CHASED BY MAD DOGS.

HAIRBREADTH ESCAPE OF A CLUB MAN AND HIS BEST GIRL.

A Town Which Does to Fives That Barking Dogs Do Bite Sometimes—Still Some Savage Mastiffs Don't White Much Time to Barking When One Is Bitten.

No one had spoken at the club for about an hour when a newcomer rose to the occasion. Laying aside his pipe with a look of regret he began:

"It's a popular saying that barking dogs don't bite. Like other popular sayings this is a fallacy and misleading. Barking dogs do not bite while they are barking, but there is only one species of canine that speaks up to you and takes hold without saying a word. That is the French collie, which inherits its habit of silent biting from a sheep stopping ancestor."

"Story! story!" called out the president.

"Story? God bless you! I have none to tell, sir," quoted the raconteur, remembering his classics; "this is only a memory of two dogs, accursed brutes, that lived with an indirectly man on a hill, over which the postroad was laid. This man was poor. He was a Cain among his fellows, kept two savage mastiffs, who not only barked but bit whenever it was possible. I was courting my first wife up there in the Cumberland mountains in South-North America, where this happened, and had to pass the house regularly. I drove a blooded mare that went like a bird, and the dogs were no match for her; but it was very annoying to have dogs run down your buggy for a mile or more barking and yelping like demons. They would bark at the stage coaches and run long distances after them, but the passengers were safe inside and the driver and those on the outside were too high for them to reach. But I heard frequent stories of their attacking men, and being beaten off with sticks and stones. I asked why they were not killed and my answer was always the same, a shrug of the shoulders and the remark: 'You don't know the kind of man their owner is.' It seemed that he lived alone with his dogs, and people feared him so much they dare not go to him to complain or call in the provincial laws to help them.

A TERRIBLE CHASE.

"A crisis came, when one day I took my sweetheart out for a sleigh ride in a new pung belonging to her father, to which was harnessed my own sire and refit faced mare. It was a lovely day and we expected to make a very rapid descent of the mountain, a distance of ten or twelve miles. The air was crisp and cold, the sleighing fine, and we skimmed up the ascent and reached the coasting hill ere we knew we had started. There we were met by the dogs. I think it would have been less difficult to have gotten rid of a pair of wolves. I dare not give my mare her head, fearing that lines would be cut by its frame, curse, and the dogs, emboldened by the cold or maddened by repeated lashings from my whip, jumped at my companion and tore her cloak and furs to ribbons. I clubbed them with my whip and lost them on the head, but they did not even seem to feel my blows. Their great black and yellow frames covered with bristly hair. The hair on their backs stood up like manes, their eyeballs gleamed red and angry, and the noise they made was deafening and distracting.

"'What!' I exclaimed, 'why haven't I a pistol?'

"'Look in the box under the seat,' cried my companion, whose face was blanched.

"I looked quickly, and found a rusty double barreled horse pistol of a make of forty years ago.

"'Is it loaded?' I asked.

"'Yes, but don't shoot. If you do that rush will kill you!'

TWO DOGS PEEP THEM.

"I remember thinking how like a woman it was to tell me where to find the pistol and then ask me not to shoot.

"I laid the reins down on the mare's back and away she went like the wind, beyond my control now, and I knew she would never stop till she was a mile beyond the level ground at the foot of the hill.

"If the pung held together, if nothing made the mare swerve from the direct line, if, in fact—if Providence kept an eye on us, and the towering Alps didn't break, we might escape breaking our necks. I looked back and saw the dogs gaining on us, even at that mad gait. Then I took aim and fired. Bang! Bang! There were two dark objects lying prone on the snowy road, and as quick as she could gather her feet under her my mare snapped in her tracks. She was trained to the use of a gun.

"But my companion urged me to hurry on, and we were soon down the incline and beyond the reach of recognition or pursuit, and strange to say no one but our two selves ever knew who killed those dogs. We heard the most marvelous accounts of the slaughter, the weapon varying from a Queen Anne musket to a cannon, but dead they were as door nails, and their reign of terror over. I imagine their owner did not care to venture out to avenge their death. I drove boldly past the house every day, but was never molested. I was suspected. But I often heard those unknown slayer praised and applauded for the deed which rid the neighborhood of their baleful presence."—Detroit Free Press.

The Eye Is the Mirror of the Soul.

