A little child, two and half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayres, of Arvada, Colo., died of strangulation during a fit of coughing. The child had an ordinary case of whooping cough and was not supposed to be in more than ordinary danger. While coughing a few days since phlegm was drawn into the windpipe, and the father, seeing the situation, hurried to a doctor with the child, but it was too late for relief.

Amalgam thieves have done a very clever job at the Ledger mill. They slipped into the mill, unscrewed the piece board of the battery which covered the gold amalgam and made quite a haul, but just how much is impossible for the mill men to determine. A man named Strong, who conducts a second-hand store at Sacramento, Cal., attempted to commit suicide by attaching a rubber hose to a gas jet and holding the end of the hose to his mouth. After he had inhaled enough of the gas to render him unconscious he let hold on the hose loosened and the gas, instead of entering his system, escaped through the door and windows. He was discovered shortly afterward and a physician summoned, who succeeded in bringing him back to his normal condition. The only reason he gave for wishing to end his life was that he was tired of living.

At a mass meeting of citizens held at Tombstone, Ariz., on Friday night, the following resolution was adopted and telegraphed to the secretary of war: "We, the people of Cochise county, in mass meeting assembled, protest against the removal of troops from Fort Bowie and Fort Cachu as being inimical to the welfare of the settlers in southeastern Arizona and the most glaring infringement of the protection guaranteed by the Constitution. If carried out it will leave the people who have braved the hot shot of Geronimo without any protection from the ravages of Apaches, who are only held in check by the presence of troops at these points."

Within a few weeks reports of grasshoppers, locusts and hoop jaw have frequently come to the veterinary office at Fresno, Cal., and these diseases seem to threaten great loss unless promptly dealt with. The office has visited different parts of the county and killed several animals suffering from one of these diseases. At one dairy Mr. Cole says he has died recently and there is danger that others have been affected. At a large dairy, seven miles southeast of Fresno, nineteen cows have died of hoop jaw. The diseases seem to have come from Bakersfield, and the country south of Fresno county and are spreading toward the city.

For some time past the officers at Collinsville, a little town at the mouth of the Sacramento river in Solano county, Cal., have suspected the Chinese residents there of being engaged in the production of opium for smoking purposes. Two constables made a raid a few nights ago. As they approached the suspected house they caught the Chinamen who were carrying two sacks full of freshly made opium. Entering the house, the officers secured three more Chinamen who were at work. A complete opium-smoking outfit was seized. The value of the opium seized was about $3,000. The prisoners were lodged in jail to await the coming of the revenue officers.
