CONGRESS RECORD.

Nicaragua Canal Bill Passes the Senate by 44 to 21.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE.

The Sundry Civil Bill Passed the House—Amendments Canceling Gold Certificates Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The bill pledging the faith of the United States to do the construction of the Nicaragua canal passed the Senate tonight by the decisive vote of 44 to 21. It was the termination of a debate which has lasted since the present session of Congress began.

The bill in brief directs the issue of $70,000,000 of Nicaragua Canal bonds. Each of these is to bear the following guarantee:

"The United States of America guarantees to the lawful holder of this bond the payment by the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua of the principal of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon, as it accrues."

An additional $20,000,000 of bonds is to be issued without the United States guarantee. The total one hundred millions thus issued is to be used in constructing the Nicaragua canal. The secretary of the treasury is to have general supervision of the project. A board of fifteen directors is to have immediate charge of the work. The board is to designate ten members, no more than two from any one state. The United States is to receive $70,000,000 of the canal company stock in return for guaranteeing the bonds, and is to hold a mortgage lien on the property of the canal company.

SUGAR TRUST SCORED.

Aside from the final debate and vote on the Nicaragua bill, the main interest of the day attached to a very caustic speech by Mills of Texas upholding the administration policy in Hawaii, and incidentally scoring the sugar trust.

Wilson Mills (Dem.) of Texas rose to make the speech on the Hawaiian question he had given notice of yesterday, there was much interest manifested. At the outset Mills went out of the beaten path and argued the sugar interest was responsible for the constant excitement over Hawaii.

"It is an old story," said Mills, with great sarcasm, "there is a powerful sugar interest in this country and in Hawaii. It is an interest, demanding that the great power of the United States be exercised in its behalf. This interest is swallowing itself in the United States senate and seeks for intervention in the affairs of Hawaii. It is manifesting itself to an arrangement of the President of the United States because he does not use the power of the United States navy to maintain his interest in Hawaii."

Mills proceeded to lay down the proposition that the Senate was going too far in directing the executive branch as to what use it should make of the navy or the army. It was a strange doctrine, said Mills, that the legislative branch should assume the prerogative to direct another branch of the government as to what it should do.

"If the legislative branch can call on the executive branch," declared Mr. Mills, "then it can call on the judicial branch. We will be able then to call on the chief judicial body of the country to furnish information as to why they withheld the legal opinion asked."

Mills contended it was doubtful if we possessed the executive speech we possessed; the President could be brought to the bar of the house at any time to give his reasons for directing his course. It would be a very moment for the American people when their executive head was too much the creature of the Senate of the legislative branch of the government. Mills eloquently called the roster to which the American people greeted the Hungarian patriot, Kossuth, after he had dared to strike at the oppression surrounding him.

Mitchell (Rep.), of Oregon, asked if Mills sought to place together Kossuth and the representatives of Queen Lilikalani.

The speaker denounced the present Hawaiian government as a "flagrantly misgoverning or a republic."

The Nicaragua bill was then taken up. White (Dem.), of California, presented a letter from London, stating that if the United States did not wish to possess with the canal project, British capital would step in and carry out the plan. Brief speeches were made under the five minute rule.

Walcott offered an amendment requiring the canal company to purchase its material and construction machinery in the United States, Nicaraguan or Costa Rican.

The first votes were on numerous amendments that had been accepted later. Text of Vest, giving the President complete authority to suspend the issue of canal bonds was defeated, 24 to 29.

Walcott's amendment that American goods and materials should be used, was accepted by Morgan and agreed to.

The amendment of Palmer, giving the President power to inspect and to remove directors of the canal company was agreed to. The amendment of Walcott, providing that every dollar of stock should represent a dollar actually expended by the company was agreed to, 27 to 19.

The amendment of Mr. Frye that the words be inserted into sections and each part awarded as a separate one that in order to secure the greatest possible expenditure was agreed to with an amendment of Mr. Wolcott, that the aggregate of all contracts should not exceed $70,000,000. The amendment of Mr. Vest, that the work should not be done by corporations in which stockholders of the canal are interested, was adopted.

The main proposition then came on Mr. Turpie's motion to strike out all after the enacting clause, substituting a provision that a complete survey be made by United States engineers before any further steps are taken. The motion defeated, 31 to 35.

The substitute of Stewart for a new treaty with Nicaragua was adopted, 32 to 30.

The bill was then passed as amended, yeas 44, nays 21, and the Senate at 5:30 p. m. adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—The sundry civil bill passed today in the shortest time so far known on record. It was under consideration but three days. As it passed, the bill carried $48,158,721. Two amendments offered respectively by Hayes and Cousins, the former to give the secretary of the treasury the power to issue United States notes of such dimensions as he should see fit, instead of as now, to issue them of the same denomination, and the latter to retire and cancel the gold certificates, and issue them non-transferable for customs due after July 1st next, included the principal features of discussion. Hayes's proposition was defeated, 74 to 87, while that of Cousins was carried without division.

Another amendment offered by Settle of North Carolina, to strike out the appropriation of $5,000 to pay for information regarding immigrant laborers was lost. An appropriation of $50,000 for a light ship to be stationed off the Straits of Fuca, Wash., was dropped.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

A Man Confessing to Be a Relative of the Vanderbilts.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 25.—C. B. Barnes has been arrested for burglary in the Ontario bank robbery two weeks ago. Barnes was at a leading hotel, and the arresting officer discovered $3,000, Barnes's share of the booty. Cashier Stanton, of the Ontario bank, has identified the prisoner, as did another resident of Ontario. Barnes was the robber third a Santa Barnes, who neither affirms nor denies his guilt, claims to be a cousin of the Vanderbilts, and says he is going to be a business at Austin, Texas.

SILVER BILL AMENDMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Representative Hopkins of Illinois, a member of the ways and means committee, will offer an amendment to Mr. Wilson's bill to repeal the discriminating duty on sugar from certain foreign countries which will be adopted, it is stated, to insure the efficacy of Mr. Wilson's bill to accomplishing its object, that is the signing of reciprocity measures against American goods. The amendment will be substantially as follows:

"Providing that in the case of a foreign country, whether independent or a dependent, that makes or permits an injurious discrimination in such country against products of the United States, the duty mentioned in this bill shall remain in full force and effect as provided in the law in force prior to the enactment of this bill."

MANSION SOLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Hugh Craig, manager of the New Zealand Insurance company, says the cable between Vancouver, B. C., and New Zealand via Honolulu, will certainly be laid. He states that he has offers from Sydney sliders who will not let a cable between Honolulu and Bodega, Cal., if an American concession can be secured.

SCOTT CONSPIRACY.

The Plot that Led to Lynching Said Have.

O'NEILL, Neb., Jan. 25.—Developments today in the Scott case have laid bare the whole conspiracy which resulted in the lynching before the committee. The information is furnished by a member of the vigilance committee. Fifty men are involved in the affair, many of state prominence. It proves to be the work of the anti-horse thief organization which has for a quarter of a century been away in Holt county and defied all law.

The members of the committee who were friendly to Scott knew that he was to be lynched, but they were not more acquainted with the time and place at which the murderous work was to be accomplished. How far the conspiracy extended is indicated by the fact of the members of the committee that is now in the hands of the attorney-general. This includes over fifteen names, among them being one or two ex-members of the legislature.

The meetings of the committee were held at the houses of John Hopkins, Fred Harris, Dan Hickman, John Devereux and H. M. Gardener. These and additional facts were discovered by men within the past few days who are actually members of the vigilantes, and who have actually taken his place on each of money. These men did not participate in the lynching, but they knew it was to occur within a few days.
