A GREASY BUSINESS.

How the Legislative House was Led by the Nose

ON THE PUBLIC PRINTING BILL.

A Sharp Trick to Mulct the Territory to Pay its "No Salary" Public Printer.

That was quite a sharp game worked in the Legislative House of Representatives last evening. The fact that it was dirty business, and that its object is to gouge the Territory out of a most little cash, never seemed to dawn upon the unsophisticated legislators, who evidently believed the Territory was being benefited when in fact it was being robbed. But the public will get the news just the same, and the House members may enjoy explaining to their constituencies how the wool was pulled over their eyes so thickly.

There was passed in the appropriation bill, by the House, an item for $150 for indexing the minutes to go to J. R. Sloan, public printer. More of this anon.

In the proceedings at the evening session Judge Powers moved that Sloan be given a vote of thanks for having saved to the Territory in its printing for the session over $[illegible]. The House passed this motion unanimously. The gullibilities of the representatives as they ruled "aye" on this proposition surpassed all understanding.

As a matter of fact the public printer did not save a cent to the Territory in its printing. With the items as they left the House in the appropriation bill, he increased the expense to the Territory.

In 1892 the session printing cost $[illegible]. For the first fifty-one days of this session the bill put in was $[illegible]. This makes a difference of $[illegible].

For the last nine days' minutes of the session are omitted. These should be on from the aggregate of the first fifty days of the session. They make considerably more than did the 27th to the 36th days of the last session inclusive. This bill is yet to come in.

In 1892 the House Asylum and Reform school reports and 5,[illegible] pamphlets were printed at a total of $[illegible]. These were not printed this year.

In 1892 the University report was issued in one volume while it was this year. There is charged for this year's short report over $1[illegible].

In 1892 the governor's message and accompanying documents made 1[illegible] pages and cost $[illegible]. This session it was condensed of that amount, yet $1[illegible] is charged for it, or at the rate of $[illegible] for last year's message.

In 1892 there was no index made or printed. There never has been one. It is wholly unnecessary. The government will not allow it in the journals, no provision being made therefor. The House appropriated $150 for this unnecessary item. It never needs to be done. It is a useless gouge into the public funds of $150, and that does not include the cost of printing it, which would have to be paid additional if done.

Fighting it all up, the Territory is paying more for its printing this session than last, more for it than other sessions offered to do it for, and is to pay for an "index" besides.

Of course, it may be said that the "index" item is a little sop to Mr. Sloan for serving "without salary" as public printer, but $150 is an exorbitant salary for the benefit (?) the Territory has received. And, for this magnanimous service "without compensation," the public printer was voted the unanimous gratitude of the legislative House!

If the Legislature wants to pay its public printer for his advice, why does it not do so honestly and squarely?

The taxpayers will want to know more about this thing if it goes through. They don't like to be tricked by a game of this kind. It is too greasy business.

LAID TO REST.

The Remains of Another Battalion Member Placed in the Silent Grave.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Isaac Harrison, who died on March 2nd, were held in the Sandy ward meeting house at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The building, which was tastefully draped in black and white by the sisters of the Relief society, was crowded to overflowing by those anxious to pay their last earthly respects to one who was so universally known and liked. The Ninety-third quorum of Seventies, of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the arrangements. The remains were accompanied from the late residence to the meeting house by the ward Bishopric and members of the quorum, the family and friends. The services were taken charge of by Bishop Jensen. Bishop Bills, of South Jordan, offered the opening prayer, after which well-timed and appropriate addresses were made by Elders Wm. Taylor, of Mill Creek; Isaac Gros, of Salt Lake; Benjamin Bateman, of West Jordan; Bishop Bills, of South Jordan; John Sharp, of Union; E. Holman, Wm. Kirby and Bishop Jensen of Sandy, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of praise of his honesty, integrity and general uprightness of the deceased, as known to them through long years of intimate friendship and association. They spoke of the esteem in which he was held by all the people irrespective of religious belief, owing to his ever ready willingness to assist in the alleviation of sorrows and distress.

