STATEHOOD!

That's Utah's Business in Congress To-day.

HER LITTLE BILL UNDER FIRE.

Filgore of Texas (Dem.) Opens the Ball in Favor.

TORSEY, MASS., (REP.) OPPOSES,

and Gets the Laugh for his Insane Bitterness.

THEN CAME DELEGATE RAWLINS.

He Needless to Say He Was in Favor, and that He Spoke Well—Senate and Busy Senate Friends.

THE DESERET NEWS BUREAU,
49 B Street, S. E.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Utah's statehood bill was taken up in committee of the whole at half past one. The reading of the bill occupied twenty minutes.

Filgore of Texas, of the committee on territories, took the floor on behalf of the bill, setting forth its material, financial and industrial resources of Utah, also the action and deliverances of the national parties in behalf of statehood for Utah. He also discusses the question of polygamy and the disposition of the Mormon Church and people to abandon polygamy shown in the anti-polygamy clause in the constitution of 1887 and in the manifesto of President Woodruff. He argued against the organic provisions giving Federal supervision over the state sovereignty or legislation in relation to polygamy or any other question.

He occupied an hour, when Morse of Massachusetts commenced a tirade against Mormonism.

His remarks were so bitter and virulent that half a dozen or more Republicans around him gayest him until he took his seat after half an hour's talk.

Rawlins took the floor at 3:10.

A CURIOUS OPPOSITION.

Not Senator Dubois Speaks Up Brave-ly to Utah's Admission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Dubois, of Idaho, and Carey, of Wyoming, were in the House a large portion of the time yesterday afternoon laboring with the members on the Republican side to get them to withdraw their opposition to the admission bills to the territories.

Dingley, of Maine, made a fight against Utah, and it was with him that the western senators consulted. The opposition which Dingley urges was peculiar—the theology of the supposed dominant party in Utah.

Dubois said that he had no the fight to oppose him to the Mormon Church in former years and was perfectly satisfied to have Utah admitted, as the people of that territory had adopted provisions of constitution in regard to religious entirely satisfactory to all the people. Dubois and Carey expect all the territorial bills will pass at this session.

A POPULIST'S ANSWER.

His Idea of the Responsibility of Public Men.

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 12.—H. G. Hall, the Populist representative for county attorney, has filed an answer to a quo warranto, that the repeal of the Sherman act is responsible for the hardship to pay. He asks that President Cleveland and other public men be made parties to the suit.

THE ARDLAMONY MYSTERY.

The Trial of a Noted Murder Case Commenced.

BINGHAMTON, Dec. 12.—The trial of A. J. Monson, the tutor of W. D. C. Hankenough, on the charge of murdering his pupil, to secure the insurance on his life to a large amount, one company alone having policies on the young man's life to the amount of $100,000, began here today. It is alleged that Monson had his pupil entirely under his influence and could induce him to do anything he saw fit. The case is a noted one. The body of the lieutenant was found in a wood near Ardlamont House, last August with a bullet in the head. It has been known as the Ardlamont mystery. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict filed with newspaper correspondents and sent to the newspapers. The prisoner plead not guilty and the court proceeded to empanel a jury.

Bank-Thrower's Victory.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—While Vaillant was in America he made an attempt at a noted Gallist, otherwise known here. Vaillant last week visited Abbe Lemire who was among the persons injured by the explosion of the Vaillant bomb. Abbe Lemire met Vaillant's name and address, and gave him a few francs. Vaillant stated emotionally that he drew lots with other anarchists to decide who should undertake the murderous work. Ten anarchists were with him in the gallery. They are in custody. All have spent a portion of their lives in England, showing that the Anarchists are affiliated together and will eventually be found to be subsidized by persons who have been previously regarded as apostles of the multitude socialists.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Among the petitions presented to the Senate was one by Squire from the chamber of commerce of Seattle, Washington, praying for the establishment of a national park in that state. Squire introduced a bill to this effect. Referred to the committee on public lands.

The resolution offered yesterday by Hoar asking information as to Hawaii and the resolution offered by Caffery yesterday were entitled to precedence. In the morning hour, for unanimous consent was given that they should remain on the table and be called up later today or tomorrow.

Cullom then addressed the Senate on the national election laws. He reviewed the legal questions involved in the federal supervision of elections, taking a broad view of the constitutional power of the government to regulate the election of federal officers.

At the conclusion of Cullom's address, Stewart, of Nevada, took up the discussion of the repeal of the Federal election laws.

During Cullom's address, in which he defended the recent movement was a renewal of the attempt made at Fort Sumpter in 1861 to make the state paramount, and referred to revolution at Judge Maynard of New York and Boss McKane of Brooklyn, he was interrupted by Hill and a heated controversy between them followed.

MEETING FOR SATURDAY NEXT.

Midwinter Fair Committee Making Arrangements for Space for the Exhibit.

The wool men of Utah are hereby notified to concentrate their efforts with the wool growers of other parts of the Union in opposition to the clause in the new Wilson bill placing wool on the free list. It is interesting to observe Hon. John C. Barnes, Democratic member of the last legislature, and Hon. Alma Hagen, Republican congressman of the last assembly, pulling together to stand or keep the tariff at its present figure. To Mr. Barnes has been assigned the duty of writing a letter to Representative Wilson, of the ways and means committee of the national House, setting forth objections to the proposed revision from a Democratic standpoint. Attorney Barnes has been instructed to represent the Utah men in working against that clause of the bill.

A meeting of the Wool Growers' association has been called for Saturday next. It is expected that resolutions will be adopted in line with those passed by the National Wool Growers' association, and that representatives will be made to elicit the political strength sheep owners wielding in a the section of the country.

The call for the meeting is issued in response to the following circular, which is self-explanatory:

To the Wool Growers of the United States: At a joint meeting of the wool growers of the United States, at Chicago on Sept. 27 and 28, and at a meeting of the National Wool Growers' association, it was resolved that a committee should be appointed by the undersigned charged with the duty of presenting to the Congress of the United States an earnest protest against legislation placing wool on the free list, of which will reduce the duties on wool as provided in the tariff act of October 1, 1890. It is now apparent that the House of Representatives at Washington will pass a bill placing wool on the free list. The committee of ways and means will soon be ready to report a bill to the House. The committee of ways and means will soon be ready to report a bill to the House. The committee of ways and means will soon be ready to report a bill to the House
