Conference Report—Two Double Funerals.

VERNAL, May 19, 1896.—Our quarterly conference convened on May 10 and 11. We had the pleasure of listening to Elder Grant, of the council of the Apostles, who arrived Sunday morning. Our meeting house would not begin to seat the people, and an overflow meeting was held in the State Academy building, as was also the case at our February conference. Elder Grant occupied the greater portion of the time. The Word of Wisdom was heavily dwelt upon in his most energetic style. The political duties of the Saints were touched upon, and the people advised to be Saints in politics as well as in religion. The newest address of the journal authorities was read by Elder H. S. Cuthbert, which Elder Grant called upon the people that were willing to assume that obligation to raise their hands. The house was crowded, the aisles, doorways and porches, to the very extent available, and a standing room scene is seldom, if ever, witnessed. A forest of hands was raised in response to the invitation. At the call for the opposition none appeared, hand was seen in all that large and congregation. Those who did not vote in this way were asked to raise their hands, and two were seen.

Music was rendered by the choirs of Vernal, Midway, Merritt Wards, a female quartet, and a packing lecture of the academy. A good spirit prevailed throughout the entire meeting. Go south for rain, now for a little greener grass.

At the close of the conference, Monday, May 11, the Stake was organized for a double funeral of the two young men killed in Dry Fork, as mentioned in the News of a recent date. The house was full and overflowed with people. Elders Grant and H. S. Cuthbert officiated. The sermons were very good, a double funeral sermon two weeks before this—two mothers, one the wife of H. W. W. Tucker, and one of Henry Alexander. Only a few words previous to the second young martyrs' sermon was buried, all of its immortality was not sought.

GENERAL NOTES.

There has been much sickness in the land this spring so far. Teancum Kemphor, whom parents frequently visited on south Cottonwood I believe, a strong, rugged man who had never been sick a day in his life, was about two months ago taken suddenly ill, and was dead before many of the neighbors knew that he was sick.

The weather seems altogether out of order, we have had no spring weather yet. I saw my nearest neighbor a few days ago water his garden to bring it up. A little good, but friend in a few days was in the mountains for his health, a quarter of an inch and almost every member nearly of your correspondent's family.
