Unity Hall Recital.

At Unity hall last evening, Miss Ettel Hamick gave an elocutionary recital to an appreciative though rather small audience. Her various selections were artistically rendered; with equal grace she portrayed a scene from Romeo and Juliet and entertained her audience with bright bits from Eugene Field and James Whitcomb Riley. Another recital and the last for this season will be given by Miss Hamick at [illegible] o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the same place, and it is anticipated that a large number will be present at that time.

Mr. Hauerbach's Oration.

The Presbyterian church was well filled last evening by persons who came to enjoy Mr. Otto A. Hauerbach's oration. They were more than pleased by the rendition of his original oration, "A Hero of Compromise." Mr. Hauerbach, before the main part of the program was carried out, related the story, a boy orator, written by Richard Harding Davis, and entertained the audience by two violin solos. Other interesting numbers were features of the program.