The human eye is indeed the mirror of the soul which it adorns, and no man can betrays so clearly the state of mind as do the eyes. The cold glitter of greedy, cunning avarice; the sneaking glance of the cringing sycophant; the firm, straight look of the brave and strong; the restless motion of the anxious or fearful; the inquiring gaze, the hesitating, the angry, the smiling, the proud, the humble, and lastly, the lover's, combining adoration, feeling and longing, and will know what she beaded.—Chambers' Journal.

He Didn't Know.

Little Girl (looking over advertising pages—Mamma, why do all these boarding houses object to children?

Fond Mamma—Eh, eye I don't know. Go see what the baby is pulling about, and tell Johnny to stop throwing things at people in the street, and make George and Kate stop fighting, and tell Dick (Hello dear! stop hanging that Chinese gong so hard I'll take it away from him.—Good News.

LIFE IN GULF WEED.

All Sorts of Curious Animals Journey with the Gulf Stream's current.

It is surprising what curious creatures live in gulf weed. Not the least extraordinary of these inhabitants of the floating algæ which are borne on the current of the gulf stream is a little fish that makes its nest in the weed. For its own protection from enemies, it is made so like the weeds themselves, being orange colored with white spots, that one cannot detect the scaly animal without actually taking a handful of the vegetable stuff in which it sees shelter and scrutinizing it. The fish builds its nest by binding together branches of the gulf weed with long, sticky gelatinous strings. Its eggs are laid in a cavity, for very fairy fingers, but there is only one species of mouse that speaks up to you and takes hold without saying a word. That is the French collie, which inherits its habit of silent biting from a sheep nipping ancestor."

"Story! story!" called out the president.

"Story? God bless you! I have none to tell, sir," quoted the raconteur, remembering his classics; "this is only a memory of two dogs, accursed brutes, that lived with an indirectly man on a hill, over which the postroad was laid. This man was poor. He was a Cain among his fellows, kept two savage mastiffs, who not only barked but bit whenever it was possible. I was courting my first wife up there in the Cumberland mountains in South-North America, where this happened, and had to pass the house regularly. I drove a blooded mare that went like a bird, and the dogs were no match for her; but it was very annoying to have dogs run down your buggy for a mile or more barking and yelping like demons. They would bark at the stage coaches and run long distances after them, but the passengers were safe inside and the driver and those on the outside were too high for them to reach. But I heard frequent stories of their attacking men, and being beaten off with sticks and stones. I asked why they were not killed and my answer was always the same, a shrug of the shoulders and the remark: 'You don't know the kind of man their owner is.' It seemed that he lived alone with his dogs, and people feared him so much they dare not go to him to complain or call in the provincial laws to help them.

A TERRIBLE CHASE.

"A crisis came, when one day I took my sweetheart out for a sleigh ride in a new pung belonging to her father, to which was harnessed my own sire and refit faced mare. It was a lovely day and we expected to make a very rapid descent of the mountain, a distance of ten or twelve miles. The air was crisp and cold, the sleighing fine, and we skimmed up the ascent and reached the coasting hill ere we knew we had started. There we were met by the dogs. I think it would have been less difficult to have gotten rid of a pair of wolves. I dare not give my mare her head, fearing that lines would be cut by its frame, curse, and the dogs, emboldened by the cold or maddened by repeated lashings from my whip, jumped at my companion and tore her cloak and furs to ribbons. I clubbed them with my whip and lost them on the head, but they did not even seem to feel my blows. Their great black and yellow frames covered with bristly hair. The hair on their backs stood up like manes, their eyeballs gleamed red and angry, and the noise they made was deafening and distracting.

"'What!' I exclaimed, 'why haven't I a pistol?'

"'Look in the box under the seat,' cried my companion, whose face was blanched.

"I looked quickly, and found a rusty double barreled horse pistol of a make of forty years ago.

"'Is it loaded?' I asked.

"'Yes, but don't shoot. If you do that rush will kill you!'

TWO DOGS PEEP THEM.

"I remember thinking how like a woman it was to tell me where to find the pistol and then ask me not to shoot.

"I laid the reins down on the mare's back and away she went like the wind, beyond my control now, and I knew she would never stop till she was a mile beyond the level ground at the foot of the hill.

