SPECIAL TRAIN ON SATURDAY.

J. Ross Clark Came in Today to be Present at Meeting Prior To the Opening.

J. Ross Clark, vice president of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad company, arrived in this city at 9:45 this morning from Los Angeles. He was accompanied by Atty. C. O. Whittemore, who went down to Las Vegas to meet him and spent a couple of days at that place looking over the proposed townsite and making arrangements to file the necessary maps and data prior to the opening.

Mr. Clark is here to meet his brother, President W. A. Clark of the road, who arrives from Butte tomorrow morning, to meet with Messrs. Cornish and Bancroft of the Harriman interests, when arrangements will be made in relation to the opening of the road. All parties will meet in the Oregon Short Line board rooms tomorrow, and the following day will board a special train and go down to Los Angeles, thoroughly inspecting the property en route.

All along the line work is being rushed on depot buildings, water tanks and coal chutes in order that things may be in good shape for the opening of the road for through traffic. It will be some weeks, however, before the entire road is turned over to the operating department by the construction engineers.

If present plans are followed there will be but one train through each way daily. Coming east the train will leave Los Angeles at 7:30 p. m., and arrive in Salt Lake at 6:30 a. m., on the second day. Going west the time of departure from Salt Lake will be 8:30 p. m., arriving at Los Angeles at 7:30 on the morning of the second day. FROM DIEHL TO BROWN.

Young Highwayman to be Sent to the Juvenile Court for Punishment.

When the case of Harry Benson, a youth of 17 years, charged with highway robbery, came up before Judge Diehl this morning for preliminary hearing, there was a sudden change in the defense. Attorney Arthur Christensen represented young Benson, and when the case was called he made the motion that the matter be sent to the juvenile court, on the grounds that the law provided that all defendants under the age of 18 years were under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. Judge Diehl held that the motion was well taken, and the matter was referred to Judge Brown. If the latter sends the defendant back to Judge Diehl's court, then Attorney Christensen will file a writ of habeas corpus for the accused.

THE BURNS FAMILY BIBLE.

The leather covered volume shown in the cut is the identical Bible which was once in everyday use in the family of the poet Burns. It contains the register of the Burns family in the poet's own handwriting. It was purchased recently by a book collector for $7,800 and was considered a bargain at that price. The book was published in Edinburgh 139 years ago. Burns wrote on the register page the date of his own birth, that of his wife, Jean Armour, and those of his first five children. Scottish admirers of the poet were anxious to obtain possession of the relic, but they were outbidden.

RAZOR FIGHT ON VICTORIA ALLEY.

Dark Gentleman Went to an Anna Eva Fay Permormance With Dire Consequence.

SWEETHEART CUT HIM DEEP.

He Also Used the Weapon of His Race and Inflicted a Number of Wounds—Story of the Strife.

Anna Eva Fay was indirectly responsible this afternoon for a desperate cutting affray on Victoria alley. The principals were two colored parties; the weapon, the orthodox "razzer." It was a case of a misunderstanding between a colored gent and his gal wherein the gal did the carving.

At a late hour City Physician Wilcox armed with a spool of twine and a needle, was patching up the fretwork designs on the head, face and hand of the ebon gent heretofore mentioned.

The scene of the contest was at 47 Victoria alley, a thoroughfare with as black a reputation as the epidermis of the principals. The parties were E. A. James and Ethel Baker, who occupies the dive indicated in the address.

When the police arrived on the scene the room resembled a shambles and both man and woman were struggling for possession of the razor. James had some very artistic designs carved on his head, face and neck, from which blood freely flowed. Taken all in all, Ethel slashed the man 10 times with telling effect, her best efforts consisting of two eight-inch cuts and one four inches in length all on the head and face. About this time James succeeded in shutting the razor on Ethel's hand and more blood flowed.

Sergeant Hemple and Officer Seager took the combatants over to the station, and after they had been stitched up, the blood washed off and were tucked comfortably in their cells, the story of incidents leading up to the affair was forthcoming.

It all happened because James expended fifty cents on a visit to the Grand theater in search of information. James had an idea that his love Ethel was not true to him, so he concluded to pass the verdict up to Anna Eva Fay. He wrote his question in the orthodox manner and in due season the little lady answered the query. She affirmed that James' love was a fickle wench and cared naught for his heart—she loved another.

Then it was that the aggrieved colored man hied to the room of the faithless one only to find that she had gone to Park City. However, James cleaned out the premises and carried off every stitch of clothing belonging to his amorita. She came back this morning, and they met. So boisterous was the reunion that the entire alley turned out to referee the fight. Ethel discarded scratching tactics, sidestepped and produced a razer. Then it was that James commenced to squeal and yell for the police.

THE RAINSTORM.

State Was Pretty Well Covered—More Coming This Evening.

