The Evening paper is the paper of Today, the morning paper is the paper of Yesterday.

DESERET EVENING NEWS.

5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 143 TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1895, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVIII.

CLEVELAND'S CHOICE

Named General Richard Olney as Secretary of State.

HE SUCCEEDS WALTER Q. GRESHAM.

He Resigns the Office of Assistant Secretary—Their Statements Regarded as Authentic.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A special to a leading paper from Washington says: The Hon. Richard Olney of Massachusetts, the present attorney general of the United States will be the successor of the late Hon. W. Q. Gresham, as the office of secretary of state. The Hon. Edwin F. Uhl of Michigan, will continue in the office of assistant secretary of state. It was not yet been decided who will be chosen to fill the vacancy in the attorney-generalship created by the transfer of Mr. Olney to the state department.

There has been much speculation in Washington as to who would be Mr. Gresham's successor. The death of the late secretary was unexpected and the shock of Mr. Cleveland even stricken himself to think of a possible successor. When the reality of Mr. Gresham's death came upon the President he was stunned. Then followed the hasty transfer of the body of Chicago, the funeral ceremonies, by which Mr. Cleveland was deeply moved, the hurried return to Washington where the party arrived late Friday afternoon. It was not until tonight that executive consideration begins to the subject of filling the vacancy. Secretary Carlisle who came here with the President's party was invited in the White House after the President's arrival from Gray Gables. There is good reason to believe that the President talked with the two secretaries upon the subject of the vacancies in the state department. After a statement of these officials to the respective departments, it is now that Attorney General Olney was summoned to the executive mansion and it is almost certain the office of secretary of state was tendered to and accepted by Mr. Olney.

NOT YET SETTLED, IT SEEMS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—A prominent official said after the meeting that no appointment had yet been made to fill the vacancy. Secretary of the Interior, came over from Langley today and went directly to the White House. It was thought to be in some connection with the contested office. Gray was the contested champion of the administration in the Senate and as a member of a committee on foreign relations is intimately familiar with the duties of secretary of state.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—There is longer any reasonable doubt that President Cleveland is fully determined to tender Attorney General Olney to accept the state department portfolio. The request has not been tendered to Mr. Olney in person. To other members of the cabinet, however, he has stated in substance that he should ask Olney to accept the place. He is delaying the joint announcement in order that he may see Olney at the same time and be able to tender Olney to attorney general. It is reported nearly that Senator Gray's visit to Washington may have been in response to a message from the President and it is possible that it may have been offered the attorney generalship or been consulted thereon.

SUCCESSOR FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

There is a report current that the office of attorney general will be tendered to Hon. M. Dickinson.

Over a Million Received.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—A suit growing out of complications in the affairs of the Rawhide Mine, with other Sierra county mining property, amounting to $1,000,000 has been begun in the superior court by N. F. Cary, an attorney and mining man in opposition to Stanford, Fielding & Bond of London, New York and Chicago.

The suit is against W. A. Nevill, W. J. Martin and John Ballard, who were appointed by Judge Maxwell to sell the Dutch gold mining property on which the plaintiff claims he has received an option, with an income of three.

Cary claims that the defendants sold the Gaffey Mining company property, aggregating in value $1,000,000, on the agreement to transfer half to Cary, placed 50,000 shares in the Wells, Fargo bank to await payment of the purchase money. An open examination of the mining property was made, and as a result Cary received the option on some additional property, with the purchase price fixed at $1,000,000.

Cary claims that at time on the payments delinquent by Cary, who says he was to pay $500,000 on July 1st of his part and $1,250,000 on August 1st. The Cary alleged that the defendants are trying to get out of the agreement, as he has obtained from them an order restraining them from mining any other mine with the property.

ON TURK.

The Revolution Said to Be Well Under Way—Troops Massed.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A special to the Herald from Havana says:

The whole province of Puerto Principe is in a state of the wildest excitement. Every a movement was arrived here last night. "It may be a very important fact an explanation in a few days," he said.

Reports from the critical situation in the region the insurgent vote cut all telegraphic and mail lines.

The insurgents throughout Puerto Principe are only awaiting the arrival of General Maceo's forces, who is to have command of their forces and they are extremely looking. Insurgents in the city of Puerto Principe are hiding in the city for revolution. Cuban soldiers for the revolution. Cuban soldiers for the revolution. Cuban soldiers for the