It has been practically settled that the L. D. S. U. basketball team will capture the intercollegiate championship this year. The local team has played most consistently throughout the season thus far and the other teams will have to do some fall hustling to overtake them. At Provo Saturday evening the Salt Lakers increased their lead by defeating the B. Y. U. by a score of 33 to 28. There was a great deal of enthusiasm shown during the game. It was a fast, clean contest and was witnessed by one of the largest crowds that ever attended a basketball struggle in the Garden City. The L. D. S. U. team was accompanied by a train load of rooters and they made things lively during the progress of the game.

The game was close one. In the second half with but eight minutes more to play the teams were tied, 24 to 24, but the Salt Lakers got busy and ran up the winning points. The teams lined up as follows:

L. D. S. U.		B. Y. U.

AN OPEN LETTER TO LEGISLATURE

Attention of Lawmakers Called To Fish and Game Conditions.

CLUBS ARE CRITICIZED.

Charge Made That Movement to Change Laws is for the Sole Benefit of Selfish Organizations.

The "News" is in receipt of the following open letter to the legislature, with the request that it be published:

Gentlemen:—Among the many who come to you with ideas, petitions and laws already framed and ready for your approval, is a little bunch calling themselves "Sportsmen," who have or will soon present for your consideration, something that I feel sure they hope you will not have time to scrutinize very closely. They have for some time been trying to work up an interest in the protection of the "fish and game" in the State of Utah. At least, one would think so to read the calls from day to day in the papers for meetings and conventions at the Commercial club. Every county in the state has been asked to have representatives at these meetings, but for some strange reason nobody attends. When I say nobody I mean representatives of the people at large, to whom the game ought to belong. The game warden attends as does his deputies, but the people most in evidence are the organized duck clubs of this city, and this is all the more strange since the ducks have virtually been given over to them for some years, and during this time the people at large have gradually been eliminated from the sport, or use of the game within the State of Utah. These favored sons of fortune and law, first secured all natural duck grounds from the Point of the Mountain on the west of the lake, to the mouth of Bear river on the north. They next took all public streams, spread them out over this ground and called it "private." Every inducement was given the ducks by feeding and guarding them the year round, and nobody outside of members or a few favored friends were ever allowed to hunt upon these game preserves. However, as they were not able to keep thir ducks from flying off sometimes no doubt some got killed while flying from one place to another.

So two years ago they went before the legislature and asked to have a license imposed on all who would fish or hunt. This should diminish the number of hunters and the danger to their ducks.

CALLS LAW UNJUST.

Now, as it is a fact known to all hunters of ducks, that these birds rarely ever leave the lakes to feed till after sundown. From sundown till dark is the only time along the river and sloughs where a hunter not a member of a duck club has a chance to get a shot. Knowing this the "real sportsmen" asked to have it made a crime to shoot at a duck after sunset, and this with the penalty being a jail sentence or $25 fine and many $25 fines have been collected (half of which goes to the informer) from ignorant citizens, but which has, of course, a splendid effect on the masses of citizens at large, to leave the ducks alone.

Now one would think this would be the limit, but it seems not. I see they expect now to have an ideal game law passed, whatever it may be. Some say it is a fight between the sportsmen and pot hunters, and this may be. But if so, it is a row among the members of the duck clubs themselves. For in this valley, off the club grounds, a man is in luck to get a duck for his own pot, not to mention any to sell. But at the mouth of Bear river and Jordan, it is a different matter, and everywhere the "true sportsmen" have located. Here at Lands Ends, right at the feeding and breeding ground clubhouses have been erected for the comfort of owners. Every inducement has been made for the ducks and geese to come and stay. All sorts of feed is scattered and planted, deputy wardens are hired to protect the birds and see they are not disturbed, so here they feed and breed and invite all migratory waterfowls, crossing the basin from north to south in the fall of the year, and when the season opens "the real sportsmen" in automobiles and buggies prepared for the hardships of the hunt, start for their clubhouses roaring fires are made, lunches are brought forth and bottles uncorked and life is a huge joke, and thus the night passes.

SLAUGHTER BEGINS.

