JOURNEY TO THE COAST.

Sights and Scenes En Route, and Observations Thereon.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

Yesterday at 2 a. m. we left Ogden city, Utah, and arrived here today at 10 a. m. We left Ogden in a severe snow storm, entering here in the midst of blooming roses and calla lilies growing in open air, street flowers also in bloom, with lawns and fields green. We have had one fine shower. I am inclined to think there are too many sinners here for conversions, so we have a premium of a gentle shower for our first day's introduction to the city, but the sea breeze is nearly distinctive. I doubt not but we shall visit in this line of flowers many times to accompany with, for I have already learned that an umbrella is an indispensable companion in San Francisco.

I must say that I was surprised to find so much water and swampy land south Sacramento in San Francisco, a distance of ninety miles. We arrived at Sacramento at 1 a. m. on the 7th inst. We should have been pleased to have taken in the sights of the capital city but had to leave that for a future time. The Sacramento river overflows its banks in times of high water, consequently we found water, water, and alligators water and swamp, sometimes only rising as twilight on and by, that we could only have time to see a little house here and there where any planed could be found in every one alive. I remarked to a seemingly knowing gentleman that I thought there was much valuable land lying waste, as was it not possible to reclaim this swamp, and bring this valuable section of country into productive, utilizing it for valuable purposes? "Yes," remarked the gentleman with a twinkle in the sharp black eye which was set in his intellectual head, "just bring in $2,000,000 of your spare cash, and we will levy up the banks of the river and make a good country, and make you wealthy too." My reply was evening the two amount already suggested, but at my age, I would consider myself sufficiently wealthy and leave the rendezvous work for some younger person.

Further on our journey we caught sight of a very attractive stream on shard side of hills. On close observation the cause from that of cultivated, colored flags and wind guard. The stream sweeping over the gentle breeze from the fragrant bloom of the almond trees—the nearest approach to a fragrant rose and the flight scene we had for yesterday morning left behind in Oregon almost like entering fairy land. While leaning over this beautiful scene, with some Eastern exclamations, interjections, etc., I threw a moment to glance over the pages of a morning paper, the Sacramento Record-Union, when my eye caught "Closing of the Coast.—Shooting Affray between Greek Factions in Denver.—Dynamite Homicide at Silver Valley.—Double Poisoning," and a host of similar items. I cast the sheet aside and I should form a poor opinion of the city line of California.

Prior to crossing San Francisco Bay, at Port Costa, we split home team was plowing in a field just back of this scene was a large green hills. Town views with surrounding waters and the mild, spring-like morning, and swelling tide, green trees and blooming plants, united in my memory a lovely picture. To add to the scene, the steamer was taking over our train divided up into sections, and all so systematically done that a person sleeping or unconsciously passing on could not know but instead of being conveyed by water we were moving along on solid ground. Being on the watch-tower to know what was going on, we observed still another picture—fishermen casting their nets.

Soon we were cleaning over a lovely bay, and just on shore where some men were looking near shore, and then we stopped in this the city of the Pacific coast.

Editor Deseret News:

Again "looking backwards" I would much like to learn whose name is on record as being the first Elder in this dispensation to die while absent in a field of mission labor. I am quite certain it was Elder James Roscoe-berry, who died in the winter of 1837-38, near Fredonia, N. Y., where he had previous to his death raised up quite a branch of the Church. His descendants are now numbered by thousands, not one of the original members of which, and few if any of their descendants ever became apostate.

If anything further upon this subject should be desired, a page from my "Life Review" might be interesting to some.

We have now seasonable showers with continued health and comparative prosperity, but we are in uncertainty. Our beloved Stake president, C. I. Robson, has passed to the spirit in the more blessed life. Our loss, while we remain to labor and wait.

He died on the 24 ult. from a complication growing out of heart disease and the burial took place from a home, his children, by his side a friend to honesty and truth as a man from the gentile up. He was respected by all and beloved by those who had knew him, and the mourn his loss. R. F. JACKSON.

[Elder Lorenzo D. Barnes, who died in England December 26, 1841, is the first on the Roll of Honor which has been published in these columns by authority of the Church records.—Ed. News.]

St. John's Stake Conference.

Our two day's quarterly Stake conference closed this afternoon. It commenced on Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Elder Andrew Jensen was in now traveling through this Stake for the purpose of attending General Conference, was present at all the meetings and gave several addresses which were exceedingly interesting.

The speakers during the conference were of the president of the Stake, David M. Udall and Wm. H. Gibbons, Patriarch Henry J. Pratt, Elders Andrew Jensen, Wm. Martineau, the Mormon Bishop, and Joseph H. Finney of the Snowflake stake. Quite seven wards of this stake, the more remote by their respective Bishops.

All the Stake President meeting held on Sunday evening, March 4, Joseph Udall was ordained to fill a vacancy in the Bishopric of Ward, in the place of Bishop Jesse L. Barton, resigned. In consequence of the change, Joseph Udall, who for some months past has been President of the Y. M. M. I. Association of the Stake, was released Sunday, March 4, 1894, and Lee Roy Gibbons was called to fill that position, and Newel Dayton to fill the vacancy in the Bishopric. Brother Gibbons was ordained a Seventy.

Elder Jesse N. Smith, who has been in the Eastern States, arrived at home on Friday, January, 1894, by Apostle Reuben Young, it was decided to hold a stake quarterly Sabbath School Conference, the 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th,
