A WEEK'S PROGRAM.

No Immediate Prospect of Effecting a Compromise.

FINAL SUCCESS PROBABLE.

The House Ready to Pass any Compromise Measure.—The Cabinet Said to Oppose It.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Even though the compromise bill is brought into the Senate tomorrow, there is little prospect of concluding consideration of the question before the latter part of the week. Possibly the compromise may fail, though all the probabilities are in favor of its success. If it should fail, the throttle will be thrown wide open again, and no one can foretell what the week might bring forth.

The course of events in the House the coming week will hinge upon the result of the effort to put through the compromise at the other end of the Capitol. It is not expected, however, that the bill will reach the House until the latter end of the week. No sort of doubt seems to exist about the House. It will pass, and pass with expedition, any compromise that goes through the Senate.

The bankruptcy bill, unless the financial measure dislodges it, will probably occupy the entire week.

The banking and currency committee, to which the expected compromise measure will be referred, consists of seven Democrats and six Republicans. On the question of repeal of the state bank tax the committee is evenly divided, with Johnson, of Ohio, doubtful. The men against repeal say he is surely with them, and the repealers say he will support them if the repeal contains the provisions which he desires.

A man high in the counsel of the administration said tonight: "The President adheres to the proposition that the purchasing clause of the Sherman law should be unconditionally repealed. The lower House of Congress voted for repeal by an overwhelming majority. The majority in the Senate is in favor of unconditional repeal, and the sentiment of the country demands the passage of the pending bill. It is not true that Secretary Carlisle has been in favor of the compromise which was subscribed to by a number of the senators on Saturday. He and the other members of the Cabinet are opposed to that measure."

The Government Finances.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The receipts from the customs at New York (which comprise fully three-fourths of those of the entire country) during the first twenty days of October amounted to $5,[illegible], as compared with $5,[illegible] during the first twenty days in September.

The net gold in the treasury today was $[illegible], a decrease of nearly $[illegible] since the 1st of the month. The currency balance today was $[illegible]; national banknotes outstanding today, $[illegible]. The national bank notes issued during the past six days aggregated $[illegible], and destroyed during the same time, $[illegible].

The receipts of the government for the fiscal year up to date amount to $[illegible], and the expenditures, $[illegible].

The sixth auditor of the treasury department, in charge of the finances of the postoffice department, submitted today a report for the fiscal year ending June 30th last, to the postmaster general. The report shows the net revenue of the entire department for the year was $[illegible], and the expenditures $[illegible], making a deficit of $[illegible].

Natural Gas Explosion.

MARION, Ind., Oct. 21.—An explosion of natural gas here wrecked a dwelling and fatally injured Mrs. J. H. Bailey and her twelve-year-old daughter. Three other children were seriously burned.

CHARLEY FAIR SEES THE FAIR.

He Goes with a Big Gun and a Broad-brimmed Hat.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—An afternoon paper says: With a big revolver in a waist belt, and a broad-brimmed cowboy hat, Charley Fair, the ex-millionaire, registered at the Richelieu today. He came from Kansas City, where he created a great sensation by his very queer actions. His newly made bride, formerly Maud Nelson, of Chicago, accompanies him and seems to enjoy the notoriety thrust upon her husband and herself. The couple started for Jackson Park as soon as they had breakfasted and removed the stains of travel.

The New Comet.

GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Professor Brooks observed the new comet again this morning. He found it brighter than at any time since its discovery. Its position this morning is right ascension twelve hours, twenty minutes, ten seconds; declination, north sixteen degrees, twelve minutes.

When Women Get Mad.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 22.—A special to the Bee from Stromsburg, Neb., says: A large and well developed sensation broke out last evening in the neighboring town of Osceola. It is reported here that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union organized itself into a Whitecap society, for the purpose of chastising several resident young women, whose reputation for chastity is not above reproach. Last night by the use of decoys, the whitecaps succeeded in entrapping the victims and, according to the best information, one of the victims was flogged into insensibility, while two others escaped with their clothes torn from their persons and somewhat bruised. Eleven of the perpetrators were recognized and at once arrested. Some of them are out on bail and the others are in jail. The trial is set for tomorrow.

Another Bad Wreck.