The weather has been truly April in its character today, raining, sunshiny and cloudy and threatening, in seriatim. Over half an inch of rain fell in last night's storm, and as the precipitation was a steady fall of light rains, the ground became pretty well soaked by morning. Modena caught a slice of the storm, and so did Grand Junction, so that the state was pretty well covered. More rain is expected tonight, but tomorrow will be fair and warmer. The wet weather will result in considerable poor hay being sent to market, and local dealers are shaking their heads over that feature of the trade.

Senator Clark's visit is simply periodical and for the purpose of visiting his daughters, who are attending school at Salt Lake.

Captain E. A. Hammond of the reclamation bureau returned this morning from the snows of the north and western Colorado. Contracts will be let in a few days for the new gymnasium at the state University, extensions of the shop and physical building, and alterations in the normal building. Both students and faculty are hopeful now of completing the gymnasium as originally contemplated on account of the substantial interest being taken by citizens.

The subject of Dr. Talmage's lecture is "Russia and the Russians," and it will be illustrated by a large number of admirable lantern slides.

There was no session of the juvenile court today, a new rule having been adopted whereby the sessions of the court will be held each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. General report day will be each Saturday, when all the boys on probation will report to the court and will listen to a few appropriate remarks by some prominent state, county or city official. Report days will be more interesting and instructive for the boys and will become prominent features of the court.

Two hundred male students of the University of Utah met on the athletic field today and completed the work started on Arbor day. This consisted of encircling the campus with a barbed wire fence, to keep the boys out, and sprinkling sand on the ground in order to better prepare it for football and other sports. Ten teams were engaged in hauling sand, while the husky athletes of the state school on the hill handled the shovels in a manner which veritably made the dirt fly. Fifty girls, under the direction of Miss Wheeler, served noon luncheon to the workers.

The marble setters are now setting up the marble wall work of the front corridor on the first floor of the Federal building, and the wood finish is rapidly going up. The expert in charge of the marble work said there is plenty of fine marble in the west, but it is so broken up by volcanic action as to be comparatively worthless for decorative purposes. It is barely possible that by cutting down deep, large blocks may be found, but as yet that is entirely problematical. It cost $75,000 to properly uncover one quarry at Rutland, Vt., and get down where the stone is good.

Brigadier General S. C. Park and Lt. Col. Kessler of the governor's staff, went up to Bountiful last evening to give the members of E company of the First infantry a real nice talk on the attractions and duties of the soldier life. They painted the military skies such a lovely combination of carmine and gold that had the goddess of the morning been present, she would have put on men's clothes and gone right off and enlisted. The military evangels returned to Salt Lake satisfied that the fortunes of E company had been increased, and that the roster of that organization would become plethoric to the point of bursting by the end of the week.

STILL WAITING FOR BANK'S BOOKS.

Transfer of Documents Will be Made by Judge Morse Tomorrow.

EXAMINATION OF BANKRUPT.

Will Probably be Postponed to Allow Trustee Blakely to Study The Records.

The examination of the bankrupt in the case of B. H. Schettler, which was scheduled for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, before Commissioner Baldwin will probably be continued until 2 o'clock, or until a later date, on account of the inability of Trustee G. B. Blakely to secure the bank records. Although an agreement had been entered into by which they were to be transferred this afternoon, the transfer was not completed. Instead Trustee Blakely will receive the documents by appointment with Judge C. W. Morse tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock. This morning Judge Zane and Receiver Anderson filed the receiver's report with Judge Morse, but he did not pass upon it, taking it instead under advisement until tomorrow morning at 9:30. At that time the report, if everything is found to be regular, will be accepted and the receiver discharged. Fifteen minutes later the trustee will be awarded the long looked for papers and documents, and will begin to prepare himself for the examination. The papers are now in the hands of Deputy Clerk Calvin S. Buckwalter, who is auditing the receiver's report, which covers the period between Feb. 18 and April 20, 1905.

Action by Local Hardware Company Continued Till April 28.

The hearing on the order to show cause why an injunction should not be issued in the base of the Brubaker-Campbell Hardware company against C. E. Brubaker and the National Bank of the Republic was on before Judge Morse this morning but was not completed. A continuance was taken until April 28.

The injunction is asked to restrain defendants from selling 73 shares of stock of the plaintiff company which was given by Brubaker to the bank as security for a loan. The complaint alleges that Brubaker has circulated false reports concerning plaintiff company to the effect that its stock was not worth 50 cents on the dollar, and that it was insolvent. It is also charged that he said he would break the company up, and that he told traveling men not to sell it any goods on account of its insolvency.

LITTLE BOY'S DEATH.

Passed Away at the Hospital During Effort to Save His Life.

