DEMAND STIFFENS RATE OF INTEREST

Sheep and Cattle Industries Are Drawing Heavily for Loans.

CLEWS ON TAFT POLICY.

Says He Is a Man of Exceptional Tact And Speaks in Optimistic Vein of the Outlook.

Local bankers report that the demand for money continues good, which has a stiffening effect on rates. The demand at present is mostly from sheep and cattlemen who are increasing their herds and getting ready for winter. The continued increase of the local bank clearings is encouraging, particularly in view of the fact that there is very little carrying over of unpaid balances now from day to day, so that the figures published represent more fairly than ever the volume of business transacted. Comparatively little eastern money is coming in here, as the home supply seems to be ample for all practical needs. W. W. Riter and Frank Knox are expected home some time next week from the east, where they went to attend the bankers' convention.

CLEWS ON TAFT.

Henry W. Clews in his weekly circular letter says: The first reception of the president's plans relative to his attitude toward corporations is apt to be considered too seriously. Mr. Taft is a man of exceptional tact and firmness. He cares nothing for spectacular display and these two features may be accepted as a decided protection against the creation of a national legislative situation similar to that current during the closing years of the preceding administration. Mr. Taft has shown no disposition to arrogate to himself any powers not acknowledged to be well within the province of the executive. He is not endeavoring to be at once the legislative branch and the executive branch of the government. Therefore his recommendations are likely to be thoroughly discussed and their value appraised before they take their place on the statute books. The restriction upon the arbitrary issue of securities will provide a distinct check upon the character of concentration so clearly exemplified in the Harriman system of railroads, or, to go still further back, in the Gould and Vanderbilt systems. A check upon arbitrary financing means a check upon combinations that as a first requisite must have the necessary financial backing; and the net result, therefore, will be that combinations would not be possible until examined and approved. The president's ideas may therefore not be considered highly revolutionary in themselves. But not the least of the depressing features connected with their progress will be the tendency by parties affected by them to distort their true significance. It may thus be taken for granted that Congress when it convenes in December will be the source of no little uncertainty and nervousness in stock exchange circles.

HARDWARE.

The hardware trade reports a quiet week as to special features, but plenty going on in the way of general business. The demand and shipment of stoves, heaters and supplies in connection therewith are heavy and steady. The call for sporting equipment in all hunting lines continues unprecedented, showing that more hunters than ever will be out after duck this fall. Hot blast stoves are in steady demand. General and builders' hardware continues to be shipped out in large quantities and an active trade is anticipated for the next 60 days at least. Collections have improved in the last 30 days. The general trade is considered for September 15 per cent better than that of September, 1908.

LUMBER.

The lumber trade reports a continued stiffening of prices, largely owing to the increasing difficulty of getting anything like prompt shipments from the coast owing to the growing shortage in freight cars. However, local yards by ordering stocks considerably ahead of the time of requirement for consumption, manage to avoid running short on stocks, so the car shortage evil is not so seriously felt. The trade is much interested in the approaching convention in this city of Hoo Hoos, an order composed entirely of members of the lumber trade.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

The wholesale dry goods trade reports local receipt of mail orders as steadily increasing, as country merchants are running short of various kinds of stocks. Jobbers report the cotton question as still dominant with prices tending upwards, as values are said to be out of line with cost of production, and the demands of consumers are not up to the normal. Many sheetings and drills are below the parity of prices current for wide print cloths, sateens, etc. In some of the wholesale houses, buyers are inquiring for 1910 fancy fall cottons. Duck goods are holding firm. Wide print cloths are strong, with mills reluctant to take future business at spot values. Bleached goods values hold strongly. Fall ginghams are active, replacing less serviceable goods. Seersuckers and the better known staples are having the call for the time being. The best demand in the lining trade is for sateens and taffetas. Knit goods are irregular with duplicate fall ordering slow, and the spring trade not yet active. However, manufacturers are not worrying, as they have enough orders to keep them going for some time. Spring Aermand is at a standstill. A large business is being done in sweaters for fall and winter wear. They are lighter than overcoats and do just as well, besides weighing very much less. In silks, complete costumes are being worn of taffetas for fall wear, the suits being tailored, and in colors. Satins will not be worn as much as last year, but they have sold well for lining. Brocades are being shown extensively, but are used mostly for linings. Silk chiffon cloth in colors over contrasting taffetas and moire silks are featured in the new lines. Foulards are being ordered ahead freely. Linen deliveries are much delayed.