Towards morning everything—but the guns are loaded—and these are now attended to, and in darkness the spertsmen sneak out to their prepared blinds; unsuspecting ducks and geese float up to the very muzzle of their guns and before a streak of light appear over the eastern hills, the slaughter commences. From the standpoint of the game it would be adding insult to injury to call it sport. No crime here or now to shoot ducks when the sun is down—everybody gets his "limit." Many shoot only the largest and choicest of ducks. But this is "real sport," this why the ducks must be preserved. Some there are forgetting themselves who call these sports "automobile pot hunters." No officious game wardens here nosing around. No needs. Are not these people clamoring for game protection? Whoever heard of any of this class arrested for breaking the game law. No; those who have suffered arrest and fine are the common people, the farmer, laborer or office man, pho, perhaps, for mere recreation takes a gun for an hour in the evening hoping for nothing beyond a duck or two, but succeeds in falling into the arms of the game wardens and thanks his star the next day when the court magnanimously, because he pleads guilty, lets him off with the minimum fine of $25.

Of course, he swears at conditions but in his own heart makes a promise to be good in the future, and let the ducks alone.

BAD FOR POOR MAN.

Now this being the condition is it any wonder if the people at large take no interest in the calls made for the protection of the game and fish, and it is a puzzle what the "real sporteman" has up his sleeve, and it seems odd that the state game warden should be mixed up with the clubs in this, for nobody knows better than he how little chance a hunter, not a member of a duck club, has of getting any game here in this valley, at least. I know it is proposed to call this club a state and county "fish and game association;" the warden is, of course, interested beyond the ducks but not so the "duck clubs." It was at their request the law was passed requiring a license to hunt and fish. It seemed they lacked gall in asking protection for their ducks alone, so fish was included, with the result that upwards of $5,000 has been taken from the people, and is now in the hands of the treasurer, and no apparent use for it, and the further result that a farmer can't shoot a duck in his own slough or catch a fish, badly as he may need it, without becoming a law breaker or take out a license. Nor can a man take his family in the canyon for a few days save by taking a license for every member liable to throw a fishhook in the stream, or run the risk of being dragged back to town under arrest? All this to give the ducks to a few men who have all choice duck grounds anyhow. It seems an outrage on the people to take the money for a license to hunt and give no place to hunt where game can be found, and if "punishment should fit the crime" is jail sentence or $25 about right for shooting at a duck after sunset? As I said before I don't know what is up, but I would advise the members from the distant counties to keep their ears to the ground. No doubt the gun clubs have their tools in the assembly to aid in passing anything they ask for. It would be a good idea to have it made plain for whom the game is intended, after it has been preserved for the honk, honk, hunters of the duck clubs, or for the peonis at large.

LUSH TO COACH.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 21.—Captain Murphy of the Yale baseball team announced tonight that the team would return to professional coaching and that "Billy" Lush, the former Cleveland American league player, would assume charge of the squad. Lush was coach of that team for three years prior to last season, when he was succeeded by Ted Jones.

LUCAS AND GRIM SURE OF LEAGUE

Helena, Mont., Feb. 21.—That the inter-mountain league of Idaho, Utah and Montana is almost a certainty is the belief of those who should be in a position to know. W. H. Lucas and J. J. Grim arrived in Helena late tonight, and at midnight Mr. Lucas stated to an independent reporter that it looked as if there would be little difficulty in establishing an inter-mountain league with Helena, Butte, Salt Lake, Boise, Missoula and one other Montana or Idaho town in the circuit. After looking over the different towns of the state, the promoters will soon be able to make a statement.

Mr. Grim will go to Great Falls tomorrow, and will visit other towns in the state, with the idea of feeling out the baseball situation. The matter of railroad rates is the chief matter of discussion before the men who are interested just at present, but it is hoped that suitable arrangements can be made. The baseball men will meet in Butte or Helena some time this week, and discuss the matter of a league in all its phases.

MATHEWSON WANTS $8,000.

Great Twirler Says He Will Quit Unless He Gets the Money.

New York, Feb. 21.—Christy Matthewson, the greatest twirler the Giants ever had, has joined the hold-outs squad and declares he will quit baseball forever unless given $8,000 for the coming season.

Hearing that the demand of Mike Donlin for $8,000 for the season is likely to be acceded to by the Giants, Marty declared in a letter to Brush that he considers himself the best player on the team, and that he will not take a salary less than any other player.

It is understood that the great player has made up his mind on this matter and that he will not change. So it is possible that the diamond will lose one of its brightest stars at any moment.
