Alleged False Imprisonment.

In the Third District Court recently a bricklayer, named John White, obtained judgment against the Union Pacific Railroad Company for $450, damages for injuries sustained by him at the hands of Union Pacific trainmen, at Salt Wells, Wyo., last summer. At the conclusion of the trial White was arrested by a Wyoming sheriff on a warrant charging him with the murder of Pat Taggart, a brakeman. He was taken to Green River and discharged a few days ago by the district judge of Sweet Water County. The hearing was delayed from day to day by the prosecution and eventually White was released from custody, the judge virtually expressing the opinion that he was an injured man. White says he is now prepared to prove that the Union Pacific people were the prime movers in his second arrest, and a damage suit in the time of $25,000 for false imprisonment is to be the next thing.

Retired Missionary.

We are pleased to notice the safe return of Elder Francis A. Brown, of Ogden, from his mission to Europe. He left his home January 19th, 1889, and spent some time in visiting friends in the East. In Tennessee he had the privilege of baptizing one of his relatives. He arrived in Amsterdam in the beginning of March and entered immediately on his labors as president of the mission in Holland. A translation of the Book of Mormon in the Dutch language had just been completed. Elder by J. W. P. Volker, and Elder Brown now made arrangements for its publication. 2000 copies were printed, and one nearly thousand volume of the sacred record respectfully presented to the late King of Holland, William III.

Elder Brown reports the mission in Holland in a prosperous condition. 130 have been baptized during the last two years. There are eight missionaries in the field. At Rotterdam a branch of 50 has been organized, consisting of sixty members. The population of the kingdom manifest a commendable spirit of religious toleration, although much indifference is to be met with.

Elder Brown arrived home on the 4th of March, and feels happy to be back once more among his friends. This is his second mission to Holland.

THE SUPREME COURT

Holds a Brief Sitting and Adjourns for Two Weeks.

The business transacted by the Supreme Court this morning—Chief Justice Zan and Judge Anderson on the bench—was little more than nominal. It occupied just twenty minutes, and court then adjourned till the 11th of April.

Judge Anderson rendered the opinion of the Court in the case of Willard City, plaintiff and respondent, vs. Thomas Williams, defendant and appellant. This was an appeal from Judge Blackburn's Court at Provo. Judgment was rendered against the defendant before a justice of the peace for $3.30, alleging that on the 31st of October, 1889, he was indebted to him to that amount for taxes due to Willard City, on certain real estate and personal property. This the defendant had refused to pay. For the defense it was contended that the Justice of the peace had no jurisdiction to determine the case. On December 30th, 1890, the defendant appealed to the trial judge a bill of exceptions, requesting that the same be signed and made part of the bill of exceptions his Honor refused, such bill not being even presented within the time provided by statute.

The court now found no error in the record and affirmed the judgment of the court below.

In the case of Lewis vs. Kinney et al., notice to vacate and stay proceedings was denied for and granted.

Lewis vs. Kinney same order.

MATTERS DISPOSED OF YESTERDAY.

Yesterday afternoon, subsequent to the proceedings reported in the News, Judge Anderson delivered a court opinion in the case of Milton Hardy et al. vs. Walter I. Clawson et al. The plaintiffs sued to recover $10 alleged to be due them as commission on a real estate transaction. The Third District Court gave judgment for the plaintiffs for the amount and the Supreme Court sustains the judgment of the court below.

In the case of Brigham Stowell et al. vs. John Stowell et al., Judge Blackburn delivered the opinion. The case involved the ownership of a portion of the bed of Wheatfall Canyon Creek, and Stringtown Canyon Creek, in Weber County. The court below found in favor of the plaintiff and the Supreme Court affirms the judgment.

Hartley Baker et al. vs. American Fork City et al., involving $900, the judgment of the court below in favor of the plaintiffs was affirmed.

In the case of E. R. Ayers et al. vs. Mary A. Jack, involving the title to certain real estate in this city, the decree of the court below in favor of the defendant was affirmed.

F. R. Allen vs. the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Chief Justice Zan delivered the opinion of the court. This suit was brought by the plaintiff to recover damages for the killing of his horse. The court below gave judgment for the plaintiff, which was confirmed by the Supreme Court, all the judges concurring.

