COUNTY COURT.

Business Before the Selectmen and Judge McNally Today.

Property Assessed in Two Different Parties—The Tax Paid in One Instance and Property Sold in the Other.

The county attorney, reporting on a communication from L. R. Tyson regarding the use of the assessor's plats, stated that the plats were in the possession of the county assessor, and the court had no power to compel him to let them go out of his possession, but they were subject to the inspection of any one who desires to obtain information from them, and suggested that the court request the assessor to extend to Mr. Tyson all reasonable facilities for doing the work which he has contracted to do for the county.

The report was adopted and the assessor requested to afford Mr. Tyson such facilities as he could.

The petition of Erlen Shafer for revocation of her property deeded to her not used by the county for a boiler yard, was referred to the selectmen and county attorney.

The county attorney reporting on the petition of Otto C. Furniss, of Draper, recommended that a road be opened up for traffic through the center of section 25, township 1 west. Referred to the selectmen.

The same official reporting on the petition of Mr. Nelson, said the property had been assessed to two different parties, for the year 1893, and that the taxes were paid under one of the assessments and the property was sold under the other, but inasmuch as the county has not purchased the property, it could not grant any relief to the petitioner, unless the court desired to voluntarily appropriate the amount for which the property was sold. The court ordered Nelson to file a claim for the amount of the tax.

The claim of Joseph Terry for $20 due as refund of amount paid on account of lease of school lands was allowed.

The petition of L. A. Clark for relief from tax sale was allowed.

The bill of Judge McNally for June was presented amounting to $170.

A petition was filed in the probate court today by John B. Chase, a minor, asking for the revocation of the letters of guardianship issued to Elizabeth Morris, and for the appointment of A. A. Dalton as guardian of the person and estate of said petitioner.

The petition sets forth that John B. Chase is a beneficiary under the will of Benoni W. Chase, from whom he received real estate by devise; that in January, 1893, the court ordered Walter R. Green, the administrator of said estate, to distribute to the petitioner said real estate and also monies in the hands of said administrator; that the administrator has not obeyed the order, nor has the said guardian taken a course to require a final settlement; that the said guardian is in the occupation of the real estate, but that she has failed to properly care for, preserve and improve it, and has also failed to properly guard, protect and promote the interests of petitioner. Wherefore, it is alleged that said Elizabeth Morris is incompetent to discharge the duties of her guardianship, and the order of removal is asked for.

The court ordered that all persons interested in the guardianship of said minor appear on Monday, July 22, to show cause why the order should not be made.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for all such cases. Mrs. Lucy Allen, of Spartanburg, writes to Dr. Pierce: "I've seen plenty years. Dr. R. V. Pierce, when I commenced using your 'Favorite Prescription' I was in bad health. Had long been in the 'Female Institute' of Dublin, N. C., but was led to try your 'Favorite Prescription' in the absence of women which had long been the cause of my suffering. I was so much improved by taking first bottle to go on with the Prescription. I have taken eight bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and two of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and feel like a new woman. I can do my housework, and have done much of it since I commenced taking your medicines. I was so much improved by taking first bottle to go on with the Prescription. I have taken eight bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and two of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

TO THY OR NOT TO THY?

ferred to by Judge Powers, the trouble was they didn't apply at all. But we would leave the issue of the question to be discussed by Attorney Rich.

Here he paid considerable attention to the Assessor of Commissioner Nebeker and said that it made no difference—that it did not affect the validity—that a quorum could transact business. To hold to the contrary would be equivalent to saying that the administration of justice could be thwarted at any time by a member of a board absenting himself.

Attorney John M. Zane was next heard. This morning he said Judge Powers had had all of the memorials of the board sent to present to "Paul." During the noon hour it seemed that he had undergone a change of opinion and now held that all must be present to "counsel" and that a majority could act.

Commissioner Sheppard—Was Mr. Noble here when the day of trial was set?

Secretary Fell—Yes, sir, he was.

Chairman Jennings—The objections by Judge Powers are overruled and the hearing of the case will now be proceeded with.

The hearing was under way at press time.

Excursion to Fish Lake.

Those who are in a quandary as to how they shall spend a week's vacation during the summer very enjoyably, have the question solved, for the people of Sevier county have settled on a place.

