TOTAL STATE VOTE.

The Utah Commission Completes Its Canvass of Vote for State Officers.

RESULT OF SENATORIAL CONTEST.

Also the Judicial Returns By Districts. Canvassing Board Decides Tie Contests.

The canvass of the total State vote for city officers, as completed last evening by the Utah Commission, is given below; likewise the result of the vote for members of the upper house of the Legislature and the voting for district judges. The canvassing board met this morning and decided a tie contest in Manassa in favor of the Democrats and one in Wellsville favoring the Liberals. The Commission held a meeting this afternoon, but up to press time no action had been taken as to what mode would be adopted in forwarding the constitutional vote in the President. It was thought that one of the members of the Commission would be assigned the pleasure of taking the returns to Washington, but no action has yet been taken.

Texas Conference.

The Texas conference was held at Van Sick, near Greenville, Hunts county, November 2nd and 3rd, 1895. There were present Elias S. Kimball, president of the Southern States mission, and S. Campbell, president of the Texas conference, and H. Wells, A. A. Knudsen, M. O. Miner, H. Smith, F. Smith, D. P. Overson, D. Cannon, H. W. Perry, A. Young, L. Tolman, C. A. Stemmont, S. B. Wilcox and A. C. Dailey, traveling Elders in the Texas conference.

The first meeting was held on Saturday evening, commencing at 7 o'clock, Elder Wells presiding. After singing and prayer the object of our meeting was given by Elder Campbell. He explained the duties of those who are called to the ministry and showed clearly the position that an Elder is taking when he deviates from the plan of salvation given by our Savior. Elder Dailey spoke as the "Unchained" tried to impress on the minds of the people that it is impossible to worship God intelligently without an understanding of who He is and the requirements He makes of us. The fact that without faith it is impossible to please God was very plainly set forth by Elder Miner.

Sunday, 11 a.m.—After opening exercises, Elder Perry said: After faith in God and His revealed laws, one has a natural desire to know what is the next step to take. While we all agree that repentance is necessary, the sorrow of the world, which worketh death, is too prevalent in this day. A diagram of the Church organization was drawn on the board and explained by Elder Wells; he said: Since the different members of the Church were placed there by God, and He has told us one is one way with them, and since a law is binding on a people till repealed by the same authority that gave it, we come to the conclusion that each member is necessary, and it cannot be denied. Elder E. S. Kimball next addressed the congregation. He said: The idea prevails in the North that the Texan is a wild rough person who cares nothing for law or order. Many Texans think the same of Utah; but I wish to say that the people of Utah are cultivated and taught as you are not. Her school system takes the lead, and her people you can pattern after. He spoke of the order in which the elders of the Saints are laid out, and other matters of much interest.

At the sunday night services Elder Chidester called the people to repentance, and Elder Wilcox proved that baptism is a principle of the doctrine of Christ and if we transgress and abide not in the doctrine, we cannot expect to obtain salvation. Elder Kimball warned the people of the judgments that will follow the testimonies of the Elders and in conclusion said, "We will leave you now in the hands of God." Elder Dailey thanked the people for their kindness to the Elders.

In addition to the three public meetings, the Elders held their Priesthood meetings, in which were given reports of labor, and suggestions as to the best methods of getting the gospel before the people. This was our first opportunity to be instructed by President Kimball. If we follow out his instructions there is no reason why we should not organize churches in Texas before another year passes. Elders H. W. Perry and Adam Young were honorably released to return home on the 4th inst. on account of sickness. Elder A. S. Campbell was released from acting as president of the Texas conference, to labor in the office at Chattanooga, and A. C. Dailey was appointed to act in his stead.

A. C. DAILEY, Sec'y.

OGDEN, UTAH, DEC. 5, 1895.

Produce in Chicago.

Mr. Alt, of the Ogden Produce Co., has returned from a business trip to Chicago. He reports farm products in the Western states as being sold at very low prices, working a great hardship on farmers. Especially is this the case in Nebraska, Kansas City and Chicago. Fruit dealers expressed themselves well satisfied with Utah's green fruit, which they handled the past season, but spoke unsparingly severally with Michigan apples. Mr. Alt presented Mayor Swift and Mr. Pullman a box of Utah apples which they said were the best they had ever seen.

Notes.

Captain Silvey and detective Pember raided a gambling house at Five Points yesterday and arrested J. Tenpoice for keeping a gambling house and catching profits therein. Justice Bagley fined Tenpoice $25. Three boys that were found in the house gambling were given good advice and discharged.

Judge Rolapp received his commission from President Cleveland yesterday.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Nickell Magazine for December, which came to hand, certainly entitles that bright publication to a prominent place among magazines. There are nine reproductions of celebrated paintings, which illustrate "Killing Genius" by E. B. Chandler. E. B. Barry talk in an interesting manner about King Clovis and Saint Louis, and Frank Littleton has a short critical article on Paul Bourget, which accompanies a good picture of the celebrated author in his study. There are other excellent articles, and all, the Nickell Magazine gives a five cents' worth that is quite marvelous; yet the publishers say that there will be eight additional pages added with the January number.

OBITUARY.

THEOPHILUS MORRIS DAVIS.

Theophilus Morris Davis, son of Thomas and Mary Davis, who died at his residence in the Nineteenth ward of this city, November 26th, of heart failure superinduced by typhoid fever, was born in Carmarthenshire, South Wales, in the year 1833. He embraced the Gospel in his native land in 1851, emigrated to Utah in 1852, married Jane Sheffield by, May 14, 1855, by whom he had two sons and two daughters, three of whom are still living. He left Salt Lake City, February 4, 1857, on a mission to Wales, where he labored with much zeal and diligence, and by his kind, earnest and persuasive manner made many friends. He was honorably released from this mission and returned home to his family and friends on July 11, 1860. He was employed for a number of years on the Temple Block and continued to work there until the completion of the Temple and for some time subsequently.

Elder Davis was honored and beloved by all who knew him for his unwavering faith in the Gospel. His manliness of purpose and scrupulous honesty won for him the confidence and respect of all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He possessed some marked peculiarities which distinguished him among his fellows, and which made him a pronounced character. He was unobtrusive and of a gentle temperament, preferring to suffer injustice from others rather than to employ stringent measures to secure his rights. He was, however, jealous of his honor, and guarded with vigilance his self respect. He was of a retiring disposition and difficult to approaching others, yet his strong social qualities and desire for knowledge enabled him measurably to overcome his otherwise sensitive feelings and become an agreeable companion in any capacity he was called upon to render service.

He was a member of the Thirtieth quorum of Seventy, and a diligent worker in his ward. His evening virtue was unsullied. He was an affectionate husband, a loving father and a faithful Latter-day Saint. He died as he had lived, in full assurance of an immortal inheritance with the sanctified and the redeemed in the Kingdom of Heaven.

G. H. DEWATER.

JOHN WEDGE.

John Wedge died in Pioche, Lincoln county, Nevada, Nov. 28, 1895, of pneumonia, in the age of 75 years, 11 months and 7 days.

Deceased was born in Hampshire, England, and resided in Utah in 1851, moved to Pioche, Nevada, in 1870, where he has since resided. He was well known to many of the traveling Elders of the Church in his native country, for he emigrated to Utah, his home being open to them at all times.

"The Common People,"

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache. 25c.