"If the pung held together, if nothing made the mare swerve from the direct line, if, in fact—if Providence kept an eye on us, and the towering Alps didn't break, we might escape breaking our necks. I looked back and saw the dogs gaining on us, even at that mad gait. Then I took aim and fired. Bang! Bang! There were two dark objects lying prone on the snowy road, and as quick as she could gather her feet under her my mare snapped in her tracks. She was trained to the use of a gun.

"But my companion urged me to hurry on, and we were soon down the incline and beyond the reach of recognition or pursuit, and strange to say no one but our two selves ever knew who killed those dogs. We heard the most marvelous accounts of the slaughter, the weapon varying from a Queen Anne musket to a cannon, but dead they were as door nails, and their reign of terror over. I imagine their owner did not care to venture out to avenge their death. I drove boldly past the house every day, but was never molested. I was suspected. But I often heard those unknown slayer praised and applauded for the deed which rid the neighborhood of their baleful presence."—Detroit Free Press.

The Eye Is the Mirror of the Soul.

The human eye is indeed the mirror of the soul which it adorns, and no man can betrays so clearly the state of mind as do the eyes. The cold glitter of greedy, cunning avarice; the sneaking glance of the cringing sycophant; the firm, straight look of the brave and strong; the restless motion of the anxious or fearful; the inquiring gaze, the hesitating, the angry, the smiling, the proud, the humble, and lastly, the lover's, combining adoration, feeling and longing, and will know what she beaded.—Chambers' Journal.

He Didn't Know.

Little Girl (looking over advertising pages—Mamma, why do all these boarding houses object to children?

Fond Mamma—Eh, eye I don't know. Go see what the baby is pulling about, and tell Johnny to stop throwing things at people in the street, and make George and Kate stop fighting, and tell Dick (Hello dear! stop hanging that Chinese gong so hard I'll take it away from him.—Good News.

One Method of Making Money.

A man who had only a few hundred dollars left out of a fortune called one day at a boarding house not usual in so fine manner, a so, was a man of conservative mind and fully acquainted with the best and most profitable investments.

Throwing down his roll of banknotes he said: "Invest this for me. Use your pleasure with it. I'm going to the country for the remainder of the summer. I will leave my address with you, and you can let me know what you do with it."

The man walked out and was not seen again for many months. His money was judiciously invested on his card to blanche order and began to accumulate. The boarding house keeper, true to his business instincts, of his good luck, but nothing was heard from him personally for some time.

Some months afterwards he presented himself at the boarding house, very health beaming in his face, well dressed and portly. The manager failed to recognize him at first, but when his memory was refreshed he recalled the circumstances of the meeting.

Now, this was an example of a man who more than doubled his earnings by simply taking the advice of an experienced and reliable man. And this is not a solitary case. It is one of many such that happen every day throughout the length and breadth of our land.—Henry Clews in Ladies' Home Journal.

Japanese Women.

It would be hard to say how Christianity treats them, as we usually have it, could improve the conduct or character of the Japanese women, who seem always to have been very good. Christian women knowing it, if we are to believe Miss Bacon. Perhaps the answer to the question is that Christianity is not primarily a purifying force, but is first an enlightening force; that its ideal is virtue, not innocence—Gothenmae, not Eve. The harmlessness of the dove will not avail without the wisdom of the serpent, the impulse of our faith is to be commended. Sacrifice. No doubt this is what the Japanese feel in it, probably it is what makes them willing to change their civilization for ours. They really want a race of better and sweeter mothers than they have, and their witnesses attempt to them they are gentler, kinder, even truer, than we are naturally.

But something seems lacking to them, and they look toward us for it; their fancy spiritual possibilities on the plane which we tell them is above theirs. The fine perfection of their art is a stunted beauty; it has never the infinite reach of the Greek, the Christian art. Their tree is delicious; it has not the celestial aspiration of the Hebrew; and so finds they feel this as clearly as they perceive the difference between us and our ideals.—William Dean Howells in Harper's.

Worrying for the Girls.

The late Emperor William objected to the hundred Hussars-dinner, and it was only by dint of the pressure exercised upon his venerable majesty by Bismarck that Bismarcker in his daughter were very reluctantly invited to court balls. Once his majesty, the old gentleman determined that the banker and Miss Bismarcker should be hospitably treated, and, finding that the young lady lacked partners and was left to sit out all the dances, he himself in person ordered every young officer in sight to ask to the ballroom to invite her to dance.