On the operating table of the Holy Cross hospital George Henry Snell died last night at 6 o'clock during an operation for blood poisoning. The death is a pathetic one, following an accident at Lehi a week ago when young Snell broke his arm by being thrown from a horse, and was attacked by blood poison during the healing process. The boy was only 7 years old and was the son of Henry W. and Mrs. Mary Allen Snell. His father died before he was born, and he had grown up under the care of his mother and was specially endeared to her. Recently the boy was allowed to visit relatives in Lehi and on Saturday the 15th inst., he was thrown from a horse, fracturing his arm. The arm was set at Lehi, and it was not until last Saturday that the boy was brought to Salt Lake for treatment. After an examination it developed that blood poisoning had set in through an infection in the wound, and an operation was decided upon by Dr. Bower, and Dr. Hosmer, in consultation.

The lad was removed to the Holy Cross hospital, and although every effort was made to save his life, he died under the operation, without regaining consciousness after its beginning.

The body was placed in charge of Joseph William Taylor's undertaking establishment and removed to the home of his mother.

Funeral will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday from the Eighteenth ward chapel. Friends are invited.

LAID IN THE GRAVE.

Friends Pay Tribute to a Faithful Latter-day Saint.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Margaret A. Robertson were held from the Eighteenth ward Latter-day Saints chapel Wednesday, April 19, at 2 p. m. There was a good attendance, and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. The speakers were Elders James McGhie, Robert Patrick, John Y. Smith, Hamilton G. Park, and Bishop Orson F. Whitney, all of whom testified to the worth of the deceased as a wife, mother, friend and Latter-day Saint, to the faith of which Church she had been true and steadfast for almost 60 years.

Mrs. Robertson was about 74 years old, and had been a resident of this city for 26 years. She was noted for her good nature and charitable and forgiving disposition. She leaves three children, Mrs. J. B. Cummock, Wm. A. and Peter M. Robertson, all of this city. The music furnished was artistic to a degree, and included solos, "The Holy City," by Miss Rogers of the Twentieth ward, and "O My Father," by Geo. D. Pyper. Interment took place in the city cemetery, the grave being dedicated by Elder Joseph E. Taylor. Sister Margaret Robertson was a native of Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, and the eldest daughter of Father John Aird, the friend of the early missionaries to that land, and a stalwart pillar of the Church there for many years prior to coming to Utah.

A "HUNG" JURY.

Men Who Tried Big Damage Case Against Mining Company, Still Out.

The fight in the case of Harris vs the Consolidated Mercur Gold Mining company apparently was not confined to the attorneys for the defense and prosecution, but has infected the jury. After having the case under consideration for over 24 hours, there was still no result to report this afternoon. The indications are, however, at press time, that the jury will report before the end of the day, probably bringing in a statement of a failure to decide. The jury did not remain in confinement over night, but was allowed to adjourn until this morning after being given the usual instructions by Judge Marshall not to discuss the case outside of the jury room.

WHAT AILS THE STOCKYARDS?

The Salt Lake stockyards are doing a land office business this week; and up to date 5,000 cattle have passed through the yards in transit to points east, and 30,000 sheep have been handled on the way to the summer pastures.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

Homer Davenpot's pheasant farm will be located near the trail at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

The grass is always green in Portland, the Lewis and Clark exposition city, where roses bloom in February.

The American Medical association will meet in July at the Lewis and Clark expostion. The doctors will make stopover trips to the Yellowstone National park.

The growth of the Pacific northwest may be indicated by the increase in the population of Portland, where the Lewis and Clark exposition will open June 1. In 1850 Portland had 821 inhabitants. Now it has 140,000.

Portland, the Lewis and Clark exposition city, is settled largely by New England people. There is a plan for a family reunion week at the exposition, similar to Old Home week in some of the New England states.

A Liverpool journal, in commenting on the Lewis and Clark exposition, says that the Trail, in its arrangement upon the Bridge of Nations, suggests the famous London bridge of the middle ages.

Lewis and Clark exposition visitors will have opportunities to join mountain climbing parties if they so desire. Mt. Hood, 46 miles from Portland, 11,225 feet high, invites the daring spirit to tread its summit.

Secretary Albert Tozier of the Oregon Press association is arranging to have the delegates of the National Editorial association make a side trip from Portland, when they visit the Lewis and Clark exposition, to Hood River, Or., where a feast of the famous Hood River strawberries and cream is to be enjoyed by the editors.

Denver, April 20.—Dr. I. S. Wayland committed suicide today by opening an artery in his leg after administering a hypodermic injection of morphine to lessen the pain of the operation. D., where he had served one term as mayor.

General rains accompanied in many instances by thunderstorms have marked its eastward course. The high area over the southern Atlantic states is slowly moving off the coast. The high area that made its appearance over the middle Caandian provinces, though stationary, appears to be developing in intensity.

General rains were reported over the upper and middle plateau regions, the middle Rocky mountain slope, and the Lower Missouri, and Mississippi valleys, lower lakes and Ohio valley.