In the case of H. O. Harkness et al. vs. Utah Westmoreland et al., involving the title to a strip of land in Ogden used as a roadway, the judgment of the court below in favor of the defendants was affirmed.

Death of Father Paul.

This morning at 2 o'clock James P. Paul, of the Tenth Ward, died of bronchitis, in the seventy-fourth year of his age.

Deceased was born at the town of Ayr, in Scotland, on the 17th day of July, 1817. He joined the Church while quite a young man and then emigrated to this country, about forty years ago. He resided for several years at St. Louis and at Cincinnati, but for the past thirty years has lived in this city, nearly all of the time in the Tenth Ward. He held the office of High Priest in the Church, of which he was a consistent and devoted member.

He was a pure life, and gave offense to none. Reserved in manner, sincere, conscientious, and rigidly honest, the Church regard in which he is held was due to the sterling integrity of his life rather than to any purely personal impressions. He was a carpenter by trade, a skilled mechanic, and a hard life-long worker.

As friend drew near he called his numerous family about him and bestowed his blessing on each. He was not weary of life, nor afraid of death. "If it is the Lord's will that I should go now, I am ready," was a remark he made a short time before his death. He passed away quietly, with full faith in the blessings of a great future.

The funeral services will be held in the Tenth Ward meeting house on Sunday, at 12 m. Friends of the deceased are invited to attend.

Attempted Seizure.

Brothers John Sawwall, Bishop A. McKinnon, Geo. A. Pratt, Alfred W. Nebeker, Gustus Jacobson, H. J. Norris, D. E. Packard, John M. Barker, W. H. Smith and Chas. Smith, all residents of Randolph, Rich County, are in the city as witnesses in the case of W. H. Smith et. al. vs. A. McKinnon et al. which involves the title to the Randolph Ward Meeting house. The school trustees, two of whom are seceding "Mormons," having tried to secure possession of the building, which was erected by voluntary donation of the latter-day Saints in the Ward, as school district property. Suit was planted by the trustees, represented by two of them in the First District Court at Ogden, and Waldemar Van Cott, Esq., of this city was appointed by Judge Miner as referee in the matter. It was expected that testimony would be taken to-day, but the case has now been deferred until Monday next.

Special Meeting of Relief Society.

There will be a special meeting of the Stake Presidents of the Relief Society or their representatives, on Saturday, April 4th, immediately after the close of the Tabernacle services, at the residence of Mrs. Bertha, No. 55, West Temple Street. Mrs. Zina D. H. Young, President of the Relief Society, with her counselors and secretaries will be present at the meeting.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Meeting of the Board of Directors Last Night: Various Subjects Discussed.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce met last evening in the new premises of the institution. President F. Simon presided.

It was resolved that, in consequence of the large amount of work on hand, the directors meet, until further notice, weekly.

The financial condition of the Chamber was discussed, and a list of delinquent members was asked for.

A letter was read from the board of directors of the Salt Lake Rowing Club, enclosing a communication received by that body from the president of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Rowing Association, asking what inducements the home club can offer them to hold their next annual regatta on the Great Salt Lake.

One of the members of the Salt Lake Rowing Club, who was present, advised the appointment of a committee to confer with committees from the Salt Lake and Garfield Rowing Clubs, and a committee to report at the next meeting. Messrs. H. M. Wells, George Irvine and C. E. Wandland were appointed such committee.

The following was read from Mayor Scott and referred:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, March 31, 1891.

Mr. Fred Simon, President Chamber of Commerce:

DEAR SIR—I shall be pleased to confer with you in regard to the appointment of delegates to the Trans-Missouri Commerce Convention, so that the city and Chamber of Commerce may not appoint the same persons. Will you not, any time you may appoint, be kind enough to call upon me in regard to the city, as called for by an article No. 5, please send it to me so that I may see what is required of the Office. Yours,

GEORGE M. SCOTT, Mayor.

The chairman was deputed to appoint a committee of three attorneys to examine the Chamber's by-laws and if necessary suggest such changes as will enable the directors to expel delinquent members.

The transportation question was discussed and an understanding arrived at that transportation facilities should be so strengthened that Herald Ferguson in its demands upon the railroad companies and bring negotiations to a speedy conclusion.

