PLEASANT GROVE LETTER.

A Child Dies of Its Burns—Specimen for California—Items From Pleasant Valley District.

PLEASANT GROVE, Utah, June 28, 1897.—The funeral over the remains of the little son of Thomas Hillman, who died at Mammoth the other day from the effects of being burned was held this afternoon. This sad accident solicits the sympathy of the community. The little fellow was a bright child full of promise. His mother has been visiting her old home and parents, and only returned to the mining camp the day the child met his death. He was five years of age.

The examination board for school teachers met at Provo today. Applicants to teach are in attendance and are going through the "mill."

Professor John L. Swensen of the Leland Stanford university, California, and Howard R. Driggs left for the mountains with a camp outfit this morning, to spend a week or more in study and observation. Mr. Swensen is securing specimens, botanic and otherwise, for the California university.

Your correspondent has just returned from Provo via the R. G. W. The coal mines at Castle Gate, Scofield and Winter Quarters are only working part of the time, consequently miners get short pay.

A great many people are engaged getting out railroad ties and mining timbers along the road.

A very large flock of sheep (wealthy) is being "clipped" at P. V. Junction. The animals will be driven east this summer and fed for mutton. Eastern parties are the owners. Sheep men feel much safer than cattle owners. The latter are preyed upon by a thieving gang that infest that region.

Messrs. Deal Bros. and Mendenhall of Springville, S. J. Jones of Provo, and Southworth Bros., Castello, are contractors for the ties and timbers and are giving lots of work to men and teams. D.

Wayne Stake Conference.

The sixteenth quarterly conference of the Wayne Stake of Zion was held at Loa, Wayne county, Utah, May 29th and 30th, 1897. Present on the stand, Elder Francis M. Lyman of the quorum of Apostles, Elder Jonathan G. Kimball of the first council of Seventies, and the Stake authorities, Elder Hans M. Hansen, first counselor to the Stake president, presided. After the usual opening exercises Elder Hans M. Hansen gave a report of the labors of the Stake presidency. Perfect harmony existed and only some since the organization of the Stake had they neglected to visit every ward in the Stake once in their ministry. The people generally are prosperous and happy. The prospects for an abundant harvest are flattering, and a peace smiles upon the Saints. The missionaries sent from Wayne Stake are doing a good work, and the salvation of the earth, and those who have recently returned are a strength in helping to build up this Stake of Zion. The Thurber, Caineville, Torrey, Fremont and Lyman wards were reported in good condition by Bishops M. W. Mansfield, W. E. Hanks, H. E. Maxfield and P. J. Christensen.

Elder Moroni Lazenby, a returned missionary from the New Zealand mission, greatly rejoiced in the testimony the Father had given unto him. The sick had repeatedly been healed under his hands and the language God been given to him by the inspiration of the Holy Ghost. He rejoiced in the progress being made in preaching the Gospel to the world.

Elder Jonathan G. Kimball said it was to him a passing sight to see so many young men leading positions in this new Stake of Zion. Spoke of the hardships encountered in building up new countries. Warned the people to guard against the introduction of those evils so common to civilization and further counseled the people to settle their difficulties as much as possible without going to law. Spoke briefly upon the law of Tithing.

Elder Francis M. Lyman said he felt filled with joy and satisfaction in the reports given this morning and was pleased to learn of the healthy condition of the Stake. He spoke some time pointing out the improvements that should be made in the settlements of Wayne Stake. Men should not squander their means by going to law when it can be avoided, but the courts are proper for their peace and it is necessary that the laws of the land be enforced. The Latter-day Saints should live above the law of the land, they should live exemplary lives walking before the Lord in righteousness always. We should trust in the Lord in the hour of adversity and sickness.

Two o'clock p. m. Elder Gustave B. Bastian reported his labors as one of the Stake presidency and rejoiced greatly in the condition of the work. Spoke briefly upon charity and the blessings derived by being liberal in heart.

Elder Jonathan G. Kimball gave an excellent discourse upon the propriety of short sermons and short prayers, saying just such things as we are inspired to say, and seeking for just such things as we need. The necessity of having good government in our families and training our children in the fear of God.

Elder Francis M. Lyman occupied the remaining time, discoursing upon the gifts, office and manifestations of the Holy Ghost, the duties of the Stake presidency, High Councilors and all Stake officers; the necessity for faithful, zealous work and purity of life on the part of the Elders of the Church.

Sunday morning, 9 o'clock a.m. Andrew Sanford, superintendent of Lea Sunday school, opening.

Elder Moroni Lazenby learned from the Book of Mormon, concerning the second coming of the Son of Man. An excellent address was given by Nellie Pace. Remarks by Brothers Dan Backman and Frank Forsyth.

Elder Francis M. Lyman said he was pleased to meet the officers. The Sunday school work is the most important portion of the Church. There is no organization in the Church capable of doing so much good. While Elder Lyman was speaking, the Spirit of God was upon him. He drilled the children by repeating after him the sentiments that should pass through their minds when the Sacrament is administered. The speaker made an extract plea to Sunday school teachers and officers to use the best effort of their lives to stem the tide of intemperance and wage a warfare against immorality and crime and lastly the youth of Zion against these evils by teaching them good habits and purity of life.

Elder Jonathan G. Kimball spoke upon the necessity of making proper impressions upon the minds of the children; referred to the days of his childhood and showed the power of good example and proper training.

Ten p. m., regular conference meeting. Elder Francis M. Lyman presented the general and local authorities all of whom were unanimously sustained.

Elder J. G. Kimball spoke upon the principle of faith; related some of his missionary experience, showing the necessity of testing and be one thing familiar with the Scriptures; the necessity for family prayers and worship was treated. The duties of Seventies were defined and Elder Kimball earnestly exhorted them to be men of God.

Elder Francis M. Lyman contrasted the force of religion established by men, with the revealed Gospel of Jesus Christ, and spoke briefly upon the subject of revelations.

Two p. m. Bishop George Coleman reported Teasdale ward in good condition. Sacrament administered under the direction of Bishop B. F. Brown and H. E. Maxfield.

Elder F. M. Lyman preached at some length upon the great duties of a Latter-day Saint, showed that temporal labor is just as necessary as spiritual; declared it to establish the Kingdom of God on earth. A vast the people to set out more shade, forest and fruit trees, and make this valley a beautiful place. The principle of sacrifice was treated, a much religion should be dearer to him than life itself.

Elder Jonathan G. Kimball spoke upon the sin of poverty; God loves an honest, upright man, but despises a deceiver or the brethren. He read from the book of Doctrine and Covenants and treated upon the Word of Wisdom and tithing. The observance of every law brings a blessing. We should receive revelation only for our obedience to those laws we keep; we cannot claim a fulness of glory and exaltation if we do not obey all the laws of God in temporal affairs.

Benediction by Elder George H. Crosby.

Meetings were all well attended, the weather was favorable and a good spirit prevailed throughout conference.

This is what happens: One part comes out where it should for clinching, the other part goes into the tender flesh and nails are the reach of the Cold-Rolled and by which the fibres of metal are separated and not cut, leaves no sharp edge, nor flaws—and. This kind of a nail can be easily distinguished by the rough edge among the nails near the points.

Putnam Nails

are exclusively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed, preserving the old-fashioned hand-made nail. This process makes the fibres of metal come together like a compact, fine nail that cannot split, sliver or break and is Absolutely Safe.

Examine the nails in your stable's shoe box. If their edges are smooth, they are cut nails. Ask for the "Hot-Forged" nail. If you find a rough edge, you have the cold rolled nail, made there. Don't use cut nails at any price.