LIMA, O., Oct. 23.—A bad wreck occurred on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago road in a dense fog about 4 o'clock this morning, between the second section of the westbound vestibule train No. 23, which was standing at a switch near Monroeville, on the second section of the eastbound passenger No. 4. The eastbound train was late and running at a good speed, but Engineer Cowan [illegible] to slow up, as he thought it about time for him to reach the switch. Suddenly the other train loomed up, and before he could stop they crashed into each other and were piled up in a wreck.

Engineer Cowan was frightfully scalded, and Fireman Daily badly hurt. Brakeman Hunt is suffering from wounds which may result fatally.

Ladies Visit the Slums.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Seven members of the W. C. T. U. congress, which closed its session here Saturday night, escorted by detectives from the Central station, last night made a slumming tour through the "Levee" district.

At the first place visited the party were denied admission, because there were too many people already there, but they received an invitation to come again. At another place all of the men save one fled from the house. This individual was drunk, and insisted upon dancing with the missionaries, but was finally squelched by the officers. The information gained will undoubtedly aid the ladies in conducting their warfare against vice and intemperance.

MURDERERS CAUGHT.

The Supposed Killers of the Wratton Family.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—A special to the Sentinel from Washington says: At last the guilty murderers of the Wratton family are in the toils of the law. Last Saturday the grand jury ordered the arrest of James Stone, who first discovered the terrible deed. His arrest was caused through his own wife, who testified that Stone, on the night of the murder, complained of a violent toothache, and said he was going to the dentist; that he did not return till a late hour, and then was covered with blood; that Stone maintained that the blood was caused by a bleeding tooth. On inquiry it was found that no dentist had extracted a tooth from Stone.

At first Stone strenuously denied everything, but being assured that clemency would be given him if he made a confession, he at midnight yielded to the overtures and told the story, about as follows:

Knowing that Mrs. Wratton kept a great deal of money about the house, a man named Crosby, a notorious character in the county, planned the robbery. Those engaged in the plot were Lon Williams, Mattie Yarber, William Kays, John W. White, Gripp Clark and James Stone.

At the time of the robbery Crosby was so drunk that he did not reach the house at all, but Stone arrived after the murder was committed, and because he was late the other conspirators swallowed him in the blood of their victims, and in that condition permitted him to go home. Stone does not know why they killed the Wratton family.

No More Prize Fights.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—A special to the Sentinel from Hammond, Ind., says: In this city during the past week an organization was perfected and articles of association drawn which will be incorporated as the Hammond club, to take possession of the Roby Arena, to give contests of science and skill that will come wholly within the law passed by the last legislature. There will be no more "prize fights," as the members believe that should they attempt a fight Governor Matthews would order out the militia. The opening under the new management will be a benefit for Griffo and Lavigne.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

The Remains of MacMahon Followed to Their Last Resting Place.

Interesting Negotiations Between the Bulgarian and Greek Governments—Other Items.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Amid all the pomp of peace and war the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-president of France and duke of Magenta, were conveyed today from the church of La Madeleine, where they were deposited upon arrival from Cresson last night, to the Hotel Des Invalides, the resting place in death of the distinguished sons of France.

By 8 o'clock this morning all the streets and boulevards near the Madeleine and Hotel Des Invalides were crowded with people anxious to see the funeral.

At 9 o'clock the coffin was placed upon the catafalque beneath the grand portico of La Madeleine. The remains of the famous soldier and ex-president was then viewed by a vast crowd.

At [illegible] distinguished personages began to arrive to participate in the obsequies. First came General Boisdeffre, chief of the general staff of the French army, and General Saussier, military commander of Paris, followed by two German attaches of the imperial embassy. Soon after the Russian visiting officers, headed by Admiral Avelan, arrived. The next party to arrive was the Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador, followed by all the other members of the diplomatic corps. The streets were packed with people, all the windows and balconies filled, and every available housetop had occupants.