The chairman reported that it had been agreed between the Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce that the latter ought to pay one-fourth of the $5300 annual cost of maintaining the building, or $1325, one-half of which the Pioneer Library Association would pay. Mr. Simon was requested to sign a contract with the Board of Trade.

Other formal matters having been disposed of, the Board adjourned.

Missionary Work at Lowestoft.

Editor Deseret News:

For some time past, having tramped through the narrow lanes and along the highways of this country, so familiar to many of your readers, I am led to send you a few items as to the experience of the traveling Elders.

The cry of "Bloaters! two for three ha' pence!" rends the foggy morning air, awakening us from our slumbers, and reminding us that it is time to arise, have breakfast and go out tract distribution.

Having donned our clerical attire—my companion crowning his with a "stovepipe" hat, while I take refuge under a black broad-brimmed flat-topped covering—we sally forth into the narrow, crooked streets, bearing a portion of the Gospel of life and salvation in the form of a No. 1 Morgan tract, which we leave at the homes of those who will accept one. This tract we call for in a week, with a varied interrogatory of gospel proceedings.

In this way we have visited every house in this city, conversing with those who wished to hear about us, and leaving a tract which, when we finished our work of tract distributing, and once a well over the "ups and downs"—as we have been dubbed—the ground we had traversed, we went on the streets of Lowestoft this winter.

We have been gratified at seeing an increased attendance at our meetings, and hope that the seed sown will bring forth fruit in the due time of the Lord. We are aware that "Paul may plant and Apollos may water; but it is God who gives the increase." Though we may distribute tracts and preach, yet it is the influence of the Holy Spirit that causes some to turn from the ways which they have been walking, removes the scales of darkness from their eyes, and gives them courage to unite with a people who are persecuted, because they have turn on their side.

We hold our meetings in the little chapel that was built for the Saints by the late Brother Samuel Pulham. For some time it has been in the hands of other parties, but through the energy of Elder Isaac Sears it was again opened to the people.

There are but few Saints in this branch, most of them having emigrated. Those who remain and are living their religion are seeking an honest living, an opportunity of gathering to Zion and again associating with those who have been blessed with means and an opportunity to unite with the main body of the Church.

Several attempts have proved unsuccessful—owing to prejudices existing—where the Elders have been desirous of renting halls in which to deliver lectures on the first principles of the Gospel, or very generous him is that the Saints in Zion cannot communicate with their friends here without the letter being first read by the officers of the Church. Tracts and other reports, equally without foundation, which are circulated among the people of this country do not have a beneficial influence in spreading the truth.

Realizing that much good would attend the visit of an Elder by removing the impressions and giving him an opportunity to lay the Gospel before the people, I feel to offer my services to any of the Saints in Zion who have friends or relatives in Lowestoft, or the neighboring villages, when they wish visited. If they will send me the addresses of such I will, with pleasure, call upon them, for I am persuaded that this is one way of reaching those whom we wish to see saved.

Your brother in the Gospel,

PETER OLESON.

CLARENCE ROAD, Lowestoft, Suffolk, England, March 14, 1891.

ALLEGED BUNCO STEERERS.

Said to be Carrying On an Organized System of Fleecing Strangers.

It is reported on what appears to be a foundation of irrefutable information that a gang of professional gamblers and bunco sharpers have secured quarters in a portion of the two story brick structure recently vacated by the S. R. Mark Furniture Company on South Temple Street.

There was nothing in the outward appearance of the place to indicate the business said to be carried on within. The alleged conductors of the rendezvous in question are well dressed, of gentlemanly appearance, and possessed of extraordinary impudity. As a consequence, the innocent and unsuspecting are easily entrapped.

How beside the place the intended victim is treated to cigars, wine and various kinds of intoxicants, after which he is persuaded to join in a game of cards, or dice, for a small amount of money. At first, backsheesh to favor him by plays again and again with a winning hand. Finally he wagers his money and all else that he has. As a result he loses everything and leaves the place penniless.

In some instances the matter is reported to the police, but in the majority of cases the victim remains silent—ashamed of his conduct and humiliated at his folly.

The place is but one out of many that exist in this city, and the weak minded stranger will do well to take warning and steer clear of these oily tongued vipers who so handsomely pay their tracks of fleecing whoever they can.