RETAIL DRY GOODS.

The retail trade reports trade good for the entire month of September, although it has been too warm for the heavier fall goods, but all kinds of staples have sold well, especially in millinery. The call in the east is now for small hats, but in the west the big hat still retains its place of favor. Furs are already being called for, so that the dealers are looking for a good fur trade this fall. There is a strong call for dress goods, particularly in wool lines, and this time of year wool is stronger than silk. Carpets are selling strong. Hosiery and gloves are still good sellers, the gloves being mostly of the short variety. There are few changes in fall styles, the exception being in long coats. Retailers report good trade in and have been reordering at slight advances. On fine cambrics, lawns and long cloths of the best makes, the market is very firm. Dealers report a growing disposition among women to buy dresses in this country rather than abroad. It is claimed now in the trade that America no longer stands second to London or Paris in designing gowns. American fashions, like many other things American, are second to none in the world.

BUSINESS, REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 witnessed the disbursement of something like $200,000 in dividends to stockholders in the leading local concerns; among others making payment were the Utah-Idaho Sugar company preferred, Home Fire Insurance company, Heber J. Grant & Company, and the Sugar City Townsite company. Amalgamated Sugar, Consolidated Wagon & Machine company, most of the local banks, and Z. C. M. I. will pay between this and the 15th. A large number of transfers in Utah-Idaho preferred took place at $8.85, ex-dividend. Consolidated Wagon is also now quoted with the dividend off.

Building permits for the month of September reached the record breaking total of $813,500, as compared with a total of $317,015 for the month of September, 1908. This establishes a high water mark for September, exceeding that of any September in the history of the state. The largest permits for the month were those for the D. & R. G. depot and the Mission theater, the former costing $400,000 and the later $150,000.

* * *

Large as is this total, it will be greatly exceeded during the month of October, when the total building permits for the month will run certainly over $1,000,000. The permits for yesterday, the first day of the month, reached $234,000, and as the permit for the Kearns office building, which is to be built on Main street, will be taken out in a day or two, calling for an expenditure of $600,000, there will remain but the sum of $166,000 for the balance of the month in order to reach the million-dollar mark. That this amount will be exceeded is unquestionable.

The southeast bench has received a good deal of attention from investors during the past week and several acreage deals have been recorded at good prices. The largest sale was made by John R. Smith, a real estate man, to the Genereaux Real Estate and Investment company of Butte, Mont. This firm, which is buying heavily in that section, purchased 20 acres on Twenty-third East and Twelfth South for $16,000. The deal was spot cash.

* * *

The Goddard Investment company also sold 10 acres on Seventeenth East between Ninth and Tenth South for $5,000, Young and Young representing the purchasers. The same firm also sold 10 acres to Butte people near Eleventh South and Sixteenth East for $7,000. The purchasers propose putting in cement sidewalks and otherwise improving the property, which is already platted, and disposing of it in lots. S. L. Harris, of this city, also purchased 1½ acres of land at Eighteenth East and Eleventh South, including a four-room brick house, for $1,800, and has already moved in.

* * *

The excavation for the four-story Wallace building in upper Main street is practically completed, and work will be started right away on the concrete foundation.

* * *

The six apartment house which is being built by W. H. Bywater in Center and Quince streets, near Peach street, is now almost ready for the plasterers. The roof will be on in a few days. The building will cost about $15,000.

* * *

The Goddard Investment company started work this week on two more cottages on the north bench between G and I streets. They are being built in Twelfth avenue and will cost cost $2,750 and $2,500. One of them will have four rooms and the other five rooms. This company is now building eight cottages at different places on the north bench between Ninth and Thirteenth avenues.

