Crested Butte, Colo., last year produced 47,855 tons of coke, 154,918 tons of bituminous coal and 75,982 tons of anthracite coal.

Antonito, Colo., is importing thirty-eight Poland China hogs with a view to improving the grade of swine in the San Luis valley.

Around Phoenix, Ariz., the ponds, lakes and water courses are swarming with ducks and geese and sportsmen are having a lively time just now.

New Castle, Colo., urges Garfield county farmers to raise large mules. The demand for these is said to be constantly increasing in Colorado.

At Greeley, Colo., L. S. Springer has taken a contract to supply the Union Pacific with 4,000 tons of ice. Work on the contract has been commenced.

Continued fine weather throughout the cattle region of Colorado has depressed the price by limiting the demand for hay for stock feeding.

At Canon City, Colo., a company is being organized to establish a mill to work up an immense quantity of $4 ore found a few miles northwest in Lincoln.

Marketable salt in paying quantities has been discovered to the affrioant well boring at Grand Junction, Colo. The boring for oil has reached a depth of 700 feet.

The police at Colfax, Wash., have uncovered a gang of young thieves ranging in age from 10 to 15 years and lodging them in the city prison on numerous charges of petit larceny.

Within fifteen miles of Cheyenne none men from Colorado are sinking a shaft for coal. They hope to strike the same deposit now being worked in Boulder county, Colo.

California has a rose tree at Ventura which, it is stated, is now three feet in circumference at the ground. It was only planted in 1876 and now covers two thousand feet.

At Pueblo, Colo., land which a few years ago could be had for nothing now sells at $50 an acre for orchard planting. Some Leadville parties paid $200 for eighty acres a few days ago.

The rabbit hunt near Lamar, Colo., last week, produced about ten tons of dressed rabbits. The Santa Fe railroad company hauled the game to Pueblo and Denver free for distribution to the poor.

A movement has been started at Carson, Nev., to raise a purse for Johnny Crow, who saved the lives of seven children at Brownsville, near Empire, recently, swimming forty feet under the ice with the last one.

The search for the two notorious outlaws Evans and Morrell still goes on, but the time is by their whereabouts remains as far off as ever. The California officers are getting weary of their long and fruitless hunt.

Deputy Marshal Rabenfeld arrested Charles Stratton, a cowboy, on the charge of selling whisky to a thirsty Bannock. He was taken before a commissioner at Pocatello, Idaho, and after a hearing was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $500.

The Watsonville, Cal., beet sugar factory has just closed its annual run, having received 60,400 tons of beets, grown in Santa Cruz and Monterey counties, for which was paid $3 a ton. There was obtained from this about 9,000 tons of raw sugar.

Lottie Collins, the notable English actress, accompanied by her sister, while out fishing on the bay of Tacoma, Wash., left Monday, had a narrow escape from drowning. Miss Collins hooked a large salmon, and while attempting to land it upset the boat. Two men in a boat near rescued them.

A serious accident occurred at Ward, Colorado, on Tuesday, evening. Charles Raymond was engaged with others in sinking a new shaft and had lowered up a bucket of rock when the main brake letting the mass fall forty feet upon him. Raymond's hip is broken and his back is seriously hurt and possibly broken.

On Tuesday night the most severe storm experienced for years raged around Buffalo, Wyo. The temperature ranged between 20 and 30 below zero, with a forty mile an hour wind carrying fine snow before it. At Arvada it turned to a blizzard. Howard West, the musician of Johnson county jail fame, lost his way while going homewards and may lose both feet and eyes.

Late on Tuesday evening six of the barest characters confined within the walls of the Sonoma (Cal.) county jail made good their escape. A hole had been cut through the iron bars with a steel saw and through this the prisoners ran away. Those who escaped were George W. Bruner, a murderer under sentence of death, and who once before made his way to freedom; John Loring Espey, sentenced to twenty years at San Quentin, who is in jail under a stay of execution; John Smith and Richard Clarke, two burglars awaiting trial; David Bridgett, a tramp charged with assault to kill, and another prisoner named Owens.

Lemuel J. Roberts, once a bright young lawyer practicing at the bar of Alameda county, Cal., presented a pitiful sight when examined before the county commission on Tuesday, says the San Francisco Chronicle. He is a raving maniac at times, believing himself sent by the Lord, and imagines that the duty devolves on him to appoint a cut in his friends. In his ravings the young man remembers all his friends who have been kind to him during the trying times in his life. He was in a cyclist now in many respects and for a time it puzzled the 3 judges. At last they came to the conclusion that it was a case of paresis.

A farmer of Linn county, Kansas, says the Kansas Times, with horses for water has discovered a mineral of a kind hitherto unknown. At a depth of ninety feet the drill opened a seemingly bottomless cavern. A strong volume of hot air at once rushed out, driving the drill upward and disabling the machinery. The air is pronounced perfectly dry and will burn the fingers and roast eggs and potatoes as fine as could be desired. The company all first made a note. How many dollars whistles will it cost to come out with a roar to be heard half a mile away. Officials in the last land be may have reached the resting place of departed Kansas politicians, the Linn county man is going to move his house over the hole and utilize the discovery for steam heating purposes.

Particulars of a distressing accident that happened on Star valley, Idaho, last week, are given by the Salt Springs Enterprise. Ole Jensen was shooting a 22 calibre rifle and aiming to his mother and a child, who were standing by, the mechanism, when unknown to the boy was cocked, allowing Jensen, nerving the rail fall to the grate. He was brought to Montpelier, and Drs. Hoover and Reynolds were called to see what could be done to relieve the sufferer. After a very careful examination they decided that if the ball had penetrated a vital part, relief was impossible, and if not, its location in the body would not long endanger the wounded man. Hence no incision was made, as it was thought to left the ball undisturbed the ball had taken. The young man suffered for several days in great agony, but began to sit good, interesting internal hemorrhage.

The post-office inspector's office, city detective force, sheriff's office and all the private detectives (says the Denver News) are searching for Prentice Tiller, alias Charles H. Price, one of the bodiest criminals in the country, who is believed to be in this part of the United States. The paying-tellers of all the banks have been notified to look out for him. One of his favorite tricks is to break open letter boxes and steal letters containing checks, sending to the checks the words, "no money," and presenting them at the banks. Sometimes he raises the amount, filling blanks in take out the original sum. The possession of the officers $500 reward for his capture and the Michigan penitentiary $50. Hoosgow from the penitentiary at Jackson on May and as all efforts at locating him have failed the authorities now offer the reward. He was sentenced to seven year sentence for forgery, and besides being a better box worker and forger, is an all-round thief.