FIRE AT PLEASANT GROVE.

Dr. Rogers' Drug Store Burned to the Ground Early this Morning.

Pleasant Grove has been visited with another destructive conflagration. Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning the drug store of Dr. R. M. Rogers, at that place, was discovered in flames. The alarm was immediately given and spread rapidly from house to house. There was a prompt response from the people, who gathered in great numbers and with almost herculean efforts fought to subdue the flames. Water was in the fire hydrants retained supremacy and finally the people were obliged to stand idly by and watch the building with its contents burn to the ground.

The origin of the fire is unknown but it is believed to be the work of an incendiary.

The loss is estimated at fully $5000. As far as known there was no insurance on the property.

The making of the third fire in the business portion of the town during the last six months.

Parowan Stake Conference.

The quarterly conference of the Parowan Stake was held in Cedar City Tabernacle, March 22nd and 23rd, 1891. There were present on the stand the Stake Presidency, Bishops and representative brethren from the different wards in the Stake.

President Thomas J. Jones was the first speaker. He was very thankful to see so many of the Saints present at the first meeting of our conference; exhorted the Saints to lay aside the labors and cares of life and devote their minds during conference to the worship of God.

Elder William Leigh, who had recently returned from a mission, gave a very interesting account of his experience while traveling and preaching the Gospel in Wales.

Elder H. Maeser, Edwin Cutler, Joseph Lemon and Mayhew H. Daly, each discoursed upon the subject of education, in a very forcible manner.

Elder James J. Adams, who had recently spent several weeks in Old Mexico, gave a short sketch of that land, its people, climate and resources.

The Bishops reported their respective wards, and gave much good counsel and instruction to the people.

President Morgan Richards, Jr., discoursed upon the subject of health, Word of Wisdom and self-preservation, encouraging the youth to lay aside their unwise habits and the fashions that are so injurious to our bodies.

President Francis Webster said the Gospel of Jesus Christ is the pure, unadulterated truth. He advised the youth to search the scriptures and to seek God in secret prayer that they may obtain a testimony of the truth of the Gospel and know of a surety that it is of God.

President Thomas J. Jones endorsed the instructions given during the conference, and hoped the Saints would strive to live in accordance with them, and sustain by their paitonage and means the Church which at present has been established in our midst for the education of the youth.

The conference was fairly attended, considering the sickness extant among the people, and a good spirit prevailed throughout.

Conference adjourned for three months to convene in Parowan.

WM. H. HOLYOAK,
Stake Clerk.

POLICE NEWS.

Alleged Gamblers Discharged for Lack of Evidence.

E. Edwards, Joseph Richards and Phil. Meyers, who were arrested by the police a few days ago on the charge of gambling, were arraigned before Police Justice Laney today.

It was supposed that the prosecution had a good case, but the prosecuting witnesses failed to put in an appearance, and the officers who made the arrest refused to testify against them, inasmuch as the supposed gamblers were not gaming at the time they were apprehended, though all the necessary articles were before them. The defendants were accordingly discharged on motion of the prosecution and their security refunded to them.

Bonnie Bell, Bonnie Ball and Ellen Schaffenberg, a tri-ad Hindoo minstrel, forfeited $25 each for prostitution.

Three inmates were fined $5 each.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

An Experience in a Railway Smash-up in Oregon.

James McGinty, who for several years has figured as a deputy marshal in the Southern district, was seen getting slowly along Main Street, on crutches, yesterday; besides this, he was considerably disfigured about the face, but not so much so as to be unrecognizable, nor nearly so much so as one would think after hearing of what he passed through as the cause of the trouble. A brief account of an accident on the Southern Pacific Railway in Oregon on the 12th of last November reached us and was published shortly after; but the account was very meagre, going scarcely into details at all. The cause of this was, of course, the frequency of such occurrences, they having ceased to be extraordinary news, unless some accident, of a character it may be, results in the killing of an unusual number. The one in question sent eight persons home, five without a single bone in their bodies, and three or less certainly, three of whom have since died as the result of their injuries. The accident occurred at Lake Labish, where a long trestle crosses a modest sized deep ravine. When fairly on the bridge the train all at once began to pitch and toss as if it had struck a telegraph crash to the bottom. The passenger coach in which Mr. McGinty was was ground almost into kindling, certainly into very small fragments; there was not a whole thing about it. His face was pressed up against a seat with such force as to break the seat; it broke both his shoulders, knocked out a tooth and mashed his nose flat to his face; besides this, his leg was broken. It was six hours before he could speak after the car went down, and he did not expect to recover at all, but has "pulled through" very well considering. His nose is now much broader than before, and a long scar shows where it was cut open.