* * *

The first of two or three high class modern homes, which Architect Don Carlos Young expects to build on the North bench, is now being built in Tenth avenue between A and B streets, facing south. The home will consist of eight rooms, and will be a story and a half. The style will be bungalow, buff brick being used for the outside and natural wood finish on the inside, with hard wood floors. The cost will be $4,000.

With the arrival of large quantities of steel this week construction work on several large buildings looks more encouraging. Among those held up for several weeks is Z. C. M. I. addition, the steel orders for which were sent in just at a time when the steel market was already overcrowded, and no orders were being taken under 90 days. Several cars of steel have arrived and seven or eight more are on the way. Architect Hanson says that work will be rushed now, as the delay with the steel has allowed time to get all the cut stone and marble ready. Other buildings that have been delayed for the same reason are the Felt building, north of the Boston block, and the Fisher building on West Temple street.

* * *

Work was started this week on the excavation for the new garage to be built by James and Oscar Moyle on the property in State street immediately south of the Utah Independent Telephone building. The new building will consist of two stories and a basement, though it will be built so that three more stories can be added any time in the future. The building will occupy the whole width of the ground which is is 76½ feet, and the first floor will extend back the full depth of 247 feet. The second floor will be 76½x100 feet. Asper, Noall & Co., are the general contractors, E. T. Ashton having the contract for the brick work and John Holt the excavation and concrete foundation. George W. Eldredge is the architect. The building will cost about $40,000.

* * *

Charles A. Lambourne is preparing to build a two-story house, containing eight rooms, in F street near Fourth avenue, at a cost of $4,500. The building will be constructed of brick and stone, and will be finished in fir, with hard wood floors, and all the modern conveniences. The old building on the ground has been torn down and work will be started as soon as the plans, which are in the hands of Architect George W. Eldredge, are ready.

* * *

Plans have been prepared for a five-room modern cottage to be built by Thomas C. Nuttall in Tenth South east of Seventh East street. When finished it will cost about $3,000.

* * *

The dark marble for the wainscoating and trimmings of the interior of the presiding bishop's office arrived during the week, and a force of men is engaged putting it in place. When completed the bishop's office will be as well finished and elegantly equipped as any office in the city.

* * *

Work on the foundation is now being pushed at the New Utah hotel. A number of men are engaged mixing and wheeling concrete for the huge retaining wall around the excavation, after which work will be started on the big concrete footings of the hotel. A plank roadway has been built down into the excavation from South Temple and wagons are busy hauling away more of the surplus dirt from the excavation for the subbasement.

* * *

Charles Herman is building a two-story brick house of nine rooms in O street near South Temple street, at a cost of about $5,000. The building is to be modern throughout and the interior finish will be fir. Asper, Noall & Co. are doing the work.

* * *

Burt & Carlquist have started work on the fifth house of the 16 which they propose to build at Jefferson place, between West Temple and First West street, facing Eight South. They are building to suit buyers. A piece of land 10x20 rods has been secured and they propose to have a paved street up the center, and to have sewer connections put in and city water and gas laid on. They are also building a six-room modern brick cottage on Lake street, east of Liberty Park, for James E. Olsen, which will cost about $3,500.

* * *

Sales made by John R. Smith during the week include six lots to Henry C. Halloway, of this city, in Twelfth East near Twelfth South for $2,600, also two lots on View avenue, View City addition, to Charles C. Mills for $800, and two lots to Karl Mueller in the same addition for the same price.

* * *

The excavation for the $60,000 apartment house to be built by Mrs. Edwin Kimball at Sixth East and Second South, is nearly completed. The building will be four story and contain 98 rooms.

* * *

With the opening of the fall real estate season, A. N. Humphries, the real estate dealer, expects to finish selling out Idlewild and Sunnyside additions on the southeast bench. Over three-fourths of the building lots in the additions have already been sold and a large number more are spoken for. Mr. Humphries says that with the five miles of cement sidewalks in the additions, the newly graded streets and the shade trees which are contracted for, he expects to have no trouble in disposing of the rest of the lots.
