishop Orson F. Whitney, and meeting adjourned for one month.

Magnificent Donation to Utah's Free Traveling Library Committee.

Through the generosity of Mr. George Foster Peabody of New York the life and growth of the Free Traveling libraries in Utah are assured for the next three years. Mr. Peabody has expressed his interest in the work. In fact, it was through his gift of one hundred dollars in 1898 that the work was made possible. A year later, in 1899, when a beautiful gift of one hundred dollars came to strengthen the good accomplished by its predecessor. Since then the clubs all over the State have worked patiently and in small ways to bring the benefits of the libraries and the books are almost marvelous—few, within a few weeks there will be twenty-two libraries, averaging seventy volumes in circulation from Salt Lake City, from Coalville to Moab. Mr. Peabody learned that the clubs had made these heroic efforts; he also learned that the bank account of the committee was in a most depressing condition, and further that the State legislature had refused to grant New York, Iowa, Kansas, Idaho and other States had granted, viz: an appropriation for the support of the free traveling library work and he has now become a savior by sending the committee a check for one hundred dollars, so arranged as to support the work for the next three years. No words can tell the good this will accomplish; neither has the committee, through its chairman, been adequately expressive of its appreciation of this most generous gift. We know that the good tidings will carry rejoicing all over the State.

S. O. S. NELDEN,
Chairman Free Traveling Library Committee.

FRED W. PRICE APPOINTED.

ROBERT L. HOUTZ DEAD.

Promising Young Man of Rockland, Idaho, Passes Away.

Robert L. Houtz, son of the late Henry P. and Sarah Houtz, who formerly lived in the Eighth ward in this city, died in his home in Rockland, Idaho, on July 27th. The young man performed an honorable mission abroad and returned home last January, not sick, but with malaria in his blood. He soon became ill, however, and complicated troubles with his head and ears ensued, causing his death. Robert was 24 years of age and was a most exemplary young man, and the grief over his untimely death is widespread. He was never married.

Last June his father came to Salt Lake, suffering from pneumonia and after a brief illness, died here.

LAST ARE LEAVING.

Police Are Driving Dissolute French Women From the City.

As a result of the raid made by the police some time ago on nine French vagrants who were living in houses of ill fame on Commercial street and making the inmates support them, the order is now out for all that class of men and women to leave town. All but two of the women implicated in the raid have been driven out, and the others will leave today.

About three weeks ago, Judge Timmons stated to a "News" reporter that the next time the French women were booked, their fines would not be forfeited, but they would be brought in and sent to jail. He said, if possible, he would rid the city of them. On the first of this month, one of the women was notified to come in and pay her fine, but she did not do so. Judge Timmons did not declare it forfeited, as he did in the other cases. Her name is Olga Martin, and the police say she was supporting Adrian Pirino, one of the men convicted of vagrancy. Had she been brought in and convicted of the charge against her, instead of a fine she would have been sent to jail. Inasmuch as the others had left town she also agreed to go if given a chance. It was given her. She called at the station and her $10 bail money was returned with the understanding that she would leave for other parts today. This morning she called at Chief Hilton's office and informed him that she was about to leave. One of the women who was left at the station, returned last night, but Chief Hilton says he will see that she does not remain here.
