At Las Vegas, N. M., people amuse themselves by dodge ball.

Phoenix, Ariz., papers report great suffering among the destitute of that city.

At Nogales, on the south line of Arizona, snow fell last week to a depth of six inches.

Los Angeles, Cal., has enthusiastically taken up the question of relieving the unemployed of its city.

There is a lively outbreak at Casper, Wyo. It is claimed that a party who put up factory shirts in Massachusetts keep them there still.

At Pocatello, Idaho, a Jack-the-Ripper is killing cows mightily by disembowelling them with a bowie knife. Lynch Tuesday at Pocatello are talked of.

Eggs are always in demand at 40 cents a dozen in the San Juan country, and still the farmers fail to produce enough for home supply.

In the vicinity of Aztec, N. M., five sheep are reported dying for food. The snow has crusted over and cattle and sheep are unable to obtain feed.

Fremont county, Colo., reduced its dead-mans one-cent bounty during 1893. It now owes $100,000, as compared to $137,000 two years ago.

Ranchmen are discovering that the Gunnison valley is a most favorable locality for raising hogs. These animals thrive as nicely, and are not subject to any disease whatever.

The longest cattle train ever sent out of Carson, Nev., Valley was started for San Francisco a few days ago. It consisted of thirty cars, loaded with fat steers. They sold at $50 a head, which is a tasty price.

Butte, Montana, has a free silver dancing club and the pretty girls who will dance to no other. Gold bugs are rigidly excluded from Butte society.

Rio Grande county, Colorado, has a lamplighter's wagon, established to watch the moonlight effects. The county finances are said to be in a bad condition.

In Crook county, Wyoming, the election of an Indian squaw was contested unless in the league of a large proportion. The Indians formerly disposed of their dead by depositing them in trees.

There will soon be booming, at least in the Potters, very shortly, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The California Sugar Refinery, employing between 400 and 500 men, which has been idle for six weeks, has started up with a full force.

Charles Hyde Jr., aged fifteen, employed as messenger for the Western Union Telegraph company at Oakland, Cal., accidentally shot himself while not shooting with his younger brother on Sunday afternoon and now lies in a critical condition.

Captain Ray of the Shoshone and Arapahoe agency near Fort Washakie, Wyo., is constructing with Indian labor an immense irrigation reservoir by means of a ditch from Little Wind river to a dry lake on high lands. It will be used to irrigate Indian lands.

At Durango, Colorado, one butcher pays $20,000 in 1893 for huge calves by Los Pasos county merchants. The same butcher says, while he pays more for Colorado beef than the Kansas stuff, he is obliged to import it by railroad.

Lewiston, Minnie's Delight, Atlantic and South Pass, Wyo., frequently have to do without mail four or five days because the mail carrier succumbs to the power of grip. The people have had indignation meetings and resolved to inquire the quality of the mail carrier's whisky.

Mary Hart, a servant girl, of San Francisco, was found dead in her room on Sunday morning. The gas in one of the jets was partly turned on. It is believed that she had intended to commit suicide, but she evidently got out of bed to turn off the gas, but was unable to do so before she became unconscious.

D. Goodman, a colored porter, caused the arrest of a Chinaman some days ago at San Francisco, for peddling cigars without a license. The Chinaman lingered in jail ten days and Goodman failed to appear to prosecute. The porter was arrested on a bench warrant and sent to jail for twenty-four hours for contempt of court.

H. Bath, a well-known resident of Monterey, Cal., was held up on Monday night, on his way home from work, by two hobgoes, who succeeded in his feet and face to a jelly with an instrument consisting of a grain sack containing sand and iron scraps. The physicians say that his skull is probably cracked and that the injuries are of a dangerous character.

Around the Arroya House, N. M., the lately discovered building rock is growing abundantly. It is cut into slabs and 500 pounds of the rock shipped to a German agricultural college has brought an order for 500 pounds more. It has been tested in England, France and Germany, and pronounced an excellent substance for roofing.

For about a year there has been a great deal of the beauty question reported at Loveland, Colo. Outsiders have some into the place and managed to make a good living off the boys in the city, who thought they would play cards as well as anyone. A short time ago warrants were sworn out against several prominent gamblers, but upon their learning of anticipated arrests, they fled to Longmont to avoid trouble. On Monday the James Bond returned and a warrant was promptly served on him.

The Denver Republican and A. M. Dunlap, a member of some mining camp in N. M., says the Alaska were made the victims of a conspiracy early Monday morning by which Dunlap lost all his savings, a gold watch and other valuables. The property was taken from Dunlap's locker in the company's quarters in the city hall about 2 o'clock in the morning while the department was responding to a false alarm. The case has created a great deal of excitement and the detectives are hard at work on the case.

The San Francisco police authorities are highly gratified over the action of the state board of pharmacy in adopting a resolution to require sworn affidavits to be sent all prisoners convicted of forgery or robbery where previous criminal was required to. "If we succeed," said Captain Lees, "that the state will not hesitate to call the attention of the legislature to extending laws a bonus to close confinement, and there are too many of us ready to do our duty if the legislature will extend the laws."