After the benediction was pronounced by Rio A. Mayne, of South Jordan, the people were permitted to take a farewell look upon the familiar features, that looked just like life. The procession was then formed and moved to the cemetery, headed by the ward Bishop and Secretary on foot, and the remains followed by the family and friends in carriages. A heavy drizzle prevented some of the women and children from accompanying them. Arrived at the cemetery the dedicatory prayer was offered by Elder W. H. Hook of the Seventies, and the remains of one of the few remaining Battalion veterans were laid to rest to sleep until the resurrection morn.

Isaac Harrison, son of Latham and Mary Jane Harrison, was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, November 2nd, 1815. He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, April 15th, 1837, by Miles H. Nelson; was familiar with the Prophet Joseph, and with the scenes and incidents of Nauvoo. After the exodus from Nauvoo, when the call came for the Mormon Battalion, he enlisted as private in company E, leaving his wife and children with the body of the Saints. He never saw his wife again, death claiming her ere theremnant got to the valley. Two of the children, a son and daughter, now survive and live, one in Iowa, and one in Nebraska.

When the Battalion was disbanded in California, Brother Harrison remained there several years, and married Celestia Stubbs, who survives him, and whose devoted hours and ministrations, night and day, have done much to alleviate the distress of his last hours. He brought his family to Utah in 1850, settling at Farmington, Davis county, but in a year removed to Salt Lake county, finally settling in Sandy, where he remained until his death. He had charge of the first Sunday school in Hillsborough (now Bennion), South Jordan, West Jordan and at Sandy. He was the first justice of the peace in Sandy, which office he held, with only one short interval, ever since. He was postmaster for many years and was always prominent in civic and ecclesiastical affairs. Through faith and the ministrations in his sick, few men were better known and respected. He never wavered in his testimony to the truth of the work to which he had dedicated his life. He leaves a numerous family of children and grandchildren in Utah.

HAS A STRANGE LOOK.

Is There a Woman in the Case, and if so Where is She Now?

Two Men Abandon a Horse and Buggy Near South Bountiful and Disappear in the Direction of the Jordan.

George W. Cracheron, a well-known resident of South Bountiful, called at the police station today and related a story that is causing a good deal of excitement among his neighbors and friends and which has altogether a very strange look.

To a representative of the News Mr. Cracheron said that early Wednesday morning a couple of men were seen to drive from the main road between this city and Bountiful into an open farm, alight from a buggy, tie the lines to the dash board, leave the outfit and run towards the Jordan river some miles away.

This procedure rather surprised a lady who witnessed it and she watched the men until they disappeared in the distance. They ran most of the time only occasionally their speed when apparently out of breath. In the meantime the horse and buggy remained in the field where deserted until nearly noon when the attention of one of Mr. Cracheron's sons was recalled to the case. The animal was a fine bay mare and had the appearance of having been driven very hard. The buggy was a good one and almost new. On the seat was a lady's large woolen shawl of superior quality and beneath it was found a piece of female apparel in the form of an undervest, and a scrap of paper with the single word "Ogden" written on it.

Young Cracheron took the outfit to his father's place about one hundred rods distant with a view to taking care of it until the owners should call for it. But no one claiming right of property has as yet put in appearance as yet, and that fact has led to the suspicion in the minds of some of the Bountiful people that crooked work has been done. It is believed that the outfit was driven a long distance and that it was used to assist persons guilty of some serious crime to escape.

As no reason was to be found for the time it was driven from the farm there is much speculation as to how female wearing apparel was found in it. The whole affair has an air of mystery, that the Bountiful people and the Salt Lake officers who first heard of it today would like to see cleared up.

The Teachers' Bills.

Principal D. Dennis, of the Bryant school, who was made treasurer of the teachers' contributions to the relief fund, reports that $[illegible] has been received and that about $[illegible] more may be expected.

THAT MANITOU SCRAMBLE.