Much to their annoyance the gilded youths of the guard were forced to obey. They did so after their own fashion, however, and marching up to the lady one after another they exclaimed in far from engaging or affable tones, "Most gracious Prussian, by the commands of his imperial and royal majesty I invite you to dance with me." The poor girl's mortification may be more easily imagined than described.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Serving and Cooking Foods.

"Cookery," says Yves Mot, "is like matrimony. Two things served together should match. Clear should go with clear, thick with thick, hard with hard and soft with soft. I have known people mix grated lobster with birds' nest, and make up with chicken."

This, in observes, is an arrangement in which one does all the manipulating and the other all the yielding.

Fools of a heavy flavor should be served separately. Game, for instance, ambrosia delicious kind of white salmon, beef and mutton. These, we are told, should be eaten alone, without any adjunct.

The fire should be carefully attended to. For frying or baking a "military" fire will be required. For stewing or boiling, a "civil" fire. Such is one of the quaint idioms of the Chinese language.—Temple Bar.

It has a bad look when people begin to accuse other people of plotting conspiracies to ruin them, just out of pure ill will. Most persons are too busy with their own affairs to sit up nights plotting against others. Accusations of dark plots and deep laid schemes are sometimes an evidence of incipient insanity, sometimes an attempt to cover up unworthy transactions. The fearless man who attends to his own business has nothing to dread from anybody's plots. His very fearlessness and honesty protect him.

PIONEER

PATENT ROLLER MILL CO.

MILLS: 59 North Temple St., East. OFFICE: 21 South Temple St., West.

BRANDS:

High Patent, Baker's No. 1, Superfine Whole Wheat Flour.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE PAID FOR WHEAT.

Mill Telephone 771. Office Telephone 817.

ELIAS MORRIS, Proprietor

HENRY WAGNER

SALT LAKE CITY

CALIFORNIA BREWERY.

LAGER BEER, ALE & PORTER, Wholesale & Retail.

70 EAST, FIRST SOUTH STREET.

Liebig Company's

EXTRACT OF BEEF,

For improved and economical cooking use in for Soups, Sauces and Made dishes. It lends a delicious and invigorating character to Meat Tea and imparts an inimitable flavor to Stews, Hashes, Meat Pies, Gravies, Meat Pies and Meat Sauces. It is used to make our product of this extract.

A refreshing Meat Beverage, for the invalid or the healthy. A relish for a cup of tea, or a tonic for a weary frame, for immediate use.

Only that genuine bearing the signature of Justus von Liebig in blue across the face of the label.

LEGAL NOTICE.

In the Probate Court of and for Salt Lake County, Utah Territory.

In the matter of the estate of James Beddie, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that letters of administration of the estate of said deceased have been issued to the undersigned, by order of the Probate Court of said County, dated October 29th, 1891.

A. W. SACHS, Judge.

LEGAL NOTICE.

In the Probate Court in and for Salt Lake County, Territory of Utah.

In the matter of the Estate of Thomas H. Hall, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned administrator of the estate of said deceased, has filed his accounts of his administration of said estate, and the Judge of said Court has fixed the 14th day of December, A. D. 1891, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, at the Court room, in the Court House, Salt Lake City, Utah Territory, as the time for examining and allowing said accounts, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and contest the same.

Dated November 5th, 1891.

H. S. ALLEN, Clerk of the Probate Court.

SUMMONS.

In the District Court in and for the Third Judicial District, in and for Salt Lake County, Utah.

Minerva McGee, Plaintiff, vs. Michael McGee, Defendant.

The People of the Territory of Utah send Greeting:

To Michael McGee, Defendant:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Utah, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or, if served out of this county, but in this district, then within twenty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint.

Your real estate in Utah is asked to have a decree of the court declaring the bonds of matrimony heretofore existing between you and the plaintiff dissolved, and to be granted to plaintiff according to the statute in such cases made and provided; and the court allow to plaintiff such alimony as may be just, together with reasonable attorney fees and the costs and disbursements of this suit, and such other and proper relief as to the court may seem just and equitable, and for the grounds that so as about the spring of 1889 and continuously ever since, so at times as the court of plaintiff, deceiver and abandoned her and her children, and has since then, and has repeatedly and continuously refused to provide for the support of plaintiff or their children.