Mr. McGinty was unable to describe the sensation at the time the car commenced to go down. Perhaps nothing but experience could cause one to realize it at all. He first thought he must be crushed, which he had no thinking they were going to slight in water, he was afraid he might not be able to swim well enough to do that, but was soon dispelled when with an awful din the car was crushed against the hard ground and everything broke to smaters of splinters and pulverization. The scenes following are indescribable, and perhaps it is as well that they cannot be described. The sight in the shattered condition was not permitted to "speak a record" by escaping fire and the only added to the horror of the situation. It was truly terrible, and Mr. McGinty was exceedingly lucky in escaping as easily as he did. He has photographs taken in the hands of attorney W. H. Dickson, and the Southern Pacific will at once be called upon to settle.

AN ODD SUPERSTITION.

To See the Goddess Ride the Washington Monument Brings Good Luck.

The Washington monument been against the blue sky, a great white shaft, and it towers nearly 500 feet above the Capitol dome, which stands on a hill about a mile away. The Goddess of Liberty and Beauty, the statue weighs 19,000 pounds, and she stands erect on a great bronze globe on the cap of the dome, measuring 19½ feet from base to the tips of the feathers which crown her head. She is a woman of wonderful beauty, and on a Pennsylvania railroad train carries the statue from out of Washington it goes around a part of the city in such a way that the traveler looking from the window sees this great figure of the Statue of Liberty coming nearer and nearer to the Washington monument until at last the two are in direct line with his eye, and the great monument looks like Gulliver against the pygmy while of the monument.

This view of the monument has to be caught on the passing train in the space of miles an hour. There are a number of cut tracks just at the point where it becomes visible, and a passing freight car will show it one. It may be seen for a second, and only one time, perhaps, in a dozen trips. Public men having the original on mission keep their eyes glued on the window, and if they are lucky enough to catch the combination they expect to find their mission successful. If not, some of them feel the superstitious fear of failure assured, and it is strange how many times they are correct.

When Hamlebaugh went home to seek for a re-election to congress he had his eye glued on the goddess from the time the train left the station, but just as he reached the point of the monument a freight car rushed in, and the moment passed. He went to Dakota, and failed to get his election. At another time he was left behind the train, and he was so sure that I will so him tell the story himself.

Said he: "I watched the Goddess ride out of the depot. The sun was shining full on it, freight cars and I hoped I should miss it. Senator Farwell was with me and he also kept his eyes toward the Capitol. As we went out of the city the sun was shining, and at we passed the point where the two come together the track was full of them. I kept my eye on the window, however, and I just caught a view of the Goddess against the monument between the cars of a passenger train. I was leaning over and watching closely as I did so, and when the two came together I accidently clapped one hand against the window sill. 'I've got it!' and I nearly scared the wife out of an old lady who was in front of me and who must have thought I was crazy.

"Well, I went on to Dakota and secured my election. I am superstitious, believe that the moment and the Goddess ride meet to do with it."—Washington Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Curious Love About Mandrake.

Perhaps the most extraordinary of the properties attributed to mandrake are those which it exerted upon the sexual entertainers of Rome, of making inanimate bedsteads to pick locks, which is certainly one of the most amusing developments of the sexual theme. "Lock and bolt," "bolt or lock-smiths," but the connection between the mandrake and "burgling" seems a little forced. There is a tradition that the mandrake will undoe knots if they stay upon the plant, and similar powers have been attributed to the cereals and the nasturtium.

It is, on the other hand, still part of the rural lore of Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire and Hungshire that the root will protect the wearer against witchcraft, and to be bounded upon the identification of the mandrake with the bryony, which played such a great part in old English herbalism. It is, however, more than doubtful whether the plants belong to the same class. But both are alike in the earliest ages of the Aryan race, and perhaps they. East and west meet in their folk and flower lore.—Chambers' Journal.