They propose going to Fish Lake, a resort in the mountains about thirty miles east of Richfield, Sevier county. It is a beautiful place. The lake runs in a northwesterly direction with large mountains on either side, covered with timber which extends to the water's edge.

It is the intention to have Sevier valley on the 4th of July to be given ten days. Arrangements have been made so that those who do not go prepared to camp out may find shelter and provisions, or those who have means may be supplied with camping equipments. Those living in the northern part of the Territory, who desire to come by rail to Salina, may communicate with Nels P. Nelson, of Richfield, Sevier county, for transportation from Salina to the lake.

There is plenty of fine pasture at the lake and the mountains are covered with grass so that teams may be turned out to pasture.

The amusements at the lake will be dancing, concerts, theaters, boating, fishing, swinging, ball playing, fishing and target shooting. Refreshments such as ice cream, lemonade, candies, nuts, crackers, etc., will be served.

The excursion will be under the direct management of the Y. M. M. I. associations of Sevier Stake. All respectable and orderly people are invited, but the impure and those who go for speculative purposes are not allowed, for any game of chance is prohibited that is not directly under the control or supervision of the committee will not be tolerated. It is the desire of the committee of the M. I. associations to furnish an enjoyment for the young people, and at the same time protect them from the evil influence of those who endeavor to introduce habits that are not revealing in their nature.

Those who desire to join us in the amusements and who are satisfied with these restrictions—come along and you will be welcome.

STRANGE AS POE'S ROMANCE.

A CHILD WHO WAS BURIED ALIVE RETURNS AFTER MANY YEARS.

(From the Gaulois, Paris.)

A Vienna correspondent says: A mysterious affair is being investigated by the Belgrade police. Seven years ago a Bulgarian named Spasojo Georgiewitch lost his little boy, who was then six years old. According to the widespread custom in Servia, specimens of all the silver coins in circulation at the time were placed in the child's coffin. It appears that the grave-digger, being aware of this practice, was in the habit of reopening graves and stealing the money, and in the present case they were startled while at their work by the supposed dead child moving, one of its arms directly the lid of the coffin was taken off. They decided to carry the body, life or no life, to the parents, but in the darkest night, who happened to be the same that witnessed the exhumation and entombment, the child died and entirely fell to the ground. The doctor who was shortly taken about, shrank from publishing his remarkable discovery, and the grave diggers were equally unwilling to confess their facts. Consequently all parties agreed to say nothing of the affair, and the doctor undertook to place the boy, who was exposed, with some family people at a distance from Belgrade.

The story runs that in the course of time this family brought the child to Belgrade, and the boy, who is now 18 years old, and who is known as Michael, was recognized not long ago in the city. One day he was sent out to buy some fruit, and meeting with a person aware of the whole affair, declared that he should enter the shop of Spasojo Georgiewitch. His striking resemblance to his supposed dead ancestor's face aroused the attention, and a short examination showed that he, too, had two front teeth that were twisted, a scar on the forehead, caused by a fall, and a mole on the back of his right ear. Allowed, at last, into the house, he was under the impression that he had seen the woman before, and being questioned about what he remembered, he said that two men had taken him out of a hole in the ground and carried him during the night, "to a place where a gentleman was tied to a tree," and thence he was taken somewhere else. He remembered the names of the brothers and recalled some other details which appeared to die away with his death.

Magistrate Wolf, who came on Feb. 20, with results which caused to arise in him the theory of the Georgiewitch case, the grave was opened and the skeleton found to be in size, as far as that of a child under six years of age and of a smaller build than their son. The doctor and the surgeon later assured of the boy Mihailo dead, however, all knowledge of the affair, while no one knows what has become of the two grave-diggers.

PROVO.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

PROVO, June 26, 1895.

Accident With a Hay Fork.

This forenoon Hyrum Abercrombie, a brother-in-law of Henry Abercrombie, was standing on a hay rack in the Tithing Office yard when some men were unloading hay. The hay fork in some manner caught the boy in the throat, inflicting an ugly wound from which the blood spurted in a stream. Dr. Fyfe, one of the men who lives close in the yard, stopped the flow of blood by compressing the wound with his hands. Dr. Allen was summoned and the boy taken home. Mr. Fyfe holding his hands on the wound while the other was being removed. The wound was then dressed and the lad is believed will be all right again in a few days, although doubtless he would have died in death in a minute had not Mr. Fyfe acted so promptly.