Are you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein.

Witness, the Hon. Charles S. Zane, Judge, and the seal of the District Court of the Third Judicial District, in and for the Territory of Utah, this 9th day of October, A. D. 1891.

(Seal.) HENRY G. McMILLAN, Clerk. By Geo. D. Snyder, Deputy Clerk.

Geo. D. Snyder, Attorney for Plaintiff, Office and P. O. address, Salt Lake City, Utah.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Lucky Boy Mining Company. Location of principal place of business, Salt Lake City, Utah. Location of Mine: Bingham Canon, Mining District, Territory of Utah.

Notice is hereby given, that at a meeting of the Board of Trustees held on the 1st day of October, 1891, an assessment (No. 3) of three cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable on demand, to the Secretary at Salt Lake City, Utah. Any stock upon which said assessment shall remain unpaid on the 1st day of November, 1891, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction, and unless payment is made before the time of sale, so much of said stock as may be necessary will be sold on the 15th day of November, 1891, at the office of the Secretary, at Salt Lake City, Utah, to pay the assessment thereon, together with the costs of advertising and expenses of sale.

W. H. BOOTH, President.

Salt Lake City, Utah.

Residence: 25 E. Second South St.

DEEDS AND MORTGAGES.

Conformable to latest Territorial Statute for sale at the DESERET NEWS OFFICE.

HANDS.

Wilford Woodruff, President. E. R. Eldredge, Asst. Cashier.

Zion's Savings Bank AND Trust Company,

Nos. 1 and 3 Salt Temple Street.

Established 1873. Incorporated 1889.

DIRECTORS:

Wilford Woodruff, Pres. George Q. Cannon, Vice-Pres. Joseph F. Smith, Angus M. Cannon, Lorenzo Snow, John Jaques, Spencer Clawson, T. G. Weaver, Cashier, H. S. Clawson.

DOES A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS

Pays 5 Per Cent Interest on Savings Deposits.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT.

Deseret National Bank

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

Paid Up Capital, $300,000.00. Surplus, $200,000.00.

DIRECTORS:

John Sharp, President. Moses Thatcher, Vice-President. W. W. Riter. J. R. Barnes. J. T. Little. J. G. Cutler. James Sharp. Henry Dinwoodey. D. H. Peery. W. W. Jennings. George Sutherland. J. R. Winder. E. A. Wedgwood, Cashier. W. S. Tyler, Asst. Cashier.

Receives Deposits Payable on Demand.

Buys and Sells Exchange on New York, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, London and all the Principal Continental Cities.

Sells Deposit Vaults, specially fireproof and fire proof. Rents $5 to $50 per year.

THE STATE BANK OF UTAH, SALT LAKE CITY.

Capital, $200,000.

Heber J. Grant, President. W. S. Tyler, Vice-President. Hooper W. Wells, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Heber J. Grant, Thos. G. Webber, Hooper W. Wells, Joseph F. Smith, Thos. R. Cutler, Joseph E. Caine, Frank T. Taylor, Benjamin Ottesen, Henry Dinwoodey, Thos. Kearns, Edward W. Tingey, Henry A. Woolley.

Transacts a general banking business. Loans money on approved security. Buys and sells exchange on all principal points. Pays the best rate on savings deposits. Compounds interest semi-annually. Has safe vault for rent.

R. S. LANEY. WILL S. STUART.

LANEY & STUART,

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.

Rooms 15 and 16, Dooly Block, Salt Lake City.

RICHARDS & MOYLE,

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.

Office for Consultation, 214 S. Main Street, Salt Lake City.

DANIEL HARRINGTON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Rooms 103 & 104 Constitution Building, Salt Lake City.

SHEPARD, CHERRY & SHEPARD

LAWYERS.

Rooms 27, 28, 29 & 40 Commercial Block, SALT LAKE CITY.

S. W. DARKE,

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR, Hooper Block, Salt Lake City.

T. D. LEWIS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Rooms 111 & 113, Constitution Building.

JOHN M. CANNON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Rooms 151 & 3, Third Floor, Constitution Building.

RICHARD W. YOUNG,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Third Floor, Constitution Building, opposite U. C. M. I.

DR. E. S. WRIGHT,

OFFICE: Constitution Building. RESIDENCE: 356 E. First South. Telephone 19.