The Proprietor, His Discharged Clerk and Another Man.

This morning at ten o'clock, in Commissioner Norrell's court, had been set for the hearing of the case, reported in yesterday's News, in which Charles Iglesi charged his late employer with assault and battery. On the other hand, Pugsley charges Iglesi with having unmercifully beaten him on the same occasion. The investigation was, however, postponed by request, and the commissioner set the case for Tuesday morning next.

In connection with the above affair Commissioner Norrell this morning issued a warrant for the arrest of one Frank McKeon, who, it is the hearing comes off here, will figure as a charge of assault.

FISHBLEIGH RAN TO ANSWER.

He Made His Appearance Before Commissioner Pratt This Afternoon.

J. B. Fishbleigh, the young attorney who was yesterday brought back from Omaha by Police Officer Donovan on a charge of embezzling moneys belonging to Attorney C. C. Daly, of this city, was taken before Commissioner Pratt at 2:30 this afternoon for a preliminary hearing. Failing to give bonds yesterday afternoon, the accused passed the night within the walls of the city jail.

All the parties to the case were in attendance at 2:30, the time to which of the defendant the case was set over until Monday afternoon, still, as he has not yet had an opportunity of employing an attorney.

THE LEGISLATURE.

the University and Agricultural College, came up, but was postponed.

The meat inspection bill was further considered, amended and passed.

H. R. 135, amending the school law, was received, read first and second times and referred.

HOUSE.

The House resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

C. B. 125, relating to dower and escheatage, was taken up. The Council this action came to the House too late to be considered by its judiciary committee, and it came up without recommendation from that committee. It was lost.

C. B. 114, to the estates of decedents, passed.

Rules, from the claims committee, reported a number of bills, some favorably and others adversely.

Rules, from the committee on roads and bridges, reported that an expert accountant had investigated the books of that institution and found them in a satisfactory condition. The report recommended the general management of the system.

Warner, from the enrollment committee, reported that the following bills had been sent to the Governor: H. B. 115, the militia bill, H. B. 85, relating to special school tax; H. B. 27, paying a bounty on cougar scalps; H. B. 146, relating to office fees for public officers.

C. B. 100, relating to tax sales, was considered, amended and lost.

Allen, from the revenue committee, reported adversely C. J. M. 7 and C. J. M. 10, both relating to the Women's Industrial Home. On the motion they were tabled.

Allen, from the committee on education, reported adversely C. B. 32, allowing private schools to issue diplomas. On his motion consideration was indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 119, substitute for C. B. 125, amending the school law, passed. This is a long bill, as it sets the Council aside much time, but it was not discussed much in the House.

The special committee charged with investigating certain charges laid to the commissioners to locate University lands reported unanimously and majority reports, both of which recommend the passage of H. B. 108, which aims to prevent injustice in future to settlers in those lands. The bill passed.

Stakers, from the ways and means committee, reported adversely H. B. 111, relating to salaries of county officers, for lack of time to consider it. The bill was tabled.

H. B. 85, relating to estrays, came up on Council amendments, to which the House concurred.

C. B. 136, to provide for endowing the University of Utah, passed.

C. B. regulating the practice of dentistry, passed.

Warner from the enrollment committee reported that H. B. 159, the medical bill, and H. J. M., relating to school lands, had been sent to the governor.

H. B. 6, uniting the University and Agricultural College, was read the third time, and put on its passage.

Hubbard offered the substitute bill, filling well with arguments in favor of it. Allen replied to Hubbard and opposed the bill in a long argument. He preferred a separate set of University regents to be union with the Agricultural College. Hubbard supported the bill, as did Monson, Stanford, Powers and Stalker. The substitute was lost by a vote of [illegible] against, 15 affirmative votes being required to pass it.

The Governor announced that he had signed the bills for the relief of school districts and giving orders of the laws to free public libraries.

Grand Jury.

The grand jury, after quite an uneventful respite, will get into harness again next week and grind away at criminal cases. This far they have done well.