The dull, long, low rolling, muffled military drums broke upon the air at 11:[illegible], and shortly afterwards the troops presented arms all down the Rue Royale, and the funeral cortege started on the journey, headed by a group of priests. All the male spectators stood bareheaded as the funeral procession made its way towards the Hotel Des Invalides. The coffin was carried to the chapel, where it was received by Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, who officiated at the last religious ceremonies over the dead, which lasted fully one hour. At the conclusion the coffin was conveyed to the court of honor. While there, M. Dupuy, minister of public instruction, and General Loizillon, minister of war, delivered stirring orations over the body of the veteran soldier. M. Dupuy, during the course of his remarks, sketched the career of Marshal MacMahon and declared that he exercised the powers entrusted to him with loyalty, and laid them aside with exemplary dignity. Continuing, M. Dupuy said: "Marshal McMahon joyfully welcomed the late organization in honor of our Russian visitors, and as a soldier and a patriot he well understood their significance."

When all the funeral ceremonies were completed, Marshal Canrobert, the last of the French marshals, was presented with the remnants of two flags by Crimean veterans.

Irish Dynamiters.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—In a speech last night Home Secretary Asquith referred to the Irish dynamiters now in prison. The dynamiters, Asquith said, were fairly convicted. It would not be right to extend towards them further consideration than is shown towards any other class of convicts. The secretary admitted there was one case, however, wherein he entertained reasonable doubts of the justice of the conviction.

CORK, Oct. 22.—John Redmond, a Parnellite leader, in a speech in this city today, said the amnesty of the Irish dynamiters was demanded because the Irish people believed all of Irish political prisoners were honest patriots.

Fighting the Matabeles.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A correspondent of the Morning News sends an account of the Matabele fights. It is related that the engagements were evidently much more than a brush with straggled bands of King Lobengula's warriors, and it is considered that the fight was indeed a "regular battle" on a large scale. It is related here that the victorious forces must have engaged some of Lobengula's crack regiments.

Berlin Bits.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—There will be a notable gathering at Dresden at the celebration of the jubilee of the service of King Albert of Saxony in the army. The fetes will extend several days, and Emperor William and the Archduke of Austria, representing Francis Joseph, will be among those present at the ceremony.

Regarding the army bills, the Prussian minister of finance, Miquel, is perfecting a scheme for abolishing altogether the existing tobacco tax and to reduce by 45 marks per hundred kilograms the duty on imported tobacco. According to the plan new taxes will be levied on home-grown tobacco when it leaves the factory in manufactured state, and on imported tobacco at the same time as the customs duties, the idea being to throw the chief burden on the better class.

The foreign office at Berlin is closely watching an interchange of notes between the Bulgarian and Greek governments, regarding the action of a sergeant of the Bulgarian river police, who fired on the crew of a Greek vessel in the Danube. The Greek government demanded indemnity for wounding Captain Valant, and also asks for the punishment of the Bulgarian sergeant. The Bulgarian government investigated the matter, and upon the report of its local officials declined to pay the indemnity demanded by the Greek government. The result was that the Greek agent at Sofia applied to the Russian minister at Bucharest, who has charge of the interests of Greece in Roumania, and a most interesting series of diplomatic negotiations is in progress.

Prince Bismarck continues to make progress toward complete recovery of health.

Moors and Spaniards.

MADRID, Oct. 21.—An official dispatch from Melilla says the forts there opened fire today on the Moors, and the Spanish warship Venadito is shelling the coast. Shortly after the firing began the Moors fled to their own territory. They sustained a heavy loss. Melilla is poorly prepared for defense, pending the arrival of reinforcements. There is great rejoicing in this city over the news of the defeat of the Moors.

A Shilling a Word.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Sidney Sanford Fleming of Canada, who is visiting the British colonies in the interests of the proposed Pacific cable, suggests the governments interested should own the cable and a shilling a word should be the rate.

Brazilian Rebels Defeated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Herald's Montevideo dispatch from Rio Janeiro says: A fierce battle was fought between the rebels and government troops near Ibicuhi. The revolutionary troops were commanded by General Salgado and the government forces by Pinheiro Machado. After a battle lasting all day the government forces were routed.

The Charges True.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Chancellor Von Caprivi, prosecuted the Vorwaerts, a newspaper, for libel in declaring that ex-Governor Soden, while in office at Cameroons, in West Africa, entered into a commercial enterprise, and bought land, which he sold to the government at a profit. Court dismissed the proceedings, finding the charges true.