CHARLES M. CANNON,

SURGEON-DENTIST. Rooms 404 and 405, Constitution Building, Salt Lake City.

MRS. M. E. VAN, M. D.

OFFICE: 324 S. Third Street, Constitution Building. HOURS—9 to 10 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m.

W. CAMERON, M. D.,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Cameron has made a specialty of Chronic Diseases for over Twenty Years.

Will be at Corner of Second South Street, and Salt Lake City.

EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY!!!

A MOUTH FOUNTAIN FILLED BY EVERY PATRON

FOUNTAIN RESTAURANT

And CONFECTIONERY,

115 MAIN STREET.

A Delicious American Cooked Meal Served in the Best Manner. 25c. Open Day and Night.

SPECIALTIES: Oysters and Juicy Steaks, in every style. Game in season. Ice Cream of all flavors. Fruits always on hand. Fresh Candies always on hand. 115 Main Street.

P. G. CONSTANT, Will leave in Utah—not long hence.

SALT LAKE NURSERY.

Having become sole proprietor of the Salt Lake Nursery, I am now prepared to furnish Fruit, Shade and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, of best quality and at lowest prices.

Nursery and sale rooms of the firm, on Sixty-Acre Block.

SAXTON GARDENER, Sole Proprietor.

WASHBURN & Guitars, Mandolins & Zithers

Catalogue Free. Mention this paper.

LYON & HEALY CHICAGO.

FALL and WINTER GOODS

BOOTS AND SHOES AT TEASDEL'S BOOTS AND SHOES

FULLY PREPARED FOR ALL DEMANDS.

OVERCOATS at Popular Prices.
Men's Full Weight Winter Suits.
Carpets, Blankets and Rugs.
Boys' School Suits Bottom Prices.

Visitors Invited. Call and Examine.

FULL SUPPLY OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS —GREAT BARGAINS AT—

TEASDEL'S

BOOTS. | RUBBERS. | SHOES.

Men's Calf BOOTS. " Kip " " Sloga " " Lace " Boys' " " Calf " " Red Top " Men's Wool-Hand " " Rubber " Ladies' " Misses' " Child's "

SOLOMON BROTHERS, 70 Main St., Salt Lake City.

SLIPPERS.

Men's Button SHOES " Lace " " Congress " " Buckle " Ladies' Button " Lace " " Congress " Misses' Button Boys' " " Lace " Child's Button Infants' "

Broiling. Baking. Boiling. Preserving.

GRANITE IRONWARE is more than a luxury—it is a necessity. It is clean, healthy, handy and neat; there is as much difference between it and tinware, as between a china and a tin cup. It is cheap, because it lasts, and it is always nice. Every good housewife should use it, and those who once try it won't have anything else. It is the best ware made for the kitchen. Cook Book and Price List Free on application. Be sure to mention this paper. Manufactured only by the ST. LOUIS STAMPING CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

DAVID JAMES & CO.

TINNERS

Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters

DEALERS IN

Plumbing Material, Pumps, Pipe and Fittings, Steam Heating Stoves, Tin and Iron Roofing, Galvanized Iron Cornice, Guttering, Etc.

—GARDEN HOSE AND LAWN SPRINKLERS—

No. 67 S. MAIN STREET.

THE MARRIAGE LICENSES GAVE OUT. THEY'LL HAVE TO PRINT SOME MORE, FOR THE LATEST FAD IS NOT A RICH DAD, AS IT WAS IN DAYS OF YORE; BUT A MAIDEN FAIR, IS A TREASURE RARE NONE CAN HER CHARMS OUTSHINE AS SHE COOKS WITH SKILL ON THE CHARTER OAK WITH ITS WIRE GAUZE DOOR SO FINE.

FOR SALE BY Z. C. M. I., Sole Agents in Salt Lake City

For BINDERS and PRINTERS.

THE EAGLE PLASTIC TABULATING COMPOSITION, THE FINEST article in the world for making the strongest, most elastic, durable and handsome binding for Bill Heads, Statements, Railroad Blanks, etc. At least one-half cheaper than the old method of covering the edges with colored paper. Has no offensive or unhealthy odor, and one pound will do more than two pounds of any of the liquid preparations at much less cost. Put up in two-pound boxes and sold at Manufacturers' prices, $3 Cents per pound at the

DESERET NEWS OFFICE.