Farewell Party.

Last night a social entertainment was given at the second ward meeting house, in honor of Brother George N. Reese Jr., superintendent of the second ward Sunday school, by the members of the Sunday school and the ward choir. Forty three hundred persons were present to listen to the well arranged program. This consisted of songs, recitations, selections by the choir, also by Ernest Reese's juvenile choir, duets, etc. Addresses were given by Elder L. M. Cannon (Bishop of the second ward) Elder Joseph E. Taylor, Choir Leader Herbert White and Elder Geo. R. Reese. At the close of the program all were invited to participate in a bountiful repast which had been provided.

Brother Reese has been superintendent of the ward Sunday school for nine years and also a member of the choir. He will soon leave this city and make his future home at Lehi, Utah county. This afternoon the Sunday school children had a dance in reminiscence of his departure.

Brother Reese has the best wishes of all with whom he has been so long associated.

"Little Alex" is Dead.

In another column will be found a notice of the death of Alex Lamont, a bright little chap who has been employed in the office for some months, and whose absence dater from less than a few weeks ago. It was not thought at the time that he was threatened with anything serious, but he grew worse, and despite the most attentive nursing died on the 6th. Little Alex was a general favorite with every one around the News office and with all who came into acquaintance with him. He was ever good natured and happy, thoroughly honest and gave promise of becoming a superior man. Peaceful be his rest.

Thrown Out by the Marshal.

Billy Gilbert, fireman and feeder at city prisoners, had a little experience today with City Marshal Pratt that he will have reason to remember for some time to come. Under the city ordinances the marshal claims that he is the jailer and that it thus belongs the right of feeding and caring for the prisoners, and it is claimed that he has repeatedly made Mother Gilbert, that he must excuse the city jail and forego the feeding of prisoners. This Billy refused to do and today was delegated to stand by and see his guests dumped into the yard from the jail window.

Billy reared with a temperate fur was quieted down when instructions were given by the police to throw him into the sewer. If he resents, Pratt will feed the prisoners himself from now on.

A Case of Assault.

W. H. Smith, formerly a big Grande Western fireman, was arraigned before Justice Smith this afternoon on a charge of indecently assaulting a woman named Edwards, who was selling an organ in his wife. He entered a plea of not guilty, was released on bonds and his case set down for tomorrow.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, MARCH 8, 1894.

District Court.

The suit placed by D. C. Kimble about two weeks ago, by Miss Annie Nichols, for breach of promise, was withdrawn yesterday by the plaintiff's attorney. The lady and gentleman, it is understood, have arrived at a mutual agreement, and the difficulties which existed between them has been satisfactorily settled.

Joseph Davidson has been allowed thirty days in which to procure his fine of $100.

The grand jury reported three indictments to the court yesterday, one under United States statutes and two under Territorial laws.

On motion of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Magleby, the case of James Pett, indicted for grand larceny, was passed on present criminal setting.

An order has been made to allow depositions to be opened in the case of T. H. Enoch vs E. F. Beck.

Wm. Howes was up for trial yesterday. He is charged with stealing a cow.

The jury yesterday disagreed in the case of W. J. Canary, and, on motion of defendant's attorney, bail was fixed at $[illegible].

Mrs. Keyes Dead.

Mrs. Maria Keyes, wife of Alma Keyes, died of consumption at her home in Uintah yesterday. Mrs. Keyes was 47 years of age and leaves a husband and eight children and seven grandchildren to mourn her loss. The funeral services will be held at the Uintah meeting house Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m.

News Notes.

The grand jury paid a visit to the county jail yesterday and spoke relatively in regard to the way in which the jail is kept.

Yesterday, in the probate court, letters of administration were ordered to be issued in the estate of David N. Dakin to D. S. Dakin Jr.

The case of Lon C. Miller, unlawful cohabitation, was yesterday ignored by the grand jury.

Warts & Jones of the Grand Junction. The sale of tickets has been very great yesterday and today.
